MANY HOMES SADDENED BY THE GRIM SPECTRE

MISS TILLIE VOGT

Every heart in the community was shocked, and every heart was filled with unutterable sadness last Saturday forenoon, Feb. 17 when it was learned that Miss Tillie Vogt, beloved mother of Rev. Ph. J. Vogt of this village had passed away in death. Decease had been ill but a few days and pneumonia and her sudden demise filled every heart with profoundest sorrow. Miss Vogt had attained the age of 82 years, 5 months and 28 days, having been born on August 19, 1840. After the death of her mother, she had a little girl, she received her early education at the St. Agnes' convent at Fond du Lac, after which she made her home with her reverend father almost continuously up to the time of her death. To him she was a faithful housekeeper, a devoted sister, a companion and friend, always cheerful for his welfare, sharing all his sorrows and his joys. Like the flowers she loved so well she blossomed in this earth, and her memory will ever remain a fragrance of the exemplary life she led. To know her was to say of her that she was a truly virtuous woman. As she lived in life she passed away in death, at peace with God, and fully prepared to meet the Master whom she so faithfully served. Solemn requiem high mass was read for her by Rev. July of Campbellsport, at 10 A. M. Tuesday, assisted by Rev. F. J. Stupfel of Lomira, St. Francis and Rev. A. Bertram of Newburg as subdeacon. Rev. Jos. Hoyer of St. Michaels was master of ceremonies. The remains were shipped to West Bend on the noon train where they were laid at rest in the Holy Angel's cemetery. Other priests who attended the funeral were: Rev. J. M. McFarland of Eden, Rev. John Bertram of Campbellsport, Rev. Reich of St. Kilian, Rev. F. Ruhman of Barton, Rev. Orloski of West Bend, Rev. J. Herzig of St. Michaels and Rev. Roman Stiefel of Sheboygan.

The members of the St. Theresa Young Ladies' Sodality of which she was a member, attended the funeral in a body. Honorary pall bearers were: Misses Tina and Ida Fellenz, Helen Semmel, Lucile Harter, Frances Baehler and Susan Schaeffer.

She leaves to mourn her demise, besides her brother, Rev. Philip Vogt, three sisters, Louise (Mrs. A. M. Wagner) and Mary (Mrs. Peter Gutschennier) of West Bend and Maggie (Mrs. George Volz) of Milwaukee.

To Rev. Vogt and other surviving relatives we extend our most heartfelt sympathy in this their hour of sorrow.

BENJAMIN G. ROMAINE

After an illness of five days with heart trouble, Benjamin G. Romaine passed peacefully away at his home at New Prospect, on Thursday, February 22, at 12:30 A. M. Mr. Romaine was born July 26th, 1862, at New Prospect, where he grew to manhood, and where he spent almost his entire life. On March 12, 1889 he was married to Anna L. Van Blarcom. Romaine and Garret; A. Romaine of Fond du Lac; three sisters Mrs. Lydia Hennings, Mrs. M. Calvey, Dundee; and Mrs. M. Garrity.

Mr. Romaine was one of the best known citizens of New Prospect, held in high esteem by all who had the pleasure of making his acquaintance, a true and loyal friend to one and all. He was a resident of New Prospect all his life except the first few years of his married life when he conducted a cheese factory at Byron. He was a faithful member of the M. W. A. His only son Elton arrived home just an hour before his death, due to the conditions of the train service. Mrs. E. Romaine and daughter Dorothy, who are spending five weeks in Havana, Cuba and other southern parts, were unable to arrive here for the funeral, which was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence. Rev. Taylor of Campbellsport officiated. Burial was made in the Union cemetery at Campbellsport.

The pall bearers were the three brothers: Walter J., Chas. E. and Garret; A. Romaine, one cousin Geo. M. Romaine and two brother-in-laws, P. G. and L. B. Van Blarcom.

BEE-KEEPERS TO HOLD MEETING

Washington county beekeepers will gather at the court house at West Bend on Friday, March 2, 1923, to discuss "ways and means" of increasing honey production.

This is the announcement made by the Washington County Beekeepers' association of which Milton H. Button, of West Bend is president, and A. H. Seefeldt, of Kewaskum, is secretary.

Two sessions will be held during the day—the morning meeting being called for 10:00 and the afternoon program commencing at 1:30.

L. P. Whitehead, extension specialist in bee culture at the University of Wisconsin, has been secured to lead the discussion on important problems of the local beekeepers.

C. D. Adams, marketing specialist of the state departments of agriculture and markets is also on the program. He will talk on grading and marketing methods for Wisconsin honey, and will also discuss the subject of bee diseases.

"Wisconsin now ranks fifth among all states in honey production," says Whitehead. "The past year's crop of six million pounds is a slight increase over any previous year and shows the increasing importance of the industry."

"Nevertheless, Badger beekeepers are still producing only about one-half as much honey as they could. Many beekeepers could operate double the number of colonies with but little added labor."

Unusual interest is being shown by Washington county beekeepers and a big attendance is looked for by those in charge.

The chickens were valued at $100 and left this city this morning via express. From Hartford they go via Chicago to New York, where they will be put aboard ship for the trip across the ocean to their destination in England. Included with the shipment were also two mammoth bronze turkeys, weighing 28 pounds each, one purchased from Patrick Carey, of near Mud Lake, and one from Whitehall, Wis. The express charges on the cargo from this city to England are approximately $70.36. Of this amount the inland charges are $10.36, while the ocean express is $60. Accompanying the birds is a bag of 50 pounds of feed which will be fed to the livestock enroute.—Hartford Times.

Poultry Thieves Abroad
The squaking of geese and flapping of wings in the back yard of the James Wilson premises at 1:30 Tuesday morning aroused Ray Wilson from his slumbers. Feeling sure the angels were not descending about his couch he arose, seized his gun and opened the window to see the robbers struggling with the geese. He fired several shots out the window and the frightened parties dropped the poultry and fled from the rain of bullets. It's not a very healthy place for burglars around the Wilson goose pen.—Hartford News.

