DOUBLE WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED

The accident happened at 8:30 p. m. Labor Day, on Highway 55, at the south end of the swamp road. The occupants of the car were taken to Dr. Urkardt's hospital at West Bend, where medical attention was given them, after which they were removed to the Hess home at West Bend. It is reported that the accident came about when Mr. Bintlzer, driver of the car, was forced to turn into the ditch by another car which tried to pass when a car approaching from the opposite direction was too close by.

On Saturday afternoon a collision occurred on Highway 55, one mile south of West Bend, when a car driven by Richard Knuth of Sheboygan struck another car, causing his machine to skid and turn across the road with the result that Mr. Knuth received serious cuts to his right hand; his wife had her right hand almost severed at the wrist, and their niece of Waukesha was seriously cut about the head. The injured were cared for by Dr. S. Driessel, and later removed to their home in Sheboygan. The occupants of the other car escaped serious injury.

STATESMAN THIRTY YEARS OLD

With this week's issue of the Statesman begins the 31st year of its existence. Through hard work the publishers of this paper, and by the help of the liberal patronage extended to them by business men, subscribers, correspondents and the general public, have succeeded in elevating the standard of the paper to a point where it now ranks with some of the best weeklies in the state. The publishers can boast in saying that there are few offices in the state located in villages the size of Kewaskum or in even larger cities, that are as well equipped and have as many paid up subscribers as the Statesman has. Harbeck & Schaefer, proprietors, desire to express their sincere thanks to one and all for the support liberal patronage given them in the past, and assure all that it is appreciated to the fullest extent. It is their desire to continue to strive and make the Statesman a still better paper in time to come.

EXHIBITS GIANT CORN STALK

John Botzkovis, a well known farmer, residing about two miles west of Kewaskum, boasts of having the largest corn stalk ever raised on his farm, if not in this section of the state. The stalk is fourteen feet high, eight inches high, or in other words, a stalk that if a bundle of it were cut, it would have to be loaded lengthwise on the wagon, for it would not pass through the width of an ordinary gate. The first cob of the stalk is eight feet from the ground, so high that if a person wanted to break it off from the stalk, he would have to get onto a chair or step ladder in order to reach the same. Mr. Botzkovis has two acres of this corn, he believes that he has some more high corn in his field. The stalk is now on exhibition at the local creamery, where it is attracting considerable interest to all who chance to view the same.

"THE MASK OF LOPEZ"

In "The Mask of Lopez" a Harry J. Brown production, Fred Thomson has a corking first-appearance entrance to Sunny Meade Ranch with a chase full of stunts. A powerful fight which starts with Thomson diving over a seven-foot fence and bulldozing the heavy off his horse, ending with Thomson picking up the horse, throwing him in a watering trough, then dragging him through the dirt. The cut-ins to the fight are the horse pawing, seemingly anxious to get into the fight, and the girl with the superintendent rooting on the side lines. Then the runaway ending with Thomson picking the girl off her horse at the edge of the cliff with both horses reared up on their hind legs. In the chase Thomson does a landside, also vaulting with the horse over barb-wire fences, some corking good runs. This is followed by the lassoing of both Thomson and "Red" from their horses by the men on the cliff and their abduction. Thomson's horse, Silver King, returns alone, enters the ranch, opens the gate, knocks on the door, commands a great deal of attention, but will not allow anyone to touch him until they start back the horse in the lead, with the cowboys and the girl following. Then the chase and the wind up with forty-five riders—and hot shots!

TO HOLD ANOTHER BABY CLINIC

There will be another Child Health Conference at the County Court House at West Bend on Tuesday, Sept. 15th. These clinics are some times called the "Well Babies" Clinic. Every baby should be under the supervision of a doctor, and his growth and development checked at regular intervals. It is much easier to keep the baby well than it is to cure him when he has taken sick. Mothers of the past had to rely, largely, upon their maternal instincts in caring for the babies. The old family doctor was too busy caring for sick folk to look after those apparently well. But since this last war when about one-third of the boys drafted for service were found to be unfit because of physical defects more attention has been given to preventive medicine. We realize that many of the physical defects which manifest themselves in later life might have been prevented in childhood. Dr. Cora Allen, Madison will conduct the clinic. Hours: 8:30 to 4:00. Those wishing to make appointments may call Miss Klumb at 46-W (County Clerk's Office) during office hours. Kindly bring a small blanket for your baby.

