VOLUME XXVII KEWASKUM, WIS., SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1922 NUMBER 31

DENY PETITION FOR CHANGE OF HIGHWAY

The state highway commission at a meeting at Madison Monday denied the petition of residents of Campbellsport and vicinity for a change in the route of Highway 55 between Kewaskum and the vicinity of Eden from the present route through the towns of Auburn, Osceola and Eden to the old military road which follows closely the line of the North Western railway, passing through Campbellsport.

As reasons for the decision, the commission entered in its minutes the statement that the petitioners are bound by the necessity of keeping faith with the people of Auburn, Osceola and Eden who voted for the bond issue, and though the commission might legally, according to the best advice obtainable, make the change requested, the "moral force of the bond issue referendum cannot be resisted."

The commission expresses sympathy with the claims of the people of Campbellsport and offers what may be in part at least a solution of the difficulty with the implied promise that eventually the "over the hill" road may be improved with concrete with the assistance of state and federal funds, said expresses the opinion that Campbellsport should have a connection with the concrete highway at the point where the road from Dundee intersects.

A connection at this point would lead traffic from that section of the county directly into Campbellsport, and it accomplished would do away with the fear of the Campbellsport people that the connection when made might be directly to the east or perhaps southeast, increasing the distance from Campbellsport to Fond du Lac on the all-concrete road.

History is Reviewed. The history of the location of the road on its present route and other matters in connection with the controversy were reviewed in the minutes of the commission in part as follows: "At the time of the layout in 1919 when the one-mile Waucoista road was selected for reference for the stage road, the commission was not unmindful of the advantages of the shorter route and gave the subject careful and thorough consideration. The marking of either route would immediately impose upon Fond du Lac county the necessity of maintaining that route.

RESULTS OF THE SPRING ELECTION

The election in this village on Tuesday brought out a large vote, a good many of the ladies turned out to cast their ballot. Newton Rosenheimer defeated his opponent Emil Backhaus for the office of supervisor, and Fred Buss was again re-elected constable, due to the support of Mr. Miller. The result of the election in the village is as follows:

- President—E. L. Morgenroth. Trustees—Chas. Groeschel, George Kippenhan and Geo. H. Schmidt. Clerk—S. N. Casper. Treasurer—Jos. Mayer. Assessor—Edw. F. Miller. Justice of the Peace—George H. Schmidt. Supervisor—N. W. Rosenheimer. Constable—Fred H. Buss.

The election in the town was very spirited and a large vote was cast. There being opposition for the offices of supervisor and treasurer. The result of the election is as follows:

- Supervisor—Gerhard Felenz. Clerk—Adolph Habek. Treasurer—Emil Siegel. Assessor—Nick Rodenkirch. Justice of the Peace—Henry Mueck. Constable—Mek. Johannes.

For the office of circuit judge Chas. Davison defeated his opponent David Agnew of Waakosha. Jones was re-elected to the judgeship of the Supreme Court.

Town of Auburn. Chairman—Steve Klein. Side Supervisors—Jacob Ferber and Jos. Schladweiler. Clerk—Frank Schultz. Assessor—John Oppermann. Treasurer—Peter Senz.

Campbellsport. President—J. H. Kleinhaus. Clerk—Frank Flanagan. Treasurer—Jacob W. Schaefer. Assessor—Philip Guenther. Trustees—Andrew J. Sukawaty, E. F. Messner, and Herman Wondra. Supervisor—H. A. Wrucke. Constable—John Schaefer.

West Bend's Child Health Conference proved a great success as a result of which the Club women and local physicians have invited Dr. Horner to return early next fall to conduct a three day health conference, by so doing it will enable them to take care of all who apply for examination. Although sixty children were examined, many mothers were turned away. To examine this number would have been impossible for a one day conference.

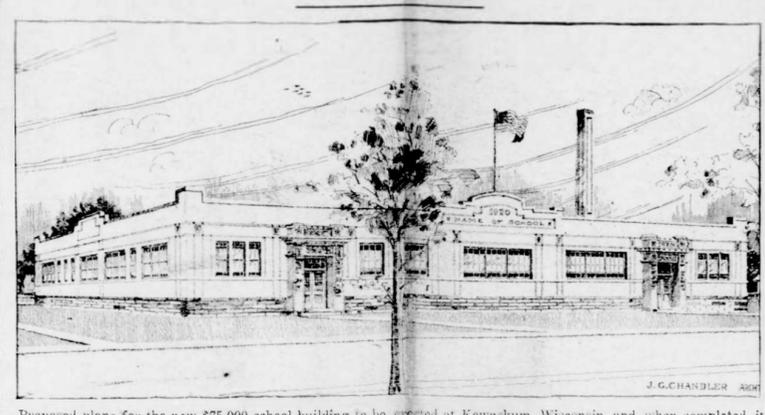

Many cases of interest came to the attention of the doctors and the mothers were very anxious to learn what they could from the advice Dr. Horner gave them. Faulty feeding was the cause of a great many defects and the result of the large percentage of overweight children.

It was suggested that a monthly mothers class be held in the County Court House where the children who attended the conference may be weighed regularly by the County Nurse and a close watch kept on their diet. These meetings will be open to all mothers regardless of whether they attended the conference or not.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of Joint School District No. 5 of the Village and Town of Kewaskum, Washington County, State of Wisconsin, that a special meeting of said district will be held at the school house in said district on the 12th day of April, 1922 at 8 o'clock in the afternoon for the following objects and purposes: To select a new school site and vote money for the payment of the same and for the erection of a new school building and provide for the payment of the same; to authorize the school board to borrow $72,000, $25,000 from the trust funds of the State and to authorize an issue of bonds amounting to $47,000 for the purpose of purchasing a new school site and of building a new school building, and to levy a tax sufficient to pay for the same and to pay the principal and interest of the loan from the state trust funds and on the bonds as the same become due.

Dated at Kewaskum, Wisconsin this 30th day of March, 1922. L. D. Guth, District Clerk of Joint School District No. 5, of the Village and Town of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin.

BELOW IS A SUGGESTION FOR A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING FOR KEWASKUM

Proposed plans for the new $75,000 school building to be erected at Kewaskum, Wisconsin, and, when completed, it is claimed it will be one of the finest educational buildings in the state. The building is of the one-story design. It is 138 ft. by 193 ft., and contains five classrooms, to accommodate 40 scholars each. One manual training room, one finishing room, one domestic science kitchen laundry adjacent to same; pantry and sewing room. Also has good sized office and teachers' room. High school room to accommodate 200 scholars; five recitation rooms close by; one business room, with typewriting room adjoining.

In the center of the building is a large combination gymnasium and auditorium, with balcony on one side. In connection with the gymnasium is a large stage with dressing room and shower bath rooms on either side. The boiler room and coal room are located on the outside of the building. The coal room is large enough to accommodate a year's supply. The building is to be heated and ventilated with what is known as the fan system. The building is constructed entirely of brick. The trimmings on the exterior will be light glazed terra cotta. All inside partition walls will be fire-proof.

The one-story school is one safe answer to that dominant peril of the school. And the one-story school answers other big questions; questions of hygiene, of health, of education. The one-story school idea—minimum peril, maximum education. Minimum peril implies the panic-proof school, a minimum of fire hazards, of child-life hazard, a minimum of every fear. Maximum education means maximum economy, maximum superintendence and control, minimum friction of all kinds, a maximum use of money. The one-story school costs 20 per cent less to construct, to maintain, R. V. Fitzpatrick, architect, Washington, D. C., says: "The upstairs school is deliberately designed as a fire peril. It is a menace to school children. In two minutes the up stairs corridors could be made a roaring furnace. He says: 'Gentlemen of the school boards, do your best to get lots big enough to have schools of one-story height.' He argues that fire just loves the vertical route. So does fear-impelling, suffocating, stair and corridor obliterating smoke."

Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin, school building burned, with one casualty. Had this fire occurred during school hours, there is no knowing what the disaster might have been. They rebuilt, and it was one-story. Advocates of the one-story type use the following arguments: There is today an awakening on the subject of the one-story school. Why the peril of the upstairs school? The school world is throbbing with a menace and its question is "Why?"

Why Build a New School House? An old dress can be made over so that it will last a little longer. Poor people often resort to this method and make it pay. After all a dress serves only one purpose and is not built for the future. Not so a school house. We have made vast progress since the old school house was built. There are the demands for a new education suited to the new needs, when our graduates leave us they meet a keener competition than we ever dreamed of in our day. Let in the flood of light; make the school honor the community center! Teach every useful and needful subject; provide the necessary materials for practical objects. These are demands we should meet. Are we too poor to supply these reasonable needs? If we are, there is no visible evidence of it. We have no made-over or patched-up public buildings. Since when did we get so poor that we have not the money for a school building in keeping with our other public buildings suited to every modern requirement and to future needs? A thrifty family would not try to patch up his old Esterly reaper built forty years ago and expect to make a satisfactory modern harvester of it. He goes to the dealer in farming machinery and buys a harvester of the 1922 model. To fix up our old school building is a compromise with poverty and extravagance, and not a fair effort to provide wisely for our children.

If we propose to remodel our old building where will we find room for our schools during the long months when they are shut out? Shall we have no school? Shall we ask our growing children to stop growing while we work over the old school house into a building so modern that our State Superintendent will approve it? I do not believe that the system of lighting and ventilation required by law can be put into the old building. Let us use common sense which is often not done in projects of this kind. We can build fine homes for ourselves and we can do the same for our children. We have made the modern harvester. It has replaced the school house. It is a mistake to think that the building of school houses has improved no more than has ordinary home construction. When we inspect a new school house our ideas of what a modern school building means to a community undergo a complete change. We do not need to be told then,—we see it. A special school meeting has been called "for the erection of a new school building" not for making any repairs on the old one. Our citizens take pride in their own homes. They have not lost this fine spirit of enterprise they will go to the limit. If we are to build a new school, they will help all about the requirements, and being fair-minded and public spirited they will vote for child welfare, community welfare. Or shall we pinet the penny? A. E. Schaub, Principal.

