Elwood, Ind.—After reading a number of testimonials from different people who have been benefited by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, I may also say that I used it with benefit. I tried a good many tonics before being advised to take the Golden Medical Discovery and I am glad to say that I am surprised at the results. It has helped me beyond my expectations. I most heartily recommend it to others as I am absolutely certain it will do for them what it has done for me.—Albert E. Goslin, 1623 So. 1st St.

Beam Radio Plan to Reduce Costs

Short-Wave System of Telegraphy Recently Put Into Operation.

That the cost of inter-continental communication will gradually be lowered there can be little doubt, when we consider the almost startling advances in the art of radio telegraphy. One of the latest developments is the short-wave beam system of telegraphy which was recently put into operation by the Marconi company between England and Canada. In comparison with the widely used long-wave radio stations which have been used for inter-continental communication heretofore, the new short-wave beam installation is a mere pygmy in size and in power used. An article in Radio Broadcast magazine describes a typical beam station consisting of five 277-foot masts, while the transmitter operates with an input of only 20 kilowatts. The transmitting frequency is 11,500 kc. (26.10 meters).

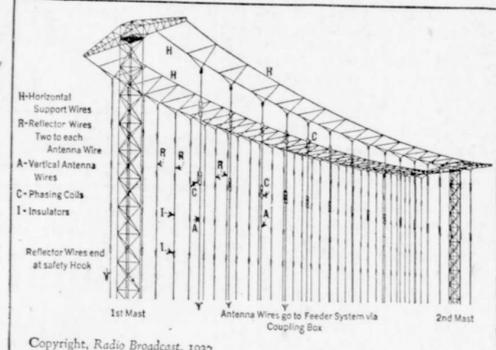

Diagram Shows One Span of Sixteen Antenna and Thirty-Two Reflector Wires. There Are Two Such Spans for Each Transmitter or Four for Each Station.

The Radio corporation's station at Rocky Point, by way of contrast, has twelve 400-foot masts and a power of from 200 to 400 kilowatts is employed. Twelve masts, 800 feet high, with a power input of 500 kilowatts, are used by the British post-office wireless station at Rugby, England; ten towers, 634 feet high, with an input of 800 kilowatts, comprise the installation at Buenos Aires, in the Argentine. All of these stations use very long wave lengths—24.9 kilocycles to 17.15 kilocycles (12,000 to 17,500 meters). Many other large stations could be cited as examples in this class. It can readily be imagined that the economies effected by the new beam system are of considerable magnitude, not only from the standpoint of initial cost, but also of maintenance. The speed of transmission and the reliability are also considerably greater in the new system. Concentrating the radio waves in a beam instead of allowing them to wander to every point makes it possible to use 20 kilowatts instead of the 200 or more required in the ordinary long-wave system. In spite of the fact that less power is used at the transmitting station, more power is delivered to the receiving station, and that is the goal all radio engineers strive for. In the arrangement of the antenna system at Bodmin, England, the antenna wires are disposed so as to constitute grids parallel to each other, the antenna wires being energized simultaneously from the transmitter at a number of feeding points, through a special feeding system, so as to insure that the phase of the oscillations in all the wires are the same. The antenna and reflector wires are vertical, while horizontal wires are used as supports. There are 10 antenna wires and 32 reflector wires at each station, and there are four spans at each station, two for a transmitter operating on 11,500 kilocycles (26.10 meters), and two for a transmitter which will operate on a slightly higher wavelength not yet determined. Proved by Calculations. It has been proved by calculations, and confirmed by experiment, so the author of the Radio Broadcast article, Kenneth B. Humphrey, tells us, that the directional effect of such an arrangement is a function of its dimensions relative to the wave length used. Therefore, the shorter the wave length, the smaller the antenna system and consequently the less cost. Besides the actual decrease in physical dimensions, the properties of short waves are such that long distances can be easily spanned. By the use of reflectors at both the sending and receiving ends, the wave is projected out in a narrow beam and is caught at the receiving end by a similar reflector, and concentrated on the receiving antenna. This stops up the signal strength and permits the use of much lower power, all of which has a direct bearing on the cost. Use power tubes in the third stage if distortion is to be eliminated entirely. al controls, for the compensation differs for every setting of the main dial. "An appreciation of the difficulties involved in the tandem tuning of three individual circuits finds its expression on the part of the manufacturer in two ways in the development of 'localized control,' and the design of receivers having two controls instead of one control. The localized idea is perhaps most familiarly illustrated in the R. C. A. super-heterodynes. The oscillator and tuning dials, in the form of closely parallel drums, are so arranged that they may be turned together by a single motion of one hand. However, either dial can be turned separately, permitting those fine variations of a degree or two which are essential to efficiency on uncompensated circuits. "A somewhat similar arrangement produced by another concern is now available to the constructing fan. Three condensers of a modified straight frequency-line type are mounted concentrically, with shafts parallel to the panel, rather than perpendicular to it. The three condensers are not mechanically linked, and each is controlled individually by its respective dial. However, all three may be turned simultaneously by two fingers, placed upon the center peripheries. Scales reading from zero to one hundred, displayed in the rim, are supplied as standard equipment, but these are easily altered and such special designations as wavelength, frequency, or call letters, can be substituted to suit individual needs," concludes Mr. Bouck.

