PASSING OF CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Last week Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, August 19th, 1922, death called away to his final reward, the last of Kewaskum's Civil War veterans, also the last member of Company G, 20th Wisconsin Volunteer Regiment of Washington County, a name: Christian Frenz, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Louis Brandt. Mr. Frenz had been ill only one week, but before his death when he suffered a paralytic stroke which is attributed to the cause of his death. Deceased was born in Mecklenburg-Schwerin, Germany on October 27, 1844. When 9 years of age, he immigrated with his parents to America, settling near Geneva, Wis., where they resided for some time. In 1862, he answered his country's call and enlisted in Company G, 20th Wisconsin Volunteer Regiment, serving three years and six months to the end of the Civil War. During his time in the army, he established a wonderful record for himself as a soldier, one of which not only he and his family but the entire community could look upon with pride. He fought in nine of the most important battles of the Civil War. In the battle of Gettysburg he was wounded and taken prisoner for six weeks. Upon his recovery from his wounds he managed to get back to his company. On April 23, 1865, shortly before the close of the war he was promoted from the ranks of private to corporal, and immediately following this promotion he was again promoted to sergeant under Lieutenant Fred C. Winkler, later Captain of the company, at Raleigh, North Carolina. At the close of the war he was given an honorable discharge from the army, and returned to his home, residing at Young America where he learned the wagon making trade. After a few months stay here he went to St. Louis, Mo., where he finished his apprenticeship, and where in 1866 he was married to Miss Johanna Metzner. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Kohlsville, Wis., where they made their home for 40 years, up to the year 1906, when they came to Kewaskum, where his wife died shortly afterwards. Upon the death of his wife he made his home with his children for a few years. In 1908, he left for the Soldier's Home at Milwaukee, where he remained for ten years. While at the home he was made a member of the firing squad, and a farical comedy in three acts, written by A. E. Willis. Arthur Sewall, a theatrical warrior and Ira Wilton, his father-in-law, another, tell their wives that they are in the militia, so as to get away from home once a week. When war breaks out they go on a fishing trip, and on their return are embarrassed to learn that their regiment was annihilated. The various scenes which follow by these two men trying to make their wives believe how they escaped from being killed, together with other comedy characters in the play is bound to bring the audience to hearty laughter. The proceeds of the play will be put into the sinking fund of the Kewaskum Girls' Club, and which will later be used by the Club to furnish certain materials for the new high school which will be built here next year.

All Over the State Just Now

FOND DU LAC AVENUE PAVED

The Froemming Construction company is certainly making great headway in cementing Trunk Highway 55 here. Since they commenced work here last week Monday, they have finished laying cement from the bridge near Charles Geidel's place on north Fond du Lac avenue, south as far as Albert Kocher's place a distance of about a mile. The work of cementing Fond du Lac avenue was, however, not done as fast as was expected, for reason that the street had been torn up quite badly for the installation of the sewerage system, causing a number of the big trucks, hauling cement and gravel to get stuck in the loose ground thereby losing considerable time. The work of cementing the highway up to as far as what is known as Falk's crossing, about a mile south of Kewaskum, will be completed by the first of next week.

Fond du Lac avenue, it is thought, will be open for light traffic, from Geidel's bridge to the intersection of Main street, by next week Friday.

The work of leveling off Main street which has also been torn up on account of the installation of the sewerage system will also be done as soon as possible.

STILLS LOCATED IN VICINITY

Quite a large and ingenious moonshine still was located at the home of Hilmar Baehring, in the rear of the Stock brewery at Slinger last week Wednesday by two deputy state prohibition commissioners, Harry Hecker of Neillsville and Com. J. Asmuth of Milwaukee. The still consisted of two copper wash boilers, each of fifteen gallons capacity, with all the necessary attachments. Besides the apparatus, the agents found 600 gallons of mash, 22 gallons of double distilled whiskey testing 150 proof, and 350 gallons of rhabarb, current, and cherry wines. The mash and whiskey were dumped, while the wines were allowed to remain at the place. In the room with the still was a bed, which was intended as an additional camouflage of the institution.

The raid was made in the morning, and Mr. Baehring was found on the premises at the time and as much as admitted to be the owner of the still. The strangest thing was the composition of the mash and upon inquiry the officers learned that to make a quantity of "hootch" fourteen big loaves of the bread, fifty gallons of water, fifty pounds of sugar and two pounds of yeast had been used. Mr. Baehring was placed under arrest with orders to appear before Judge Hayden at West Bend when summoned.

In the afternoon of the same day the same officers located two more stills and arrested their alleged owners. One was found at Newburg and was operated by John Komar who had made his home in the village for about a year. The other was located on the premises of August Baer, the town of Saukville, West Bend News.

MR. JOHANNES WELL PLEASED WITH CAMPAIGN

Michael Johannes of West Bend, candidate for sheriff of Washington County is well pleased with the encouragement he is receiving all over the county in his being elected to the office. Although he is opposed by three candidates on the Republican ticket, at the September primaries, his chances of being nominated look more favorable every day as the time for voting draws near. From the time he arrived at the office almost daily, Mr. Johannes is the favorite candidate in nearly all of the precincts of the county. He will be voted all over carry the Town and village of Kewaskum where he spent the greater part of his life as a member of the militia. In 1918, when he returned to Kewaskum where he has since resided with his daughter Mrs. Louis Brandt. Mr. Frenz leaves to mourn his demise, two daughters, namely: Mrs. Louis Brandt and Mrs. Martin Wright of Milwaukee. Three children preceded him in death several years ago.

Mr. Frenz was one of the oldest settlers of this community. He was possessed of a wonderful endurance, always hale and hearty, never complaining, until about a month prior to his death when he commenced to get feeble. He was always of a jolly disposition, and his company was a pleasure to both old and young. He was a man of great credit to his family, to his community and to his country as well. His absence from his relatives and fellow associates will be keenly felt by all.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, with services in the Ev. Peace church. Rev. Barth officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

May he rest in perfect peace, the sincere wish of all who were comrades with him from afar who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wright, Mrs. Adam Seifert and daughter, Mrs. Albert Schroeter and son John, Mrs. Richard Thiede, Chas. Frenz, Paul Tump and family, Henry Fromm, all of Milwaukee; Richard Witte and wife of Lake Forest, Ill.; Mrs. Dorkow of Brookfield, Wis.

KEWASKUM ELECTRIC LIGHT CO. SELLS OUT

Just before going to press it was made public that the Kewaskum Electric Light Company sold their distribution system in the village and town of Kewaskum, town of Auburn and Scott. This sale does not include the plant; to the Badger Public Service Company, operating a system out of Plymouth and four townships owned and operated by W. N. Albertson Co., general office 1127 First Wisconsin National Bank building, Milwaukee, W. N. Albertson President and General Manager. The new company will start immediately to change the present system over from the direct to the alternating current, in order to give the general public the best possible service. A representative of the company will be here the forepart of next week for the purpose of going over the proposition of changing lines. For the time being and until about December 1st, 1922, current will be furnished by the Kewaskum Electric Light Company, after that time it will be furnished from a high tension line. It has not been decided by the new proprietors whether to run a line from the company's plant at Plymouth, or from where the current for this village will be received.