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES HARD GAME

In an interesting and hard fought game, the Kewaskum High School boys' basket ball team went down to defeat, at the hands of the strong Me-nominee Falls high school team, by a score of 13 to 23, at the Opera House Monday evening. Although our boys were outweighed and outstretched by their opponents, they held the visitors down exceptionally well during the first half. It being a nip and tuck proposition. The score at the end of this period was 10 to 10. In the second half the visitors came back strong, and their superior weight and strength had a telling effect on our boys, who commenced to weaken under the difficult task before them. As a result the locals were only able to score 3 points against their opponents 13. The game ended 13 to 23 in favor of Me-nominee Falls.

LETTERS FROM OUR CALIFORNIA CORRESPONDENT

W. W. Parsons of Orange, California, writes an interesting letter to his Wisconsin friends for publication in the columns of the Statesman. The letter reads as follows:

Orange, California, Feb. 13, 1923.

"The Statesman"

"Your erstwhile, occasional California correspondent (the silent for some months) cannot let the occasion pass without a brief notice of the 'famous' mid-winter Wisconsin picnic, which has become as fixed an event here in southern California as Lincoln's birthday, on which day it is yearly celebrated.

"Notwithstanding a heavy rain the day preceding, and the somewhat gloomy weather conditions the Badgers began to gather early in the day for an all-day, out of doors picnic in the beautiful Sycamore Grove, Los Angeles. The president of the Wisconsin Society, Col. Frank True, a typical Badger, formerly from Rock county, who with Hon. C. H. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of States were early on the ground, and were the 'masters of ceremonies'. They are past-master boosters for California, though both are still loyal to their native states.

"In this connection it might be well to state that Mr. C. H. Parsons is a complete bureau of information, touching all questions of state societies, and maintains permanent office in Continental National Bank building at Main and Ninth St., Los Angeles, where a complete record is kept of persons from back east who are now residents of this part of the state. Everybody coming to southern California, either as visitors, or as residents are asked to come to his office for information as to people from the home state and also to register. Registration and information given as freely and generously as the glorious sunshine.

"Getting back to the event, the picnic, it was a great event in spite of the gloomy weather and threatened rain. Of course as was expected many who would have attended did not want the inconvenience of a 'wet' picnic, so anticipating the rain, which did not materialize, staid at home. However, while the writer has no registration at hand, yet several thousands were in attendance.

"Even the registration does not accurately determine the number, for in the joy and excitement of meeting old friends we forget to register. This writer was especially interested in the registrations from Fond du Lac, Washington and Sheboygan counties, as his first home was in Auburn township, and his early acquaintance was in these three counties. Washington county was poorly represented, and not a name from Kewaskum. A few from Hartford and West Bend. Sheboygan county was well represented, especially from Sheboygan and Plymouth. Fond du Lac county as usual rolled up a goodly number—something like 125 and 150.

"Mostly from Fond du Lac, Waupun, Ripon and the western part of the county. A few from Campbellsport. The nearest to Kewaskum was Miss Amanda Buss, living between Kewaskum and Five Corners.

"The writer had the pleasure of meeting for the first time in nearly 55 years an old schoolmate, Adolph Schmidt, whose father, John Schmidt once owned what was known in the early days as the Dyer farm, half a mile north of the Five Corners, and now owned by Joe Harter. Mr. Schmidt is now located in one of the most beautiful cities in America, Glendale, now practically a suburb of Los Angeles.

"The writer finds it difficult to 'suck to his task' 'Wisconsin Picnic' for in the attempt to describe it—old friends and old scenes come as a panorama to dazzle the mind and to thrill the heart. Just a word further about the picnic, then the end of an article already too long. The failure of several from near Campbellsport to attend was the inclement weather. They had planned to go, but did not want to take the risk of an out-of-doors picnic in the rain. However, the rain failed, but if the truth must be told a few flakes of snow fell, but was unnoted except by a close observation. Snow down here in the valley is very unusual and unknown for years at a time. However, if a company of several thousands old Wisconsin people would not provoke a snow storm in southern California on the occasion of a big rally, then look back to the old home state for what happened here in February. Just today down here in the valley, the sun is bright and shining while in the distance the mountains are covered with a blanket of white, which means water in abundance during summer.

"The Almighty gave to California climate and sunshine—man stored up the water in the winter—pouring it out on the land when needed, and made the desert a paradise. More later, perhaps."

HIGHWAY 55 JOB WILL BE LET MARCH 6

Lettings on the Eden-Waucousta stretch of ten miles of concrete construction work on State Trunk Highway 55 will be made on March 6, it was announced at the County Highway commission office on Tuesday.

This is the biggest job in the entire 1923 program of forty-two miles of concrete highway construction work. Judging from the interest displayed by contractors in the county work already opened to bidders, there will be a large number submitting estimates for the Eden-Waucousta job.

With the letting of this ten miles of road work, thirty-four miles will be under contract for completion before Sept. 15. Lettings are being made earlier this year than formerly to enable contractors to get the earliest possible start on the work, and especially to make early haulings of material. Contract provisions in all the jobs call for a storage of cement in advance of the actual work so that delays in delivery will not hinder the work. The contractors must take the responsibility for the storage of concrete.—Fond du Lac Commonwealth.

INCOME TAX FACTS NO. 3.

The revenue act of 1921 provides that an income tax return shall be filed by every person, married or single whose gross income for the year 1922 was $5,000 or more. Broadly speaking, gross income includes all income received by the taxpayer during the year from salary or wages, or from "business, trade, profession or vocation", dealing in property, or the transaction of any business carried on for profit. Net income, upon which the tax is assessed, is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, taxes, contributions, etc.

