VOTE FOR FOREST AMENDMENT

Political parties may differ in other details, but when it comes to a forest policy for Wisconsin they seem to be in accord. At any rate, the party platform conventions recently held at Madison all contained a plank advocating a forest policy for the state. The significance of these declarations this year is pronounced, for at the spur, develop and preserve the forest amendment to the state constitution will be submitted to the voters. The Republicans declared for a "sound and comprehensive policy of reforestation." The Democrats said they wanted a "plan of forest development scientifically administered," while the socialists approved the proposed forest amendment directly. This amendment would authorize the state to "acquire, develop and preserve the forest of Wisconsin." It is evident that no reforestation policy can ever be adopted or developed without the approval of this amendment. It is strictly an enabling act. Not a single dollar is appropriated, but the details of the policy, subsequently to be adopted, will have to be approved by the legislature.

The way it comes about is this. The state constitution prohibits all works of internal improvement. Direct state activity in the acquiring, preserving and developing of the forest resources of Wisconsin has been declared by the Supreme Court. The only way the state may assist in restoring the forests of the state is to remove this constitutional restriction by amendment. The proposed amendment therefore furnishes the legal basis and authority for direct state action in forest restoration with subsequent legislative approval.

PIEK BULL MADE GRAND CHAMPION AT THE NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

As a fitting climax for a successful show year, Johanna Rag Apple Pabst, a 3-year-old pure bred Holstein bull bred by Philip Linker, Hartford, and owned and exhibited by J. E. Piek, Hartford was declared Grand Champion Holstein Bull at the National Dairy Show. This honor, the highest that any judge can confer on an animal rounded out one of the most successful show years any animal ever had.

Shown at the following list of fairs, Johanna Rag Apple Pabst was undefeated, at every fair he was made grand champion.

1. Wisconsin State Fair, 2. Walworth county fair, 3. Kankakee, Ill., fair, 4. Illinois State Fair, 5. World's Dairy Congress, Waterloo, Iowa, 6. National Dairy Show, Milwaukee.

The Washington County Holstein association also exhibited this famous bull, with the other 12 entries from the county that made this fair circuit, at our own Washington County fair. This surely was a drawing card for dairymen of the county.

KEWASKUM TO HAVE LARGE CANNERY

Work is now well under way for the erection of a large pea canning plant in Kewaskum next summer. All the preliminary steps have already been taken and articles of incorporation have been filed. The work of establishing a pea cannery was brought about by several of Kewaskum's prominent citizens and business men, who after making a thorough investigation found conditions very favorable for the erection of a large plant in this village. The corporation is headed by men of good sound business principles, through whose concerted action there remains no doubt that the new enterprise will be a thriving one and a credit to the village. The working capital of the corporation is $100,000, and the incorporators are: L. D. Guth, for many years income tax assessor of Washington and Ozaukee counties, Dr. E. L. Mergenroth, and Elynn Romaine, cashier of the Farmers & Merchants Bank of this village, A. L. Gardner of Jackson, who is superintendent of the Jackson cannery, and is therefore well acquainted with the business, and Herbert Holtz of Milwaukee. Work of constructing the plant will be started as soon as possible. The factory will be built on the L. D. Guth property, just east of the railroad tracks. We wish the new corporation an abundance of success.

COUNTY FAIR A HUMMER

The Washington County Fair held at West Bend this week, and which came to a close on Friday, proved to be the greatest exhibition ever held in the history of the association. The exhibits in every department were the largest and most interesting seen on the fair grounds in many years. The fair opened on Wednesday with the weather some what chilly, this however, did not interfere with the attendance, and a large crowd was present, not only on this day, but on every day of the fair. The race program entries were so large that many heats were required to run off the events. There were 90 entries booked for the races. The large race horse barn on the fair grounds was completely filled, and a number of the horses had to be quartered in the side stalls.

MILWAUKEE BOOSTERS HERE

The members of the Milwaukee Junior Association of Commerce, who were on their annual booster trip to various cities and villages in the state, arrived in this village at about 5:00 p. m. from Oshkosh, for a ten-minute stay. The motorcade consisted of about forty cars carrying about 100 Milwaukeeans. The boosters were received here by a committee headed by Village President D. M. Rosenheimer. The latter delivered a short address of welcome, in which he introduced several of the local businessmen and also made known to the visitors the different houses and factories in the village. Mr. Rosenheimer was loudly applauded by his listeners for the able manner he addressed his audience. From here the boosters left for West Bend, their next stop.

That the boosters were well satisfied with the reception received in this village, can readily be seen from the letter received from Slim Mac Cracken of the Milwaukee Sentinel, who was one of the boosters on the trip. The letter reads as follows:

"May I take this opportunity to thank you for the courtesies extended and for the wonderful welcome shown as while visitors in your city on the Third Annual Junior Association of Commerce booster tour last Saturday and Sunday.

"May I also offer at this time my cooperation that the greater Milwaukee Sentinel can give you at any time."

MEMORIAL

In remembrance of Chas. Krueger, who passed away one year ago October 6, 1923:

Today brings sad memories of a loved one gone to rest.

It's those who think of him today that always loved him best.

He is gone but not forgotten and his place can never be filled.

We shall keep his memory sacred until our heart in death is stilled.