The Kewaskum Electric Light Company has been owned and operated by A. L. Rosenheimer for the past thirty years. Newton Rosenheimer has been general manager of same. During the course of their ownership they rendered good service, which enabled them to build the plant up from a small institution to one of the largest in this section of the state. The new firm will endeavor to render as good a service if not better than heretofore given. Time and space will not permit us to go into further detail on the deal in this week's issue.

BIG CELEBRATION PLANS ARE READY

Cities along state trunk highway 15 have been busy engaged during the past week in making plans for the celebration tour of the historic route which is to be held about the middle of September.

Committees in charge of these local arrangements have met in several of the cities. Similar meetings are to be held in the remaining cities during the coming week so that within 10 days complete plans for the big tour will have been perfected and preparations will be well under way.

The tour is to be entertained at the lunch by Neenah and Menasha. The executive committee for the twin cities extended an invitation, which was readily accepted, for the motorcade to stop in their cities for the noon control, and has laid elaborate plans for its entertainment. Riverside park in Neenah has been selected as a spot where lunch will be served to the several hundred tourists, and where the noon day celebration will be held.

All of the communities along the route are anxious that the party they will play in the tour will be such that will make a good impression on the hundreds of prominent people who will visit them. Bands, decorated streets and various forms of entertainment are among the things proposed by the various committees. Each city will be allowed to work out its own plans for its part in the tour, and a spirit of friendly competition, which has sprung up between the cities enroute assures not only the tour's success, but considerable novelty and variety as well.

Work on the highway is progressing very rapidly. It is at present open all the way from the Illinois state line to Green Bay with the exception of a thirteen mile detour north of Slinger. The concrete stretch has been laid and covered and should be sufficiently hardened for traffic within two weeks.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

WOULD ADD NEW AUTOMOBILE TAX

Milwaukee, Aug. 18.—Addition of a privilege tax of 2 per cent of the value of each motor vehicle in addition to a registration fee of $10 is the suggestion to Tax Commissioner Louis Arnold for amending the statutes. The principal idea back of the plan is to secure to Wisconsin a new source of revenue, for under his plan 70 per cent of the privilege tax would go to the city, 20 per cent to the state.

Under Mr. Arnold's plan, which is to be presented to the next session of the legislature, no offset will be allowed against income tax bills. The law is to be effective on Jan. 1, 1921.

Scale as Proposed.

The registration fee for automobiles would be $10; motor cycles, $4; and motor cycles with side cars, $8. For trucks and trailers the following rates are suggested: Under 1,100 pounds, trucks $10.00; trailers, $6.00; 1,100 to 2,000 pounds, trucks, $10.00; trailers, $6.00; 2,100 to 4,100 pounds, $20.00; trailers, $10.00; 4,100 to 6,100 pounds, trucks, $40.00; trailers, $25.00; 6,100 to 10,000 pounds, trucks, $90.00; trailers, $45.00. Per ton over 10,100 pounds, trucks, $25.00; trailers, $10.00. Trucks and trailers equipped with solid rubber tires are to pay 25 per cent additional to the above rates.

STOCKHOLDERS MAY AGAIN TAKE OVER RUBICON STORE

A meeting of the stockholders of the Rubicon Co-Operative company held at the store in Rubicon last Tuesday evening a committee of five was appointed to see the creditors of the company and try to arrange for an extension of time in which their accounts could be paid. If this can be accomplished it is probable that the stockholders will again take over the store and the entire indebtedness be paid by them in full. About $8,000 in accounts has been returned to the stockholders and it is expected that more can be collected which will go a good way toward settling the accounts of the company.

The company went into voluntary liquidation a few weeks ago and it was thought that the stock would be sold to pay the accounts owed by the company.

The later development may mean if an extension of time is given by the creditors that the company can re-open its business in a short time.

You were sorry that you missed the arrival of the last time he was here. Don't let it happen Sunday morning, August 27th, at the South Side Park.

While there is no intention of poking at golf too much, some of the anecdotes along this line are too good to be lost. Take the case of the woman who had her young and observant son out for a walk. They met a friend of the family, a man who likes to be pleasing to children. He proceeded to question the boy, a bright little fellow about five years old.

"Does your papa work?" from the man.

"Sure, he does, all the time," without hesitation.

"What does he do?" and the chances are the youngster knew that the questioner knew the answer. Anyhow, the boy spoke right up:

"Plays golf."

FLOCK TO CANADA

Immigrants of High Order Settling on Western Plains.

Removal of Restrictions Necessary During the War Has Shown World's Faith in Dominion's Future.

For a period during the late war, and for a while after its close, there was put into operation by the Canadian government legislation restricting certain classes and people of the countries which were not lined up with the allied nations from being admitted to Canada. This was quite necessary, and the reasons for it will be so apparent that they need not be given. However, the time came, in the early summer of this year, when it was deemed possible to remove some of these restrictions. It was found that there were many who came under their ruling that were of a class that Canada needed and who needed Canada. The restrictions, doubtless, were drastic, but were needed. The news of their removal, sent broadcast, has met with such a response as to give ample evidence that they had not killed interest in Canada, and that faith in the Dominion as a country where a new existence, happy and fruitful, was as complete as ever. As has been stated by one writer dealing with this subject, "the opening of the doors a little wider has but disclosed the jammed-up state of the stream, which, given freer release, is pouring in fuller force over the Dominion."

As to the moral effect of the legislation that enabled these restrictions to be carried out, it showed that while Canada was seeking settlers, its lands and its homes were not intended as a shelter for those unable to meet the standard set as Canada's laws of civilization. The concessions which have removed these restrictions still have in view the maintenance of this standard, and those who are still allowed in are subject to the same requirements that have prevailed for years. As pointed out by the writer previously quoted, "Canada has successfully imported those countries from which she draws her people that her prime and crying need is for those who will go on land, and of these entering the country the bulk is composed of agriculturists. Every country which has furnished to Canada's population has resumed its mission to its shores."

The lowering of the barriers has had a further-reaching effect than the entry into the country of many formerly debarred by reasons of financial stringency. It has had a moral effect. The restriction was rightly regarded as an indication of Canada's internal economic condition, and many persons and families of comfortable means contemplating Canadian settlement were discouraged from doing so. In the removal of the first shack of the moral chain of better days, and consequently many of those arriving are in a condition to establish rapidly and securely.

"Though Canadian immigration falls broadly into the two classes, British and American, many European peoples have contributed in a large measure to the agricultural development of the Western provinces, and it is gratifying to note the same healthy interest in Canada evinced by the most desirable of these.

"Amongst those from the European countries are Serbians, Poles, Swiss, Roumanians, Dutch, Jug-Slavs, French, Danish, Norwegians, Swedes, Finns and Lithuanians. All have constituted fine, desirable citizen-building material. In the few detentions and lesser deportations heard testimony. Furthermore, the disturbed industrial conditions of the New England states have resulted in the commencement of an exodus of French-Canadian families back to their old homes, which may reach an appreciable size.

"On all sides this awakening of interest is evident. It is a new faith borne on the crest of the wave of brighter prospects, the dawn of a fuller realization, in the continued inability of many other countries to emerge from the economic slough into which the war plunged them, of the desirability of Canada as a country more rapidly throwing off its post-bellum depression, and its great place in the world's immediate future.

"British migration is of a healthy and desirable order, of sturdy composition, and frequently heavily capitalized. Many Scottish farmers have already arrived this year."