DEATHS OF THE PAST WEEK

DEATH OF CORAL LIEBENSTEIN. After a four weeks' illness with a complication of diseases, Coral Liebenstein, one of Batavia's well known and popular young ladies, passed away in death at her home in that village on Friday, March 31st. Deceased was born Oct. 12, 1904, at Milwaukee coming to her present home 17 years ago. She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, Mrs. Ida Liebenstein, her grand father, P. W. Liebenstein and a large number of other relatives and friends. Coral was loved by all who knew her, she graduated from the Batavia graded school in 1919, after which she took up a course in the Plymouth high school. The funeral was held on Monday, April 3, with services in the Zion's church, officiated by Broede delivered a very impressive sermon. The choir also sang a number of beautiful songs. The Batavia school was closed on the day of the funeral in honor of the deceased. Interment was made in the Wildwood cemetery. The pall bearers were: Art. Eberhard, Clarence Lefever, Orin Emley, Earl Laux, Lowell Melius and L. Detman.

DEATH OF THEO. SYDOW. On last week Friday, death claimed Theo. E. Sydow, a prominent and well known banker of the village of Jackson. Mr. Sydow had been suffering from blood poisoning for a month, caused by cutting a pimple while shaving. Deceased was born Sept. 14, 1867, in the town of Jackson, on Aug. 2, 1891, he was married to Miss Anna Kopp of the town of Barton, who mourns his untimely death. He also leaves one brother, William Sydow of Waukesha. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon, the remains were laid at rest in the Pilsbom's Rest cemetery at West Bend. Rev. Otto officiated.

BLAME FALLS TO DEPRESSION IN AUTO LINES. The alleged slump in the automobile and truck manufacturing business in 1920 is held by the defense in the Barton Axle Company case. The case is on in circuit court at Fond du Lac this week, responsible for the failure of the Barton Axle Company.

The defense started its case Tuesday afternoon. George H. Gabel, who was treasurer of the Barton axle company at one time, was called to the stand first. Following him Peter C. Wolf, former cashier of the Barton State Bank and the prime mover in the organization of the Barton axle company, the chair and remained under examination the balance of the afternoon. He stated that as far as he knew at the time the Barton company was incorporated the reputation of E. W. McAvoy, head of the American Axle company and one of the defendants, was above reproach. He described the deal by which the American Axle Company a Delaware corporation which was in the process of organization, agreed to take the product of the Barton axle company on a basis of $15 net profit per axle.

With this contract Wolf went ahead with the stock sale and disposed of over $300,000 worth of the paper of the company. When it was put on a production basis the American Axle Company by Mr. McAvoy said that the automobile business was at a standstill and that there was no market for the axles.

The witness stated that he felt that he had a moral obligation to the company to put it on a paying basis and for that reason demanded that the contract given by the American Axle company to the Barton axle company be given. Then he demanded that McAvoy give up the 2500 shares of common stock which he held in order to control the price of manufacture of the axles.

The witness said that under the permit of the industrial commission he was allowed to sell the stock at a commission not to exceed 15 per cent. Some of this was sold at 10 per cent, some at 13% and some at 25 per cent, but the total paid for commission did not exceed the rate allowed he claimed.

In regard to the $12,800 machinery account which appeared on the Barton books to the credit of the American Axle company, Mr. Wolf said that he knew nothing about it. In answer to the charge that he took two $1000 bonds to give one each to the defendants G. H. Gabel and M. H. Grossman he said that he had taken the securities and sold them to the bank at par. He kept the money for himself as a part of the commission due for selling the axles.

He resigned from the bank in September 1920 when the directors told him that he would either have to give all of his time to the bank or to the Barton Axle Company. He chose the latter because he felt that the bank was a going concern and no longer needed his assistance and the axle company did.

He described the methods used in putting the Hoffman Motor Truck company, Elkhardt, Ind., and the Beaver Motor Truck Company, Hamilton, Canada, on a sound financial basis so that they could take the orders placed with the Barton company. In spite of the assistance given both concerns failed along with numerous others named by the witness.

In the stock sale he admitted that he had sold his relatives about $22,000 worth of securities in good faith. Those included were his father, father-in-law, brothers, uncles and cousins.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

CARD OF THANKS. We, the undersigned, desire to thank our friends and neighbors who so willingly assisted us during our late bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Mr. Ernst Schneider, for the beautiful floral offerings, the pall bearers, Rev. Heschke for his consoling words, to those who sang the duet and all those who assisted and attended the funeral. Mrs. Ernst Schneider and Children.—Good Friday, April 14th.

STRIKES SNAG IN HIGHWAY AWARD

When the county highway commission awarded the paving of 11.12 miles on highway 55 to the George Gross Construction Co., of Appleton, they struck a snag in the personage of R. H. Hirst, Wisconsin highway engineer, who has raised an objection regarding the formality.

The state must approve of all contracts awarded for paving on state aid highways. Highway 55 comes under this clause. Bids were opened on this project at the office of Division Engineer Weymouth, at Milwaukee on Tuesday, March 21. Rogers & Monroe, of East Jordan, Mich., and the Froemming Bros., of Milwaukee, were the low bidders, one handing in the low bid on Section A and the other on Section B. The collective amounts of the bids were approximately the same amount as the total bid submitted by the George Gross Construction Co. In addition to building the road the Appleton company had agreed to purchase one of the county gravel loading outfits at the end of the construction season as the county would have further use for same after this fall.

In view of the fact that the Gross bid was the equal of the other two low bids if combined, and in view of the fact that this company was known to the county highway commission through their having built nearly nine miles of road in this county last year, and as their records were clear and their ability unquestioned, it was deemed perfectly proper to make the award of the contract to this county.

Hirst claims irregularity in the awarding of the contract and is holding to the point that the county cannot sidestep the lower figures although those of the bid submitted by the George Gross Co. had a little higher. The result in advertising for these bids meant that the commission had full power to accept or reject all bids open to it. In rejecting the bids of Rogers & Monroe and Froemming Bros. they acted in legal capacity. However, it would appear from the testimony that the state desires to have a voice in the matter.

Members of the county highway commission met to take up this matter and also with the State Highway Commissioner John Hazelwood at Milwaukee to see if this question cannot be adjusted amicably to the interests of the county as well as the state. On considering the facts of the case, they must pay two-thirds of the cost of this road directly and advance the other one-third to the state as the state treasury is depleted, the weight and responsibility should be placed on the county highway commission, especially in view of the fact that a matter of but a few dollars stand in the way.

WE ARE PRINTERS OF EVERYTHING YOU WANT. There is as much, or more, difference in the way commercial printing is done by the various printers, than there is difference in the grade of pork sausage one buys. And you can believe that only a little of the poorer grades of sausage are sold, at least more than one time to one and the same customer.

With printing it is getting to be the same. No matter what you want printed in the way of circulars, letter heads, etc.—in fact any commercial printing—you want it to be "your personality in print." If it's a bum job of printing, your customers think there is something about you that will bear watching, because you don't demand the best and of printing. And 19 times out of 20 they are right.

The Kewaskum Statesman shop is not only equipped to give the very best grade of printing, but has the ambition to do the kind of commercial printing that costs no more, and in many cases no more, to get a satisfactory job of printing done than it costs to get a "cheap" job done, and the latter is five times as expensive in the end.

No matter what you want printed, let us give you our price and show you the quality of work we put out. Our phone number is 281 and we are never too busy to help a prospective customer.

IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS. Math, Reisler Jr., who was seriously injured at Milwaukee during Sunday night of the fire at the Kinnickinnic Ave., by being hit by a fast moving Interurban street car while returning from the home of a friend, is still in a very critical condition, at the St. Mary's hospital, where he was removed from the emergency hospital the day after the accident. Up to the time of going to press he was still in an unconscious condition. Although an X-ray examination was taken, attending physicians have not made a statement as to what the results of the examination are.

The fire department was called on Friday shortly before dinner to extinguish a small blaze which had started in the Muckerheide grist mill on Wilhelm street. The fire was put out by the aid of the chemical before any damage was done. It is thought that the fire started from a spark from an engine, which is being used to drive the saw mill for the Muckerheide sawing outfit, which is now in operation at their sawmill here.

Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock a Soo Line freight train, south bound, was derailed three miles north of Theresa. Five cars were derailed and the caboose was also thrown off the track. The wrecker from North Fond du Lac was sent to the scene and cleared the main line. The cause of the accident was apparently the result of a broken truck.

NOTICE. The Kewaskum Live Stock Shipping Association will ship stock on Thursday, April 13. August Heberer, Manager.

FOND DU LAC CO. MAPS OUT DETOUR

The Fond du Lac highway commission has mapped out the detour roads for the coming summer during the construction of the new highway 55. The detour route will be under construction. On the Fond du Lac city end of route 55 the Marblehead road will be used from Eden to Fond du Lac. This is also known as County Trunk V. Contractor Froemming plans to pave the north end of the road from the city limits to Calvary Cemetery first.

LLOYD GEORGE SCORES TRIUMPH

Commons Votes Confidence in Premier and Government by 379 to 84.

OUTLINES PLANS FOR GENOA

In Historic Speech British Leader Lays Down Conditions Whereon Allies Are to Recognize Russian Soviet Government.

London, April 5.—The house of commons voted confidence in Premier Lloyd George and the government by 379 to 84.

The vote evidenced the approval of the premier's outline of the allied plans for the Genoa conference.

In a historic speech at the Genoa conference the premier laid down the conditions whereon the allies are preparing to recognize the soviet government.

The conditions were: 1. Recognition of the debts contracted under the czarist regime.

2. Resignation of the Red army. 3. Russia must not attack its neighbors and vice versa.

4. Access to Russian ports. 5. Establishment of the neutral agencies for the protection of trade.

6. Recognition to be general, with a preliminary period. The premier had not entirely regained his old confidence, as the result of his recent illness.