Sadly missed by Mrs. Chas. Krueger, daughter and sons.

—Nic. Kohn of Fond du Lac called on relatives and friends in the village Friday.

YOUTH OWNS PAPER IN FAR ARCTIC REGIONS

Walter Marx, aged 17, son of Mrs. Ethel Marx of Seattle, Wash., formerly of New Fane, Fond du Lac Co., Wis., who is undoubtedly the youngest publisher, editor and printer in the northwest, is now operating a printing office in the Arctic region. Recently he left that place for Seattle, Wash., where he is learning the business more thoroughly. The Seattle Star, under date of Friday, Sept. 12, 1924, contains the following:

"America's most northern newspaper, the Teller Pioneer, has stopped publication, and its editorial staff, composing room force, pressroom gang, advertising and circulation organizations 'has' come down to Seattle to complete 'its' high school education.

"Incidentally Walter J. Marx, 17, who is it (or is it 'they'?) is seeing his first street cars, his first buildings more than four stories high, and his first big city newspaper plants. A lot of other things are new, too, the airplanes and automobiles are no new things to Publisher-Editor-Printer Marx.

It's his first trip 'outside' and he is staying with uncles here while completing his education which up to this month has been all by private instructors in the little trading village.

"Twenty years ago Ethel M. Marx went north with a sister in the famous 'gold rush' days. She married and now supports a daughter and Walter on the profits of one of Teller's two merchandise stores, of which she is a part owner.

"Four years ago, Walter was bitten by the 'newspaper bug.' Nome, not far away—as distances go in the Northland—had a newspaper and Walter obtained a little handpress and some type and started business. And the fact that the most of his 60 subscribers and his advertisers live in Nome is proof that he was a worthy competitor of the Nome paper.

"Walter plans to complete his education and then go back to the newspaper game as a profession. He is visiting his Seattle relatives this week preparatory to starting into his first public school.

"His uncles living here are Anton, Alex and Edwin Marx."

SCHAENZER-WIMMER WEDDING

On Wednesday, Oct. 8, 1924, at Wabeno, Wis. occurred the marriage of Miss Clara Schaezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schaezner, of that place to H. M. Wimmer, son of Mrs. Johanna Wimmer. Rev. A. Van Dyke, tied the nuptial knot. The couple were attended by Miss Frances Wimmer, as maid of honor and Gildard Schaezner best man and Aloysius and Neines Schaezner, as ushers. The home was decorated with American beauty roses and ferns. The bride was dressed in a white satin canton dress, with all over lace skirt, veil embroidered cap shape trailing veil, Cap trimmed with wax flowers and buds. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a silver canton dress, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents with about 75 guests in attendance. The newly weds left the same day for a wedding trip to St. Louis, Louisville, Cincinnati and Indianapolis. They will reside at Milwaukee where they will be at home after Nov. 1st, and where the groom is employed as civil engineer.

Those from afar who attended the wedding were: Mrs. Barbara Simon and daughters Rose and Julia and son Walter of Sawyer, Mrs. M. Wimmer and daughter Frances of Milwaukee, Miss Ida Fellenz and Ph. Broetzler of Kewaskum, Werner Schaezner of Milwaukee and L. Schaezner of Antigo.

STRUCK BY AUTO NEAR ST. LAWRENCE

Frank Baier, aged 55, a farmer living near St. Lawrence, was seriously injured Sunday evening a half mile south of St. Lawrence on Highway 15, when he was struck by an automobile, while he was on his way to attend church. Baier sustained a compound fracture of the skull and other severe injuries about his body. The driver of the automobile failed to stop after hitting the man. He was found by the industrial nurse at the Mayville Iron Works who brought him to the hospital at Hartford, where hopes for his recovery are doubtful. The injured man is a widower and lives on a farm with two grown children, John and Clara.

The driver of the car is not known. He did not stop to investigate the seriousness of the accident.

NO DETOUR ON HIGHWAY "55"

Through misinformation an article was printed in the Milwaukee Journal in the issue of October 2nd, by "Brownie", stated that the county line bridge on 55, between Kewaskum and Campbellsport, is being rebuilt, and that a detour is necessary. This report is without foundation. The contract as accepted by the Bergande Construction Company of Milwaukee, calls for a temporary replacement of the old iron bridge which was washed out by the August flood until the concrete bridge has been rebuilt, which will eliminate detours. The article in the Journal, however, was corrected in Tuesday's issue by "Brownie". The item as printed in the Journal is as follows:

"The county line bridge on 55, between Campbellsport and Kewaskum, after being constructed but two years, is being rebuilt with steel girders, and will be planked, instead of surfaced with concrete as originally planned. A detour is necessary for three miles northeast from Kewaskum and then one mile west, to 55, joining 55 at Ferber's Corners three miles southeast of Campbellsport."

The Bergande Construction Company started building a temporary bridge this week, as soon as this is done, work of tearing out the concrete bridge will be started, and the construction of a new one started.

The grading and graveling of County Trunk V, by the Wussow Construction Company of Milwaukee, is nearing completion. The work of building the new bridge near the Ferl. Schurr farm home, has been started and will be completed within a short time. The Whitewater Construction Company is doing the work.