Every state in the Union is contributing its quota, and joining with those who have been in Canada for a number of years in the work of reclaiming the virgin prairie of the great plains of the West and converting them into humane fields of golden grain, or its grasses into fodder for the dairy cow or the fattening steer.—Advertisement.

PRESIDENT PUTS CURRENT ISSUES BEFORE SOLONS

Asserts Determination to Keep Transportation Moving.

ASKS NATIONAL COAL AGENCY

Upholds Right of Men to Work and Asserts Purpose to Use Every Power of Government to Have Laws Upheld.

Washington, Aug. 10.—President Harding announced to congress and the country that his administration, having exhausted every means for a settlement of the rail and coal strikes, now was resolved "to use all the power of the government to maintain transportation and sustain the right of men to work."

Absent Members Called.

Telegrams to absent members of the house interstate commerce committee to return at once to Washington to begin work on bills recommended by the President for creation of a coal agency and a fact-finding commission for the coal industry, were sent out by Representative Mondell, the Republican leader, after the President's address. Leaders plan to have these measures taken up early next week and made ready for speedy passage.

Accounting for his course during the recent trouble in an address to the senate and house, the President said he did not propose to ask for any "hasty action" by congress in the railroad strike, but that authority should be given to set up a commission to make a sweeping investigation into the coal industry "to reveal every phase of coal production, sale and distribution."

As another measure in the coal situation the President asked for the creation of a temporary national coal agency to purchase, sell and distribute coal in interstate shipment as an "instrumentality of guarding the public interest where private conscience is irresponsible to a public need."

Condemns Herrin Crime.

Groups who take the law into their own hands, the President said, and attempt to control for their own purposes the resources of the whole people can only be regarded as pests to public safety. He said neither employers nor employees could entirely escape responsibility for the present industrial situation, but he condemned in particular the "shocking crime at Herrin, Ill."

The President said the government was helpless to intervene, but, on the allegation that two aliens were among the killed, and in view of the absence of all provision in federal law under which the federal government can protect aliens in their treaty rights, he now asks congress to pass a law under which the government can take hold in cases such as that of Herrin.

Country at Union's Mercy.

The President likewise committed himself to the assertion that the United Mine Workers' organization now has the whole country "at its mercy."

With special reference to the Herrin massacre, the President said:

"My removal of this atrocious recommendation is motivated by a pitiable sense of federal impotence to deal with the shocking crime at Herrin, Ill., which so recently shamed and horrified the country. In that butchery of human beings, wrought in madness, it is alleged that two aliens were murdered. This act adds to the outraged sense of American justice the humiliation which the federal government's confessed lack of authority to punish that unutterable crime.

"Had it happened in any other land than our own, and the wrath of righteous justice were not effectively suppressed, we should have pitied the civilization that would tolerate it and sorrow for the government unwilling or unable to mete out just punishment.

"It is deplorable that there are or can be American communities where, even there are citizens, not in spite of public officials, who believe mob warfare is admissible to cure any situation."

In summing up the situation, the President said:

"It is manifestly my duty to bring to your attention the industrial situation which confronts the country. The situation arising out of the prevalent railway and coal mining strikes is so serious, so menacing to the nation's welfare, that I should be remiss if I failed frankly to lay the matter before you, and at the same time acquaint you and the whole people, with such effects as the executive branch of the government has made by the voluntary exercise of its good offices to effect a settlement.

"It is not my thought to ask congress to deal with these fundamental problems at this time. No hasty action would contribute to the solution of the present critical situation. There is existing law by which to settle the prevailing disputes. There are statutes forbidding conspiracy to hinder interstate commerce. There are laws to assure the highest possible safety in railway service. It is my purpose to invoke these laws, civil and criminal, against all offenders alike."

Though he pronounced as inadequate the law creating the railway labor board, Mr. Harding said "no perfection of it by congress at this moment could be helpful in the present

Making His Head Save His Feet.

Having had electric bells installed in his house the master said to his help: "Now, John, when I ring once it's for you, and when I ring twice I want Jane to answer."

A few hours later he rang once, and his man failed to put in an appearance. Presently he rang again, and the housemaid came hurrying in. "Why didn't John come when I rang?" he inquired angrily.

"Please, sir," said the girl, "he's busy reading the paper when he hears the first ring and he said to me, 'Now wait till the master rings again and then it will be for you again.'"—Boston Transcript.

threatened paralysis of transportation."

Reasons for Legislative Action.

"The almost total exhaustion of stocks of coal, the crippled condition of the railways, the distressed situation that has arisen, and might grow worse, in our great cities, due to the shortage of anthracite; the suffering which might arise in the Northwest through failure to meet winter needs by lake transportation; all these, added to the possibility of outrageous price demands in spite of the most zealous voluntary efforts of the government to restrain them, make it necessary to ask you to consider at once some form of temporary control of distribution and prices.

"If it may have your approval, I recommend immediate provision for a temporary national coal agency with needed capital, to purchase, sell and distribute coal which is carried in interstate shipment. I do not mean that all interstate coal shall be handled by such a federal organization; perhaps none will be necessary; but it will restore its capital to the public treasury and will be the instrumentality of guarding the public interest where private conscience is insensitive to a public need."

Announcing his decision to invoke all pertinent laws in the interest of industrial restoration, the President used carefully chosen language to apply his strictures to both employers and employees.

"Surely," he said, "the threatening conditions must impress the congress and the country that no body of men, whether limited in numbers and responsible for railway management or powerful in numbers and the necessary in railroad operation, shall be permitted to impose a course which so imperils public welfare. Neither organizations of employers nor workingmen's unions may escape responsibility. When related to a public service, the mere fact of organization magnifies that responsibility and public interest transcends that of either grouped capital or organized labor."

Refers to War on Unions.

At the same time, however, Mr. Harding said he had "come to appraise the present situation in the coal industry as a whole, and in some degree responsible for strikes."

"I refer," he said, "to the warfare on the unions of labor. The government has no sympathy or approval for this element of discord in the ranks of industry. Any legislation in the future must be as free from this element of trouble-making as it is from labor extremists who strive for class domination."

Supporting his request for a temporary national coal agency, President Harding warned congress that, although the "stikes are clearing" in the coal situation, a recurrence of difficulty might be expected next April, when wage contracts now being made are to be renewed, unless a cure were provided for the fundamental ills affecting the industry.

Stating that the Esch-Cummins act in establishing the railroad labor board was inadequate, being without legal sanction, and that the bill introduced by the President recommended action to make the board's decisions "enforceable and effective against carriers and employees alike."

Stating that sympathetic railroad strikes had developed and impaired interstate commerce seriously, the President said that trains deserted in the western desert "had revealed the empty and contempt for law on the part of some railway employees, who have conspired to paralyze transportation."

Spears Lawless Strikers.

Asserting that the striking unions in some instances had not held their forces to law observances, Mr. Harding said "there is a state of lawlessness shocking to every conception of American law and order," and announced his intention to invoke laws, civil and criminal, forbidding conspiracies hindering interstate commerce, and requiring safety in railway service.

In declaring positively for the right of men to work, the President said that in both the coal and railroad strikes this right had been "denied by assault and violence," and, in some cases, winked at by local authorities.

"It is fair to say that the great mass of organized workmen do not approve, but they seem helpless to hinder. These conditions cannot remain in free America."

Government "by law must and will be sustained," the President said, "no matter what clouds may gather, no matter what storms may ensue, no matter what hardships may attend, or what sacrifice may be necessary."

