Water Gauge at Memphis, Tenn., Registers 40 Feet.

DECLINE NOW EXPECTED

Effects of the Flood are Severely Felt at Marion, Ark.—Measures Taken to Provide Relief.

Memphis, Tenn., March 19.—The highest stage of water predicted by the weather bureau was realized this morning when the gauge registered 40 feet. The crest of the high water is believed to be near, however, and it is confidently prophesied that in another twenty-four hours the decline will be noted. The effects of the flood are being felt more severely at Marion, Ark. There are over 200 people waiting today for an effort to reach the unfortunate little village.

POLITICS RESPONSIBLE FOR NEGRO CONDITIONS.

Prof. Dowd in Lecture at Madison Tells How the Parties Stirred Up Trouble in the South.

Madison, Wis., March 19.—Prof. Jerome Dowd delivered another address on the race problem before the Madison Contemporary Club last night. He said in part:

There is no doubt about the elevation of the negro if the proper influences are brought to bear upon him. The negro himself is not largely to blame for any untoward conditions which have befallen him. It is not the negro himself who is to blame for his present condition, but the political parties which have stirred up the race feeling. The negro is a noble race, and he is capable of the highest civilization. It is the duty of the white man to help him to rise to his proper level. The political parties have done nothing to help him, but have only stirred up the race feeling. It is the duty of the white man to help him to rise to his proper level. The political parties have done nothing to help him, but have only stirred up the race feeling.

A MADCAP MARRIAGE.

It was not until dinner had been announced for the third time that he offered his arm to the fair hostess.

At dinner it was the same—he addressed most the wails of his conversation to the governess, and when she and Mrs. Perks had retired, he plied his hostess with a hundred and one questions as to the antecedents, parentage, and past history of the girl, besides this, and many other good tips, and he even invited to his mansion in Park Lane, where we should meet some of the biggest men in the city. I am not very old yet, Mrs. Perks, and may yet live to see Mrs. Councillor or even Lady Mayor. You know how? There is Miss Jeffrey's, isn't there? Miss Jeffrey's should be really a pretty girl. You just live yourself up tomorrow, my dear, and see if you cannot prevail on Mrs. Councillor to give you a pair of diamonds. I might purchase them off you at a fair price. I might purchase them off you at a fair price. I might purchase them off you at a fair price.

LET AN ACTOR HANDCUFFED.

Brooklyn Stage Manager Didn't Bring Back the Key for Many Hours.

C. L. Maitland, an actor, who plays the part of a villain in a lurid melodrama at a Brooklyn playhouse, has registered a vow that he will quit the stage unless the last actor has left the stage.

In his role Maitland had to wear handcuffs. They were locked on his wrists by the stage manager, who pocketed the key and walked off to his dinner. When the curtain fell the actor still handcuffed, searched for the stage manager with the key. Neither was to be found. Maitland was hungry. He searched for the stage manager, but he was not to be found. Maitland had his dinner served in his dressing room. Finally the stage manager returned. Maitland handed him the key and the actor was free. Maitland had his dinner served in his dressing room. Finally the stage manager returned. Maitland handed him the key and the actor was free.

RUTS

The walking sick, what a crowd of them there are: Persons who are thin and weak but not sick enough to go to bed.
"Chronic cases" that's what the doctors call them, which in common English means—long sickness.
To stop the continued loss of flesh they need Scott's Emulsion. For the feeling of weakness they need Scott's Emulsion.
It makes new flesh and gives new life to the weak system.
Scott's Emulsion gets thin and weak persons out of the rut. It makes new, rich blood, strengthens the nerves and gives appetite for ordinary food.
Scott's Emulsion can be taken as long as sickness lasts and do good all the time.
There's new strength and flesh in every dose.

We will be glad to send you a few doses free.
Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

A Remarkable Case.

One of the most remarkable cases of a cold, deep-seated on the lungs, causing pneumonia, is that of Mrs. Gertrude E. Fenner, Marion, Ind., who was entirely cured by the use of One Minute Cough Cure. She says: "The coughing and straining so weakened me that I ran down in weight from 148 to 92 pounds. I tried a number of remedies to no avail until I used One Minute Cough Cure. Four bottles of this wonderful remedy cured me entirely of the cough, strengthened my lungs and restored me to my normal weight, health and strength." All druggists.