FORMER WAYNE RESIDENT DIES AT CHICAGO

Jacob Becker of here, received the sad news last Friday of the death of his brother-in-law, John Thomas, which occurred at the latter's home in Chicago on Friday, October 3, 1924, after an illness of three months with hardening of the arteries. Deceased was born March 21, 1865, in the town of Wayne, Washington County, Wis., where he spent his boyhood days. In 1887 he left for Chicago, where he has since resided. On February 16, 1885, he was married to Miss Emma Becker of the town of Wayne, who together with the following children survive: Mrs. Rose Kocher and John Thomas Jr., of Chicago. Besides these he leaves to mourn his demise, 4 grand children; two sisters, Theresa (Mrs. Chas. Dregnitz) of Chicago, Julia Thomas, Austin, Ill.; and the following brothers and sister-in-laws: Fred Becker of Milwaukee, Jacob Becker of Kewaskum, Caroline (Mrs. John Brinkman) of Lomira, John Becker of Milwaukee, Mathilda (Mrs. Albert Loehr, ke) of Mayville, Henry Becker of Kohlsville, and Willie Becker of Milwaukee. Deceased was well and favorably known here and in the town of Wayne, where he was held in high esteem by all. His death came as a great shock to his many friends in this vicinity, who join in extending heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved relatives. The funeral was held Monday, Oct. 6, 1924 with services in Carbons Chapel, Chicago. Rev. Goebel officiated. Burial was made in Mount Hope cemetery, Chicago.

DEATH OF MARIA KELLING

On Wednesday, Oct. 8, 1924, at 3:15 p. m. occurred the death of Mrs. Maria S. Kelling (nee Freitag), at her home in the town of Mitchell, following an illness of four weeks, brought about by the infirmities of old age. Mrs. Kelling was born June 2, 1840 in Mecklenburg, Germany. In 1870, she immigrated to America and settled in the town of Wayne, Washington County, Wis., coming to her present home in the town of Mitchell the same year. In 1871 she was married to Joachim Kelling, who preceded her in death on March 16, 1906. Four children were born of this union of whom one son Carl survives and who resides on the homestead, two sons and one daughter died several years ago. The funeral will be held today Saturday at 1:30 p. m. from the home with services in the Luth. church at Dundee. Rev. Appeler will officiate. Burial will take place in the congregation's cemetery.

BEECHWOOD

Mrs. Herman Krahn is visiting with relatives at Cascade this week.

Mrs. Chas. Koch and son Arthur were Milwaukee callers last week.

Miss Marie Kreutzinger is on the sick list. We hope she will soon recover.

The auction sale held on the Wm. Glass farm Thursday, was well attended.

Miss Ethel Mertes called on Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Koepke and family Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Krahn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ebel at Cascade.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Suennicht Jr. of Cascade were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Glass and family Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schroeter and Eida Flunker were entertained at a chicken dinner Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Art Glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Glander celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday. A large number of relatives and friends were in attendance. A very enjoyable time was had and we hope Mr. and Mrs. Glander will be able to celebrate many more such happy anniversaries.

A birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. Adolph Glass Sunday evening when her relatives gathered at her home. The evening was spent in a very social way, and after a dainty luncheon the guests departed for their homes wishing Mrs. Glass many happy returns of the day.

Martin Krahn met with a very painful accident Monday, while loading corn on a wagon. His team of young horses became frightened and ran away, and in an effort to stop them he fell on the ground and both wheels of the wagon passed over his shoulder and head. Though he suffered no broken bones, he was badly bruised. The horses were caught by his sons Raymond and Erwin. The wagon was badly damaged. We hope Mr. Krahn will soon recover.

The New Fane Milling Co. will be ready for business next week Tuesday, after having been shut down for two weeks, during which time extensive repair work was done.

CIRCULATES BAD MONEY

At least six $20 federal reserve notes (all counterfeit) were forced on West Bend businessman last Saturday by Mrs. John Neuy of Barton, Mrs. Neuy. It is alleged, knew the notes were of no value and passed all of them upon West Bend's businessmen on Saturday. When she was charged with the passing of the worthless money she admitted it, but she promised she would "make good," and this she did, turning over real money to those upon whom she had forced the worthless stuff. Federal officers arrived in the city Tuesday and after Mrs. Neuy admitted her guilt they took the counterfeit notes from her. Mrs. Neuy claims the worthless bills were given her at Milwaukee, receiving them, it is alleged, in payment for liquor sold them. The matter is not yet settled, and government officials will in all probability have Mrs. Neuy arrested on a charge of passing counterfeit money.

"THREE WEEKS" COMING TO SCREEN UNCHANGED

"Three Weeks" is coming to the screen exactly as I wrote it." That is the statement made by Elinor Glyn, world famous authoress in New York on her return to London from the Goldwyn studios in Los Angeles, where she assisted Alan Crosland in the filming of her most famous novel, the film version of which is coming to the Opera House Sunday.

Mrs. Glyn, in her statement, declared: "I send a message to all those who are deeply and sincerely in love with 'Three Weeks', to see it when it comes to the screen. Flappers and flirts may stay away, for this story is only for those who understand, who are ready to make sacrifices for their love, for after all, love that does not inspire sacrifices is not love at all.