Mothers are invited to make free use of the "Kiddy Koop" at the Washington County Fair. The Kiddy Koop is a rest camp for mothers and children. It consists of a large tent equipped with bassinets, cot, oil stove, ice box and chairs. It will be located between the Educational Hall and Art Gallery. Baby's milk may be left at the camp where it will be placed on ice until ready for use. This camp will give parents the opportunity to enjoy a day at the fair without depriving the children of their regular rest hours. Miss Giesing, County Nurse, will be in charge of the Kiddy Koop. She will be assisted by some of the Girl Scouts.

KIRBY-HOLZ WEDDING

Her attendant, Miss Martin wore a gray silk crepe dress and carried an arm bouquet of asters. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the groom's parents in Waucousta, with about thirty guests in attendance. The home was decorated with pink and white crepe paper and cut flowers. Out of town guests who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holz of Rosendale, Mr. and Mrs. Christ. Polka Revival Attempted
Farmers in the Marysboro district of England have attempted to revive the polka and other old-time dances, much to the joy of the younger generation, who seemed willing to drop the modern steps somewhat upon being taught the polka and the lachery by the older dancers. William Smith inaugurated the novelty at a dancing hall, with the aid of the more mature residents of the community.

The Statesman staff wish to congratulate brothers Le Count and Hathaway upon their achievements and the success attained, and hope that they will continue to prosper in years to come.

Farmers are invited to enter their horses and compete for prizes. See us before entering them and we will place them in the class they belong. WISCONSIN HAPPENINGS

Important News of the Badger State Arranged in Condensed Form

Milwaukee—Wisconsin's Diamond Jubilee state fair, just closed, was one of the most successful exhibitions in the seventy-five years. The total attendance for the year was 238,148 or 15,004 greater than the total attendance of 1924. The receipts made a corresponding gain. Last year they were $95,260.70 as compared to $105,013.40 for the jubilee exposition. The increase was $9,752.70. The daily attendance this year was larger for every day except Tuesday, when it dropped about 500 under the 1924 figure. The receipts were greater on every day except Tuesday and Friday. The 1925 fair offered the greatest number of exhibits of any Wisconsin fair since 1920. The quality of the exhibits, officials said, probably has never been surpassed at State Fair park. La Crosse county was awarded the sweetest prize for the most prize money won by any county in the farm crops exhibits. Dodge, Milwaukee and Jefferson counties finished behind La Crosse in the order named.

Madison—Wisconsin will harvest the biggest crop this year that the state has ever known, according to Prof. Hanson A. Moore, state agronomist. His opinion is based on a close study of crops throughout the state. "The grain crop has been wonderful," he declared. "The potato crop, too, is one of the largest the state has ever known. Farmers are rapidly filling their silos with corn which gives promise of exceeding crops of former years. Tobacco is good and the harvest will be a large one." Prof. Moore denied the seriousness of reported drought in the state.

Fond du Lac—An ultimatum that Wisconsin will be dropped from the roster of the Yellowstone Trail association unless the people of the state subscribe more liberally to its work, was delivered by H. O. Cooley, manager, at the annual meeting in Fond du Lac. The membership quota of the state is 2,210. Manager Cooley declared, but only 950 have subscribed. Of a total of $21,952 raised by the association this year, Mr. Cooley said, only $2,432 came from Wisconsin. In 1924, Cooley said, Wisconsin contributed $3,406, while $3,800 was spent in the state.

Wisconsin Rapids—Lieut. Com. Zachary Lansdowne, captain of the ill-fated Shenandoah and killed when the dirigible crashed, was widely known in Wisconsin Rapids, where, on May 27, 1913, he married Ellen Marton MacKinnon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Falkland MacKinnon of that city. Com. Lansdowne was a frequent visitor at Wisconsin Rapids at the home of his parents-in-law and was a charter member of Charles Hagerstrom post No. 9, American Legion, there. The first Mrs. Lansdowne died in June, 1916, and Com. Lansdowne had since remarried.

Wausau—Charles A. Shaler, millionaire resident of Wausau, has just given $50,000 for the purpose of establishing a Shaler scholarship in the Wausau schools, the principal to be deposited with the First Wisconsin Trust Co., Milwaukee, and the interest to be delivered quarterly to a committee of five citizens appointed by the school board of Wausau.

