Rockefeller's Poverty. A Million Dollars For a New Stomach. Is His Offer—Riches Cannot Always Buy Health.

When you are inclined to envy the rich, remember that John D. Rockefeller, multi-millionaire, one of the very wealthiest men in the world, and a great man, has troubles for which all his wealth cannot compensate. Mr. Rockefeller has a diseased stomach that shall never be cured by any medicine. Instead of being permitted to enjoy life to its full, to eat what he likes without distress, to partake of tempting viands and to drink of delicious beverages, he is obliged to subsist on a diet of tepid milk and lime water, such as you would feed to a colicky baby. Is it much wonder that he offers a million dollars of his many millions for a new stomach that shall never be cured by any medicine?

Mr. Rockefeller would spend fifty cents for Camp's Curative Remedy, which secures the relief he seeks promptly and permanently. But the price is too small in the millionaire's eyes. He would rather spend a million dollars to get a new stomach than a few dollars to get a new stomach. This is the price of a new stomach that shall never be cured by any medicine.

There is no question about the efficacy of Camp's Curative Remedy in all cases of stomach and digestive disorders. It is guaranteed to cure, and in any case of failure to do so the purchaser's money will be promptly refunded. All druggists sell it, giving you your choice of powder or tablet form at the low prices of 25 and 50 cents. Under such liberal terms and at such a small price, the man, woman or child who continues to suffer with any illness of the stomach has only himself to blame.

Imperial Commission Says There Is Nothing in Way. CZAR'S STAND UPHELD. Says if He Signs Peace Treaty He Cannot Keep Throne for Himself.

St. Petersburg, March 30.—It is understood that the imperial commission under the presidency of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicolaevitch, which has been considering the question of continuing the war, has completed its preliminary report which favors a continuation of the war, finding nothing in the present situation, either financial or military, to prevent it being carried out to the end.

Czar Advocates War. St. Petersburg, March 30.—The Emperor is still the keenest advocate of reasons which render a continuation of the war. He has contemplated the possibility of having to sign a treaty which, however, expressing himself as follows: "I would destroy a peace treaty, I cannot remain the czar."

Peace Congress Not Favored. Berlin, March 30.—The suggestion that an international congress be called to arrange the Russian Japanese war of peace finds no favor at the foreign office here. It is believed that between the belligerents without the interference of other powers is much preferred. An international congress would mean a derangement of the present equilibrium of interests because those underlying to settle peace on a proper brokerage on the transaction. The strongest influence of the Russian military policy will stand against for a continuation of the war.

Ouereshkov, the famous Russian author, declares that to call on the faithful to fight with the cross to the last drop of blood for the salvation of Russia as the home of Christ and to cut off the heads of the Russian government and to bring about a religious uprising—an appeal to the most fanatical and the most uncontrollable human passions.

The Confessions of a Club Woman.

BY AGNES SURBRIDGE. I blushed and hesitated. The temptation was great. The waists were more stylish than anything Chicago had yet seen, and nobody would ask. After this offer, I did not like to ask the price, but one could see they were expensive.

"What, not see through the pretty widow?" she went on. "Why, everybody else sees it already. I tell you an unmarried clergyman cannot be too careful. I know that you know, there'll be a scandal in the aristocratic ranks of St. Sebastian's."

"And he dared to admonish me!" I replied with an inscrutable smile, "for we hardly wait for an invitation to help receive the guests at a reception the mayor and his wife were giving for the Count de Beauvais, together with a note asking me to dine with them the same evening. Dinners and receptions followed in quick succession, and the count's stay was prolonged from the two weeks to an unbroken smoothness. There were no outward friction and few criticisms that reached my ears. But the president of a large city club has a value in the business world, as was destined to learn. And therein lay my first danger. Within a week after the brilliant 'gentlemen' night of the Nola Bazaar, the count of a strange gentleman was brought up to me at an early hour one morning.

"I replied graciously that the name and the office were made a deep bow. 'I have read much about you in the papers. My name is not familiar to you—of course, but I am sure you must have heard of me. You are a great photographer.' He stopped and I gasped with delight. Florine's photographs were famous, indeed, and cost a good deal of money.

"He, too, had read about you, and has seen your pictures in the Sunday papers," he began diplomatically. "At first I thought you were a man, but the Sunday papers presume to put out pictures of you. He would be glad, madam—he would esteem it a privilege, if you would consent to pose for him. Of course, there would be no expense to you."

"I will be glad to do it," I answered with a smile, and after a few minutes of studying on this difficult subject for weeks, we are by no means sure that we have got the best yet; and it is nothing to be proud of. You must have seen them. We are asking several of the most prominent women here to let us make them a few pairs of these shoes, in order that they may be able to wear them. That is what we are asking you to do for us—simply to wear some of our different styles, and to let us know how they fit and how they wear. In a word, if there is any way by which they can be improved, you will be doing us a favor. You will give me a dinner recently to take your measure and have some of our fine shoes sent you—simply as a trial. It comes to me that you must have appreciated it as a kindness, and we should be glad to have you wear them."