Among the most important items in the returns of many taxpayers are the deductions for business expenses. In the case of a storekeeper, they include a reasonable allowance for salaries paid employees, amounts spent for advertising, premiums for insurance against fire or other business losses, the cost of water, light, heat and fuel used in his place of business, drayage and freight bills.

A professional man, doctor or lawyer, may claim as deductions the cost of supplies used in the practice of his profession, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, and the cost of fuel, light heat and water used in his office, and the hire of assistants.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting and marketing.

Leonard Day, hatless, coatless and peniless hiker of San Francisco, California, who arrived here last week Monday, on his journey around the rim of the United States, a distance of 10,585 miles, left here last Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, after having been held here almost a week, due to bad roads and inclement weather conditions. Mr. Day arrived at Campbellsport Saturday evening, where he was a guest of the fire department of that village, and where he was held over until Monday morning, when he proceeded on his way to Eden, arriving there at noon. He left Eden on Tuesday morning for Fond du Lac, where he is a guest of the fire department. Upon leaving Kewaskum, Mr. Day said he would be frank and free to state that Kewaskum ranked 1000 per cent in the hospitality shown him. For a village of its size it ranks first of any he had so far visited on his journey. "I have still over 3,000 miles to travel and I am sure I will not meet with similar hospitality on the remainder of my trip," he said. "When I arrive at San Francisco, my starting point, you will again hear from me."

PRINCESS MAFALDA

Recent portrait of the beautiful Princess Mafalda, second daughter of the king and queen of Italy. It is reported in Roman court circles that Princess Mafalda will marry Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and that the engagement will be announced immediately after the wedding of her older sister, Princess Yolanda, to Count Calvi di Bergolo.

DEBT BILL IS PASSED

Senators Vote 70 to 13 for Re-funding Plan.

Two Amendments Are Added and Accepted by the Proponents of the Plan.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The agreement fixing interest rates and terms for funding the debt of $4,600,000,000 loaned by the United States to Great Britain was approved by the senate Friday night.

The vote, which ended the senate battle between an overwhelming majority and an aggressive minority made up of antagonists of all things British, was decisive and free from party bias. It approximated odds of more than five to one.

Seventy Republican and Democratic senators voted to confirm to contract voted by American and British debt funding commissions, and in support. Of the senators who voted to ratify the agreement 46 were Republicans and 24 Democrats. Four of the thirteen senators who registered their disapproval of the contract were Republicans and nine were Democrats.

Two changes were made in the text of the bill as it passed the house. Both were accepted by Senator Stacey, a member of the debt funding commission, and the proponents of the measure on both sides.

One amendment which the leaders of the house declare to be satisfactory requires the approval of congress in all subsequent agreements referring to the funding of the debt of other foreign countries to the United States. The second amendment increases the number of commissioners to represent this government in future transactions from five to eight and stipulates that three of them shall be members of the minority party.

URGES U. S. TO CURB FRANCE

Lloyd George Says Hand of America Is Needed in Ruhr to Check Folly.

London, Feb. 20.—Former Premier Lloyd George made a plea in the house of commons for action to induce the United States to participate in mediation in the Ruhr dispute.

"Get America in at all costs to help save France from the consequences of her folly," he said. "If America will not come in by invitation from the league, all right. Get her in without the league if you can, but get her in with or without the league. The French government is committing France day by day to a policy of irretrievable disaster."

WILL IMPRISON DE VALERA

Republican Leader Refuses Olive Branch Extended by the Free State Government.

Dublin, Feb. 20.—Eamon De Valera, having refused the olive branch extended by the Free State government, is now to be given a taste of the sword, it is said. Mr. De Valera, who has been waging a campaign of relentless warfare against the constituted government of Eire, is to be ferociously out of his hiding place and imprisoned.

Free State officials, it is said, know where the rebel chief is hiding, but have refrained from taking him into custody until the period of amnesty expired. This period is now at an end.

Child Labor Amendment Favored

Washington, Feb. 20.—The senate judiciary committee ordered a favorable report on a resolution providing that the McCord child-labor constitutional amendment be submitted to the states.

Conferees on Prison-Made Goods

Washington, Feb. 20.—The national committee on prisons and prison labor will confer here March 22 to 24. Aolph Lewiston, president, said plans would be made for more organized distribution of prison products.

Lake Ships Battle Ice

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 19.—The Crossier steamer Georgia and the Goodrich steamer Alabama arrived here after battling with the ice fields of Lake Michigan. Most of the passengers previously had left the ships.

West Virginia Miners Lost Suit

Charleston, W. Va., Feb. 19.—Federal Judge McClintic dismissed the United Mine Workers' petition for an injunction to restrain Sheriff Clifton of Logan county and other officials from interfering with union organizers.

With the Wisconsin Legislature

Madison, Wis.—That there can be no dispute as to what bills are favored by the laboring interests of the state, a list of the approved measures has been announced by the State Federation of Labor, which held its meeting here recently.

Among the railroad employe bills approved are: Limiting the length of a train to one-half mile; requiring a vestibular cab on engines; a full crew bill which requires that engines going over main lines have an engineer, fireman and conductor.

Regulation in Hotels

The organization has endorsed the bill to bring employes of hotels under the state industrial commission; a bill for the licensing of painters, electricians and steamfitters; a measure repealing all laws relating to piecemeal picketing and a bill for the distribution of milk by municipalities.

Many of these measures have been offered at previous sessions of the legislature and have been defeated by close votes. There will be a record vote taken of every labor bill that comes up for action before the legislature, according to the announcement of convention officials.

Full endorsement is given to the Quick Bill for the regulation of private detective agencies. Another bill which is strongly urged by the laboring interests is a measure which requires a jury trial in all labor injunction cases.

For Short Hours for Women

An effort is being made to reduce the hours of women in shops and factories by labor provides for a 44-hour week and not to exceed eight hours in a single day. The present law allows a ten hour day, but not exceeding 55 hours a week.