The President concluded his address after speaking 40 minutes.

CONTROL CHINCH BUGS BY SPRAYS

Countless Millions of Insects May Be Destroyed by Use of Nicotine Sulphate.

BULLETIN OUTLINES SCHEME

Three Periods When Pests May Be Destroyed Most Effectively—Cooperation Among Neighboring Farmers Most Essential.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Barriers of various kinds are one of the most effective ways of controlling chinch bugs at wheat harvest time when they migrate from the smaller grain fields to the row-crop fields. Countless millions of these insects may often be destroyed also by using nicotine sulphate spray in the wheat stubble, immediately following the binder. How to fight this pest by these methods is described in Farmers' Bulletin 1223, The Chinch Bug and Its Control, by J. K. Horton and A. E. Satterthwait, scientific assistants in cereal and forage insect investigations, bureau of entomology, United States Department of Agriculture.

There are three periods, the bulletin states, when chinch bugs may be destroyed most effectively: In November and December, by burning or plowing down their hibernating places; in May and June, by spraying in wheat fields with oil-emulsion nicotine sulphate, and trapping in barriers, following by spraying in marginal rows of corn, if necessary; and in September, by plowing corn stubble deeply before the bugs have gone to winter cover.

Chinch bugs spend the winter largely in bluestem and other bunch grasses in pastures, neglected fields, roadside, sunny hill slopes, and similar uncultivated places. These should be burned over in November and December, and matted areas kept as clean as possible. The bugs leave their winter quarters in early spring, migrating to fields of wheat, oats, and other small grain until it is nearly ripe and then attacking the corn and other row crops. Trap strips of millet, oats or rye should be placed between the winter quarters of the chinch bugs and the nearest fields of small grain.

Fully $46,000,000 worth of wheat, corn, oats, grain sorghum and broom corn is destroyed annually by chinch bugs. They occur over the entire United States east of the Rocky mountains, so that there are few climatic conditions which they are not able to withstand. Fungous diseases and parasitic enemies of the chinch bug are of little help in reducing its numbers.

Aggressive work against these insects is more profitable than defensive work, the bureau of entomology believes. Co-operation among neighboring farmers in ridding their fields of chinch bugs by spraying is absolutely essential. If the bugs are destroyed in one field but unmolested on a neighboring farm they will quickly reinvade the territory from which they were banished.

Farmers' bulletin 1223 describes the newest and most effective machine and hand sprayers and gives formulas for the insecticides of greatest value. It may be obtained by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture.

PROFITABLE POTATO SPRAYS

Where Blight Is Prevalent Fifty to One Hundred Bushels Increase Per Acre Is Expected.

Potato spraying can be made profitable in almost any part of the country. Where blight is prevalent, fifty to one hundred bushels per acre increase may be expected from proper spraying, and even in the absence of blight twenty-five to forty per cent increase in yield is not unusual.

Essential for Sheep.

Sheep will eat nearly every kind of green herbage that grows in this country, especially if it is tender and succulent. And while they are excellent weed exterminators, it is essential that they have plenty of good pasture.

Play the Flies.

The fly menace is a very serious handicap to dairymen or farmers keeping dairy cows. These pests always reduce the milk flow at this season of the year unless something is done to check their reproduction.

Music That Counts.

The squeal of the pig and the low of the cow make music that gets the attention of bankers and business men. Farmers who raise hogs and cows seldom have trouble to finance their farms.

Sow Crimson Clover.

Sow crimson clover as a cover crop in the orchard during September. Use seven pounds of cleaned seed or fourteen pounds of uncleaned seed per acre.

LEADING BREEDS OF GEESSE FOR MARKET

Toulouse and Emden Are Most Popular in This Country.

All Utility Breeds Are Kept for Production of Flesh and Feathers—African Is Rapid Grower and Matures Early.

Six breeds of geese have been admitted to the American standard of perfection, namely, Toulouse, Emden, Chinese, African, Wild or Canadian and Egyptian. In addition to the standard breeds there is a hybrid made by crossing one of these varieties, or the common goose, with wild geese. Crosses of the varieties of geese, especially of the Toulouse and Emden, are occasionally made, but without any apparent gain. The Toulouse, Emden, Chinese and African are easily the most popular breeds of geese in this country, the first two greatly leading the other breeds. All utility breeds of geese are kept primarily for the production of flesh and feathers; and although their eggs are occasionally used for culinary purposes on the farm, there is no demand for them for food purposes in the markets.

The Toulouse, the largest of the standard breeds of geese, is a good layer, producing from 20 to 35 eggs a year, is docile, grows rapidly, and makes a good market bird. However, its dark pinfeathers make it a slightly less attractive market goose than the Emden.

The Emden, a large white goose, slightly smaller and with somewhat longer legs than the Toulouse, is only a fair layer and is usually less profitable than the Toulouse. This breed has white pinfeathers, is a rapid grower, and matures early.

The African, a gray goose with a distinct brown shade, about the size of the Emden, is a good layer and makes a good market goose, although it has the objectionable dark pinfeathers. It is a rapid grower and matures early.

There are two standard varieties of Chinese geese, the Brown and the White. Both varieties mature early and are said to be prolific layers and rapid growers, but shy and rather difficult to handle.

WISE TO BURN DEAD ANIMALS

Big Bottle Flies Breed in Decaying Animal Matter and Depreciate Cause Loss.

The big bottle flies are abundant in warm weather. They are several kinds of flies that infest wounds on animals, and all of them breed in decaying animal matter. The bureau of entomology tells us that if all dead animals could be disposed of properly, no cases of infestation of living animals would occur.

A wound on a fine bird often causes death because of the depredations of these flies. It is not unusual for a bird to be in bad shape before the owner knows it is hurt. The only safe way is to burn dead animals, and to infect a wound promptly. Liner neck has been traced directly to the eating of carrion by the victim.

PARIS GREEN FOR POISONING

Mixed With Hydrated Lime It Should Be Dusted on Foliage While Dew Is on Plants.

In using Paris green for poisoning biting and chewing insects, that is the type that bite off and chew up their food, apply 1 to 3 teaspoons of the Paris green to 6 tablespoons of dry hydrated lime. Dust this on the foliage of plants while damp with dew. Paris green will not dissolve in water and hence is not suitable for spraying unless the sprayer agitates the mixture constantly.

PROTEIN IN ORCHARD GRASS

Plant Endures Hot Weather Better Than Timothy and Seems to Thrive in Shade.

Orchard grass is a standard grass which endures hot weather better than timothy and also seems to thrive better than most other kinds in partial shade. The objectionable features are its bunchy habit of growth and the tendency of the hay it makes to become woody when cut a trifle late. Early harvested orchard grass is good, and carries a little more protein than timothy hay.

CAPONS BRING HIGHER PRICE

Meat Is of Finer Flavor Than That of Cockerel and Will Be Produced at Less Cost.

Capons will produce fifty per cent more growth during the same period than will cockerels. More than that, the meat will be of a finer flavor; it will be produced at a lower cost, due to ease of fattening, better endurance of close confinement, and more docile disposition; it will also sell at a higher price.