"Three Weeks" as a book, received a lot of the type of publicity it did not deserve. I was determined that when it came to the screen it would be a genuine and a real portrayal of my book. I spent every minute on the set. I oversaw the making of the costumes. I myself wrote the titles, so now when I myself leave the finished product in America, I do so with genuine happiness and joy in my heart.

"The screen is getting more and more sincere in its efforts every day. And before long it will be the only medium through which genuine love and feeling are conveyed to the public.

"My idea has always been to rid a picture of the false note. The public response to everything that is real and true.

"So in my production of 'Three Weeks' I had a free hand. I had only to make my characters human, as they were in the book, live and suffer on the screen. My cast is perfect. My costumes are what ladies and gentlemen would wear. The servants uniforms were made in England. Everything is as it should be."

COUNTY STATISTICS

A report given out by County Clerk R. G. Kraemer as given to him by assessor of incomes, and subsequently published in the West Bend Pilot reads in part as follows:

"The total personal property assessment in the county for the year 1924 was $7,155,036 and the total real estate assessment $37,925,696, or a total of $45,120,732 for both items. This amount does not include the homestead exemptions of $2,090,75, which latter amount will not be considered in the apportionment of taxes. While home owners will benefit a little through the operation of the homestead exemption law, an increased rate on other items taxable will make their taxes about the same as before the new law became effective. The total personal property and real estate assessments in the county in 1923 were $47,057,322.

NEED MORE ROOM AT STATE PRISON

Wisconsin's next legislature will be asked to appropriate sufficient funds for the construction of two new ward buildings at the Central Hospital for the Criminal Insane at the state penitentiary in Waupun. So crowded are the present quarters of the institution, that the prison has been unable to accept 50 prisoners who had been sentenced to Waupun. Two new buildings, it is estimated will take care of the present overflow as well as a normal increase. Construction work has already been started on several new buildings to cost approximately $150,000. These are expected to be completed and ready for occupancy by next March. The new buildings include a kitchen, dining room and one ward building. The new ward building after it has been completed will take care of 36 prisoners but will not relieve the congested condition.

DARING STUNTS AT BIG AIR MEET

Airship Carries Plane Into Clouds, Drops It and Picks It Up.

Dayton, Ohio. For the first time a semi-rigid airship carried an airplane into the clouds, set it free and picked it up again.

The TOS, a great lighter-than-air ship from Scott, Belmont, Ill., commanded by Lieut. Frank McKee, picked up a biplane messenger airplane from the field and took it to an altitude of 2,500 feet above the crowd.

After ten minutes of frolic flying, the airship released the plane, which it carried into the clouds, set it free and picked it up again.

This ship was built by Al Johnson of Dayton. The ship used less than half a gallon of gasoline for the race. It's tank holds but two gallons of fuel.

The driver race E. Dornoy, flying a ship that was constructed around another motor, sailed for a five-mile race, averaged 50 miles an hour and won second place.

THE McCORMICK-DEERING POTATO DIGGER

Built and equipped for satisfactory work in all kinds of soil.

THE cheapest help you can get is wasteful and extravagant compared with the McCORMICK-DEERING Potato Digger. This tool goes into the fields, whenever you wish, and digs the potatoes quickly and economically. Actual users say: "It is the lightest draft digger on the market." It is well lubricated, and is built to last many years—regardless of the heavy work it is called upon to do. With the McCORMICK-DEERING, the potatoes are brought out on top of the soil, in plain sight and in neat rows. They are separated from dirt, vines, and trash, and are easy to pick up. If you have a McCORMICK-DEERING Potato Digger and two or four horses, you can harvest your potato crop with the minimum of man labor.

Circuit That Will Enable You to Take Advantage of Selectivity and Anti-Static Properties of the Loop Antenna Without Resorting to Use of Radio Frequency Amplification.

By A. A. KUBIAC

We know that we can reduce the static signal ratio by reducing the size of the antenna. However, below a certain size, the regular form of antenna is not as efficient a collector as the loop antenna. The loop antenna proves to be an improvement over the picture antenna because it produces signals equally as strong, while at the same time the static signal ratio is much more favorable.

Ordinarily the use of the loop antenna for distant reception is confined to receivers employing one or more stages of radio frequency amplification. This should not give you the impression that it is not practical to use a loop antenna in connection with the ordinary regenerative type receiver. It is entirely possible with a receiver consisting of loop antenna, regenerative detector and two-step audio frequency amplifier to hear concerts from stations 500 miles distant with sufficient volume to make it enjoyable.

The circuit shown will enable you to take advantage of the selectivity and anti-static properties of the loop antenna without resorting to the use of radio frequency amplification. You will notice that the loop is connected directly across the grid filament circuit without employing any form of coupling coil. Regenerative amplification is obtained by tuning the plate circuit to resonance with the grid circuit by employing a variometer as shown. This form of regeneration control is preferred in place of the tickler feedback method when using a loop antenna directly in the grid filament circuit. The above circuit shows a two-step audio frequency amplifier to build up the signal strength, as it is not advisable to attempt reception on loop with a detector only. Now it must be remembered that what we are after is not a means of getting the greatest possible volume of sound in the phones from a given signal, but a means of getting good clear reception, free from interfering noises. The loop antenna affords the best means of accomplishing this without the use of any special form of apparatus.