Stevens Point—Charges of irregularity were leveled in city council chambers at Stevens Point when a communication was presented from S. A. Martin, street foreman, and A. B. Erdman, a teamster employed in the street department, admitting they had overpaid $400 in 1922. Both agreed over their signatures, to pay this amount back.

Stephen Tripp, Prairie du Sac, will be given to one of the first two quadrangles of the new men's dormitories at the University of Wisconsin, construction of which will begin immediately. The quadrangle will be named Tripp hall, and will be near Lake Mendota. Three hundred thousand dollars bequeathed to the university from the Tripp estate has been converted into bonds for the building fund. The bonds will be sold to finance the remainder of the present building program and the future program when it is ready to be put into effect.

Madison—Appropriations of more than $2,000,000 for the state normal schools have been made by the board of regents for the year ending June 30, 1925. The funds were provided by the last legislature. Milwaukee—The state convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and its women's auxiliary have voted $2,000 toward establishment of a chair of Irish history and international relations at Marquette university, Milwaukee. It is expected that $75,000 will be needed. The plan is to raise the sum by appeal to United Irish societies throughout the country and to wealthy Americans of Irish descent.

Chippewa Falls—Clifford Taylor, 21, of Riceville, died at a Chippewa Falls hospital after a five weeks' fight for life. A plane handle pierced his abdomen while working on a highway construction job. Doctors gave him up five weeks ago after operating on the man. Taylor, however, said he would not give up and his persistent fight with death seemed to keep him alive, baffling the medical profession and attracting attention all over the state.

Kenosha—John D. Alexander, captain of Troop E, 195th cavalry, since his organization in Kenosha, was named major in command of the second squadron of the 195th cavalry, and C. A. Anderson, formerly first lieutenant, was promoted to captain in charge of the unit, according to orders from the adjutant general's office. Maj. Alexander now has command of troop E, Kenosha; Troop F, Fort Atkinson, and Troop C, Watertown.

Platteville—An appropriation of $30,000 by the last legislature has been made immediately available to the Platteville Normal school for the purchase of the Billie Boyle farm of 102 acres, immediately adjoining the school. The normal school owns and operates a well equipped model farm of 25 acres in connection with the agricultural department. With the addition of the Boyle farm it is said this department will be made self-sustaining.

Sturgeon Bay—John Peltier, former Door county assessor, was fined $150 and costs by Judge Henry Grass in circuit court at Sturgeon Bay. Peltier was charged with violating the fish and game laws last winter when he was caught fishing for carp in closed waters. Peltier appeared as his own attorney and stated his fishing operations were conducted to test the law, having previously moved to have the case nolle.

Fond du Lac—The Wisconsin Southern Railway Co., of which C. D. Smith, Fond du Lac, is president, has withdrawn from the state railroad commission its application for a certificate of convenience and necessity to build that part of its chartered line of railway between Manitowish and Sturgeon Bay. Construction of the line was started last year without the certificate, but the commission ordered the work stopped.

Ashland—How to dispose of a case in circuit court when both the defendant and the man who signed his bond have disappeared is now troubling Judge G. N. Belsford. Ashland, Fred Coates, charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of a car, has jumped his bond and cannot be found. He was bound over to circuit court last spring. To make matters worse his surety has also mysteriously disappeared.

DAVIS FAVORS NEW LAWS TO AID LABOR

Would Eliminate Overproduction and Loss of Employment.

Mooseheart, Ill.—Legislative changes to authorize industrial combinations for the control of production were declared by James J. Davis, secretary of labor, in an address at Mooseheart, Ill., to be the only means of so stabilizing industry that workers will have the assurance of continuous employment. Unexpected layoffs, he asserted, are the chief hardships of the workman, since they are something he has to fear at all times, regardless of the quality of his work or satisfactory relations with his employer.

The present laws against the organization of business, in the view of the secretary of labor, keep small and inefficient plants in operation, with the result that production is uncontrolled and far beyond the capacity of the market at certain times. Industry must thus wait for consumption to catch up, and industry cannot employ the laborer when it cannot sell the products of his labor.

Mr. Davis cited the Illinois coal mining situation as an example of the evils growing out of systemization. Eighty-four of the 338 strip mines in the state could produce 77,783,000 tons a year, on a 300-day employment, and this is 7,000,000 tons more than all the shipping mines of the state produced in 1924, he said.