The KITCHEN CABINET

It should be asked to name the quality most necessary to the best type of meat. It should be pointed out that it is not the quantity of meat that is so important as the quality. The quality of the meat is what counts. It is the quality of the meat that makes the difference between a good dinner and a bad one. It is the quality of the meat that makes the difference between a healthy and a sickly child. It is the quality of the meat that makes the difference between a long and a short life.

GOOD THINGS FOR OCCASIONS

Fruit Cheese Salad.—Put six dates, three figs, one-half cupful of blanched almonds, through the meat grinder; add a cupful of cream cheese, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a dash of salt and red pepper. Make in balls, serving four on each leaves of lettuce, serving with mayonnaise dressing.

Broast Trout Baked in Cream.—Put in a baking dish and lay a freshly caught and dressed trout or two in the pan. Cover with sweet cream and bake slowly, adding the salt and other seasonings when it is nearly done.

Peach Conserve.—Cut rounds from five sponge cake, sprinkle with peach juice and lay on halves of juicy peaches; fill the hollow with sweetened, flavored whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped almonds.

Crab Meat and Red Peppers.—Remove the yolks of four hard-cooked eggs, mash and add two tablespoonfuls of the bread crumbs; chop the whites and add one tablespoonful and a half of chopped red pepper. Put into a sifter four tablespoonfuls of butter; when melted add the egg mixture and cook until smooth, adding a little at a time a cupful of cream, then add a cupful of crab meat; season highly and serve on circles of buttered toast.

Salmon Salad.—Add celery, a half cupful of onion with the sugar removed, a little chopped pickle and season with a good dressing.

Chopped cucumber ginger stirred into whipped cream and a tablespoonful of the cream used for flavoring, makes a fine filling for cake.

FOR DAINTY DINERS
A most attractive salad, at the same time one that is somewhat unusual is Cabbage Salad.—Shred with a sharp knife a small firm, hard head of white cabbage, add one-half cupful of dried, one-half cupful of almonds, four ripe bananas cut in small strips, one-half cupful of sour cream, a dash of vinegar, seasonings of salt and sugar. Serve with crackers and cheese.

Different Dried Beef.—Put three tablespoonfuls of bacon fat in a frying pan, add one-half pound of dried beef in small pieces with a pair of onions. Fry for three minutes, then place on a hot platter. Cut three banana crosswise and in quarters lengthwise, let them cook in the frying pan long enough to become thoroughly hot. Arrange around the beef and serve piping hot.

Peanut Pie.—Cook in a double boiler one cupful of milk and a cupful of sugar. Thicken with one tablespoonful of flour the yolks of two eggs, the juice of a lemon. Bake a crust for brown pie and fill with the custard, adding one-half cupful of peanut meats broken in bits. Cover with a meringue, using the egg whites and brown lightly in the oven.

Fig Filling.—Cook one cupful of chopped figs in one-half cupful of water, the juice of a lemon, and when ready add in powdered sugar until thick. Use as a layer cake.

Lemon Filling.—Boil together five minutes one cupful of sugar, one-half cupful of water and the juice of two lemons. Add two well-beaten eggs. Cook until thick. Decorate with nuts and whipped cream.

Hot Delight.—Boil one cupful of rice until tender. Drain and press into a wet mold, then turn out on a dish. Wash still hot season the rice with two tablespoonfuls of butter. If the mold is hollow fill the center with the filling. Take one cupful of chopped beef, cook them in one cupful of the rice water for 30 minutes, add one cupful each of apple pulp and chopped tomatoes with four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Cook until thick. Decorate with nuts and whipped cream.

Nervous Beginning Early.
Mary's little brother had broken her doll's nose and done other annoying things until at last she gave way to her cooperation and slapped him. Asked to explain her conduct, Mary said: "Well, he's been getting on my nerves all day till my nerves just flew at him."—Boston Transcript.

Voices Preserved for Centuries.
Photograph records of the voices of leading men are being made on copper discs, said to last 10,000 years, and used in the Prussian State library.

New Knitted Textiles; Coats and Coat Dresses

THOSE enterprising manufacturers who make our knitted wear for us have been experimenting with textiles lately and have turned out some beautiful fabrics that have the added allure of novelty. Among them are the fibrous and worsted combinations classed as matelasse, which present a lustrous surface covered with motifs in contrasting or self color. They follow the successful printed patterns on knitted textiles used for sports coats.

These new patterns in knitted goods are making their appearance in and-ity coat that is needed and these are the garments that move early and in quick succession from the merchant's assortment of new models. There is a demand for these smartly tailored, mannish overcoats right now and they appear in English mixtures, with plaid back, tweeds, velours and polo cloth. They are made with collars that may be buttoned up closely about the throat or worn open across the shoulders, they hang in full, loose lines, are ample in width and length and sometimes have belts or narrow some frocks which have all the character of those made for afternoon wear. This is a hitherto unoccupied field, for knitted fabrics have been identified with sports clothes where they have been entirely successful. Sports suits and dresses, in heavy and light weights, and greatly varied in texture by variations in the knitting, are beginning to vie with sweaters in variety of design.

Another field has been invaded by the knitted dress of wool. It is a comfortable and sturdy garment for the little school girl and appears in slip-over frocks in one color with decorations in contrasting colors knitted in. A gray or blue dress in a plain, close stitch, has bands of red, orange and green about the bottom of the skirt and sleeves, and around the waist. A narrow knitted silk grille at the waist and a similar tie at the neck, match the dress in color.

Very attractive knitted trimmings of wool yarn are used on dresses and suits of Jersey cloth or to finish girdles that are worn very loose. Tailors vary them in many ways and use patch pockets and large buttons to give them a snappy finish.

In a clever overcoat of tweed, in a two-toned plaid, the tailor has contrived unusual sleeves having slashed cuffs ornamented with large buttons. The collar is the new "tunnel" design and these are little points that distinguish the coat illustrated from others of its kind.

The smart utility coat sells itself, to fill a definite need, but not every one needs a coat, and there are some intriguing coat dresses calculated to coax money out of those who are not driven by necessity to part with it. They are handsome affairs that will serve without a coat for wear in autumn and with one for winter. One of them is shown here. It is made of men's-wear serge and has novel sleeves, with pendant panels finished with silk fringe. Loose straps, embroidered with silk floss and ending in long silk tassels, hang from the knitted dresses of finer silk. These trimmings are knitted in many ways, those of wool yarn in loops are among the most effective. Fibrous silk makes some of the handsomest trimmings and dresses. It appears as a trimming on the overblouse of crepe de chine which is illustrated, worn with heavy crepe skirt. Very handsome tassels of the silk finish a soft girdle of the crepe de chine.

When a woman simply must have a wrap, usually it is a practical utility

TO DARN QUICKLY
A good way to darn a run quickly is to use a raveling or a single strand of darning cotton to fill in the run with a zigzag stitch. For the first stitch bring the needle up from the under side of the material; for the next, bring it down from the upper side. Continue as long as is necessary, catching the run near the edges. Have the thread rather loose and when you have filled in the run pull it just enough to draw the edges together.

Buckles Are Stylish.
Buckles are the new trimming. They will be used for everything, from clasping a girdle to clasping a cape collar or prettifying to clasp a panel to the ornamental chain on which it pretends to hang. There is a stunning revival of Egyptian art in behalf of the buckles.

ANIMAL PARK

"They think they're important, and they think correctly," said the Lion. "Yes," said the Leopard, "that is right."

"What are you talking about now?" asked the Hyena.