Unanimous support is given to the Sweenson bill for the repeal of the secrecy clause to the state income tax law. The organization recommends that all printing be done in shops where the eight hour day is the rule. It is understood that a letter was received from the Homestead company of Des Moines, Ia., where a large part of the printing is now done, declining that the shop in which the printing is done is organized and an eight hour day is in force. There are a number of other plants in the state, where state printing is done, and this bill is aimed to place them in conformity.

Want Five-Sixth Verdicts

General approval was given to the Warden bill providing that a five-sixth jury can bring in a verdict in civil cases. This bill has already passed the house and is now pending in the senate. At the last election a constitutional amendment was adopted making the Warden bill possible.

The organization favors the measure which requires the removal of all material before painting, where there has been an infectious or contagious disease. The Huber bill, which provides for unemployment insurance, is also approved by the organization. The Huber bill is the subject of a public hearing in the assembly.

Assembly Hits Dog Tax Law

The assembly voted 60 to 23 to repeal the state dog tax law which for four years has been a center of legislative controversy.

In this action the lower house reversed the committee report and sent the bill, introduced by James Goodman, Lafayette county, to congressmen.

Ferries Generally Favor Repeal

The law which imposes a $1 fine on all male dogs in the state and a $2 fine on female dogs.

O. K. on Wide Sleights

The "wide sleight bill" that has been killed regularly in past sessions of the legislature, emerged victorious from under a barrage of oratory when the assembly voted, 46 to 21, to disregard the committee's recommendation of indefinite postponement and sent it out for enactment.

Assemblyman Charles H. Liehe, Chippewa Falls, led the fight for the bill on the floor.

Of the 14 bills on the calendar for enactment the assembly followed the recommendations of the committee on all but the dog tax law and the wide sleight bill.

The sleight bill would compel the use of sleights 4 feet 6 inches wide between the runners, after Jan. 1, 1924.

Exemption of property and buildings owned by American Legion posts in the state, asked for in a bill by Assemblyman Charles Perry, Milwaukee, was recommended for passage by the committee on taxation.

A memorial to congress urging immediate action to make possible the early completion of the Great Lakes St. Lawrence waterway project, was introduced in the legislature by Senator O. H. Johnson, Gratiot. The memorial states that since the prosperity of middle western states is dependent upon lower rates of transportation on agricultural and manufactured products to markets in eastern states and foreign countries the waterway should be provided as a means of bringing these reduced hauling charges.

SESSION SIDELIGHTS

By a 6 to 1 vote the labor committee of the assembly reported for passage the Tucker bill establishing a basic eight-hour day in Wisconsin industry. Passage of this measure would make it a misdemeanor for any employer to work his men more than eight hours in any one day unless extra pay were given for overtime.

A new measure by Assemblyman Minor would create a board to examine chiropractors.

Nearly 1,100 Bills Introduced.

Between 1,000 and 1,100 bills were introduced at the present session of the legislature, approximately one hundred and fifty more than at the session two years ago.

This is the estimate made by the legislative reference library, which prepares and numbers all bills. The time for introducing bills through regular channels closed at midnight, Feb. 14.

Several hundred bills were introduced by title during the closing hours by lawmakers who rushed to "get under the wire". The contents of these measures will not be known for several days. Bills to be introduced now must come into the senate or assembly with the unanimous consent of a committee.

Taxation, highways, education and prohibition are the four principal problems, the solution of which will be undertaken by the legislators. The varying opinions held on each of these subjects by divergent groups, within the legislature, indicate that hard fought battles are ahead, with but slight hope for a short session.

A new tax bill came into the legislature at the last minute, introduced by Assemblyman Robert Caldwell, Lodi. He proposes to increase in present income tax rates, but repeals the personal property offset, raises exemptions on children, and repeals the special state mill taxes.

This, together with an almost unprecedented number of tax proposals, from a surtax on tax values to a gasoline tax, means that long drawn-out floor battles are in prospect, with the outcome in doubt. The variety of important problems before the legislature, scarcely ever before equaled in number or importance, means long consideration and a long session.

Approve Bill to Kill Guard

By a vote of 8 to 2, the state affairs committee of the assembly recommended for passage the Polakowski bill calling for the abolition of the Wisconsin National guard.

The committee voted on the issue after a two hour hearing, during which War Mothers, former service men and plain citizens were heard. Peculiarly only one person, a Madison woman appeared to defend the militia.

The Polakowski bill has a good chance of passing the lower house, but it is almost certain to be killed in the senate. If it should chance to pass Gov. Blaine, it is believed, would veto it.

The measure is the most sweeping ever introduced in any state legislature. At one stroke it would wipe out all militarism in this state. The Wisconsin National guard comprises normally about 10,000 men. Approximately $600,000 annually for the next two years is being requested of the legislature for its support.

For Public Grain Warehouses

A bill that would permit grain elevators or warehouses anywhere in the state, except in cities of the first class, to become public warehouses upon request to the grain and warehouse commission was introduced in the legislature by Assemblyman L. H. Allen, Superior. At present the only public grain warehouses are at Superior.

The bill also would increase the salaries of the three members of the commission from $2,000 yearly to $3,000 and increase the limit of the commission's general fund from $25,000 to $50,000. Further amendments would repeal the fixing of fees by the commission for weighing and inspecting grain and accept as the commission's grades, weights and measures any that may be established by the secretary of agriculture of the United States.

Surtax on Land Value

A surtax on land valued at more than $10,000, estimated to raise $1,000,000 and to introduce a new method of taxation in Wisconsin, was introduced by Assemblyman Carl Grimstad, Dane county. The measure is sponsored by the state department of markets.

A 1 per cent tax on all holdings of more than $10,000 is provided. Soil fertility and all improvements are exempt. Edward Nordman, commissioner of markets, says: "It is the most important suggestion so far toward the solution of the marketing problem. It constitutes an entering wedge to a policy that looks toward a fundamental solution of the marketing question."