That is what we are asking you to do for us—simply to wear some of our different styles, and to let us know how they fit and how they wear. In a word, if there is any way by which they can be improved, you will be doing us a favor. You will give me a dinner recently to take your measure and have some of our fine shoes sent you—simply as a trial. It comes to me that you must have appreciated it as a kindness, and we should be glad to have you wear them."

"I will be glad to do it," I answered with a smile, and after a few minutes of studying on this difficult subject for weeks, we are by no means sure that we have got the best yet; and it is nothing to be proud of. You must have seen them. We are asking several of the most prominent women here to let us make them a few pairs of these shoes, in order that they may be able to wear them. Candidate for Superintendent of Schools.

We publish herewith the portrait of Richard B. Thiel of Schleiserville, candidate for the office of Superintendent of Schools.

After graduation he taught for three years in the common schools of the county, being in the charge of the school in Joint Districts Nos. 4 and 1, Town of Polk and Richfield, at that time the largest district school in the county.

He still holds that position, and his standing in the educational profession is of stability, because he is progressive in spirit and has always been a hard worker—qualities very desirable in a teacher and educator.

After completing his Normal course, Mr. Thiel was chosen principal of the Waldo High school, at that time having only the three-year course, but has since become a four-year high school largely due to his efforts.

He still holds that position, and his standing in the educational profession is of stability, because he is progressive in spirit and has always been a hard worker—qualities very desirable in a teacher and educator.

WOMEN NOT TRUTHFUL

This Statement Has Been Unjustly Made, Because Modest Women Evade Questions Asked By Male Physicians.

An eminent physician says that "Women are not truthful; they will lie to their physician." This statement should be qualified; women do tell the truth, but not the whole truth, to a male physician, but this is only in regard to those painful and troublesome disorders peculiar to their sex.

There can be no more terrible ordeal to a delicate, sensitive, refined woman than to be obliged to answer certain questions when those questions are asked, even by her usual physician. This is especially the case with unmarried women.

It is a wonder, then, that women continue to suffer and that doctors fail to cure female diseases when they cannot get the proper information to work on?

This is the reason why thousands and thousands of women are now corresponding with Mrs. Pinkham. To her they can and do give every symptom, so that she really knows more about the true condition of her patients, through her correspondence with them than the physician who personally questions them.

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record for actual cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. J.H. Farmer of 2809 Elliott Avenue, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I want to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. Three years ago I had inflammation of the ovaries and uterus on my womb. I was under the doctor's care for about three months, and the only time I was not in pain was when under the influence of morphine. The doctor finally said I never would be better, and I had given up in despair, but one evening I came across one of your advertisements and decided to write you for advice. I did so and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began to improve at once, and today I am a well woman, and I know it is all due to your love and medicine."

Mrs. Ella Lee, Frankford, Ind., writes: "Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I want to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. Three years ago I had inflammation of the ovaries and uterus on my womb. Three years ago I had inflammation of the ovaries and uterus on my womb. I was under the doctor's care for about three months, and the only time I was not in pain was when under the influence of morphine. The doctor finally said I never would be better, and I had given up in despair, but one evening I came across one of your advertisements and decided to write you for advice. I did so and commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began to improve at once, and today I am a well woman, and I know it is all due to your love and medicine."

WOMAN'S TONGUE INVALUABLE.

Sorely Afflicted, Learns to Do Many Things in an Unusual Manner.

In an article in the Medizinische Wochenschrift, from Dr. Rubinstein of Verdun-sur-Meuse, reports an extraordinary case of a female patient, named Selma Kunz, who, having lost the complete use of all her limbs through an attack of meningitis, was able to train her tongue to do work otherwise performed by her hands.

Dr. Cameron, who treated the patient, states that she was able to eat, write, and to do needlework solely by the use of her tongue. In sewing she took the thread in her mouth and tied a knot in it by a single movement of the tongue.

By means of small scissors she could cut material for dolls' clothes, and was able to thread a needle by sticking it into the table and pushing a thread through the eye with her lips and tongue.

In knitting, Selma Kunz used her paralyzed arms as weights for her work. All the specimens of her work, amongst which was a table-mat with a pretty silk pattern, were very neatly sewn. In course of time the patient's tongue was considerably changed in appearance, becoming more pointed, and very long. The transformation, however, in no way interfered with her speech. Selma Kunz died about a year ago.

He sent the article to a local newspaper office and had it printed in its issue of the 15th.

What can I do for you? This was asked. "The article is sent you today by Daniel," said the editor. "Please take him out and put him in the lion's den."—Baltimore Sun.

A few days ago she convulsed the bank getting interest on the money, and went to a bank to see if the peonies would be received. She was told to wrap up the peonies in paper and bring them down. She spent more than a day making up the packages and they carried by express to the bank on a train, the mass weighing over seventy pounds.