"Well," said the Lion, "they have an announcement. An announcement is like a notice, you know. And this one is about us. They're letting the people know when we're feeding so they can come and see us. They're telling the visitors that the Lions and the Tigers and the Leopards, and the Hyenas, the Chimpanzees and some of the rest of us are all fed in our house, the Lion House, named in honor of us, at half-past one every day. That is our breakfast, dinner and supper combined—which means that it is our breakfast, dinner and supper all in one."

"Then they say that the Bears and the Sea-Lions have breakfast at eight in the morning and dinner at three in the afternoon. It is said that the Monkeys have breakfast at nine-thirty, for they do not care to breakfast too early in the morning. They have their dinner at three in the afternoon, too. The Wolves have one meal a day at quarter after one, which is their dinner, while the Birds are fed at half-past two in the afternoon, though of course they get little odd meals all the time. It is true, the Lion continued, "that most of us get those, too, and the Birds always have water to drink, and so it is."

"But still people do not speak of their little odd meals but only of their main meals, and so I have done the same, and these main meals are the ones they've invited the visitors to come and see us at. Well, I think it is pretty fine. It shows that we're of great importance."

"No one goes to see people eat. They couldn't gather a crowd about them. It is the animals that the people come to see."

"Yes, it is our meal time they come to see. Ah, how interesting that is to think that the people come to see us eat, and yet they couldn't get us to go and see them eat even if we were free. And they couldn't even get each other to view such a performance, I'm sure."

So the Lion talked.

In another part of the Animal Park the African Elephant was talking to the Indian Elephant.

"It's mostly a matter of ears," the African Elephant said. "My ears are much larger than yours and I am larger, too, but you're more usual. By that I mean to say that there seem to be more of you about in parks and circuses."

"I'm glad of it," said the Indian Elephant, "for I am quite sociable by nature."

The Tapirs, too, were talking. They are strange looking, but perhaps they look more like seals than any other creatures. "The children have pretty stripes when they're born, which they lose before they're grown-up Tapirs," they said. "But then they talked no more, for there was beginning to be a slight rainstorm and they wanted to enjoy the fun of it."

MANNERS IN SECOND PLACE MR. DINGLE'S SOOTHING SIRUP FORESEES VOYAGE TO MOON

When Miss Violet Robinson, a colored teacher in Mobile, was invited by Mrs. Clarver, the mother of two of her pupils, to stay and have dinner with the family, she accepted with no anticipation of what was before her. Mr. Clarver hung over his plate, and seemed engaged in a race against time and labor as he lifted knife-loads of vindictive to his mouth. His wife and children were not much outdone.

The teacher was not one to keep her thoughts from her face, and Mrs. Clarver looked at her first with distress and then with growing wrath as she felt the need of coming to her man's defense.

Finally she leaned across the table toward her guest, and pounded heavily with the handle of a fork.

"I'm tellin' yo' what it is," she said, emphatically. "Manners ain't nothin'. Eating must be!"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Surely No Excuse for His Better Half's Nervousness After That Reassuring Speculation.

Mrs. Dingle was filled with nervous alarms whenever she traveled, and Mr. Dingle always had his hands full in trying to quiet and reassure her.

"Albert," said Mrs. Dingle, waking her husband from a sound sleep in a southern railway car. "Albert! I want you to find out why we are bumping at this fearful speed. The car is going and swaying till I can scarcely see out of my eyes."

Mr. Dingle sat up and looked out of the window at the moonlit landscape.

"See that bridge ahead on the curve?" he asked sleepily. "Well, we have to go over that in a minute, and probably it isn't very strong and they want to go over it with as little strain and as quickly as possible. Now go to sleep."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Frenchman Predicts That in Near Future the Trip Can Be Made in Forty-Nine Hours.

M. Esnault-Protier of the Paris Aero club predicts that the utilization of the intra-atomic energy will enable men in the near future to travel from the earth to the moon in 49 hours. The first 31 minutes, it seems, will be very agreeable, but during the 48 hours and 29 minutes of the second part of the course one will have the sensation of a terrible fall in the void.

And this reminds one of the charming story told by Mark Twain: One morning when standing at the window he perceived a human body falling through the air.

"How do you do?" asked Mark Twain gracefully.

"So far," the other replied, "I'm all right. But when I reach the ground floor it will be all wrong!"

SPLASHES FROM FOREST LAKE

BY F. H. J.

The Forest Lake Day passed into history. It is now in the memory of the young and old, and it is a pleasant memory too. It was carefully planned by an energetic committee and it was a success. Let it be a forerunner of still greater Forest Lake Days. It was held last Saturday on the spacious grounds of the Forest Lake Resort. Starting at one o'clock in the afternoon with a chicken dinner appetizingly served in the beautifully decorated dining room, it continued throughout the afternoon and into the late hours of the night. One hundred and twelve cottagers and friends of Forest Lake, both young and old, enjoyed the banquet speaking program. Mr. C. A. Brennan acted as the Toastmaster and called upon Mrs. C. F. Beezley Jr., wife of Mr. C. F. Beezley Jr., owner of Echo Van Blarcom, our oldest settler on the lake. All enjoyed her little talk, quaintly and reminisciently told, during which she related the early days of Forest Lake, the building of the Resort, early social activities, each resort and erection of Echo Lodge and other cottages about the lake. The next speaker was our Health Commissioner Dr. A. M. Stober. He dwelt on the great improvements made on the lake and roads since he first came to the lake. It was a revelation to many to learn that 18 years ago it took him twenty-two hours to drive from Chicago to Forest Lake.

Mr. Frank H. Janiszewski, chairman of the publicity committee spoke of the endeavors of the committee to let the world know how pleasantly he spent the summer days on Forest Lake. Mr. Brennan closed the banquet with very interesting remarks on the glacial deposit, geological formation and the natural beauty of Forest Lake. During the banquet several flash lights were taken to preserve for future time the occasion of the First Forest Lake Day.

Immediately after the banquet all participants had repaired into the great out doors, where under the guidance of Mr. M. Longwell, races and games were held. The famous phrase "children and women first" prevailed. The "kids" surely had a good time and showed their grit in the races. All tried hard to win but unfortunately in every race there must be some losers, but they were game losers at that.

Next came the ladies races and you ought to see how the ranks of the male observers swelled and pushed in the seats to be in the front row. Large numbers of young ladies (some married but still young and spry) had entered the race. It was a lively race and many had won. How the husbands and sweethearts cheered their cherished ones on to victory was remarkable. Discretion and thought of his own safety prompts your reporter to refrain from mentioning the names of the victors of the race.

Next the young men and married men had races. The decision is still in doubt. The races characterized the race as the closest one they ever saw. (Ladies, ladies, have a heart; remember life's struggles and hard work takes much of our energies) The fat men's race was abandoned as none would qualify, soon after the races two scrub teams were formed and a lively game of baseball was enjoyed. The Stobers against the Longwells was the card of the day. After the fourth inning the game was called off by the umpire Mr. C. H. Turner on account of rain, with the score 6 to 2 in favor of the Longwells.