The loop antenna, however, is far from being perfect in this respect and permits considerable static to pass into the detector, but being the best we have in the line of ordinary apparatus, we will have to be content with separating the rest of the static from the signal after it has been detected. The resistances shown across the secondaries of the amplifying transformers are ordinary 1/2 megohm resistances, commonly used as grid leaks. The introduction of these resistances into the circuit as shown reduces the signal strength somewhat, but helps greatly in eliminating tube noises and the still existing static interference.—New York Sun.

Crystal Detector That Requires No Adjustment.

A dependable crystal detector requiring no adjustment can be assembled from the following materials: Two electrolytic or thumb tacks, two binding posts, two pieces of bakelite or other good insulating material, a length of hard drawn copper wire for clips and a small piece of crystal. Any good crystal will do, but perhaps best results will be obtained if the crystal is of the synthetic "all-sensitive" variety.

One piece of bakelite should be at least 1 1/2 inches long and about 1/4 of an inch square. This piece is drilled lengthwise through the center with a small drill of a size to snugly accommodate the two thumb tacks. One tack is inserted in this hole to within about 3/16 of an inch of the center. The crystal should now be pounded to fine grains and 3/4 of an inch of them poured into the hole from the opposite end. The second tack should now be inserted in this end so that the crystal grains make contact between the points of both tacks. A mounting for this crystal detector may easily be made from the copper wire and may take the form shown in the diagram. This type of detector will prove both sensitive and stable and may be used successfully in a reflex circuit.—Radio News.

Hints About Soldering of Radio Connections

Three things must especially be remembered while soldering. It is always important to have the surface or surfaces to be soldered perfectly clean. Emery cloth or a fine file may be used in some cases. Clean surfaces do not permit the solder to flow freely.

The second point to bear in mind is to tin the surfaces properly. This is done by first applying a soldering flux, such as resin, acid or paste, to the

Reasons Why Crystals Are in Great Demand

Crystals are coming back. Some of the early sets needed all the power they could get, and this was responsible in many instances for making a tube which was used as a detector. Crystal detectors gradually waned in popularity.

Now, however, since circuits of the reflex type have been perfected, there are unmistakable signs of a revival of the popularity of crystals. Their use is based on sound principles. The so-called soft tube used as a detector has tube noises; a crystal rectifier has none. A crystal is cheap; a tube is not. There is no upkeep cost of a crystal. It consumes no current; a tube does. No tube gives the clarity and purity of tone of a crystal.

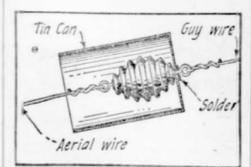

In addition to the fact that early sets needed the extra tube, prejudice against the use of crystals was also caused by the fact that so many poor crystals were sold. Unscrupulous dealers flooded the market with inferior crystals and the public was stung. Today crystals of good quality are available, and this is resulting in general use of them again.

It has been found that the crystal which gives the best results in all respects is a very high grade of silver galena used with a fine adjustable cat whisker. A fine wire not heavier than 22-gauge should be used. The heavier the wire the more it cuts the crystal. The reason for using a fine wire with a light tension is that it reaches into the ridges where the most sensitive spots are, and avoids cutting into the crystal. Heavy wires destroy sensitive spots and thereby impair detecting ability.

Increasing Efficiency of Antenna Insulator

No matter how efficient an insulator is in dry weather its efficiency will always materially decrease during rain or snow. This is particularly the case of the common ball type insulator. For a number of years a correspondent has been using a scheme to protect the insulator on his antenna which has proved extremely efficient. This simply consists of covering the insulator with a tin can as shown in the illustration. This can should be of steel size that there is at least three-quarters of an inch clearance on either side of the insulator, and it should be placed so that the opening is at the lower end. A hole is bored through one end of the tin can large enough to pass the insulator eye through and this hole, should afterward be entirely closed with solder. The can should also be painted inside and out to prevent rust and corrosion. This type of covering will keep the insulator fairly dry in the most severe weather and those weak signals will still be picked up during heavy rain storms.—Radio News.

Overheated Charger

If the storage battery is charged at home watch it carefully in regard to undue heating. If the battery gets hot disconnect it from the charging unit as it is then being charged too rapidly. Reduce the charging rate. If the charger has a fixed charging rate, write to the manufacturer and find out how to reduce this rate.

SPANISH VOGUE IN SHAWLS; WEARABLE TYPES IN COATS

FASHION, this season is completely a matter of following the Spanish vogue. At every style exhibit, at social gatherings galore, where modish women add to the picture, in modish reports from across seas, by those incoming voyagers who have not left a stone unturned in Paris, London, Vienna and other style centers in their search for "the latest," the present-day modes are discussed and exploited in terms of picturesque Spanish. One of the outstanding notes in this overwhelming favor for modes Spanish is the vogue for the deep-fringed,

This is an arrangement highly cat-factory to Marys in general, who are just now looking for coats that will do for all-round wear, give good service and be equal to holding their own with and be equal to holding their own with different kinds of hats. For Mary has learned to leave it to the hat, more than anything else, when it comes to adapting costume to occasion. Here is one of those accommodating new coats, of a soft and becoming pile

A black silk knitted shawl designed in triangular form, with an effective green and blue peacock pattern interknitted in the corner section, is an outcome of the Spanish shawl vogue. Among the large knitted squares simulating the crepe Spanish squares, green and beige are successfully introduced in a particularly handsome model, which carries a wide border knitted in fancy stitch, repeating the two colors in the deep fringe. Mary had a little lamb, but he

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

SPOT'S VISIT

Spot was a little white dog with shaggy white hair and a little pink nose. He was a cousin of Snowball, another dog who belonged to a cousin of Spot's mistress.