Tandem Systems Tend to Reduce Controls

"The tendency to reduce controls by tandem tuning, which has been gaining more favor as it has solved its problems, is one of the predominant features of the 1927 tuning circuits," writes Zeh Bouck in a recent issue of Radio Broadcast magazine. "Tandem tuning refers to the mechanical linking of two or more tuning units. These units generally consist of untuned condensers, with rotors mounted on a common shaft revolving through individual stator plates built into a rugged, extended frame work. The isolated but simultaneously varied capacitances are connected to individual circuits—one, two, three or more r. f. stages, and detector. The problems associated with tandem tuning have been the matching of the various inductors and capacitances. "For really successful tandem tuning, it is essential that the inductance or coil effect of the different circuits, and the capacity or condenser effect, be the same at all frequencies (wave lengths). This means that, in complete series employing tandem tuning, the stray capacity and inductance caused by wiring and the juxtaposition of parts, must be exactly the same in all radio frequency circuits, a balance that requires finesse only recently attained in the art of radio production. The use of vernier condensers can compensate for the discrepancies in stray capacity. But if employed to correct condenser or coil discrepancies, these verniers are, in effect, additional

Radio "Hams" Get Praise From Senator Marconi

The radio "ham" has been much maligned at times, often with good reason, and at other times unjustly. Most of the men higher up in radio, however, have given the amateur credit for much valuable experimental and research work. In speaking of the amateurs, in an article in Radio Broadcast magazine, Senator Marconi says: "The results obtained by amateurs in the field of short-wave endeavor do great credit to them, especially if we consider that most amateurs possess only limited facilities for forgotten that work. It should not be forgotten that two-way communication with New Zealand for brief periods. Their observations have often been of value in helping us to arrive at a somewhat better understanding of the very complex phenomena involved, but I think it is sometimes dangerous to attach too much importance to all their observations, especially when they concern what I might term 'negative results.'