The regulation and licensing of boats in Wisconsin was asked for in a bill introduced in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature by Assemblyman W. Grant Nelson, Racine. All boats using the waters of the state would have to be licensed and abide by certain regulations. If the bill passes, rules providing for a life belt for each occupant of a boat and other safety measures are included in the bill.

Assemblyman Nowcomb Spoor introduced a bill to repeal the eugenics law which has been on the statute books ten years. Spoor has denounced the law as a fake. The senate postponed action on Senator Barber's bill to extend the eugenics statute to women.

Gov. Blaine has signed a bill giving cities of the third class the authority to bank up rivers flowing through them, in order to turn them into their regular channel and to protect the health of their citizens. The measure refers particularly to La Crosse.

Indefinite postponement was recommended for the Titus bill calling for representatives of labor and farmers on the board of university and of normal school regents. The vote was 3 to 1.

Under a bill by Senator Howard Teasdale, citizens who assist officials in convicting violators of prohibition would receive 10 per cent of the fine in each case, with the provision that the amount shall not exceed $25. Teasdale believes a bonus of this kind will interest the public in law enforcement.

Senator Bernard Gettelman introduced a bill to strike out of the present law the provision licensing physicians for writing liquor prescriptions.

WISCONSIN NEWS

Important Events of the Week Around the Badger State.

Blanchard—W. E. Barber, commissioner of the state conservation commission, has announced that a concentrated effort by certain persons living in northern Wisconsin counties to fraudulently secure wolf bounties from the different counties is being brought in from other states is being made. The commission is endeavoring to break up this effort to save the state from heavy expenses. That wolf scalps have been sent into this state from Montana so that bounties can be obtained has been discovered by the Wisconsin conservation commission. Town chairmen and other officials have been asked to aid in stopping this unlawful procedure.

Madison—Sol Levitan, state treasurer, can sign his thousands of checks with a rubber stamp, if he so desires, R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, advised him. He said the supreme court had held that rubber stamp signatures were in writing, and consequently legal. "In case losses should arise, however, through carelessness in permitting the rubber stamp to become accessible to unauthorized persons or through use of forged stamps, a liability might arise upon your bond as state treasurer," Mr. Hoyt held. "That is a matter of policy for the treasurer to decide."

Tomah—With a girl for captain, the Tomah Jersey Club of 1922 won ninety ribbons and $900 in prize money—a record accomplishment. Miss Ada Wyatt, daughter of Ernest E. Wyatt, veteran stockman, has run the demonstration teams with discretion and ability. The team composed of Miss Wyatt, John Hill and Arthur Wallace showed from one to twenty-five calves at the following places: Milwaukee, Chippewa Falls, La Crosse, St. Paul, Madison, Marshfield, Sparta, Tomah and Virgo.

Madison—Delinquent taxes returned unpaid last year to county treasurers amounted to $4,838,022, the tax commission reported to the legislature. This is 4 1/2 per cent of the general property levy of the state. Real estate accounted for $1,222,575 of this total amount of unpaid revenue, while personal property was responsible for $3,615,447 of the amount. The largest delinquent tax roll was in Milwaukee, where $642,600 went unpaid.

Kenosha—The pride of Kenosha boyville is William Marshall, who recently received a gold medal awarded by the national Boy Scout organization for saving the life of former Adm. Dan O. Cox, Marshall, on Nov. 29, 1921, found Cox almost asphyxiated in a gas filled room. He dragged the man into the air and by first aid methods kept him alive until medical aid reached the scene.

Rhineland—Samuel G. Perinier, 57, mayor of Rhineland, was found dead in bed by members of his household. Death was due to heart failure, and physicians stated he had probably been dead an hour when found. Perinier, who was serving his second term as mayor, was a prominent Socialist and one of the few Socialists ever elected mayor of a Wisconsin city.

Hurley—A petition signed by one hundred thirty-five residents of Hurley was presented to the city council asking that the city provide a camping site for tourists. It is proposed to use a beautiful tract of five acres on Lake Lavinia for this purpose. A committee of three aldermen has been appointed to take the proposition before the Iron county board.

Randolph—Albert R. Hollnagel, Randolph, considers himself lucky. One of his pure bred Holstein cows, which recently made a record of 26.2 pounds of butter fat in a seven-day test, has just given birth to healthy triplet heifer calves. Female stock from cows of such caliber is in good demand.

Kenosha—The three ball sign is to return to Kenosha after an absence of more than ten years. Upon the petition of James W. Rose, the city council has lifted the ban on pawnshops, reducing the permit fee from $500 to $100.

Rice Lake—Mary Alice Stout, daughter of Clarence Stout of Rice Lake, is probably the youngest member of the American Legion auxiliary in Wisconsin. The young lady was born on Jan. 15, and was placed in the membership roll three days later.

Madison—Fire destroyed the Gisholt home on the aged, six miles north of Madison, with a loss of $25,000. The Madison fire department was unable to reach the blaze until it had practically destroyed the building and forced a number of families out into the cold.

Rhineland—A son that weighed twenty pounds and had two teeth was born to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Seaman of Rhineland. The child lived only a few hours.

Mondovi—An eagle that measured seven feet from tip to tip was caught, injured, in a trap near Mondovi, injured, in a trap near Mondovi, Chippewa Falls. It is several years since a live eagle was captured in this region.

Racine—Net profits of $84,489.23 were made by the Racine Water company in 1922, according to a detailed report filed by auditors who went over the books of the plant, owned and operated by the city.

Eau Claire—Of the 5,000 dwelling houses in the city of Eau Claire, $857 are connected to and served by the city water works department, records at the city hall show, which, according to officials, means that practically every house within the piped area of the city is served by the city. Eau Claire's corporate limits embrace an unusually large area—16 square miles—and there are many houses on the outskirts which are not yet within reach of the water main extensions. Eau Claire's water rates are the lowest of any in the state, whether the plants are privately or municipally owned. The city acquired the water works plant in 1909.