This means that 254 mines of the state represent a useless expenditure of money so far as invested, capital goes, in Mr. Davis' opinion, and that their sole economic function is to prevent any mine worker from obtaining employment for a full year.

Some provision must be found to let the 84 mines of Illinois, or whatever number is necessary, operate with the necessary men to produce with a year's labor the amount of coal needed in the state in a year, he said.

This would mean that the cost of operating unnecessary mines would be stopped, the workers would be scattered over five times the number of plants necessary, and that the question of higher and higher wages, because the miners are not employed steadily enough to make a living, would be solved. If it cannot be done under existing laws, the laws should be changed, the secretary asserted.

Navy Gives Up Hope of Rescue for Lost Flyers

San Francisco.—An announcement that the crew of the lost PN-9 No. 1, flagship of the San Francisco Naval Air Station, would be found alive, was made here by Capt. Stanford E. Moses, U. S. N., commander of the flight project.

"We have virtually given up hope of rescuing the crew," Captain Moses said. "We now have eleven destroyers steaming in the Pacific for the purpose of engaging in a final survey of the waters where the PN-9 No. 1 came down. We have done all that could be done."

Vice President Renews Fight on Senate Rules

Portland, Ore.—Renewing his attack on rules of the United States senate, Vice President Charles G. Dawes, in an address here, quoted records to disprove an argument that more laws would be passed if the right of unlimited debate were taken from the senate.

Premier of France Asks World Disarmament

Geneva.—Opening the sixth annual assembly of the League of Nations as honorary chairman, Paul Painleve, French premier and war minister, declared Europe was on the road to lasting peace. He urged the delegates of 54 nations present to prepare to summon a land disarmament conference, as soon as the negotiations on the security pact now going on between France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium and Germany, and other proposed regional pacts have been concluded.

Marital Law Asked

Oklahoma City.—Request for marital law for Hartshorne was made at a conference of Pittsburg county authorities and Governor Trapp at the capital. Many nonunion men are carrying guns in the Hartshorne coal mine district in fear of their lives, it is said, and the strike situation is again critical.

DEVELOPING TRADE

If every Chinese added one more inch to his shirt-tail it would keep American mills working overtime for months in the future. The 400,000,000 Chinese, as well as the other Orientals in the Far East, have or need many materials, articles, raw and manufactured products the United States needs or can supply. It's the job of Frank R. Eldridge, chief of the Far Eastern division of commerce, to develop that trade.

SPANIARDS LOSE 500 MEN IN BATTLE

Moors Rout Dictator's Troops at Alhucemas Bay.

Paris.—Dictator Primo de Rivera's attempt to flank troops at Alhucemas bay, near Almer, the Moors' capital, ended in disaster. The Spanish lost 500 men killed out of a detachment of 2,000 and the remainder fled back to Penon Island in barges under a cross-fire of machine guns and 75's.

One Riflar, shell smashed the radio installation of the battleship Alfonso XIII, and General de Rivera, who was aboard directing the operations, had to transfer his headquarters to the battleship Jaime I.

The aerial and naval fleets bombarded Alhucemas bay coast all afternoon. Another allied fleet has bombarded the hills at the mouth of the Lau river, but has not dared send troops ashore yet. American aviators participated in the bombardment.

Record of Child Slayer Shows Many Violent Acts

Montclair, N. J.—While candles burned about the coffin of six-year-old Mary Daly in the residence of her parents, the investigation centered on the record of Harrison Noel, her twenty-year-old kidnaper and murderer.

Officials began inquiries to determine whether or not asylum officials and alienists who had released young Noel were guilty of negligence. Police Chief Edward Reilly of Montclair declared that an affidavit made by Dix W. Noel, New York lawyer of 67 Wall street, avowing responsibility for his son's actions and so obtaining Harrison Noel's release from Bellevue hospital in New York in July, would make that father co-responsible for the string of crimes Noel confessed.

Viviani, Former Premier of France, Dead at 63

Paris.—Rene Viviani, premier of France when the World War broke out in 1914, and even better known in the United States through his visit to America with Marshall Joffre in 1917, when he negotiated the loans for which France is now seeking satisfactory terms for payment, died in a private hospital at Clamart.

The former premier, who was sixty-three years old, was still a member of the senate, but for the last two years his state of health did not permit him to take part in the political life of his country, and his death from a nervous malady, which had confined him to his bed for many months, was not unexpected.