COATS OF NOVELTY WORSTEDS; SPRING HATS FEATURE CROWNS

THE black and white vogue is "carrying on" at a fast and furious rate for spring. Especially is this true in the realm of sports coats, where startling black and white plaids are considered one of the smartest items for the coming season. Choose a model such as the one in this picture and you will be credited as being cloaked most fashionably. The basket weave plaid worsted which contrasts black with white, selected as the medium for this swag-gar coat emphasizes the trend toward extreme novelty and startling effect. Most of the spring sports coats are fur-collared. Natural lynx, collars this one. The latest coats are noted for their unusual pockets. In the instance of the smart spring mode here pictured, the looping of a wide strap of the fabric from beneath a large button centered in the pocket imparts to it an unmistakable style touch. Black and white plaids with stripes of brilliant red, green and yellow rayon are the "last word" in cloaking for sportswear. Dressier coats also register black and white combinations, but in a different manner from sports models. That is, they achieve the contrast of black and white in the trimming rather than in the weaving itself. Of such are the patrician looking slim black suede models which are collared with white calfskin. Satin, moire and flat crepe are strongly advocated for the black coat for spring, for the style message from across seas places especial stress on the silk coat for the coming months. These are variously detailed with white ermine or baby fox and the combining of monkey fur with ermine is an effective new touch. Black cloth or silk coats with white embroidery are attracting much interest. These are timely for immediate wear. Later the white coat quilted or hand embroidered in black will make its appearance. To the crowns of our chapeaux do we pay homage these days, for apparently they are "doing the honors" in conveying the spring millinery style message. Especially do crowns have everything to do with the smartness of the new fets. Such acrobatic feats pleurogods, using a felt hood for the muchly bedraped crown. The brim of the hat of imposing crown, shown at the top to the right, rolls up at one side, which is a most stylish thing for it to do. The fact that it is velvet-faced, and that the tall tabs are stitched row-and-row adds to its "Frenchness." The crown of the center hat expresses the "last word" of the mode. In the hat pictured below to the left we see a happy combination of style details, such as the beret suggestion for the crown, its multitudinous creases and especially its ribbon trim. The last model in the group is noteworthy in that it reveals the trend toward the cloche silhouette. JULIA BOTTMOLLEY. (© 1927, Western Newspaper Union.)

Pays for Itself in Better Crops

Even if you have only a small farm the New Idea Spreader will make you enough money to pay for itself and give you a profit besides.

Scientists and experiment stations have determined that the value of manure is from $3 to $10 per animal. Ordinarily half of this is lost through absorption in the barnyard and through improper spreading with a fork. Save this half by using a New Idea Spreader and you'll save $300 to $400 a year even on an 80 acre farm—more on a larger place.

That's why you should increase your profits by spreading with the

NEW IDEA

Registered U.S. Pat. Off.

Spreads 7 Feet—Across 3 Corn Rows

The wide spreading New Idea saves you half a mile of travel per acre. It spreads beyond the wagon tracks and you don't have to drive over the spread manure. It spreads uniformly and the spread can be varied 3, 6, 9, 12, 15, 18 loads per acre merely by pushing a lever.

The double cylinders and distributor take two whacks at the manure. Every particle goes onto the ground—none left to freeze or rot. There is no danger of clogging so the New Idea can be loaded as high as the ordinary wagon box. Strong chain conveyor brings the manure unafraid to cylinders. Cannot slip from under load and will not race going up hill.

Chain drive—no gears to freeze, break or strip. Power to conveyor and spreader mechanism is derived direct from rear axle—no side strain or lost power.

The New Idea is made by spreader specialists with more than 16 years experience, who have the confidence to back their machine with a 1 year guarantee on workmanship and material. We unhesitatingly recommend it.

Let us show you how it works and you'll understand why we're so enthusiastic about the New Idea. It costs you nothing to investigate and you will not be urged to buy against your will.

A big black retriever, named Peto, belonging to a farmer of East Leake, near Longborough, England, has shown a particular fondness for white eggs on farm terms with the rest of the feathered inhabitants of the farm. Every morning the pull has walked over the dog's back to the end of its kennel and laid an egg. Peto immediately has eaten it, shell and all.

Doings at Our State Capital

Madison.—In a letter to the legislators accompanying his approval of the $750,000 bovine tuberculosis emergency appropriation, Gov. Zimmerman has stated there is "already a deficit of $1,500,000 in the general state fund."

Badger State Briefs

Reedsburg.—Twenty-four head of cattle, four horses, and a quantity of hay were burned when the barn on the August Minkoff farm was destroyed by fire.

Richland Center.—J. C. Lamberson, 81, Richland Center Civil war veteran and member of the Wisconsin legislature from 1880 to 1894, died at his home here.

Wausau.—Militant measures used by Mrs. Florence George, Wausau county humane officer, have resulted in the sheriff issuing an order that all slot machines should be removed before March 15 or prosecution of proprietors would be started.

Marion.—A broad sow on the farm of Albert Rosenow, near here, gave birth to seven pigs recently, all of which to eight months. All of the last litter are living and there is every indication they will develop into husky porkers.