Milton Junction—Land values in Rock county have increased $75 an acre since 1917, according to statistics compiled by T. A. Polleys, tax commissioner of the Chicago & North-western railroad. Rock county land was worth $201.25 an acre last year as compared with $105.50 in 1912, and $126 in 1917, Mr. Polleys says. In the distribution of taxes Rock county lands pay 22.43 cents per acre for state taxes, 38.83 cents for county taxes, 45.63 cents for township taxes, and 56.13 cents for district schools. The average rate of increase for total taxes in the county since 1916 is 18.03 per cent.

Madison—A "society for the welfare of male students" is being organized among men at the University of Wisconsin, pledged against marrying college women, it was learned at Madison. Those rushing the society refuse to permit their names to be used. The new organization in addition plans to head off the growing influence of women in university affairs and to put a curb on expensive social functions which the assert the coeds are fostering. Primarily, it is explained, the society wants to influence men against marrying college women, who, they say, are unit to be home builders after their university experience.

Platteville—There are five hundred fifteen students at the Platteville Normal and many applications are on file asking for admission to the school. President Royce says it is not a matter of more room but the necessity does exist for more instructors and these are to be supplied shortly. Incidentally the president observes that the attendance will continue high as there are more applicants than can well be taken care of. One teacher has sixty pupils in a single class and only a small part can be heard in class recitation.

Oconomowoc—Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Atkins, age 70 years, perished in a fire which started from an overheated stove in their cabin at Siding No. 1 near Monticello, Oconomowoc county. A married daughter, Mrs. John Radcliffe, and son, who had been making their home with the aged parents, barely escaped with their lives, making their escape through a rear window. The son was so badly burned that his recovery is doubtful. The home and all contents were completely destroyed.

Madison—Among the representative men and women at the University of Wisconsin whose pictures will appear in the "aces" section of the 1924 Badger annual, are sixty-six from Wisconsin cities. They were chosen from the senior, junior and sophomore classes, on the basis of service to the class and university, character, and scholastic standing, according to Gamber P. Tegtmeyer, Milwaukee, editor of this year's annual.

Merrill—At the annual business meeting of the Osgema district of the Swedish conference of the Swedish Lutheran church at Merrill, the following were elected for the year: 1923, President, Rev. A. Julius Johnson of Unity, to succeed the Rev. Fred G. Olsen of Wisconsin Rapids; vice-president, Rev. N. Oscar Montan of Ironwood, Mich.; secretary, Rev. C. A. Bonander of Bessemer, to succeed the Rev. N. Oscar Montan.

Hurley—The competition among the moonshine makers in the northern part of the state is becoming so severe and the price of the finished product is getting so low, that the only way still owners can make money is by quantity production. As evidence of this, Sheriff Joseph Volant, Iron county, found two large stills operating at full blast in the home of Barto Martul, who lives just outside of Hurley.

Fond du Lac—Three days before he died, John Haenssen, Calvary farmer, Fond du Lac county, sold his farm to Matt Rieder for the sum of $30,000. Mr. Haenssen had been ill for six months. He was 49. His family will live in Fond du Lac.

THE FOURTEEN POINTS

From the Bureau of Standards' bulletin on "Safety for the Household" we quote the fourteen points of home safety:

2. Avoid throwing lighted cigars, cigarettes and matches into waste paper baskets or among other combustible materials.
3. Know how to get out of every building you enter. This precaution may save panic and confusion in case of fire.
4. Avoid filling lighted lamps. Avoid the use of kerosene to light fires.
5. Provide metal ash receptacles. Provide a separate can for rubbish—never mix the two.
6. Avoid toy candles. Each year Christmas tree fires produce a sad ending for an otherwise joyful season.
7. Keep greasy and oily rags in tightly closed metal cans or boxes provided for that purpose.
8. Avoid hanging lace curtains or other draperies near gas jets or other open flames. The draft from windows may cause fires, quick to spread and difficult to extinguish.
9. Use gasoline, naphtha and benzene for cleaning outdoors in day time only. These liquids quickly evaporate and form highly explosive gases.
10. Place substantial metal guards in front of all woodwork about sources of heat. The open flames of gas, kerosene, alcohol and gasoline stoves should be particularly shielded.
11. Keep open flames away from gas leaks. Explosive mixtures of gas and air are quickly formed, and they only need a lighted match or taper to cause disastrous results.
12. Permit only experienced persons to install or repair electrical fittings and appliances. (The Wisconsin State Electrical Code gives definite rules for wiring, which if observed will prevent electrical fires.)
13. Turn the current off after using an electric pressing iron. Avoid leaving portable electric heating devices unattended.
14. Avoid placing articles made of celluloid, pyraline, xylonite, fiberoid, viscoloid, and similar materials, such as collars, combs, toys and toilet articles, upon or near sources of heat, as they are very likely to cause fires. Great caution should also be exercised where articles made of such materials are worn upon the person.

If you have something to sell that is really worth while, advertising will eventually create a demand for that article. It took McCormick Harvester company almost a dozen years to get rid of the first binder—they only sold two more the next year—and now they can hardly keep the supply up to the demand. But you bet they haven't quit advertising altogether.

There is more difference between a house organ and a hand organ than there is between the operator of a hand organ, and the owner of the operator—but they are all out for the same cause.

The professional man who does not believe it pays to advertise has to be a lot of confidence. He's like the man who at the time of the flood, was in water that reached to his neck, and he asked Noah for permission to ride the ark. Of course Noah was to ride the ark, and was forced to refuse.

PLYMOUTH SELF-FEED ENSILAGE CUTTERS.