"Autocracy in Industry" Hit by A. F. of L. Head

Detroit, Mich.—Assailing "autocracy in industry and communism as allies in a common purpose of undermining organized labor in America," William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a Labor day address here that labor must stand firm in resisting the efforts of both.

The determination of some employers, Mr. Green said, to assume the position of "dictators" to their employees was serving only to accelerate the organized labor movement. Particularly he saw this to be true in Detroit.

SHENANDOAH LOG TELLS OF LAST TRIP

Navy Starts Probe of Cause of Disaster Which Cost Fourteen Lives.

Caldwell, Ohio.—While the wreckage of the navy dirigible Shenandoah was being viewed by thousands of sightseers, investigation of the cause of the disaster went forward under the direction of Commander Jacob Klein, who arrived from Lakehurst, N. J. The logging by spectators of scientific apparatus and parts of the ship vital to the determination of the cause of the crash partially blocked the inquiry.

Just what caused the accident in which fourteen lost their lives is still a matter of doubt, but two theories were put forward by survivors of the ship. One was that the radio cabin and control cabin, which were wrecked and fell clear of the ship, left holes in the outer covering of the vessel through which the night gale rushed, ripping the helium bags to bits and causing unequal stresses which broke the ship in two. The other was that the gas tanks broke loose and in sliding through the ship smashed the girders and so weakened the structure that it collapsed.

The radio log of the ill-fated Shenandoah was found in a field far from the control cabin in which Commander Zachary Lansdowne and six others met death.

The log was written in the hand of G. W. Armour, who died in the crash. It gave a detailed account of the preparations before sailing, of the buoyancy test proving O. K., and of the final test before setting off at 4:02 p. m. Wednesday, September 2.

It tells of the flight over Philadelphia and of going higher up to scale Laurel mountains. The gay spirits of the crew were cited early in the evening, when "everything was working fine."

The entries then run: "9:30 p. m.—Receive baseball scores of afternoon games, news of the world from Europe and various points in North America. News is dashed to members of the crew."

"Chambersburg below looks like a picture under a Christmas tree, and we think of the kiddies at home and wonder if they are all asleep. Throw kisses to Tom and Billy from the ship in the air."

"Deep valley and high mountains greet us, but as long as we stay up we should worry about what is below us. See lightning to the south of us, but the sky is clear and we can view the earth below without trouble."

"Crossing Pennsylvania and its beautiful farms, but we cannot see their beauty, owing to the darkness, but hope for better things tomorrow, when we can see the earth."

"Strike national highway lane near Uniontown and our bearings show we are an hour in advance of proposed schedule. Everything working fine. Radio gathers concerts from Pittsburgh and Cleveland, which are enjoyed by the crew."

"1:15 a. m.—Pass over Washington, Pa., and come down a little owing to the lowering hills and mountains and find darkness is increasing. Take bearings and find that we are in direct line for Wheeling, where we have orders to drop and circle city, if weather permits."

"1:35 a. m.—Get glimpses of lights from Wheeling steel mills in the distance and pick our course across center of city as we drop, and decide that circling is not practical, owing to dense visibility."

"1:55 a. m. (standard time)—Pass over Wheeling and cross Ohio river, being greeted with whistles and bells as we cross city and view red towers set off on top high hill. We return honors by lighting up the ship from stem to stern."

"2:10 a. m.—Follow valley westward through Ohio and see lightning flashes directly ahead. Take higher elevation and find that visibility is bad."

"3:15 a. m.—Storm increasing in intensity and ship pitches heavily. Pass over Lore City, Ohio, and steer toward Cambridge, northwest, to avoid storm direct ahead."

"4:20 a. m.—Pass over Ivesville, Ohio, after battling storm over half-hour and decide to steer south to get out of direct wind. Trouble with radio, will not pick up messages—effort to repair is unsuccessful."

"4:55 a. m.—Members of crew called from gondola pit and sent into runway to aid in keeping ship on even keel. Commander orders care in changing course. All engines working perfectly, unable to gain headway in wind. Lightning increasing in intensity. Hope to ride out storm soon. Unable to get radio to function."

"Order to throw off gasoline tanks given and complied with, but does not aid stability. Radio no better, wind increasing in volume, get chance to—"

The sentence was never completed.

A resourceful man purchased for a very small sum a dozen oak table leaves which had not been taken by the purchaser when some banquet tables were closed up by a hotel going out of business. He took these table leaves and in his spare time made out of them a fine and roomy china cabinet with lead glass fronts, thus giving his wife the additional cupboard room which she sadly needed.