He spoke quietly, sometimes with unusual hesitancy, searching for words to fit the occasion. There was also an absence of swift retorts when the premier was heckled by laborites.

Only in the closing part of his speech did Lloyd George permit his characteristic fire. Nevertheless the premier scored another personal triumph.

Warm applause greeted Lloyd George when he entered the densely packed house and cheering was loud and prolonged when he rose to deliver his 58-minute speech.

Labor members enthusiastically applauded the premier's reference to a campaign for immediate recognition of the soviet government, but the mass of conservatives reserved their approval until the premier's announcement that Russia must prove good faith before the allied powers could ceremonially recognize the soviets.

Lloyd George sounded a death knell to Britain's hopes that a dictatorship for proletarian Russia would be superseded by a more democratic form of government when he said:

"The world cannot afford to wait any longer for the prospect of the downfall of the present regime. It is our duty at Genoa to see that the re-establishment of peace in Europe is complete."

The historical precedent which the premier selected to justify the recognition was Pitt's peace with the French revolutionary government. The premier said that he felt today as Pitt did in his time—that unless peace was made with the revolutionaries, Europe faced many devastating years.

Dealing with the other objects of the Genoa conference, Lloyd George said the conference would try to recover prosperity from a desolation where into Europe had fallen, but he would not seek to revise existing treaties or the reparations provisions made at the Versailles treaty.

"If Germany does not pay," said the premier, "France and Britain have to Germany's ultimate capacity to pay must not be judged by the present general depression."

The first work at Genoa will be to restore exchanges. England's international trade is now 50 per cent of what it was before the war. Germany's 25 per cent and France's 60 per cent.

Pressure will have to be brought to bear to induce nations to balance their budgets, the premier said.

13 WIVES, GETS 14 YEARS

Isaiah Moore Sentenced at Indianapolis for Bigamy and Also Embezzlement.

Indianapolis, April 5.—Isaiah Moore, who has thirteen marriages to his credit, was sentenced to serve from two to fourteen years in the state reformatory on a charge of embezzlement and was fined $1,000 and costs and disfranchised for five years.

Moore, who is said by police to have confessed to having at least thirteen wives in various parts of the United States, also was sentenced to serve from two to five years in the state prison on a charge of bigamy.

Moore, according to the police, is said to have obtained more than $2,700 from his thirteen wives. In each case after he had been wedded a week he disappeared.

COUNTESS OF ANNESLEY

Priscilla, countess of Annesley, has been making a prolonged visit to the United States. She is one of three ladies to bear the same title in Great Britain, consequently at times, situations are somewhat embarrassing, since she is constantly being confused with the others.

She is the widow of the fifth Earl Hugh Annesley, and was his second wife. She has been an active force in North Irish affairs, and is among the powerful political hostesses.

SIGN NEW IRISH PACT

Ulster and Free State Act to End Warfare.

British Government's Plan Accepted by Both Factions—Will End Border War.

London, April 1.—The basis of an agreement between Ulster and the Irish Free State, which will end the border war, was reached, it was officially announced.

At the conference of representatives of Ulster, the Irish Free State and the British government proposals were made and accepted by all to end the warfare between Orangemen and Sinn Feiners in Ulster, as well as along the border.

The articles of agreement were announced in the house of commons by Winston Churchill, who acted as arbitrator of the fateful session of the Northern and Southern delegates.

The most important part of the agreement was "article seven." It provides for future conferences on the unity of Ireland. Under this article the signers of the agreement will meet once each month after the passage of the Irish constitutional bill.

Falling success in achieving unity, the agreement provides for further meetings when attempts will be made to settle the boundary question between the North and the South on a permanent basis. Both the North and the South agree to return all kidnapped persons.

Numerous other points were covered which will tend to insure adherence to the peace program by both signatories.

OWES U. S. $18,000,000,000

United States Passes Great Britain as the World's Banking Nation, Data Shows.

Washington, April 4.—A forthcoming publication of the federal reserve board will disclose how completely the United States has taken the place of Great Britain as the world's banker, the leading investor in foreign enterprises.

In addition to the $11,000,000,000 war loans by the United States to the allies, private American capital has advanced $4,000,000,000 to foreign borrowers since 1914. With trade credits taken into account, it is estimated that the world owes us between $15,000,000,000 and $18,000,000,000,000.

Big Fire at High Point, N. C. High Point, N. C., April 4.—Fire in the Carolina and Yadkin River railroad main office here destroyed that structure, swept through three other buildings, burned five residences and destroyed five box cars. The damage is estimated at from $200,000 to $250,000.

Says He Swindled Eleven Banks. Youngstown, O., April 5.—J. B. House of Bay City, Mich., wanted in Cleveland and other cities on charges of having defrauded banks out of more than $100,000, confessed here of having swindled eleven banks.

Foil Bank Robbery at Capital. Washington, April 5.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the Union Trust company, located at Fifteenth and H streets, northwest, one block from the United States treasury. One arrest was made.

Big Army Officer Shakeup. Washington, April 4.—Nearly a dozen colonels, a score of lieutenant colonels and more than 50 majors are included in a list of 164 army officers to be relieved from duty in Washington before the end of the year.

Jailed Farmers Freed to Plow. Williston, N. D., April 4.—Four farmers in jail for misdeemeanors have been released by order of District Judge Lowe here to work on their farms. They are to return to the county jail November 1.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Madison—Forest fires were not as deadly in 1921 as in the preceding year, according to figures compiled by C. L. Harrington, division of forestry and parks of the conservation commission. During 1921, 137 fires were reported as having burned over 38,044 acres.

Estimates of loss were made in-but 51 per cent of the fires. These estimates show that $4,736 damage was done to buildings and other property, while timber land, marsh hay land and young timber was damaged to the extent of $31,677, a total of $36,413.

In 1920 a total of 289 fires occurred, which burned over 404,569 acres, with a property loss of $225,692.

Madison—A total of $9,928,917 was paid as indemnity and $1,141,808 as medical aid in 32,967 cases settled under the Wisconsin workmen's compensation act in the two-year period from July 1, 1919, to June 30, 1921, the industrial commission has announced. The commission said that in only 1,599 of the 32,966 cases settled during the two years was an award made by it, this 5 per cent of the total accounting for 51 per cent of the indemnity. About 45 per cent of the total amount involved in the awards was in death cases, most of which were settled on stipulation.

Ripon—The most disastrous fire in twenty years took place at Ripon when flames swept the Barlow-Seelig Hardware company building, damaged several adjoining structures and threatened an entire block. The damage was estimated at over $85,000.

The blaze broke out in the three story structure of the hardware company. It took six hours of hard fighting on the part of the Ripon and Berlin fire departments before the fire was brought under control. Five firemen were injured in the battle against the fire.

La Crosse—Mary White, La Crosse, for many years housekeeper for her uncle, the late Rev. William White, has settled her claims against the estate of the priest for $15,000 and Father White's home, valued at $8,000. The settlement of the claim revealed the fact that the priest's estate was valued at $107,000.

Miss White, who is 52, put in a claim for $109,900 against the estate for services for 25 years, setting up that her uncle had promised her all his property.

Marinette—Nine cars of equipment have arrived in Marinette to be used in work on the new concrete road between Marinette and Peshtigo. The preliminary work was done last fall. The road will be 18 feet wide and five and one-half miles long. Several dangerous railroad crossings will be eliminated. It is expected the work will be completed about July 15 and the new road opened to traffic by August 1.

Plainfield—To lose the sight of an eye during the night while sleeping, without suffering a pain and without being conscious of the accident until the next morning was the experience of J. C. Coe, a farmer, near Shiocton, north of Plainfield. At present he is in a hospital and specialists are at loss to know the cause of the sudden blindness, as his eye had never been affected before.

Merrill—Miss Beulah Clark, eighth grade pupil at the Forest City school, town of King, won first place in the Lincoln county song contest. The pupils of the City View school, town of Scott, won second place. Both songs are being rehearsed by all the eighth grade pupils in the county for presentation at the rural school commencement at the Merrill high school, May 27.

Neenah—Plans are being made by the Neenah and Menasha Women's auxiliary posts of the American Legion which, if carried out, will result in the planting of trees Memorial Day in honor of Neenah and Menasha former service men who lost their lives in the World war.

Neenah—James Barthelsson of Neenah was found not guilty by a jury in Municipal court of a charge of illegal manufacture of moonshine liquor. Barthelsson was arrested by prohibition officials following a fire in his barn several weeks ago.

Marinette—In a commercial contest between the Marinette and Menominee, Mich., high schools, Marinette was the victor, securing 53 points to Menominee's 42. It was the first contest between the schools in scholastic work.

Green Bay—Brown county is going to be one of the banner potato production districts in the state this year. That is the prediction of County Agent Kavanaugh, who feels that his campaign for a better crop is approaching reality.

Elkhorn—Walworth county is demonstrating its right to be called the Holstein center of Wisconsin. Since the first of the year local breeders have made four seven-day records for butter production, all of them above 30 pounds.

La Crosse—Impressive ceremonies featured the presentation of a charter to La Crosse council, Boy Scouts, just organized, in the high school auditorium. The council now has a membership of 500.

Ladysmith—Mrs. Anna Richards has been appointed by Mayor George Luell as city treasurer of Ladysmith to fill the unexpired term of Elmer Hill, who resigned to accept appointment as county clerk of Rusk county. Mrs. Richards is the first woman to hold municipal office in that city.

Madison—The Wisconsin Anti Saloon league will hold its state convention in Milwaukee, May 23 and 24 according to announcement by E. P. Hutton, Madison, superintendent.

ELKHORN—FRED MCBRIDE, confessed slayer of his chum, Edward Thielon of Racine, on the night of Nov. 20 last, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Waupun by Circuit Judge E. B. Belden of Racine in District court at Elkhorn.