Manitowish.—One person was injured and three others, all members of the train crew, received slight injuries when the Manitowish Two Rivers train on the North Western line was wrecked two miles south of Two Rivers. Scattered rails were believed to have been the cause.

Elkhorst.—Drivers of passenger busses who fail to bring their automobiles to a full stop at all unguarded railroad crossings in Waushara county will be subject to a fine of from $10 to $100, according to the provisions of an ordinance passed by the county board of supervisors.

Superior.—Sixteen miles of state highway 11 running due east and west through Douglas county will be improved with tar gravel under a measure adopted by the Douglas county board of supervisors. The board's decision brought to an end a heated controversy which began in 1925 when J. T. Donaghy, former state highway engineer, branded the highway as having too little traffic to warrant concrete pavement.

J. B. Borden was removed as secretary of the state board of public affairs and C. J. Hough elected to fill the vacancy at a meeting of the board in the office of Gov. Zimmerman. Mr. Borden has served as secretary of the board for six years under the Binette administration and for a long period was assistant superintendent of the schools.

Madison.—The average salary for teachers in rural schools in Wisconsin for the year ending June 30, 1928, was $812.71, up from state graded schools it was $7,132.93, the state board of education has revealed. The average salary in the county high schools and grade schools in communities which are not under the jurisdiction of city superintendents, was $1,343.16; in city high schools and grades the average for the year was $1,594.80. The total cost of education in the public schools for the same year was $50,725,278.87, while the total distribution of state aid of every description amounted to $4,365,311.79.

Kenosha.—An enormous distillery capable of producing 800 gallons of alcohol a day and the product of which has sold for $250,000 in the last 10 months was discovered 22 miles west of here by Sheriff John Watters and his deputies. They were searching for such a plant, following information from Chicago prohibition officials that Kenosha county was supplying Clero with most of its illegal beverages. The plant is valued at $75,000 and the record books confiscated with it show that the profits were from $3,000 to $5,000 weekly. Addresses of buyers were found in the records.

DOHENY OIL LEASES VOIDED; FRAUDULENT

Supreme Court Links Fall in Plot; Magnate Loses Millions in Development.

WHAT U. S. WINS

Washington.—Here's what the government gets, through the Supreme court decision against Edward L. Doheny:

Wins back the immensely valuable 32,000-acre oil reserve in California with all improvements thereon.

Secures possession of a huge oil storage plant at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Gets accrued profits resulting from the sinking of wells in Elk Hills reserve which have been held in trust by a receiver appointed by the court.

Washington.—Holding that Edward L. Doheny, oil millionaire, and Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, were parties to a "collusion, conspiracy and fraud," the United States Supreme court canceled the Elk Hills naval oil leases and returned the great reserves to the navy.

The court also held that Doheny and the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport company shall not be re-paid approximately $12,000,000 which they expended in development of the reserve and in building a naval fuel oil depot at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Judge McCormick, at Los Angeles, ordered the leases canceled, but held Doheny entitled to an accounting for all money expended.

The circuit court of Appeals held that Doheny was not entitled to reparation.

Justice Butler, who wrote the findings, said:

"The facts and circumstances show clearly that the interest and influence of Fall as well as his official actions were corruptly secured by Doheny and that the transaction was brought about by means of collusion and corruption conspiracy. Their purpose was to get for the petitioners (Doheny's companies) oil and gas leases covering all the unleased lands in the reserve. The whole transaction was tainted with corruption."

As soon as the decision became known, the Navy and Interior departments took steps to take over the Elk Hills oil pool.

While the proposals were pending, the court found Doheny gave Fall $100,000.

Fall and Doheny were indicted for criminal conspiracy, but were acquitted.

Declares Measure Would Help Middlemen Only; Now Dead Until December.

Washington.—President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill and in a vigorous message to congress, explaining his action, declared that the bill was unconstitutional; that it would not benefit the farmer, and that it was unworkable.

The President's veto kills any chance for farm relief legislation until next December, as there is no chance of enactment of the measure over the veto, nor is there time to put through any other program in the week remaining of the present session.