Mr. and Mrs. Kuert, the new owners of the Resort who had done so much to make this day a success invited all into the large dance hall where further games progressed. Bowling with boccaruts was enjoyed by the ladies, carrying beams on a knife proved a very popular game and the putting of clothes pins on a clothesline was eagerly enjoyed by our better halves. Each game had its winners who were rewarded with valuable prizes. The festivities were capped by a Grand Prize Waltz. Capable judges were eyeing the numerous couples, gracefully swaying to the rhythmic music and awarded the first prize to Mr. and Mrs. August Bartelt, Jr., and second prize to Mrs. J. A. Westcott and Mr. John Longwell. With a loud vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Kuert for their kind hospitality.

During the festivities of the Forest Lake Day it became known that our Chief of Police Mr. August Bartelt Sr. was on that day 64 years of age. All present extended to "grandpa" Bartelt their congratulations and joined the strains when the orchestra struck the melody "Fo' He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Grandpa "fo' He" all to cream cones and expressed regret that the 18th Amendment prevented him from reciprocating the congratulations in a "warmer" manner. Grandpa Bartelt, listen we want you to remain with us until 100 years. That's our sincere wish.

The season now fast coming to an end, was a very active one, in fact, a most active one of many years. The willing co-operation of Mr. and Mrs. Kuert with the cottagers banded together to improve the Forest Lake Improvement Association was the direct cause for the successful season. Besides the dancing every evening, the "Flea Parties" every Friday evening and the Banco parties every Tuesday evening given at the Resort by Mr. and Mrs. Kuert for the entertainment of their guests to which the cottagers were invited, there were numerous other events given at the Club House. Chief among these was a mock wedding recently staged in honor of the 15th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Danielsson who for many years spent their vacations at Forest Lake Resort. Everybody came to the wedding to the strains of a wedding march sharp at nine o'clock the wedding party made its appearance. It was headed by "Father Frank" who with a baseball bat in one hand and a cross in the other was ready for the ceremony. The bride, wearing a wonderful creation, carried a most unusual bouquet. A large head of cabbage stuck on a broom handle, was studded with radishes and onions and from the handle drooped long streamers of knotted crepe paper. After the ceremony all had a merry time as the happy bride and groom their congratulations, ice cream and cake was served and general dancing enjoyed.

It is heard on every side that the resort business is at a low ebb this year. This is not true of Forest Lake Resort.

Among early guests at the resort was Mr. Charles Vail, Clerk of the Supreme Court of Illinois. He expressed himself as well pleased with the hospitality of the Resort and the beauties of the lake.

Mr. L. L. Patch, Traffic Manager of the Commonwealth Edison Company of Chicago had spent his vacation at the Forest Lake Resort and was so well pleased that he promised to return later in the season.

Mr. A. B. Carter of Pittsburg spent several weeks and stated that they were glad to make such great distance to find a place where they had enjoyed themselves so well.

The popularity of the Resort spreads like the waves of the Radio and reached Santa Anna, California and Forest Lake. Mr. Wm. H. Clegg who with his wife spent a most enjoyable vacation.

Mr. Phil Shotke, vice-president of the Peerless Light Co. and family spent their vacation at Forest Lake Resort. "Phil" surely enjoyed it. Whether he fished for bull heads or cast for bass, danced or hiked, he was always on "high".

Wm. F. Fick of Chicago was resorting with his mother for the past week and enjoyed the fishing and swimming. Fick is a good scout and usually planned and helped to pull off the "stunts" at the Resort. We regretted to see him go.

Are You Ready?

HERE is a popular tractor made by the makers of high-grade machines to go with the tractor—the International Harvester Company. What better guarantee can you have that you will have a reliable outfit? Have you power enough, and of the right kind, to get your farm work done cheaply and on time? No doubt you have been asking yourself this question in these days of tractor power. We believe that there is a prime answer to that question in these words—“Titan 10-20 Kerosene Tractor.”

Kerosene tractors are the most practical farm machines. The experience of thousands of farmers demonstrates that the tractor does its work well, does it on time, and saves money for its owner. If you need more power; if you want to raise farm produce at the lowest cost; if you want to be sure of success this year, place your order now for a

Titan 10-20 Kerosene Tractor

This year the indications point to the sale of at least a quarter of a million tractors. To produce this quantity, the tractor factories will have to work night and day. There will be factory delays and shipping delays that may hold up your delivery. The rule is “first come, first served.” Get your order in for a Titan tractor as soon as you can and have it delivered so that you may be ready for your next big work when the work is ready to be done. Titans are in great demand because they are proved workers and money savers. See us. Look the tractor over thoroughly first, and get all the facts. Then buy if you agree with us.

TARIFF BILL IS O. K.'D BY SENATE

Measure Goes to Conference After Four Months of Fighting.

TO BATTLE ANOTHER MONTH

There is Hope for Enactment Before Election—Bill Also Passed by Senate Is Designed to Yield $400,000,000 Revenue.

Washington, Aug. 22.—After four months of debate the senate passed the McCumber tariff bill designed to yield an annual revenue of $400,000,000. This is $50,000,000 greater than custom duties ever produced.

The vote on the passage of the bill was 45 to 27. Senator Borah (Idaho) was the only Republican voting in the negative, although it was announced that Senators La Follette (Wis.) and Norris (Nebr.) who are out of the city, would have voted similarly if they had been present.

Among Republicans who voted for the bill were Senators McCumber (N. D.), Smoot (Utah) and McLean (Conn.), Republicans and Democrats (N. C.) and Jones (N. M.). Democrats were appointed as conferees for the senate in adjusting the differences between the senate bill and the Fordney bill as passed by the house.

In selecting the conferees the two committees, Senators McCumber and Smoot, were selected and Senator McLean, who is fifth in rank, chosen in preference to Senator La Follette, who ranks third, Senator Dillingham (Vt.), fourth in rank, did not desire to serve.

The bill was returned to the house for conference. A special rule will be used to expedite action if objections to unanimous consent are made. The course of procedure was decided upon at a conference of Republican members of the house ways and means committee Saturday.

Representative Fordney (Mich.), chairman of the ways and means committee, who returned to Washington during the day, declared he had not changed his determination to continue his fight for the adoption of the American valuation plan as provided in the house bill. He said he would carry the issue to the house if the conferees refused to accept American valuation, and he believes the house will uphold his position.

He indicated that the will of the house will govern his course, and if a majority of the house favors the acceptance of the foreign valuation basis, as provided in the senate bill, he will drop his battle. It is considered likely that the valuation issue will be settled before the conferees attempt to decide on rates of duty.

Mr. Fordney predicted that the conferees would complete their work in a month and that the bill would be on the statute books before the election. There are many who doubt this and believe final enactment will be delayed until November or December.

Debate on the bill was begun in the senate on April 20 and has continued with few interruptions throughout the four months since that date. Hearings were commenced by the house ways and means committee on January 6, 1921, and the bill was passed by the house in July, 1921.

The duties in the senate bill are higher in many instances than in the house bill. Particularly is this true in the case of duties on farm products, which were boosted by the senate considerably above the Payne-Aldrich law rates, which was the standard followed by the house committee.

While the senate committee increased duties on many manufactured articles, the senate itself reduced a good many of them. As a general proposition, the manufacturing industries are not so well pleased with the bill as are the agricultural interests. In some cases, notably in dyes, the senate rates are far in excess of the house rates. The general average of protection provided is greater than in the Payne-Aldrich law.

HURL BOMBS AT TRAINS

Shop Strikers Peril Passengers in California.

Traffic Blocked at El Reno, Okla., After Railway Bridge Is Burned—Troops Guard Many Points.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Shoofings, bombings and barrans were high lights in the nation's railway crisis during the last 24 hours.