McBride had changed his plea of insanity to one of guilty, as a result of testimony of two alienists that he was sane. Maintaining his composure to the end and seemingly rejoicing when the doctors pronounced him responsible for the murder, McBride jested with court officials after being sentenced and cheerfully posed for newspaper photographers. He was unmoved as Judge Belden spoke the words that condemned him to existence behind prison walls, with the anniversary of the crime each year, Nov. 20, to be spent in solitary confinement.

Neenah—While there may be unemployment in other cities of the country, Neenah boasts of not a scarcity of jobs but a scarcity of men to fill the jobs. Two weeks ago the employment bureau of the Neenah civic association was endeavoring to get positions for men seeking them, but now it is seeking men to fill jobs on file. The spring weather, permitting the resumption of construction work, plus the fact that many Neenah and Menasha mills now are working with 100 per cent forces instead of partial forces are the main forces in relieving Neenah-Menasha unemployment.

Racine—Racine county has lost more than $20,000 because a herd of 165 Holstein cattle on the county asylum farm showed positive signs of tuberculosis following tests. As the state pays a certain portion of the cost of maintaining the county asylum, no money will be paid partly to reimburse the county, because of the loss of its herd of cattle, as is customary when tubercular herds owned by individuals or firms are condemned. The state usually pays one-third the value of the cattle condemned.

Eau Claire—Jacob Burnett Demarest, a veteran of the famous Eagle regiment, Co. C, Eighth Wisconsin Volunteer infantry, died at his daughter's home in Eau Claire, at the age of 82. He was born in Hyde Park, Dutchess county, New York, July 14, 1839, and came to Wisconsin in April, 1860, enlisting in August, 1861. He served four years and a month, never missing an engagement or march of his regiment. He was orderly sergeant of his company three years.

Reedsburg—Helen Bennett, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bennett, of the town of Winfield, near Reedsburg, who disappeared Feb. 15, was located in Denver. Her parents had instituted a nationwide search for her. A letter received by the parents stated that she was well and anxious to return home, but gave no reasons for leaving.

Kenosha—A "white hand" mystery is puzzling the police of Kenosha. Secretary Emil Meissner of the local police department has received a letter headed by a large blot of ink in which two white hands are portrayed. Below the strange mark are the words: "Lay off. We are strong. You will hear more of us soon." The police are attempting to locate the writer of the letter.

Madison—Conference of Wisconsin tobacco growers and business men of the tobacco district of the state was held at Madison with the state department of markets to consider the feasibility of forming a marketing pool. The organization will not be formed until 60 per cent of the state tobacco acreage has signed an agreement to pool its product.

Madison—The state department of agriculture returned $76,972.04 of the $80,522.11 received as its share of dog license fees in Wisconsin during 1920, to the counties, according to an announcement. Administration of the law by the state cost $3,450.07.

Sheboygan—Five hundred cans of whitefish and lake trout fry have been planted in Lake Michigan the last few days under the supervision of Conservation Warden Gruebner. The fry were hatched at the Sheboygan state fish hatchery.

Juneau—Midnight burglars driving an auto truck looted the store of C. W. Kleist, Minnesota Junction, Dodge county, and got away with merchandise valued at $1,000. Clothing, shoes, silk dress goods and all the jewelry in the place were stolen.

Madison—The college of agriculture estimates that the 700,000 acres of legumes grown in Wisconsin last year gained at least 35,000,000 pounds of nitrogen from the air and added it to Wisconsin soil.

Janesville—Mrs. Mattie Houston, Beloit nee, was the eighth person to be acquitted of charges of liquor law violation since prohibition went into effect when a jury, after deliberating for ten minutes, said "not guilty."

Oshkosh—The parish houses of two Oshkosh Catholic priests were robbed and the job is believed to be that of a gang of thieves who have been raiding parsonages in a number of the cities of the state.

$525 IN PRIZES FOR THE BEST RHYMES

A new contest is just being started which will interest every woman and girl who reads this paper. Any woman or girl can enter this Contest—anyone can win! All one has to do is to write a 4-line rhyme on Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder, using only the words which appear either on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) or on the printed slip which is found in each Dr. Price can.

Isn't that easy? Everyone likes to make rhymes and here is a chance to spend a fascinating hour or two writing rhymes on this popular Baking Powder and perhaps winning a substantial prize for your efforts.

59 CASH PRIZES For the rhyme selected as best a prize of $100 will be given; for the second, third and fourth best rhymes prizes of $75, $50 and $25, respectively will be given. And besides these prizes there will be 55 prizes of $5 each for the next 55 best rhymes. With such a long list of prizes as these, it would be a pity not to try your hand at it!

Here is a 4-line rhyme as an example: Two teaspoons of this powder make biscuits, muffins, pie or cake, The Price's Co., guarantee No alum in the cans to be.

As Dr. Price's Phosphate Baking Powder sells for only 25 cents a 12 oz. can at grocery stores, some rhymes could play up the remarkable economy of this pure and wholesome baking powder which contains no alum.

All rhymes must be received by May 1, 1922. Only words appearing either on the label of the Dr. Price can (front and back) or on the printed slip contained inside the can may be used. These words may be used as often as desired, but no other words will be allowed. If you haven't a can of Dr. Price's, a copy of the label and the printed slip will be sent to you free upon request.

Any woman or girl may enter the Contest, but only one rhyme from each person will be considered. In case of ties, the full amount of the prize will be given to each tying contestant. Write plainly on only one side of a sheet of paper and be sure to give your name and address.

Send your rhyme before May 1st to Price Baking Powder Factory, 1009 Independence Blvd., Chicago, Ill.—Advertisement.

A social worker attending the convention in Indianapolis of the Indiana Tuberculosis association told this one: A Sunday school teacher had been asked by one of her pupils what word was used in referring to two children born at the same time.

"Twins," the teacher answered. "What is the term used in referring to three babies born at the same time?" was the next inquiry.

"They are triplets," she replied. "How do you refer to four babies?" another asked.

"Four babies are called quadruplets." A bright, half-brother youth, probably thinking to catch the teacher, asked the term for five children.

DORA YOCUM.

Synopsis—With his grandfather, small Ramsey Milholland is watching the "Decorations Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youngster with the significance of the great number, and many years afterward, Ramsey is not distinguished for his standing in the school, though his pronounced abilities are apparent. "Decorations" and "Germania" is shown contrast to Ramsey's high standing in the school of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denounces "Teacher's Pet." In high school, where he and Dora are classmates, Ramsey continues to feel that she is the one who is manifesting her superiority, and the vindictiveness he manifests becomes alarming, culminating in the resolution that some day he will "show" her. At a class picnic Ramsey is captured and carried away by Mila Rust, the class beauty, and endures the agonies of his first love. Ramsey's parents object to Mila and would take up with Dora Yocum. Ramsey kisses Mila. Then Mila suddenly leaves town.

CHAPTER VII

He never saw her again. She sent him a "picture postcard" from Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, which his father engaged from the family mail, one morning at breakfast, and considerably handed to him without audible comment. Upon it was written, "Oh, you Ramsey!" This was the last of Mila.

Just before school opened, in the autumn, Sadie Clews made some revelations. "Mila did like you," said Sadie. "After that time you jumped in the creek to save her like you better than any boy in town, and I guess if it wasn't for her cousin Milt up in Chicago she would of liked you the best anywhere. I guess she did, anyway, because she hadn't seen him for about a year then."

"Well, that afternoon she went away I was over there and took in everything that was going on, only she made me promise on my word of honor I wouldn't even tell Albert. They didn't get any wire from the uncle about the touring car; it was her cousin Milt that jumped on the train and came down and fixed it all up for Mila to go on the trip, and everything. You see, Ramsey, she was turned back a couple of times in school before she came in our class and I don't know how old she is and she don't look old yet, but I'm pretty sure she's at least eighteen, and she might be over. I didn't think such a great deal of this Mila's looks myself, but he's anyway twenty-one years old, and got a good position, and all their family seem to think he's just fine! It wasn't his father that took in the touring car on the debt, like she said she was writing you; it was Milt himself. He started out in business when he was only thirteen years old, and this trip he was getting up for his father and mother and Mila was the first vacation he ever took. Well, of course she wouldn't like my tellin' you, but I can't see the harm of it, now everything's all over."

"All—all over? You mean Mila's going to be married?"

"She already is," said Sadie. "They got married at her Aunt Jess and Uncle Pury's house, up in Chicago, last Thursday. Yes, sir; that quiet, little Mila's a regular old married woman by this time, I expect, Ramsey?"

When he got over the shock, which was not until the next day, one pre-dominating feeling remained: It was a gloomy pride—a pride in his proven maturity. He was old enough, it appeared, to have been the same thing as engaged to a person who was now a Married Woman. His manner thenceforth showed an added trace of seriousness and self-consideration.

Having recovered his equanimity and something more, he calmly regarded that moment of humble admiration he had felt for Dora Yocum on the day of his flattest prostration. When he saw her sitting in the classroom, smiling brightly up at the teacher, the morning of the school's opening in the autumn, all his humility had long since vanished and she appeared to him not otherwise than as the scholar whose complete proficiency had always been so irksome to him.

"Look at her!" he muttered to himself. "Same old Teacher's Pet?"

Now and then, as the days and seasons passed, and Dora's serene progress continued, never checked or even flawed, there stirred within him some lingerings of the old determination to "show" her; and he would confound up a day-dream of Dora in loud lamentation, while he led the laughter of the spectators. But gradually his feeling about her came to be merely a dull oppression. He was tired of having to look at her (as he stated it) and he thanked the Lord that the time wouldn't be so long now until he'd be out of that old school, and then all he'd have to do he'd just take care never to walk by her house. It was easy enough to use some other street when he had to go down town.

"The good old class of Nineteen-Fourteen is about gone," he said to Fred Mitchell, who was still his closest intimate friend when they reached the senior year. "Yes, sir; it's held together a good many years, Fred, but after June I'll be busted plum up, and I hope nobody starts a move to have any reunions. There's a good many members of the old class that I can stand and there's some I can't, but there's one I just won't! If we ever did call a reunion that old Yocum girl would start in right away and run the whole shebang, and that's where I'd resign! You know, Fred, the thing I think is the one biggest benefit of graduating from this old school? It's never seen Dora Yocum again."