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter:

Automatic Self-Feed—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

Danger-Proof Self-Feed Rollers—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8-inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic, and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

FORD FIRST TO KEWASKUM

A Ford touring car owned by "Happy" McDonald was the first car to make the trip to Kewaskum since last week's heavy snow storm. The car, loaded with six, the owner, Alvin Haug, Ollie Loehen, Oscar Schoenhauer, all employees of the West Bend Motor Co. made the trip up Highway 15 to the concrete bridge in the town of Barton and then the boys followed the Milwaukee river to within a short distance of Kewaskum. WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonials about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four. My washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N. Y.

Free upon Request Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Allments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free, upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information that every woman should have.

Piles are usually due to straining when constipated. Nujol being a lubricant keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them. Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

WAYS WITH EGGS

Eggs, when plentiful, can be used as main dish, taking the place of meat. Savory Omelet.—Separate the yolks and whites of six eggs; beat the yolks with one-quarter of a cupful of cold water; add salt, pepper, chopped onion, chives or scallion tops; add the yolks to the stiffly-beaten whites and stir lightly until well-mixed. Pour into a hot omelet pan in which a tablespoonful or two of oil or butter has been heated; cook over a slow fire until the bottom is set; stir and lift the edges while cooking, so that the omelet will be evenly cooked. Set into a hot oven to cook the top; fold and serve, after spreading with a cupful of any preferred kind of creamed vegetable.

Valenciennes Eggs.—Put one cupful of strained tomato into a saucepan; when hot add four tablespoonfuls of cheese and one cupful of bottled rice; stir until well blended and hot, then add salt, pepper and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg. Brush an earthenware dish with a little melted butter and make a border of rice, using one cupful, then a border of the tomato and cheese. Into the center drop four eggs. Season, sprinkle with minced parsley and cook for four or five minutes in a hot oven.

Eggs in Bread Cases.—Cut slices of bread two and one-half to three inches thick, then cut the slices into rounds. With a small cutter cut out the center, scooping out a hollow to hold an egg. Brush the cases with butter on the inside and outside; break an egg in each; sprinkle with seasoning and set into a hot oven to brown the bread and cook the egg. Serve garnished with a spray of parsley and curled bacon.

Rice and Baked Eggs.—Arrange a platter of boiled rice, making depressions with the back of a spoon for each egg to be served. The rice should be well seasoned. Break an egg into each cavity, sprinkle with seasonings and set into the oven to bake long enough to set the egg. The platter may be placed in a dripping pan containing hot water to keep it from glazing.

Let's resolve: "To see the big things and forget the little nagging ones that fret—" "The tiny things, which add up—Can fill with bitterness life's cup."

WAYS WITH RABBIT

Escotier, the famous chef, says the lack of enthusiasm about cooking rabbits is prejudice, which he ascribes to a lack of knowledge of how to cook them. However, it is neither prejudice nor lack of knowledge which troubles the most of us; it is the lack of rabbit. First catch your hare, then try the following, which the above chef recommends:

Rabbit Sauté With Mushrooms.—Skin a young rabbit carefully, clean and cut in pieces. Put the liver inside and add the rabbit to hot fat in a frying pan; season with salt and pepper as soon as it is well seasoned; add one onion, chopped fine, a small clove of garlic, also chopped, a dozen peeled mushrooms, three tomatoes, peeled and chopped, and a good pinch of finely-chopped parsley, with a quarter of a cupful of sour fruit juice (white wine is asked for, but the fruit juice makes a good substitute). Cover the saucepan and finish cooking over a moderate fire. If the rabbit is young 20 minutes will be sufficient time for the cooking.

Broiled Rabbit.—For this dish the neck, breast and shoulders are not used. Break the bones in the fat part of the legs, salt and brush with butter, then broil. Cook about twenty minutes; sprinkle with toasted bread crumbs, moisten with butter and serve surrounded by broiled bacon. Serve with a piquante sauce. A little mayonnaise dressing, to which sour, chopped pickle and a few olives have been added, is good.

Pilaf of Rabbit.—Prepare the rabbit and cut it into serving-sized pieces. Into a saucepan place four tablespoonfuls of lard or butter; add the rabbit and, when slightly brown, season with salt, pepper and a medium-sized onion, finely chopped. Allow to cook ten minutes, then add six tablespoonfuls clear consommé. Add one and one-half pints of boiling water and reduce by boiling. Cover the pan and cook over a slow fire for 20 minutes.

Curry of Rabbit.—Cut up the rabbit and cook in heated fat, seasoning well when the meat is slightly cooked; add two medium-sized onions, chopped, and two teaspoonfuls of curry powder; cook 15 minutes. Moisture with boiling water to cover the saucepan and cook 25 minutes. Serve with a dish of hot rice.

Fascinating Knitted Frocks; Spring Styles in Dresses

EXQUISITE design, distinctive originality, fascinating color, inter-related through master genius in knitted art, is winning the applause of the fashion world. Style distinction is especially apparent in the wondrously knitted frocks which are proving such a tremendous factor in the costume program outlined for this spring and summer. For those of us who are looking for attire tuned to any climate, time or occasion, the smartest sort of conservative models are at command, and for prices which are surprisingly reasonable. In the matter of selection it is well to be fortified with a knowledge of ultra-smart style tendencies. Chief among these is the idea of introducing two or more colors into knitted dress designs. Checkered and plaid patterns are greatly favored. There is assured style distinction in the solid-colored knitted fiber silk frocks with simple line check contrasted or with the irregular jacquard patterned motifs worked out in several tones.

Models Show High Style Points.

Another interesting effect is the knitted wool frock boned with fibre silk, in a contrasting color. Tempting color combinations include brown with buff, gray with orange or sand, almond green with cocoa shade, and the new cork color with French blue. In fact, to desire is to obtain, for there is no end to the lovely and novel ideas available.

The accompanying illustrations tell in part the story of knitted art in costuming. The effectiveness of embroidery is apparent in the handsome model to the left, which is a tan molair knitted frock embellished with stitching done in brosse silk.