While the principal ground for the veto was its stated unconstitutionality, supported by a ten-page opinion from the attorney general, Mr. Coolidge literally backed the bill to pieces with his criticism of it.

The unconstitutionality was based upon that section which would limit the President in his choice of men to comprise the federal board which would administer the act. This was interpreted by the attorney general to violate the constitutional appointive power of the President.

But, aside from that, Mr. Coolidge said:

"The chief objection to the bill is that it would not benefit the farmer. It would not succeed in providing a practical method of controlling the agricultural surplus, which is the heart of the whole problem. . . . The administrative difficulties involved are sufficient to wreck the plan. . . . The bill would subject the whole agricultural industry to the tyranny of bureaucratic regulation and control. . . . The bill would impose the burden of its support to a large degree upon farmers who would not benefit by it. . . . The whole effect of the plan will be to continuously stimulate American production and to pile up increasing surpluses beyond the world demand. . . . The bill is essentially a price-fixing bill. . . . These were but a few of the barbed shafts by Mr. Coolidge in the course of a message that ran nearly 8,000 words. . . . The difficulty with this particular measure," the President said, "is that it is not framed to aid the farmer as a whole and it is furthermore calculated to injure rather than promote the public welfare. . . . It is axiomatic that progress is made through building on good foundations that already exist. For many years, balanced and diversified farming has been regarded by thoughtful farmers and scientists as the safeguarding of our agriculture. The bill under consideration throws this aside as of no consequence. . . . The measure discriminates against products which make up what has universally been considered a program of safe farming. The bill upholds as ideals of American farming the men who grow cotton, corn, rice, wheat and other crops and nothing else. These are to be given special favors at the expense of the farmer who toiled for years to build up a constructive farming enterprise to include a variety of crops and live stock. . . . The bill singles out a few products, chiefly sections, and proposes to raise the prices of these regardless of the fact that thousands of other farmers would be directly penalized."

Washington.—New radio legislation which President Coolidge has approved promises eventually to end the annoyance of interference for listeners, Secretary Hoover says, but he warns the public to maintain some patience while the federal government organizes the new system of regulation.

While the licenses of all radio stations and operators have been technically canceled by the new law, the Commerce department will consider them in force until the commission which is to pass upon licensing begins to function.

"The completion of radio legislation makes it possible to eventually clear up the chaos of interference and hush in radio reception," the secretary of commerce said in explaining the situation.

The new commission which is to determine who shall have licenses to broadcast at what times and with what power, will not doubt require some months to make rearrangements of broadcasting stations which will be necessary.

"There are today 733 stations broadcasting for public entertainment and information and there are a total of 18,119 radio-receiving stations of all sorts."

"This new act makes a fundamental change in the whole radio system. Every license for radio transmission now outstanding is automatically terminated. This applies to the whole 18,119 stations broadcasting. No new licenses can be issued and no action can be taken upon applications now pending until the commission is formed."

"Owners of licensed stations may under the law continue to operate them for a period of sixty days without incurring the penalties provided in the act for unlicensed operation. Every station owner who desires to operate after the sixty-day period must apply to the commission for new license, and should do so within the sixty days."

"All persons who are constructing or desire to construct new stations must apply to the commission for construction permits."

CAR HEADLIGHTS DENOTE FUNERAL

Important Traffic Problem May Be Solved by Washington Official.

The solution of an important traffic problem seems at hand with granting of permission by Director Eldridge to Washington morticians to use headlights on cars in funeral processions to indicate to other traffic that the cortege has the right of way.

Action of the traffic director followed a suggestion written to him by a Washington mortician, who emphasized the need of making known to all motorists when a funeral procession is a part of a traffic stream.

Under the regulation, a funeral cortege has the right of way under all conditions, but, as the writer pointed out:

"There never has been any means by which a funeral procession is recognized. This is true especially under present conditions, when, in slow-moving traffic, a funeral procession hardly is distinguishable from any other line of cars."