This was again his theme as he sat by the same friend's side, in the rear row of the class at Commencement, listening to the delivery of the Valedictory. "Think she's just sublime, don't she?" he whispered noisily. "She wouldn't trade with the President of the United States right now. Never mind! Just about a half-an-hour more and that's the last of you, old girl! Yes, sir, Fred; one thing we can feel pretty good over: this is where we get through with Dora Yocum!"

Ramsey and Fred had arranged to room together at Greenfield, the seat of the short university, and they made their journey in company the following September. They arrived hilariously, anticipating pleasurable excitements in the way of "fraternity" pledges and initiations, encounters with sophomores, class meetings, and elections; and, also, and also, they were not absolutely without interest in the matter of education, and it was but natural to expect in so broad a field, all new to them, a possible vision of something rather thrilling. They whispered cheerfully of all these things during the process of matriculation, and signed the registrar's book on a fresh page; but when Fred had written his name under Ramsey's and blotted it, he took the liberty of turning over the leaf to examine some of the autographs of their future classmates, written on the other side. Then he uttered an exclamation, more droll than dolorous, though it affected to be wholly the latter; for the shock to Fred was by no means so painful as it was to his friend.

Ramsey leaned forward and read the name indicated by Fred's forefinger.

DORA YOCUM.

... When they got back to their pleasant quarters at Mrs. Melg's, facing the campus, Ramsey was still unable to talk of anything except the lamentable discovery; nor were his companion's bustling efforts to console him of great avail, though Fred did become serious enough to point out that a university was different from a high school.

"It's not like havin' to use one big room as a headquarters, you know, Ramsey. Everything's all split up, and she might happen not be in a single one of your classes."

"You don't know my luck!" the afflicted boy protested. "I wish I'd gone to Harvard, the way my father wanted me to. Why, this is just the worst nuisance I ever struck! You'll see! She'll be in everything there is. Just the way she was luck home!"

He appeared to be corroborated by the events of the next day, when they attended the first meeting to organize the new class. The masculine element predominated, but Dora Yocum was elected vice president. "You see?" Ramsey said. "Didn't I tell you? You see what happens?"

But after that she ceased for a time to intrude upon his life, and he admitted that his harassment was less grave than he had anticipated. There were about five hundred students in the freshman class; he seldom saw her, and when he did it was not more than a distant glimpse of her on one of the campus paths, her thoughtful head bent over a book as she hurried to a classroom. This was bearable; and in the flattering attentions of being sought, and even hunted, by several "fraternities" simultaneously desirous of his becoming a sworn brother, he almost forgot her. After a hazardous month the roommates fell into the arms of the "frat" to seek them, and having undergone an evening of outrage which concluded with touching rhetoric and an oath taken at midnight, they proudly wore jeweled symbols on their breasts and were free to turn part of their attention to other affairs, especially the affairs of the Eleven.

However, they were instructed by the older brethren of their Order, whose duty it was to assist in the proper maneuvering of their young careers, that, although support of the "varsity" teams was important, they must neglect neither the spiritual nor the intellectual by-products of undergraduate doings. Therefore they became members of the college Y. M. C. A. and of the "Lumen Society."

According to the charter which it had granted itself, the "Lumen Society" was an "Organization of male and female students"—so "advanced" was this university—"for the development of the powers of debate and oratory, intellectual and sociological progress, and the discussion of all matters relating to philosophy, metaphysics, literature, art, and current events." A statement so formidable was not without a lulling effect upon Messrs. Milholland and Mitchell; they went to their first "Lumen" meeting in a state of fear and came away little reassured.

"I couldn't get up there," Ramsey declared, "I couldn't stand up there before all that crowd and make a speech, or debate in a debate, to save my soul and gizzard! Why, I'd just keel right over and haf to be carried out."

"Well, the way I understand it," said Fred, "we can't get out of it. The seniors in the 'frat' said we had to join, and they said we couldn't resign, either, after we had joined. They said we just had to go through it, and after a while we'd get used to it and not mind it so much."

"I will!" Ramsey insisted. "I couldn't any more stand up there on my feet and get to spoutin' about sociology and the radical metaphysics of the metaphysical hoozooom than I could fly a flyin' machine. Why, I—"

"Oh, that wasn't anything," Fred interrupted. "The only one that talked like that, he was that Blackens; he's a tutor, or something, and really a member of the faculty. Most of the others just kind of blabbered around, and what any of 'em tried to get off their chests hardly amounted to terribly much."

"I don't care. I couldn't do it at all!"

"Well, the way it looks to me," Fred observed, "we simply got told from what they tell me, the freshmen got to do more than anybody. Every other Friday night, it's all freshmen and nothin' else. You get a postal card on Monday morning in your mail, and it says 'Assignment' on it, and—and—then it's got written underneath what you haf to do the next Friday night—oration or debate, or maybe just read from some old book or something. I guess we got to stand up there and try, anyway."

"All right," said Ramsey. "If they want me to consult suicide they can read me one of their old 'Assignments.' I won't need to consult suicide, though, I guess. All I'll do, I'll just fall over in a fit, and stay in it."

And, in truth, when he received his first "Assignment," one Monday morning, a month later, he seemed in a fair way to fulfill his prophecy. The attention of his roommate, who sat at a window of their study, was attracted by sounds of strangulation.

"What on earth's the matter, Ramsey?"

"Look! Look at this!"

Fred took the card and examined it with an amazement gradually merging into a pleasure altogether too perceptible:

LESSONS FROM THE ELEPHANT

Be Careful Where You Step and Take Credit When Due, Is by No Means Bad Advice.

A circus man says that an elephant is always careful where he steps. He goes forward one step at a time, and doesn't lose his hold upon one place of security until another is gained. If any of our business men had acquired this elephant philosophy and had followed it they wouldn't be hanging over financial precipices now.

If one goes about thinking that the world is filled with crooks and schemers, the world it filled with crooks and schemers. On the other hand, if one believes that the world is filled with the neighborly, helpful, kindly folks,

Wraps Have Fur Collars; Capes Worn This Spring

FUR collars are the correct thing on spring wraps this season. Even if they do, perhaps, suggest "the wedding of May and December," they are logical and sensible, especially in this age of motoring. Then, too, cool breezes have a way of springing up even on "a perfect day in June." A separate fur capepiece is a constant responsibility, for it has a way of losing itself, much to the disturbance of fashion's prophecy rings true, few there are who will go capless this season.

There are more ways than one to yield to the cape temptation. Most of us are choosing the three-piece suit route, for it leads to capes at every turn. In the cape to match the frock, designers find a new field for expression. Almost instantaneous success one's peace of mind. Here, again, the fur-collared wrap favors over. The new fur collars are ever so flattering, and they are fashioned to cut up high about the throat.

Caracul and gray squirrel are the selected summer furs for these collars, with perhaps a greater number of the former. This predilection for coo-colored caracul comes about because of the popularity of cloth wraps in the lighter shell brown and toast shades.

There is a fancy to use gray fur on rust or henna cloth. This combination is wonderfully effective. Often the tones are carried out by embroidering the henna cloth with gray angora marked the entree of the cape-suit. This is due, not only to the picturesque charm of the long, graceful cape, but the fact that it is "useful as well as ornamental" makes the cape-suit of paramount importance.

The cape-suit adapts itself to every age and to every occasion. This is true in regard to fabric as well as color. Matrons are content with sedate navies and blacks in rich crepe-like weaves. The one-piece dress of simplest cut fastens up the side-front, according to latest dictate of fashion.

wool, supplemented with oxidized silver buttons and perhaps a gray metallic girle.

As to fringe, it is coming in stronger than ever, and especially as a trimming on the new capes. This season it is of exaggerated depth and finds its lavish placement on the garment. It is matched perfectly to the wrap and the hand-tied fringe is favored.

The idea of tying strands at intervals over the skirt of the blouse cape-like wraps is very good. In this way very effective results are obtained with a minimum use of the silk.

The wrap pictured is a navy blue velvety, with fringe used to the extreme. The collar is of the leading coo-colored caracul.

Have you joined the cape brigade? If not, you undoubtedly will, for if

An Oriental Devotee.
A devotee of oriental designs and gray colors works a wide band of them into the hem of her skirt and the edge of her sleeves. Other pyramidal motifs are worked into the skirt and skirt are separated by a smart belt. A combination of outline or satin-stitch embroidery and bangle beads or one-stitch is best for the designs. The one-piece dress has a straight lower edge and slips over the head. The low waistline may be marked with an elastic in a casing which gives the blouse effect. With out it the dress is straight. There is a blouse body lining. Use silk crepe fabrics, crepe de chine, crepe satin, crepe meteor, charmerose, foulard, georgette, etc. Lower edge, 5 1/2 inches.—Delineator.

Use a Self Trim of Flowers.
Flowers of the material are among the smartest trimmings conceived for the canton frock. These trim the girdles very often, or serve to weight the tunic or sometimes adorn the hem of a skirt.

NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

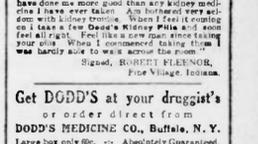

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y. "I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and couldn't sleep at night and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly everyone around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. CHAS. BAKER, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N. Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

Pure yeast now concentrated in small dose

With the introduction of Yeast Foam Tablets you don't need to eat large quantities of baking yeast to secure its great health-corrective properties

If you are one of those who have been eating large quantities of baking yeast—and perhaps finding it troublesome to get and unpleasant to take—you will be happy to know that in this new yeast, dried and highly concentrated, you can get the same tonic effects, without any inconveniences and with several extraordinary advantages.

This yeast corrects a wide-spread disease

Vitamin deficiency, that the leading medical men are all discussing, is a disease that thousands of people nowadays suffer from, but which has only recently been recognized.