Style details abound in the other knitted frock. It is knitted of caramel-colored wool, with radio blue silk horizontal stripes on the skirt. Two streamers of the radio blue at each side, lend grace to the contour.

Real Lace Evident. Real lace in ecru and white is increasingly evident in the spring dresses. Wide collars and cuffs insert in the blouse semi-bishop sleeves and even fabric efforts have been quite consistently developed in the tuffeta and flat crope frocks.

Spanish Shawls. One sees Spanish shawls used for evening wraps, negligees and even draped into very attractive evening gowns.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

SERGEANT STARLING SPEAKS

"Now Starling Sisters and Brothers and Cousins, listen to what I have to say," said Sergeant Starling. "General Sparrow told his family the other day to be sure that they didn't let us get ahead of them. They want to be the worst fighters and the worst birds. But, all they're going to be second worst for all of that. We will get the better of them. In the long run we always have."

Sergeant Starling closed his long yellow bill, gave a funny jerk to his short tail and raised his long black and green wings. "We're better looking than they are," he continued. "We have purple and green in our glossy black feathers, and our ladies wear white spots as their own fashion. And we're a good deal larger than they are. We, too, will eat anything, we will stand any climate. Little starlings pop out of the eggs in sixes and sevens every four or five months. That is splendid, for it means that so many little starlings are constantly coming into the world."

"Some people say they cannot make up their minds whether we do more harm than good. And when I say 'some people' I mean people who make a study of birds. "There are people who make a study of birds, who talk about birds and lecture about birds, and who know all we do. They watch us and find us interesting."

"I don't blame them in the least. I should think people would like to study birds, and how we nest and how

"Along Rushed Fire Chief Starling."

We act and what we eat and how we chirp or sing and what we do in the winter time.

"There are so many different kinds of birds and we do such different things. "It is as interesting in the bird family as it is among people. There are lots of different sorts who do different things in different ways."

"As I've said, these people who know all about birds haven't made up their minds whether we're of more use to them or of more harm to them—in the work we do I mean. I suppose they will decide it for themselves one of these days."

"But in the meantime we've plenty to do in seeing that we run matters in our own way. A great help to us is the fact that there are so many of us."

"With all the little starlings coming out of the eggs we train them to be good starling children and there are huge colonies of starlings almost everywhere now."

"Just think! Six little starlings at a time and, too, the mother starlings watch over three broods a year—or at the least two."

"People have not decided whether they like us or not as I've told you. But no matter, we're a clever lot. We can whistle so that we sound like people and they'll turn around to see who was whistling. How that does make us laugh! And then we gurgle and they wonder what sort of a sound that is. We warble, too. We're smart."

Sergeant Starling raised his head high. "So with our cleverness and our fine powers of winning any good scrap if we're given a long enough time—we will win over the sparrows. And if we're not given a long enough time, we can always take a long enough time."

As the Sergeant was talking along rushed Fire Chief Starling. He had been so named because he had always said that should there be a fire he would remember that he was the chief one to be saved.

"Starlings," he cried, "the sparrows who built their nest under one of the eaves of a house, had an accident to their nest. They had all left the nest some time before but it had become very dry and a spark from a bonfire below went up and caught fire and almost made a big fire in the people's house."

"Gracious!" said Sergeant Starling, "you bring important news, Fire Chief. We must build a nest under some eaves and then leave it to dry so it may some day help start a fire."

"Let us not allow the Sparrows to get ahead of us," the Starlings all shouted. "Let us take from them their right to boast of being the worst. The second worst for them!"

Sky Lying on Ground. One "foxy" young little Edgar looked out of the window and exclaimed, "Oh, look, mamma, the sky is lying on the ground!"

Had Wrong Idea of Status. The bronze equestrian statue of Marcus Aurelius in the capitol plaza at Rome was preserved by the early popes under the impression that it was a statue of the Emperor Constantine, the first Christian emperor.

Davenport, Iowa—"I wish I could tell to all the world how much I owe to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I was nearing middle life when my miserly child came and my health was miserable. I had continuous pain in my right side. I took some bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and can truly say that I suffered the least that time and my health afterwards was better than it had ever been before. While passing through the critical time of life I depended solely upon 'Favorite Prescription' to keep me well and strong and it did not fail me. I had none of the distressing symptoms most women have at this period, such as heat flashes and dizzy spells. I came through in excellent health and am still just as strong and well as I was thirty years ago, thanks to this best of medicines, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Alice Van Arman, 1745 W. SECRETS OF HEALTH

Headaches are in the majority of cases, caused from Eye Strain. Normal eyes use 15 per cent of the vital energy generated by the human system—Strained eyes must use more. Daily they rob some other vital organ of its share—but not without protest—for headaches and "symptoms" are but nature's warning of abuse. LOOK WELL TO YOUR EYES.

Local Farmer's Opinion of Our Classified Ad Column Results

This week a well known and progressive farmer of the town of Kewaskum dropped into the office and frankly told us of the wonderful results and drawing power of our want ads. We pass it on to other progressive farmers of this community with the hope that they will take advantage of the opportunity to place their products before the people through an agency that seldom fails, the KEWASKUM STATESMAN.

The farmer in question states that he invested $4 or $5 for advertising in one of the leading farm journals of the country, and so far has not received one single reply. Whereupon he spent $1.75 for advertising in the Classified Column of the STATESMAN and sold out his entire supply of grain, young bulls and over 1200 baby chicks. Is this not enough guarantee that a small ad in your local paper brings greater results than a page ad in one of the metropolitan papers.

Through long experience we know that judicious advertising in this paper brings the best of results, as is shown nearly every week by some one who comes in and tells us about it, and are not ashamed to do so neither. Forget that idea that it costs too much to advertise. If you could dispose of something you did not want at a profit of about 100 to 200%, would you think a few cents in advertising was too much? Think it over.