1913.....35
1914.....46
1915.....53

1921.....205
1922.....237

REACHED FOR CHICK BUT FOUND BEES

Instead of grasping fluffy, sleepy chickens, as was his design, Louis Guerdit, Teddy Ave., was decidedly startled when he clutched a swarm of bees Sunday evening. Louis's chickens had been getting out through his fence. So Sunday evening after dark thinking to fetch some of the wanderers back he seized a flashlight, and went exploring a large grape vine along the fence among whose branches the chickens sometimes roosted. Seeing a dark object, he unhesitatingly grabbed, and with less hesitation retreated. The object proved to be a big swarm of bees, which was clinging to the vine. When he could locate no hive among his neighbors, he found it necessary to get rid of the bees with as little disturbance to himself and family as possible.—Hartford Press.

M'CORMICK-DEERING

There is a Reason!

There is a reason why McCormick-Deering Tractors are increasing in popularity by leaps and bounds. There is a reason why these sturdy, completely equipped tractors are rapidly replacing cheaper tractors in all sections of the country. There is a reason, also, why the farmers and orchardists of one county in California bought, during 1924, over a hundred McCormick-Deering—more than all other makes combined in the same period.

The reason is that McCormick-Deering 10-20 and 15-30 Tractors are the long-lived kind, and are by far the most economical per year of service.

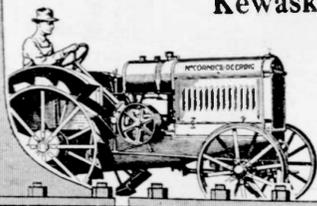

The crankshaft and crankshaft ball bearings in every McCormick-Deering are guaranteed against breakage for life. There are ball and roller bearings at 28 points, and all wearing parts, including cylinders, are replaceable. Entire frame is in one sturdy unit. All gears and important wearing parts are enclosed, running in oil. All parts are easily accessible, easily removed. Complete equipment includes throttle governor, wide platform, adjustable drawbar, Alemite lubricating system, impulse magneto, fenders, etc. Weight is distributed perfectly for good traction and safe operation. Short turning radius for convenient handling.

All in all, the McCormick-Deering is the tractor for every farmer in this community. Let us show you what it will do for you, then we'll tell you how easily you can own one.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

MENTAL INERTIA

IT IS the fine solid sort of man or woman, who by power or will alone can overcome the various lumps or inertias which habitually cross his or her path, or stand on the highway of life like a common bandit and shout out: "Stand up and deliver!"

It matters not what course we may be pursuing in business or among professional callings, we are pretty sure at some time or another to come face to face with the form of sluggishness and drag along for days and days under its strange spell in spite of all the energy we can summon or all the good intentions we can muster to help us out of our difficulty. And when we finally emerge from the torpor, we realize that we have been in the clutches of an inertia that had slowed us down and frightened us until we were not our normal selves.

There is always in such a state as this, the nice critical moment of finding our bearings, breaking the heavy fetters and regaining again our old-time vitality and aggressiveness.

From timidity to boldness is but a short jump, but the man or woman who can make the leap, confident in his or her strength, is certain to land on solid ground, ready to fight the way to victory.

Those dull, blunt and passive persons whose mental faculties function slowly from habit can in a little while by well-directed, persistent effort become forcible, active and energetic.

But when they once see their faces toward an active life of usefulness they must not be persuaded to turn back to the old disuse, or they will never get an inch beyond the boundary line that separates success from failure.

In point of fact, mental inertia is one of the most formidable obstructions and destructive forces with which the world has to reckon. It creeps in upon the mind like a thief in the night. It lures its victims to delightful hopes and dangerous illusions and later tosses them for their lifeless incapacity.

Nor does mental inertia preach what it practices, for in its deplorable work it is ever alert in the pursuit of unsuspecting dupes, and never a moment during the fleeting years of time does it desist to dethrone and destroy.

THE CHILDREN COME

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

TRUTH moves but slowly, but it moves.

It takes a century of thought before the race a thing approves.

That in a moment might be wrought. The hearts of women long ago knew war was wrong and war a show.

But men have stilled the mother's groan.

With horns a little louder blown.

But now I hear another tread. Another generation hears.

Truth moves but slowly, but ahead. The world is tired of making tears.