Unlike other diseases, which come from germs or infections, vitamin deficiency comes from a lack in modern foods of the recently discovered element, vitamin. Its symptoms are failing appetite; indigestion; loss of weight, strength and vigor; unhealthy skin; nervous troubles and other signs of a "run down" condition. If you are suffering from any of these disorders, your trouble may simply be vitamin deficiency, and in all such cases Yeast Foam Tablets are recommended because they are made entirely from pure, whole yeast—the richest source of the essential vitamin.

Yeast Foam Tablets rebuild tissues

By supplying this vitamin, which many foods wholly lack, Yeast Foam Tablets stimulate the appetite, aid digestion, enable you to get strength and energy from the food you eat and thus rebuild the sick tissues and tone up the whole body.

Extraordinary advantages of Yeast Foam Tablets

The only pure whole yeast in easy-to-take tablet form. They contain no drugs or other ingredients.

They do not form gas nor cause belching. They are the only pure whole yeast suitable for children; they do not cause fermentation.

Each lot is tested to insure high and uniform vitamin potency.

The purity and vitamin potency of Yeast Foam Tablets is guaranteed by the world's largest manufacturers of dry yeast—the makers for 45 years of the famous baking yeasts, Yeast Foam and Magic Yeast.

This guarantee is your protection, so be sure you ask for and get Yeast Foam Tablets. They are sold by all druggists.

L. L. OLDHAM RE-ELECTED SECRETARY HOLSTEIN CLUB

Directors and officers of the Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Association of Wisconsin assembled in executive session in Milwaukee recently unanimously re-elected L. L. Oldham, present secretary of the organization to continue in office another year. Mr. Oldham questioned the wisdom of this action on the part of those present saying that in his opinion there were others in the state who could do the work and perhaps gain the support of the breeders better than he was doing. The men present followed this comment with a rising vote of confidence as an expression in thanks for the work done in the past in furthering the popularity of the black and white breed and in building larger and greater the State Holstein Association. Mr. Oldham assured those present that he would entertain their confidence in service to the best of his ability but that the breeders in the state must show him in membership that they actually want a real active state body before he will consent to re-election another year.

The directors also endorsed the financing plan of the funds committee to raise $10,000 to be spent in Holsteinizing Wisconsin and in "Wisconsinizing" the Nation. If the men owning Holsteins respond to the membership appeals as the directors and officers hope they will, this amount will be spent in giving advertising and publicity to the most popular dairy cow in America. Within the short space of 20 years this great breed has increased in favor until at this writing they outnumber all dairy breeds in the state in point of numbers and their organization known as the Holstein-Friesian Association has 3558 members residing in Wisconsin. This number of men own 100,000 head of registered Holsteins valued in the thousands which is more than the combined holdings of those interested in all other cattle breeds in the state. The statisticians in position to know the value of the Holstein cattle (grades as well as Pure-breds) in the state as nearly $50,000,000 while the value of the product produced by them annually is approximately 2,500,000 dollars. It is this big industry that the Holstein Association has behind and it is in behalf of the investment that the state officers ask a budget fund of $10,000 to be spent in publicity and advertising so that the surplus Holsteins and the product of the dairy may continue to find ready market in those seeking such as we have to sell from Wisconsin farms.

ARE YOU GOING TO HOLD A SALE

While there are fewer men who care to conduct a public sale this year than usual, the ones who do conduct a sale will want every prospective buyer in the country to attend, and will want every dime for his property that the auctioneer will be able to work the prospect for, so it is but natural that considerable advertising space must be used.

The Statesman is the recognized leader in the public sale business in this vicinity. We get out a bunch of sale bills, using practically as much care and judgment as if the job were one that was calling attention to a wedding.

We know that the owner of the property which is listed for sale is going to have everything looking neat around the farm yard and if we didn't get out a batch of bills that would correspond we wouldn't be doing justice to the man who is holding the sale or the people who attend.

But the advertisement in the paper is the real attention puller. Even the distressed man will cock his feet up on some piece of furniture and read the ad in the paper—and you can always depend on him finding some article listed which he will want. We are specialists in public sale advertising.

Embarrassing Moment.
Embarrassing is an inadequate way to describe the soul-freezing sixty seconds in which I realized that I—a respectable lady wearing fifty-wife of a prominent citizen and mother of a freshman and junior (thank heaven, they will never know) was not dreaming that I actually was sitting in my accustomed pew at church, my head reverently bowed in prayer and my eyes slowly, steadily concerning my shocked and dazed intelligence that under my current suit jacket there was no companion skirt. Just one of staple black satin—that fatal ring of the phone as I was dressing that hasty grabbing afterward of jacket, hat and Bible. Merciful heavens! I can no longer dwell upon those horrifying moments. I realize now why the heroes of battles will not recall their horrors.—Chicago American.

Jewish New Year's Day.
New Year's day, as observed by the synagogue, is not a day of rejoicing, merely such as is in vogue at the beginning of the secular year. It is a day of memorial, or a "Day of Remembrance" on which the Jew is reminded of his duty and responsibility as a citizen. Tradition places the New Year celebration on the first day of the seventh month rather than the first month of the Jewish calendar. The reason, it is said, is that this day the world was created, while on the first day of the first month, the Jews were liberated from Egyptian bondage and, henceforth, began to count their months from that date.—Exchange.

Legend of Giant's Causeway.
The north coast of County Antrim in Ireland is notable for a promontory of columnar basalt which is called the Giant's Causeway. These pillars are characteristic, irregular hexagons in section and made up of jointed bits varying from a few inches in height to some few feet. These portions are convex at the top and concave at their upper or lower ends so that they fit neatly into one another. The causeway may be characterized as volcanic in origin and basic in composition. Just what induced the molten matter to solidify in this curious columnar form, however, is more or less of a mystery.

Battle Won India for Britain.
British rule in India dates from June 23, 1757, when Siraj-ud-Daula was absolutely defeated in the Battle of Plissay. This victory gave England the provinces of Bengal and Bihar, which laid the foundation of the empire.

—Much time and money is lost each year due to breakage on farm machinery which might have been repaired during the winter and early spring months, says F. W. Duffice, of the University of Wisconsin department of agricultural engineering. Right now, when the weather is warm and you are waiting to get the spring's work under way, is the time for you to give your farm machinery a good going over. Broken parts, which will cause delay later on, can be easily replaced at this time when farm machinery manufacturers and dealers are not as busy as they will be during the other seasons of the year. A few loose bolts tightened today may save much time and delay at the time when every hour spent in waiting means a big loss.

We Sell Genuine International Repairs

Made For

By the

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER COMPANY

REPAIRS made for International implements and other farm equipment by the Harvester Company are the only repairs made from the original patterns. All others are copied from copies, and in this roundabout reproduction they may lose in correctness of shape, sharpness of detail, closeness in fitting, and quality of material. These repairs are made for Deering, McCormick, Milwaukee, Titan and other International-made machines.

Genuine IHC Repairs

Are Better in Quality
Fit Better and Wear Longer

The Harvester Company stands back of its machines. Be fair in the matter. Do not substitute imitation repairs for the genuine and expect best service. Repairs made by other concerns and marked "Made for" or "Will fit", are not genuine IHC repairs. They often lack weight, are not genuine in shape, are imperfectly finished, do not fit properly, or are made of inferior material. Buy Genuine International Repairs for your International Farm Equipment.

—If you served 90 days or more in the Spanish-American war, the China Relief expedition, or in the Philippines prior to July 4, 1902, you will be interested to know that Congress has passed a pension law of vital interest to you. This law contains two provisions. First, it allows pensions to all ex-soldiers, sailors and marines with the above service record who were honorably discharged and who are now over 62 years of age. Second, it allows pension to those who are at present materially disabled from earning their living by manual labor from disease, if the disability is not the result of their own misconduct. Such disability must be permanent and need not be total. It need not be the result of military service. The soldier does not have to be 62 years old to claim on disability. The amount of pension depends upon the degree of disability and ranges from $2 to $20 per month. Widows of veterans are also allowed pensions. If you wish advice about this law, write Walter S. Bachman, Past National Aide-de-Camp, Army and Navy Union, Route 2, Louisa, Va.

—Prompt action is desirable as a pension if allowed begins from the filing of the claim.

THE COTTAGE GARDENER

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF GARDEN SPACE

The Combination Fruit and Vegetable Garden. Strawberries Are Grown Under the Grapevines Which Are Trained on a High Trellis. Young Fruit Trees Also Are Growing in This Garden.

USE EVERY INCH OF GARDEN SOIL

"Intensive Farming" Applies as Well to Small Plot as to the Large Tract.

EASY TO GROW VEGETABLES

Careful Gardener Can Find Room for Additional Plants if Best Judgment Is Used in Planning Seed Bed.

"Intensive farming" long ago won the O. K. of the practical agriculturist who found that it was to his financial interest to make two or more grow where one grew before.

The same rule applies, or should apply, to the cottage gardener—the fellow who has only a few feet of space, compared with the three or four-hundred acre farm.

It is just as essential that the backyard "fence corners" be made to produce as it is that the farmyard be brought into a state of production.

In the back yard of the majority of small homes, in both country and city, there are spaces that have been neglected because the man of the house was not exactly in the mood of spading it up when planting time arrived. Spading time should extend from the time the one crop was garnered the previous fall to the time when the soil is actually prepared for the next season.

Spading in the fall is not a bad idea. The leaves and other fertilizer producing growths can be turned under and also made to work for you.

Value of Rich Soil. If you are fortunate enough to obtain a load or two of stable manure, of course it is better to turn this under in the fall and allow it to be well rotted by spring—and not blown away by the winter winds. Although rich manure has a large quantity of straw mixed with it, the straw also enriches the soil.

With the ground well cared for in the fall before the freezing weather starts, it is in condition to be brought into the best growing state in the early spring, when little, if any, spading will be necessary to make the seed bed—and the worst of the work is over and the home gardener is happy with his prospects.