Blockades and thumps on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, the Union Pacific, Western Pacific and Southern Pacific closed up when striking train crews called off their wauk and opened the way to immediate restoration of traffic on lines which were paralyzed by the strike of the "big four" brotherhoods.

Stranded Santa Fe trains were moved out of Albuquerque, N. M., and trains at Prescott, Ariz., notified Santa Fe officials that strikers would return to work. These moves followed earlier developments toward ending the tie-up on the Santa Fe. The Union Pacific's traffic knot unraveled rapidly after trainmen on the Las Vegas division called off their strike. Other western roads restored transportation activities, which had been in effect, since the shopmen's strike began July 1.

Bombs were thrown at a Santa Fe train which left San Bernardino, Cal., for the first time in six days. The first bomb exploded in the railroad yards and two more were hurled at the passenger as the engine wheels spun over oiled rails in pulling out of the city.

Troops remained on guard in virtually all places where soldiers were sent to quell riots earlier in the strike. These included five towns in Kansas—Parsons, Newton, Herrington, Hoisington and Horton, and three in Illinois—Bloomington, Clinton and Joliet.

Local authorities asked for troops at Spencer, N. C., where shop workers were routed by strike sympathizers. Major Stiles, in command of troops at Clinton, Ill., recommended martial law following renewed disturbances in which several men were injured.

Traffic on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific was blocked at El Reno, Okla., where a railroad bridge was burned. Farmers reported that two men were seen to fire the bridge.

COAL PRICES GOING HIGHER

Federal Fuel Committee Permits Kentucky Mines $1 a Ton Increase.

JUSTIFIED BY WAGE BOOST

Advance in Price Is Authorized on the Request and Suggestion of Governor Morrow—Hoover Replies to Senator Borah.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Coal prices are going higher, even under federal control. The federal fuel committee increased the Hoover fair-price scale for all mines in Kentucky to $3.50 per ton at the mine. The scale heretofore has been $3.50 for eastern and $3.75 for western Kentucky mines.

The increase was authorized on the request and suggestion of Gov. Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, who explained that it was justified by wage increases of $1 per ton to the Kentucky miners.

After the 1920 strike expired March 31 the Kentucky operators, both union and nonunion, went back to the 1918 scale and continued to operate on that basis until the present month when new contracts for the remainder of the year restoring the 1920 scale were entered into by both groups.

Kentucky union miners did not join in the general strike of April 1. The fuel situation "has now reached a point where even if production is resumed, there must be more authority for the effective control of distribution and possibly of prices pending readjustment of the situation." Secretary of Commerce Hoover declared in a letter to Senator Borah. He added:

"It is difficult to determine at what stage the initiation of wide legislative measures with all their legal and administrative difficulty and expense, would be justified, owing to the unknown contingency of resumption of production.

"Even assuming production is now resumed, the almost total exhaustion of stocks, the limitations upon transportation, not only as a consequence of the strike, but also with the usual fall peak in commodity movement, the necessity to accumulate large supplies at upper lake ports where transportation facilities are necessary to make a forced drive on anthracite into the hands of householders, have all accumulated until it seems we must have to stiffen the voluntary agencies engaged in the situation.

"Whether price control will be necessary, and how far necessary, can only be judged from day to day. I am advised that the federal government can set up legislation that would provide for the movement of coal at fair prices over the boundaries to consuming states. From that point forward the responsibility must rest with the state.

"Even the $625 average price you mention means an average of a cent above men selling fair price coal with a minority of bootleggers selling it up to $12."

The Hoover letter was in reply to one from Senator Borah calling attention to high coal prices and asking what legislation was needed to protect the public against extortion.

The advance of $1 a ton to the Hoover scale is expected to spread to practically all the districts now operating under the Hoover plan, though the fuel committee has taken action only in the case of Kentucky.

MADISON—About 25 per cent of the country school teachers of Wisconsin have taught in the same rural school for more than one year. State Superintendent John Callahan has announced the distribution of $43,271.43 around the state as a bonus. Teachers receive on an average $26.13 additional to their salary as a bonus. There were 1,656 teachers who participated in the distribution. The law under which these payments are made was passed to encourage teachers to remain longer than one year in the same country school. OSHKOSH—Road work and harvesting is giving employment to a large number at the present time, causing a shortage of workers. The free employment bureau at Oshkosh received calls for one hundred men and twenty-two women and only eighty-eight men and nineteen women applied for work. The woodworking factories also showed a slight boom and activities seemed increased in that line. The metal trades, however, continue rather slow.

"I LOVE YOU!" CHAPTER VII—Continued. But she stood without heeding him, until she stood almost at the end of the shaking structure.

sat. I care for you. I'm shameless now, when I say this, but you should have seen—you should have known. What right had you to drowse out your refrain of Joe, Joe, all the day to me, when my heart was aching for you, and you would not hear it? I want your love, Will! I want you to love me, and to take me away from Manitoba, where I'll never hear of the Missatibi again—or Joe!"

CHAPTER VIII Treachery. When Kitty left the shack she went slowly toward her house. At the door she hesitated and then, as if with a sudden resolution, she made her way quickly in the direction of the portage.

I want to take care of him for your sake, the rest of his days. I ask you to be my wife, to come to Manitoba with me and marry me. I don't suppose he could hold his job here another day if the company knew he's paralyzed? I'll drive him from the portage unless you marry me and let him take his pension and live with us.

"I tell you 'no' again!" cried Molly. "How many times am I to answer you? Will you go now?"

"Get back to bed, you old fool!" sneered Bowyer. "Didn't you do your own love-making?"

"You're a fine love-maker!" he sneered. "Get out of the way!"

"What does it mean?" asked Kitty. "It means that I want Molly McDonald, and I've never wanted any man or woman yet that I didn't get, said Bowyer. 'Molly McDonald, the Missatibi. How many do you want? He looked at her still more keenly. 'One'.

REFUSED TO HURT THE BABIES Two Stories That Prove Gentleness of Horses Where Little Children Were Concerned. Are horses peculiarly gentle with babies? It seems a fair question, which a contributor sends us, were almost humanly solicitous of the welfare of the two young children who came into contact with them.

He could not hide the flicker of a smile. Kitty saw it, and laughed. Bowyer will be more. She knew he was pitying on her hopes, and not the sudden vision on his face that he was pitying.

Kitty drew her down beside her, and tense. Kitty put her arm round her and sat down on the bed beside her.

"I thought you and Joe loved each other," she exclaimed.

Unrest Among Railroad Workers Throughout Country is Growing—Fruit and Vegetable Growers in West Face Ruin.

New York, Aug. 22.—Even the pressure of "economic necessity" may not settle the railroad shopmen's strike tomorrow, when the 148 members of the Association of Railway Executives meet in this city.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Reports from the country at large, as received at the War department, indicated that there is a growing unrest among the railroad workers. This unrest is understood to have gone so far, according to those who are pessimistic regarding the final outcome of the strike, that an agreement at New York tomorrow may not satisfy this element.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—"I suffered for a year with nervous troubles and irregularities of the bowels before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My girl friends and my sister told me if I would take your Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills I would be relieved. After taking the first bottle I felt better, and neglected it awhile, but found I could not do my work until I was stronger. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and now I am the mother of a 19 months old boy.