A Weak Stomach. Indigestion is often caused by over-eating. An eminent authority says the harm done to the stomach from the excessive use of alcohol, eat all the good food you want but don't overload the stomach. A weak stomach may refuse to digest what you eat. Then you need a good digestant like Kodol, which digests your food without the stomach's aid. This rest and the wholesome tones Kodol contains soon restore health. Dieting unnecessary. Kodol quickly relieves the feeling of fullness and bloating from which some people suffer after meals. Absolutely cures indigestion.

THE FORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT FOR CONSTIPATION.

Constipation is nothing more than a clogging of the bowels and nothing less than vital stagnation or death if not relieved. If every constipated sufferer could realize that he is allowing poisonous filth to remain in his system, he would soon get relief. Constipation invites all kind of contagion. Headaches, biliousness, colds and many other ailments disappear when constipated bowels are relieved. The Ford's Black-Draught thoroughly cleans out the bowels in an easy and natural manner without the purging of calomel or other violent cathartics. Be sure that you get the original Ford's Black-Draught, made by the Chattanooga Medicine Co. Sold by all druggists in 25 cent and $1.00 packages. MORRAN, Ark., May 25, 1901. I cannot recommend Ford's Black-Draught too highly. I keep it by my house all the time and have used it for the last ten years. I never gave my children any other laxative. I think I could never be able to work without it on account of being troubled with constipation. Your medicine is all that keeps me up. C. B. REHMAN.

An Ideal Woman's Medicine.

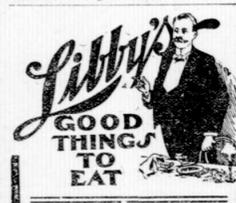

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific, and throughout the length and breadth of this great continent come the glad tidings of woman's sufferings relieved by it, and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women saying that it will and positively does cure the worst forms of female complaints.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women who are puzzled about their health to write her at Lynn, Mass., for advice. Such correspondence is seen by women only, and no charge is made.

AS TO SIGNING NAMES.

Some Idiosyncrasies of Women in This Respect. Large firms which have had a great deal of correspondence with women are often very much put to it to discover whether or not the writers of the letters they receive should be addressed as "Miss" or as "Mrs."

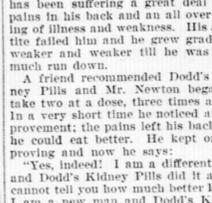

They come the by no means easily solved problem to the business people of how they should address the letters to them. If they make the envelope read "Mrs. Lucy Smith" and that woman is a spinster she is apt to become offended, and transfer her custom to some other house.

So says Mrs. Josie Irwin, of 325 So. College St., Nashville, Tenn., of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ELECTRICITY VS. LOCOMOTIVE.

Steam Not Soon to be Displaced for Trunk Line Service. To the traveling public the idea of being hurled across the continent in an electrically-driven train at a speed of 100 miles an hour is a very attractive prospect.

The number of long-distance electric transmissions installed in the past few years, transmitting power economically and commercially for distances up to 150 miles, has led some people to believe that electricity trunk lines is in sight.

In order to use high-tension alternating currents for railway work, it has been necessary to interpose both static and rotary transformers and this, of course, very greatly increases the expense.

As a little extension into the field of possibilities, asked my friend Mr. Graham for some figures on the motive power on the 400 miles of the Oregon R. R. & Navigation Co. line between Portland and Huntington.

He says that the motive power on this line is supplied by 100 steam engines, and that the cost of fuel for these engines is $100,000 per year.

When we consider that, with the greatest success possible in the present experiment, we can only save 50 percent of the cost of the steam engines, it is not surprising that the electric trunk line is not in sight.

As a matter of fact, unless some heaven-born genius is sent to try and revolutionize present methods, electricity is absolutely out of the race for long-distance trunk line service.

When we consider that, with the greatest success possible in the present experiment, we can only save 50 percent of the cost of the steam engines, it is not surprising that the electric trunk line is not in sight.

As a matter of fact, unless some heaven-born genius is sent to try and revolutionize present methods, electricity is absolutely out of the race for long-distance trunk line service.

From N. Y. Journal. "Having asked my friend Mr. Graham for some figures on the motive power on the 400 miles of the Oregon R. R. & Navigation Co. line between Portland and Huntington.

He says that the motive power on this line is supplied by 100 steam engines, and that the cost of fuel for these engines is $100,000 per year.