When actual planting time comes—and the ground is warm and there seems to be no danger of frost—that is the time to make the most of the situation.

No plants will do their best if crowded, but there are many vegetables that will do well by being planted close together. Those that require most space should have all they need—but it is well to remember that some of the small vegetables that grow close to the ground and are out of the way early can be grown between the larger plants, such as tomatoes and beans, which develop slowly.

When Crowding Can Be Done. By exercising careful judgment a little more crowding may be done in some instances than has been done by many gardeners, and more intercropping—planting between the later developing plants—may be carried out, much to the gratification of the gardener.

With reasonable weather conditions it is just as easy to have a splendid garden as it is a poor one—and not much experience is required to obtain the desired results. Just a little study and the knowledge of your soil—then you are sure of a garden that will supply your table, if the garden is properly cared for throughout the season. There is no greater pleasure than that of growing a good garden—one that is the envy of your neighbors and friends.

WHEN TO PLANT SWEET CORN
Seed Should Not Be Sown Until Ground Is Warm and No Danger From Frost.

Sweet corn should be planted on rich land and cultivated the same as field corn. Plant the seed as soon as the soil is warm in the spring, and make successive plantings every two or three weeks until late summer. The same results can be obtained to some extent by planting early, medium and late varieties. Plant the seeds about two inches deep in drills three feet apart and thin to a single stalk every 20 to 24 inches.

Sweet corn, when grown in the South, passes so quickly from the milk to the dough stage that care should be exercised to gather the crop just at the right time, in order to secure the most satisfactory results. The flavor of sweet corn depends upon its stage of maturity and the method of handling the product from the plant to the table. Sweet corn loses its sugar content very rapidly after being removed from the stalk. It should, therefore, be picked only a few minutes, and preferably a few minutes, in advance of the time when it is to be placed in the pot.

Varieties recommended: For early corn Golden Bantam and Adams Early are suggested, and for medium and late varieties Black Mexican or White Mexican, Country Gentleman and Stowell's Evergreen. The last-named variety has the largest ears and is the most productive.—United States Department of Agriculture.

GARDENS MUST HAVE CARE
A good start for a garden is often lost about the time the weeds appear. No matter how carefully the garden may be planted or how rich the soil or costly the seeds, failure will surely follow if the proper cultivation and care are not given during the growing season.

man. The ancient Roman family name Fabius is derived from a word meaning bean. Adopt a Fabian policy and plant beans. No other vegetable is surer to give returns.

Two cabbage heads are better than one, and 20 are better still. A warm rich soil is needed for early cabbages. They mature in time to leave the ground free for late crops like beans, turnips, and so on.

Less than $2 worth of seeds are required to plant a small back yard or vacant lot garden. Seed houses offer special collections of seeds that are adapted for planting in their trade territory.

It does not always pay to be in too great a hurry in transplanting house-grown tomato or pepper plants to the garden. A few cold nights may chill them and more time is lost than if they were not set out until the weather is warm.

SIDE LIGHTS ON HOME GARDEN

United States Department of Agriculture Offers Numerous Brief Hints to Tillers of Soil.

Garden dirt is the best pay dirt.

Don't be a quitter, but plant a garden again this year.

Plan your garden to produce a surplus for eating.

Why not shade your back porch with a screen of lima beans? The crop may surprise you.

If you think the home garden doesn't pay, just try going to market with less than $5 in your pocket.

Thorough preparation of the soil before the plants are set in the garden reduces the amount of cultivation necessary while the crop is growing.

WEEDS AND BUGS DESTROY CROPS

Best Time to Kill Garden Enemies Is Before They Appear in the Spring.

CULTIVATION IS GREAT AID

Cutworms, Potato Bugs, Flea Beetles and Plant Lice Are Most Troublesome Insects—Some Excellent Control Measures.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Weeds and insects are garden enemies, and the time to kill both is before they appear!

Careful stirring of the soil destroys the little weed seedlings just after the seeds have sprouted. Likewise, cultivation keeps the garden in such shape that insects do not find a hiding place, and are not so liable to injure the garden crops. However, insects are almost sure to attack certain of the garden crops and it will be necessary to take precautions against them. Cutworms, potato bugs, flea beetles, and plant lice are the most troublesome garden insects. Do not give them a chance to get started.

The common cutworm does its work during the night, cutting off the plants just below the surface of the soil within a day or two after they are set in the garden. One of the best ways to prevent this injury is to surround the stem plant with a tube made of stiff paper or light cardboard, extending an inch or so below the ground and two or three inches above. These collars, or cutworm protectors, can be removed after the danger of injury is past—generally not until about 30 days after the plants are set in the ground.

When Potato Bugs Appear. The old-fashioned Colorado potato beetle, or "hard shells," come out of the ground usually when the potatoes are about four or five inches high. These beetles themselves do not do a great amount of harm except that they lay clusters of yellow eggs on the under side of the potato leaves. In a few days these eggs hatch into soft-shell beetles or slugs as they are sometimes called. In the soft shell, or slug form the potato beetle has an enormous appetite and a colony of them will soon strip the foliage from a hill of potatoes.

Hand picking is perhaps the best method of getting rid of the hard-shell beetles. They may be killed by either crushing them or dropping them into boiling water. The slugs or soft-shell beetles cannot be gathered so good advantage, but they may be reduced by sprinkling the plants, while the dew is upon them, with a mixture consisting of a heaping teaspoonful of Paris green to a pint of air-staked lime or land plaster. The easiest method of applying the mixture is to place it in a cheese cloth or thin burlap bag and dust the plants by shaking the bag directly over them. It is not necessary to apply the poison to all the plants, but only where the bugs have made their appearance. The plants should be inspected every day or two to see that the bugs are not getting a start.

Flea Beetles Eat Holes. Flea beetles are small insects that cut round holes similar to shot holes in the leaves of beans, tomatoes, and a number of other garden crops. They can be poisoned with the mixture of Paris green and lime referred to for potato beetles, or they can driven away by dusting the plants with fine road dust, air-sifted lime, or with very dry, powdery, slacked ashes.

Plant lice are more difficult to control, as they do not eat the leaves and suck the juices. They are rather difficult to control, as they are found mainly on the under side of the leaves. One remedy is to spray with some form of tobacco extract or nicotine sulphate, using about one teaspoonful in a gallon of water in which there has previously been dissolved a one-inch cube of laundry soap. The mixture should be thoroughly stirred and applied underneath the leaves especially, using some form of sprayer or atomizer which will create a fine mist. If the gardener finds some insect with which he is not acquainted he should write to the extension division of his state college of agriculture.

Manure on the Land. The man who does a part of last winter's hauling the manure onto the land, and getting it out where it will do its share toward making the 1922 crop, are going to earn big dividends for their work.

Profit From Little Things. Much of the fun and much of the profits on the farm come from the smaller things, such as the garden, the home orchard, the farm poultry flock, and bees.

WILD BIRDS DESTROY INJURIOUS INSECTS

Worth at Least $400,000 Annually to Farmers.

Establishment of Community Refuges Throughout Country Is an Increase—Useful Suggestions Given in Bulletin.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The work of wild birds in the destruction of injurious insects is worth at least $400,000,000 annually to the American farmer and horticulturist, and in recognition of their valuable aid and charm, and to encourage their presence, the establishment of community bird refuges throughout the country, on farms, bird preserves, and elsewhere, is increasing. Useful suggestions for the establishment and maintenance of community bird refuges are contained in Farmers' Bulletin 1233, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, a copy of which may be obtained free from the department at Washington, D. C.

On the average there are in the United States only about two birds to the acre, but where they are protected and encouraged it has been demonstrated that a very great increase over the normal bird population can be secured. No fewer than 29 pairs to the acre is the number reached in the most successful of these attempts reported. Valuing the services of birds at 10 cents each—an estimate ridiculously low, but used to insure a safe minimum—the birds of the United States prevent an increase in the annual damage done by insects of more than $400,000,000.

A particular farm may not have so large a bird population as it should, and therefore may not be deriving the benefit which is its due. The most effective means of increasing the number of birds is protection, and protection in its best sense is afforded by the establishment of bird refuges.

A bird refuge may be established in a small way on a farm or through a co-operative bird preserve. In the latter case, the plan has proved popular and successful as a means of establishing colonies of game birds, such as pheasants.

"In creating a useful bird refuge," says the bulletin, "the first step is to insure adequate protection against all bird enemies; the second, to see that plenty of nesting sites suited to the needs of the various birds are available; and the third, to improve food and water supplies, if necessary." Bird refuges also may be established along roadways and right-of-ways, with particularly attractive and beneficial results.

"Hardly an agricultural pest escapes the attacks of birds," says the bulletin. "The atlas weevil has 45 different bird enemies; the army worm, 37; billbugs, 67; cotton boll-woolly, 62; brown-tail moth, 31; chestnut weevil, 64; chinch bug, 24; clover-root borer, 85; clover weevil, 25; codling moth, 36; cotton worm, 41; cutworms, 38; forest tent caterpillar, 32; gipsy moth, 46; horseflies, 49; leaf-hoppers, 120; orchard tent caterpillar, 43; potato beetle, 25; rice weevil, 21; seventeen-year locust, 38; twelve-spotted cucumber beetle, 28; white grubs, 67, and wireworms, 188."

PREPARE SOIL FOR GARDENS

Work Should Begin as Soon as Conditions Will Permit—Cultivate to Conserve Moisture.

In order to have a good garden it is well to prepare the land as soon as the soil conditions will permit, by first plowing the entire area to a depth of 8 to 10 inches, applying stable manure broadcast and harrowing thoroughly until a perfect seedbed is formed.

The surface of the unplanted, as well as the planted land should be cultivated in order to conserve moisture.

ALSIKE CLOVER FOR FORAGE

Crop Is Particularly Well Adapted for Low, Poorly Drained Soil—It Adds Variety.