We thought us wise, yet into war the sad world blundered as before.

With grief again the world is dumb. But there is hope: The children come!

SCHOOL DAYS

Your Last Name

IS IT WASHBURNE?

THE Washburne family, which is one of the finest in New England, traces descent to John Washburne who settled in Duxbury, Mass., in 1631. He was a member of an old English family that derived its name from Washbourne, County Worcester.

There was an Israel Washburne of this family who served valiantly in the Revolution, a Benjamin Washburne, born in 1816, who was secretary of state, and Israel Washburne, his brother, who was governor of Maine.

RUFFIN—This name is an old name in North Carolina, and was undoubtedly of French origin. In England the name Ruffine was introduced by Dr. James Ruffine, a student of Leyden in 1671. He went to England because of his Protestant beliefs after the revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

Coins of Ancient Rome

Two hoards of coins were brought to light by an expedition excavating on the site of ancient Karanis, in the Fayoum. Both hoards belong to the period of the Roman empire. One was found in an earthen jar which contained 1,185 well-preserved small coins of the sort known as minutii.

Story-and-a-Half House of Seven Rooms Provides Much Extra Space

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all problems pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on the subject.

It is sometimes surprising how much room one can get in a story-and-a-half house. That extra space on the upper floor adds considerably to the number of rooms available and does so without increasing the building costs in proportion.

Building materials have been developed to such a degree that the roof of the bungalow or story-and-a-half house can be thoroughly insulated against the summer sun, and it can be done without great expense.

A house of this type is shown here, which offers an unusual number of rooms of good size. There are seven rooms in this house in addition to a large alcove, a washroom, two bathrooms and an extra toilet on the first floor.

Attractive Porch

The exterior is finished in clapboard, and the roof is shingled. An attractive porch extends clear across the front, and the roof of this porch is formed by carrying the main roof down in an unbroken sweep.

bedrooms is opposite the dining room, the other directly back of it at the rear corner. Between the two is the bathroom which is cut off from both by large closets.

The kitchen is well equipped with built-in cupboards and has a pantry in which the ice box is installed, with an opening through which it may be filled from the washroom at the rear. This washroom will prove a real boon to the housekeeper, for here she may do the washing without the necessity of running up and down the basement stairs.

It has built-in laundry tubs, and out of it there is a convenient toilet. The stairway to the upper floor is also found here, and a back entrance to the house, though there is no rear porch.

On the upper floor there are two bedrooms of good size, and each has a large closet. There is also a linen closet in the hall at the head of the stairs, and one of the bedrooms has a large alcove, almost a small room in itself, which is lighted by the dormer seen in the illustration of the house.

Save Future Expense by Using Good Piping

One of the most often neglected details in building a new home, or remodeling an old one, is the plumbing. And by plumbing we mean especially the piping for the water supply and the drains.

There are several grades of pipe and a number of materials from which pipe is made. It would be wise for the prospective home owner and builder to consult with his architect, who is paid for knowing such things, and ask him to recommend some kind of pipe that will withstand the ravages of rusting too fast.

The price of the pipe the architect recommends may be a bit higher than that recommended by the plumbing contractor, however, but anyone can understand that it is real economy to pay a few dollars more at the start for good piping than have to break down plaster and tear out walls five or six years later to get at a leaking pipe that has broken because it has rusted through.

Home Plumbing Should Be of Best Quality

Plumbing in a home is one of the things that simply cannot be neglected if one would avoid trouble when his home is two or three years old.

It is costly to replace bathroom equipment, such as wash basins, toilets, tubs and piping. Cheap iron tubs, despite frequent painting, rust through in a few years.

One would not think of buying a bond which he was not sure of, but many put cheap equipment into their homes to save a few dollars.

Evidently They Were Coming in Quantities

The Randall Babbits, who live over near Hollenback park, are very proud of their twins, so one day when Mrs. Babbit brought one out and placed it in the baby carriage, she was not at all displeased when a little boy, a stranger in the neighborhood, came up and said: "Oh, what a nice little boy!"

Maine Hen Lore

A contributor to a Cleveland newspaper, telling of a hen running through heavy traffic with a bright ribbon dangling from her tail feathers, adds: "Evidently she had been struck before." Tut! tut! Is it possible that the writer has never heard of that time-honored method of "breaking up" a setting hen by attaching a bit of red cloth to her tail—red flannel preferably? Just why flannel has never been satisfactorily explained, but flannel has always been demanded by the good folk who believe in this plan, and happy was the boy who was called upon to affix the streamer and then watch the crazy antics of its unwilling wearer.—Portland Press Herald.