Snowball was white and shaggy and little and a great pet. Whenever Spot's mistress went to visit her cousin, Spot went along, too. It was quite a little journey by train, but he was never left at home. He had a special basket in which he traveled, and his mistress carried the basket.

When he arrived he always had a beautiful time. He played with Snowball, he played with the different members of the family, he sat up on his hind legs and "begged" prettily for good things to eat.

He looked now at the new rabbits which had arrived since they had last been here. There were six of them, and they were very white and soft and fluffy, and their little noses were pink.

The last time he had been here there had been six or seven cunning little turtles. They had been amusing. He looked now at the new rabbits. But he was told now that the turtles had gone to sleep in their mud beds, for the winter.

Spot couldn't imagine a mud bed being very nice. He always had a nice soft bed with a big cushion on it. But then the turtles were funny, anyway. He had thought the way they lived in their shell homes all the time was most strange and they had spent their time in the water when he had been here last and had not bothered to explain why they did this.

Perhaps they had, but then they talked turtle talk, and he only knew dog's talk and people's talk. He could understand all that the people said. Well, he had a beautiful visit and enjoyed himself immensely, but when it was time to go home he went and sniffed at his basket, for he had heard his mistress asking what time the train left, and he knew that meant that they would be starting pretty soon.

He went and crawled inside his basket, as though to say: "Here I am, all ready to start. Why should there be any more delay?" But they told him that they were not quite ready to start, and it came out again. So he came out once more and sat on his hind legs as though to say: "Please let's start now."

Then he thought perhaps that was not very polite, so he wagged his tail as though to say to these consins: "We had a charming time. Thanks so much for having us. Delicious food, pleasant society, a charming time." But after awhile it was really time to get ready and Spot got in his basket and with one paw waving a goodbye and his tail wagging his thanks, they were off.

Down at the station it was raining, so he went inside the waiting room with his mistress and sat up in her lap. Then the train came along and she told him to get in his basket which was down on the floor. He hopped down and into the basket and the people all around smiled at such a smart little dog.

And then they started for home in the train. It wasn't a very long trip, and some might have left their little dog at home, but his mistress didn't. No, he went traveling, too. He liked to go where his mistress did, and he enjoyed visiting and good "company" food. But when he turned around three times and then curled himself into a comfortable position upon his home pillow that night he said to himself: "But home is the best and the most comfortable of all."

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"A Blessing to Suffering Women," Writes One

Louisville, Illinois.—"I certainly thank you for the great benefit I have received from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I first learned about it from my step-mother who got so much help from it. Several years ago I took it for inward weakness and since then I have taken it during the Change of Life and it has been a great help to me. It certainly is a blessing to suffering women and I take pleasure in recommending it."—Mrs. KATE MCPHEE, Louisville, Illinois.

Forced To Remain in Bed
Carlisle, Illinois.—"During the Change of Life I suffered with severe nervousness and with disturbances of the entire system. These continued probably two years before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I could do none of my work and was not always able to be up. For ten days at a time I was forced to remain in bed with my hips propped higher than my head and the pains were terrible. The doctor helped some but each time I was forced to go over the same suffering. I had taken the Vegetable Compound in 1910 after my twins were born and it had helped me so I decided to try it again. I became better and gained in strength. I have taken it for about three years now but not steadily. I am able to do my housework but I avoid all heavy lifting and washing and ironing as I know I am not strong enough yet. I give the Vegetable Compound to my daughters and recommend it to my friends."—Mrs. LOUISA B. BRAND, 450 Fairfax Street, Carlisle, Illinois.

Wants Letter Used As Proof
Frankford, Pennsylvania.—"I am sure if women who suffer through the Change of Life as I have, with hot flashes, nervousness and other weaknesses, would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial they would be benefited as I was. My nerves were so bad that every little noise made me jump, but now I am not bothered that way at all. My husband says he really hated to look at me I looked so miserable. I hope you will use this letter as proof of the help the Vegetable Compound is giving me."—Mrs. ABBIE HARVEY, 5701 Leonard St., Frankford, Pa.

In a recent country-wide canvass of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 100,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 reported they had been benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Well, We'll Give That to the Moon

The night was exquisite. The Milky way was a soft glow of light with Mars and the North star shining in all their glory. The two canoes that glided so smoothly down the stream carried only girls; girls who were living again experiences of similar nights. One was dreaming of her last house party at Wabash, and one just back from a trip East was lost in a reverie of just such a night spent tramping along the Hudson with a West Point cadet.