Alsike clover is especially well adapted for low, poorly drained land on which common red clover refuses to grow to advantage. It does not yield as much forage as red clover on soils that are well adapted for the latter, and, therefore, should not be grown in such places. It should, however, enter into every pasture mixture if for no other reason than to add variety.

The Dust Mulch. The importance of the well mulched seedbed is one that presents itself anew each season when spring work is under way. Finely pulverized soil has an important part to play in seed germination.

Valuable as Catch Crop. Sudan grass is proving to be a valuable plant for catch crop. It produces good yields of a good quality of hay. It is good hay for cows, but not as valuable as clover.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Let not him who is homeless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently to build one for himself.—Abraham Lincoln.

THE DAILY MEAL

An unusual way of serving potatoes provided by the following recipe:

Potato Timbales.—Wash and boil potatoes with their jackets on in boiling water well salted. Cool and peel, chop and season with salt and pepper and moisten with cream. Brush timbale molds generously with butter and sprinkle with soft breadcrumbs, using none of the crusts. Pack into the mold the potato mixture, place in a dish and put into a hot oven until the crumbs are well browned. Remove to a serving dish and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Imperial Salad.—Wash scraps and chop celery to measure one-half of a cupful. Add an equal measure of chopped pineapple. Soak one and one-fourth of a cupful of cold water five minutes and dissolve in one-fourth of a cupful of boiling water. Strain and add to the first mixture, then add one-fourth cupful each of vinegar and sugar, two-thirds of a cupful of canned pineapple sirup and one tablespoonful of lemon juice with a few grains of salt. Turn into individual molds dipped in cold water and chill thoroughly. Remove from the molds to nests of crisp lettuce and accompany with mayonnaise dressing.

Fruit Salad Dressing.—Beat two eggs until very light, add gradually three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, beating well, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and one-half teaspoonful of salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until it thickens. Add one cupful of heavy cream beaten stiff, one-fourth of a cupful of powdered sugar, one-half teaspoonful each of celery salt, vanilla and a few dashes of cayenne, three drops of onion juice and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of paprika. Chill thoroughly.

Somerset Sandwiches.—Mix one-half cupful of minced shrimps, one-half cupful of cold cooked chicken livers, one-half red pepper and one-half of a Bermuda onion, both chopped. Force through a meat chopper. Season with salt and pepper, moisten with mayonnaise and spread on thin slices of buttered bread. Cut in fancy shapes.

Raisin Puffs.—Beat two eggs until very light, add one cupful of sugar, a little salt, one cupful of sour cream to which one-fourth of a teaspoonful of soda has been added. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then add three cupfuls of flour, sifted well with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then stir in one cupful of raisins cut in halves. Mix well and bake in gem pans.

"O, would that we knew what these little birds feel
Of beauty the whole day long.
That they cannot refrain from telling their joy
In blissful, tumultuous song,
Welling up from their hearts in a constant flow,
So great is the ecstasy which they know."

WAYS TO SERVE GREENS

Wash watercress in salted water, heap on a salad plate and decorate with radish curls. Cut the radishes in the form of flowers. Serve with mayonnaise dressing in the center.

Cream of Sorrel Soup.—Take two cupfuls of sorrel, two cupfuls of rice or vegetable stock, two cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, one teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of paprika. Cook the sorrel in very little water until tender, mash through a sieve and add to the boiling stock and milk. Cook the butter until bubbling hot, add the flour and seasonings and mix all together until well cooked and hot.

Dandelion With Smoked Meat.—Cook a ham bone in plenty of water, remove the bone and add well-washed dandelions to the stock and cook until very tender. Serve the drained greens on a platter with the meat.

Escalloped Milkweed.—Take two quarts of boiled milkweed, drain and chop. Brush a baking dish with sweet drippings, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs, then some of the greens, and one hard-cooked egg sliced; repeat and finish the top with the buttered crumbs. Bake thirty minutes.

Mustard Greens With Bacon.—Cook mustard greens until tender, chop fine. Fry bacon and put over the top of the greens. Add four tablespoonfuls of flour to the fat in the pan and cook until well mixed. Add two cupfuls of rice or vegetable stock, season with salt and red pepper and cook for ten minutes. Add the sauce to the greens, mix well before placing the bacon on top. Chop one hard-cooked egg and sprinkle over the greens. Serve with hot boiled hominy.

Dandelion Soup.—Cook dandelions in rice stock until very tender. Drain, wash through a sieve, add to two cupfuls of stock thickened with two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour to bind, season well and serve hot.

Memorizing Worth While. Till he has fairly tried it, I suspect a reader does not know how much he would gain from committing to memory passages of real excellence; precisely because he does not know how much he overlooks in merely reading. Learn one true poem by heart, and see if you do not find it so. Beauty after beauty will reveal itself, in chosen phrase, or happy music, or noble suggestion otherwise undreamed of. It is the looking at one of nature's wonders through a microscope.—Vernon Lushington.

FEEDING THE BABY CHICKS

Now is the season when the incubators are hatching and when all poultry keepers are concerned with the proper care and feeding of the newly hatched youngsters.

Abnormal losses in the brooder can be traced in most instances to either improper temperature or to a faulty feeding practice. The former can be avoided. Proper feeding of young chicks however, requires, first a sound knowledge of the nature of the chick's growth and fundamental principals of nutrition and secondly, it requires the working out of a simple, yet efficient feeding practice based on these principals. It is with these two phrases of the problem that I shall especially deal.

A feeder must first of all bear in mind that the chick is a very fast grower, in fact, there is no young animal which makes the rapid gain in weight for the first two weeks which the chick makes. This requires special care and attention as this rapid growth necessitates an abundance of easily digestible and nutritious food material. Special precaution must also be taken to keep the digestive system in proper working order. The following considerations should be given special attention.

Early Feeding

The little chicks should not be fed concentrated feeds too soon. Just prior to hatching time the remaining portion of the yolk is drawn into the body. This yolk material supplies the requirements of the chick for feed for the first forty-eight or fifty hours. Heavy feeding prior to the time that the yolk material becomes well absorbed is very apt to be followed by bowel trouble and digestive disorders which result in considerable mortality. The first food should be readily seen and nutritious. Pin-head oats, oat meal and ground wheat make a good first food.

Clean, pure water is essential. A constant supply of clean, fresh water should be kept before the flock. It should be placed in a fountain which cannot readily become contaminated and filled with litter and dirt. The fountain should be a type which will keep the chicks from getting wet and dirty. Dry feeding is preferred to wet feeding admits of a satisfactory growth and much less danger from sickness. Feed plenty of sand and shell from the first day, it is needed to get the digestive organs in condition and function properly.

Green Feed

Plenty of green feed in the form of lettuce, leaves, sprouted oat tops, green clover or alfalfa must be supplied. Such material adds to the palatability of the ration, making it more digestible and keeping the chicks hungry and healthy.

Feed Little Often

Owing to the small size of the chicks it is very desirable to feed small amounts at a time, but to feed often. During the first three weeks it is the best practice to feed at least five times daily and to feed each time as much as it cleaned up between each feeding. Exercise and sunshine are the greatest preventatives and remedies for poultry ills which have ever been discovered. Do not fail to have the floor covered with fine chaff, preferably alfalfa or clover leaves and in this feed the grain ration.

Feeding Practice

The second day after hatching feed pin head oats or oat meal, three feedings, feeding only what will be cleaned up.

The next five days feed the following: Cracked grain ration five times daily on the floor, giving only what the chicks will clean up between feedings. Scratch Ration—fine cracked corn, 40 pounds, fine cracked wheat, 40 pounds, oat meal, 20 pounds, total 100 pounds.

The seventh to the fourteenth day, keep wheat bran in small hoppers before the chicks all of the time and feed the above cracked grain ration 4 times a day. The third week to the eighth, keep the following dry mash before the chicks all of the time in hoppers and feed the above grain ration three times daily. Dry chick mash, wheat bran, 50 pounds, gluten feed 10 pounds, corn meal 10 pounds, ground oats 10 pounds, meat scrap 10 pounds, dry granulated bone, 10 pounds, total 100 pounds. After the chicks get to be six weeks old use whole wheat and ordinary cracked corn in the grain ration and eliminate the fine cracked grains.

The great value of sour or buttermilk, I wish here to call special attention to sour skim milk or buttermilk in baby chick feeding. They are very palatable, they also contain much food value which is in the form of protein or nitrogen. Their greatest benefit however, lies in its disinfecting qualities. The lactic acid present kills and prevents the multiplication of intestinal bacteria.

White diarrhoea is one of the most dangerous of these forms. In order to get the greatest benefit from sour milk or buttermilk it should be given the chicks to drink from the very first day, being careful not to get their feathers soiled with it. It should be changed daily and the vessel kept perfectly clean.

-another Step in our Prosperity Program!

READERS OF BOSTON STORE advertisements will remember our prosperity plans for 1922, as published on January first, and reproduced in the above announcements, which were published early in February. That our plan was appreciated by manufacturers and wholesalers is evidenced by the replies received from these notices, which appeared in Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Philadelphia and New York as well as in Milwaukee. Part of the merchandise received in this way has been sold, the greater part of it has been put away for our

22nd Anniversary Sale

—a tremendous month-long event celebrating the twenty-second Birthday of the BOSTON STORE—twenty-two years of fair, square and liberal dealing with patrons—and of the first year in our new building, which marks a new era in BOSTON STORE development, and in possibilities of greater service through the enlargement of many departments and the addition of many more, with resultant larger and more varied assortments. A celebration that means much to Wisconsin—a celebration which is—

The Talk of the Town!

By taking advantage of existing conditions, we have accumulated great stockrooms and warehouses full of good, honest merchandise that is marked as you have seldom seen such goods marked before. Manufacturers, conversant with our plans and our tremendous output, have come to us with their overstocks, and no quantity has been too large where the price was low enough.

If you are planning to come to Milwaukee any time during April, arrange to attend this great sale now in progress at the BOSTON STORE. You are pretty sure to save enough on your purchases to pay for your trip.