Malaria Study in Sweden

Malaria, which has caused so much trouble in other parts of the world, is now practically unknown in Sweden, but the Royal Bacteriological Institute of Stockholm is engaged in making a study of the Anopheles mosquito, which carries its germ. This mosquito is harmless unless it has sucked the blood of a person with the disease, and has had time to develop the parasites in its own system.

Australian Child Brides

Australia's child brides during 1923 numbered 483, under seventeen years of age, the youngest being only thirteen, and seventy-three women of sixty-five years and over. The oldest bridegroom was eighty-six. Among the young mothers was a child of twelve, while six girls of only thirteen years gave birth to children.

Woman's Many Honors

Mrs. Arthur Strong, who recently retired from the post of assistant director of the British school in Rome, is said to possess honorary degrees from more universities and honors from more learned societies than any other woman in the world. Mrs. Strong has a worldwide reputation as an authority on art, ancient and modern.

Standardize Undies

The bureau of standards now is seeking to standardize underwear sizes. At present the underwear of various manufacturers is just enough different so that many people find suits of the same size but of different makes do not fit them.

FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS

HERE is something that may be prepared a little at a time, making a rare treat when all the fruit is added:

Fruit Melange.

A stone cross of a large glass jar will be the best receptacle. The fruits in their season are preserved and a cupful at a time is added to the jar. Arrange in layers without stirring and keep closely covered in a cool place all the time. Begin with berries and add peaches, pears and plums and apricots, finishing with a pint jar of maraschino cherries, though the fresh cherries will be sufficient. Let stand a month or two before using.

Peaches in Raspberry Juice

To two quarts of raspberries or crushed fruit with the juice drained off, add four quarts of peaches and seven pounds of sugar; this will make about eight to ten pints of this preserve. Boil the strained juice; if it is from canned fruit allow less sugar; add a few crushed peach kernels for flavor. Add the peaches cut into halves a few at a time, cooking them quickly until clear. Remove from the stovetop, cool and allow them to stand until perfectly cold before canning. The juice is then boiled again and poured over the jars, which has been packed over the fruit which has been packed in the jars. Any fruit juice may be used—pineapple, strawberry or grape; all will make delicious preserves.

When the carrots are small in size, cold-pack a few jars of them for winter. Then when wanted all that is needed is to heat and serve them with any desired sauce. After scalding them place in jars, partly seal after adding salt—one teaspoonful to a quart—and filling the jar with boiling water; cover well with boiling water and boil one and one-half hours. Remove and seal tightly.

THE YOUNG LADY ACROSS THE WAY

The young lady across the way says that coal dealer seems to be such a nice man and she is sure every ton he sells contains the full 1,500 pounds. (By McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Mirror Built in Door Adds to Beauty of Room

Built-in mirrors, especially in bedrooms or dressing rooms, are quite handy. Whoever has tried to get a full view of the effect of a new suit or dress in the mirror mounted on a dresser or wall will agree to this.

One of the best ways to mount this mirror is on a door. It not only gives the room a more spacious appearance, but brightens up the room as well.

If it is not possible to mount the mirror on a door, a full-length glass on the wall will serve. Mounting mirrors in any of these two ways is much handier and saves more space than the old-fashioned frame mirror set in frames on the floor.

Care of Floors Easy With Power Scrubber

The care and improvement of floors are matters of importance to the fastidious housewife. An electrically driven floor machine for home use is being manufactured in Chicago. It is made for household use, in two sizes. These electrical devices do more thorough, uniform and rapid work than can be done by hand. They are extensively used by busy housewives, in the small house or apartment, for scrubbing kitchens, bathrooms, porches, etc.

These sizes are also suitable for waxing and polishing dining room, hall and living room floors.

Lamp Should Be Put in Right Spot in Home

In placing lamps it is well to remember that the same colors of color that shine from the pictures on the wall by day should be allowed to beautify their surroundings by night. Often a little shifting of the position of a lamp will achieve this result. Sometimes a light may be so concealed behind a piece of bric-a-brac that, without itself being seen, it can light up a picture on the wall nearby, and so the colors of the picture may add their beauty to the decorative scheme of the room.