Suddenly the moon, looking like a slice of orange, shot up from behind the dark trees. Memories grew poignant. Finally some one from the depths of the pillows found utterance. "Look at that moon! Doesn't it thrill you to death?" Casting her weather eye heavenward, she who was supposed to be in love, answered calmly enough, "Well, it does light things up a bit."—Indianapolis Star.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

Against the Tide

SETTING you on every hand is the invisible tide which is hourly sweeping humans from their chartered course and carrying them into unknown waters.

The captains of courage who have gone before, weathered the treacherous currents and reached a secure haven, are the only ones who can tell you what this opposing tide means to the young or the inexperienced, or the overconfident.

They will tell you how difficult it is to keep your honor bright; how hard it is to steer away from temptation or the habit of loose thinking; how perplexing it is to avoid the sucking shoals when you should keep cool; how you may pose for a hero before the world, but be careful lest the tide pull you under and expose the fraud.

If your colors are false, beware! for the tide knows them.

In spite of its purring voice and shining face it is a restless foe, a bearer of no tales, a silent destroyer of ambition and a wrecker of hope when your star seems to glow the brightest and you stand puffed up in conceit before an admiring world.

Alas! for the man who in such a

WHAT A HUSBAND LOVES

HE JUST loves to be met at the door of an evening (before he has time to insert his key) with a kiss and the knowledge that his dinner is ready just as soon as he can get into his slippers and house coat.

And (despite all rumors to the contrary) he loves to have a finger in the domestic pie, and be consulted about the new carpet and asked for his views on the merits of the new "wash-your-clothes-in-five-minutes" apparatus.

He loves to have his wife put his tie straight before she sends him for his day's work (even if he has already adjusted it perfectly three minutes before); and he likes to have her brush his coat collar and be permitted to growl when she rubs his neck.

(And, he likes another kiss, too.)

He loves to know when he gets home very late that she has been worrying her very heart out in case "something had happened," and he likes to soothe her fears with a nice little packet of her favorite candy.

He loves to be ordered to wear his rubbers on rainy days and he likes to absolutely refuse to do so (and promises he will not walk in any puddles).

He likes to get a mild attack of the "flu" and have a nice nurse-wife fuss over him and look worried and anxious and kiss him fervently after his ammoniated quinine (raspberry flavored).

He loves to know the whole household is (almost) disrupted, and that everybody goes about on tip-toe, and he loves to be coddled and petted just as if he were in the last stages of an incurable disease.

He loves to know that every time a button comes off it will be put on again (without any fuss) and that his wife knows without being told when a suit wants cleaning.

He loves his wife to kiss him (on the top of his bald spot) and tell him she loves every hair in his head.

He likes to be able to say to himself (when he is rushed to death and working at his very highest pressure) that there is some one who appreciates everything he does for her, and is always ready with encouragement and sympathy.

He loves to think that should re-

FOR AFTERNOON TEAS

Sandwiches of various kinds are always acceptable with a cup of tea.

Cheese with chopped olives, between thin slices of buttered bread, toasted just before serving, is one that is well liked.

Raisins or nut bread with guava jelly and cream cheese, chopped cooked figs and cream cheese between slices of buttered bread are all good.

A dainty bit of bread to be served in various ways is prepared thus: Cut fresh bread very thin, spread it with butter, anchovies, caviar or any highly flavored and liked paste; roll up to the size of the little finger, use a wooden toothpick to skewer and lay them in a pan and toast in the oven. Served hot or cold. Very nice with bouillon or with a salad.

Toasted Bacon Rolls.—Split crisp, tender, oval-shaped rolls and toast delicately. Place three pieces of crisp well-cooked bacon between the halves of each roll.

Hot Deviled Eggs.—Cut hard-cooked eggs in halves lengthwise. Remove the yolks, mash, add half as much grated cheese or deviled ham, chopped cooked chicken, chicken livers, or veal. Moisten with melted butter or mayonnaise, season lightly with salt, pepper, lemon juice or mustard. Refill the whites and place two halves on a slice of toast. Cover with boiling-hot white sauce and serve at once.

Fruit Salad.—Fresh pears with sections of orange and grapefruit free from membrane is a most delicious combination; serve with Golden Dressing.—Take three tablespoonfuls of orange juice, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half cupful of sugar, a few grains of salt, all heated in the top of a double boiler. Add one egg slightly beaten, and cook until smooth and thick. Cool, and just before serving add one-half cupful of cream beaten stiff.

Blueberry Muffins.—Sift together two cupfuls of flour, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-fourth cupful of sugar. Beat one egg, add three-fourths of a cupful of milk and mix with the dry ingredients; add three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and when thoroughly mixed add one cupful of blueberries. Bake in a hot oven in buttered muffin pans.

Pears cut into sections and combined with very ripe tomatoes also cut into sections, served with a mayonnaise to which a few spoonfuls of cream cheese has been added, is a very tasty salad.

How Gardens Grow
By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

AREN'T seeds the funnest things? Folks have legs, and birds have wings.

And fish have fins to move around. But seeds just stay right underground. And never move—and yet just see! What seeds will do for you and me!

For put them in the ground, what then? Some day you're in your yard again. And, see, those seeds just overnight send up a little sprout of water. And then, about next day I mean, send up a little leaf of green!

And then some day those seeds no wise send up the prettiest surprise!—Sweet peas of pink, or maybe flox! All dressed in white or purple frocks! Just how they do it I don't know. But that's the way the gardens grow!

Cow and Hog Lead

The Department of Agriculture says that, considering the amount of food for humans produced by the animals from the food raised on an acre of land, the dairy cow leads all others. Next to the dairy cow in food production from the yield on an acre of land comes the hog.

OF COURSE YOU NEVER DO. Why does Percy always point to the item on the menu when he orders one of these dishes in French? He probably just as well to let the waiter into the secret.

Conquered by Jelly Fish

Myriads of jelly fish, stirred from depth of a heavy sea, clung to and stung a German swimmer recently so severely that he abandoned the coast.

Temple Rolls in Wind

Indians who worship in a temple near Burma, British India, run the risk of having the building tumble about their ears. The temple is built on a huge slab upon a rocky elevation. So evenly balanced is the slab that it swings back and forth, temple and all, when a strong wind blows.

GAVE HER HELP WHEN SHE NEEDED IT MOST

Mrs. O'Day Says That Before She Took Tanlac She Suffered 7 Years With Stomach Trouble.

"To me Tanlac has been just like a good friend—gave me help when I needed help most—and I am glad to acknowledge my gratitude in a public way," is the candid statement of Mrs. Thomas O'Day, 705 Water St., Ashland, Wis.

"Seven years of indigestion and stomach disorders had brought me down to where I was so weak and nervous that my housework was almost beyond me. I lived on a very restricted diet, but even then I would have such bad attacks of stomach pain and nausea that I could keep scarcely anything down. I also had frequent dizzy spells, couldn't sleep and was growing weaker all the time.

"Finally, my brother in Milwaukee persuaded me to try Tanlac and that accounts for my present good health. Tanlac deserves nothing but praise."

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation; made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

Berlin Has Most Papers

According to newspaper data recently compiled in Vienna there are some 1,800 so-called political dailies and weeklies published in central Europe. Berlin, with about 100, half of which are dailies, leads the list of cities, with Vienna in second place with 55, including 22 dailies. Prague, however, ranks next to Berlin in the matter of dailies, having 25, says the New York Times. In Prague there is a daily newspaper for every 33,000 inhabitants, in Rome and Budapest one for every 70,000, in Paris one for every 75,000 and in Vienna one for every 85,000. The word political is used to distinguish ordinary newspapers from technical organs and literary publications.

Tree Resembles Map

Trees sometimes assume very grotesque shapes and one can trace to their branches the outlines of animals or birds, says London Tit-Bits. Occasionally, too, the monarchs of the forest may resemble the giants and monsters of legendary lore. But not often do they grow in such a way as to give the idea of a geographical formation.

Such a tree, however, can be seen growing in "The Lady of the Lake" district of Scotland. Its short and long limbs give a distinct impression of the map of England.

Wonderful Piece of Work

Scarcely as big as a tooth, the tiniest skull in the world was brought recently to the United States. It took infinite patience and skill at the hands of a Chinese workman who labored many months to complete the curiosity. It is complete in every detail and carved from a minute piece of ivory, small enough to fit on the tip of a pencil.—Popular Science Monthly.

Life Exists Above Fixed Snowline

That annual life ascends the mountains far beyond plant growth is one of the discoveries of the Mount Everest expedition.

"The highest growing plant observed was blue vetch at 18,000 feet," writes Lieut. Col. E. F. Norton, in London Tit-Bits, leader of the expedition.

"Yet animals possess permanent habitations as high as 22,000 feet. A minute and inconspicuous black spider hops about on the rocky cliffs and hides beneath stones in those bare places which happen to be swept clear of snow by the wind. I cannot think on what it lives at such a height.

"In these altitudes there is no other living thing—noting but rock and ice. This little spider is worthy of note, being the highest permanent inhabitant of the earth. We therefore, find life on the highest mountains far above the permanent snowline."

White Race in Minority

Latest available figures show the white race is not in the majority. Colored races, in fact, are in the majority of 2 to 1. The whites number 520,000,000; the Mongolians, 420,000,000; the brown races, 370,000,000, and the negro race 520,000,000.

Math. Staehler, F. W. Biele, Hubert Fellenz.

What Do You Believe?

ARE our factories and the men who try to carry them on, good or bad for our state?

That is a question all citizens of Wisconsin must think about. They should get the facts and answer for themselves. They should not let the hearsay of vote-chasers decide it for them.

Look around. See for yourself what factories have done for your town or other towns you know about, and what they have meant for the building up of farms and communities.

Shall we let unfair laws hold back Wisconsin industry? Any unsound laws such as:

1. Making it a crime for anyone (except the farmer) to work more than eight hours a day.
2. Wage insurance for idle men.
3. Higher taxes than are paid in other states.

Some of our large industries have already turned their Wisconsin plants into branch factories. When big industries turn their plants into branch factories four things happen that affect every citizen:

1. Wisconsin loses the right to collect income taxes on business not done in the state. On the average, ninety per cent of their products are sold in other states.
2. We lose the right to assess taxes on officers and stockholders who go to live in other states.
3. We lose the right to collect inheritance taxes from the estates of those who have moved away.
4. Most of all, we lose the advantage of the presence of men of ability and capital who can help to build our communities and our state.