"The modern limousine basket coach is unlike the old-style carved hearse and the passenger cars which make up many corteges are furnished by friends of the deceased and may be of any style or color; therefore, such a procession is not easily recognizable as one having right of way."

"Several years ago we adopted the use of a sticker for the windshield of cars, the use of which was approved by the then head of the traffic department. These were discarded for the reason that the majority of drivers of privately-driven cars objected to having them attached to the windshield; the same objection applies to any type of insignia that must be attached for the occasion and be removed as soon as the procession is disbanded."

Other Cities Follow.—The mortician submitted statements to the traffic director from Pittsburgh and Minneapolis authorities. The practice of burning the headlights is in force at these places and with no small measure of success.

In his letter to the director, he pointed out that he believed the following amendment to the existing regulations would be of inestimable value in clearing up a rather tangled situation:

STORY FROM THE START

While dependent over the entrance of her home, Jim Stokes, slayer in self-defense of Homer Parkinson, FBI Saunders, police officer, engaged to Miss Viola in a charity performance of "Twelfth Night" on Gull Island, on the Maine coast. After the play, Miss Tracy, Anne Tracy's fiance, tells Joe he has heard he is going on Gull to learn the whereabouts of Jim Stokes and extra the reward offered by the Parkinson family. The boy denies it. To Anne he brings the whorlhouse. Jim Stokes tells still he has news of Stokes, and to secure privacy they arrange to meet in a small summer house. Flora Stokes tells Basset that she saw Stella but did not see her murderer. Basset notified the sheriff, Abel Williams. The latter suggests Flora Stokes. Anne Tracy discovers Joe's name on the island which he was supposed to have left, and warns him against attempting to escape.

With that knowledge her outlook changed. Her positive role was over. If Joe had done it and if he was on the island he would try to get off at low tide. It was safe to assume that he was outside, hidden till the causeway was open. To go out to find him would be useless, he would never reveal himself to her, and if she was arrested would instantly be released. She must get somewhere that would command the causeway and its approaches. The best place—the only place—was the living room entrance. From there she could see in all directions, the balcony end, the kitchen wing, the pine grove. She would try to wait him back, possibly get to him—she had to raise her chances and trust to Heaven.

The tide was at full ebb at midnight. At a quarter before she made ready. She took from the bureau a book she had been reading—if she could not see him she could see the door with the stealth of a burglar. A dead silence reigned as she stole down the stairs and into the living room.

At the entrance, pressed against the door, she looked out. It was a world of white enchantment, breathlessly still. She could see the patterned surface of leaves, the cracks and fissures of the rocks. Below, the channel lay almost bare, pools glistening like dropped shadows, mounds of sand casting inky shadows.

She could hear the murmur of the sea's voices from the open library windows, and like the throbbing of a rattled engine, the beating of her own heart.

Into that deep enveloping quietude came a sound, so faint, so infinitely small and hushed, that only expectant ears could have caught it. It came from the room behind her, and turning, she slid back against the wall, her body black against its blackness. The sound continued, the opening of a door opposite, the door into the kitchen wing. It seemed no door in the world here were opened so slowly—creaking, stopping, resuming, dying away. She could see nothing, for the darkness of the gallery lay impenetrable over that furtive entrance.

There was a footstep, light as the fall of a leaf, and she saw him coming toward her in that high luminous pallor from the windows. He was like a shadow, so evenly dark, a shape without detail, moving with a shadow's noiseless passage. She saw the outline of the cup on his head and that he carried his shoes in one hand. She came forward with a hand raised for caution, sending her voice before her in an agonized whisper: "Go back, Joe. The causeway's watched. You can't get over that way."

He was gone, a fleet flying, vanishing back into the darkness under the gallery. Out of it came the soft closing of the door.

The room swayed, pale light and darkness swayed and confused, a woman who was near a table and put out her hand to steady herself by it, something solid to hold to for one minute. The polished surface slid under her fingers and she groped out with the hand that held the book. The book slipped from her grasp, fell with a thud like a thunderclap, and a grasping snatch to save it swept a lamp crashing to the floor. Panic displaced her faintness and she made a run for the door. She had gained it. Her fingers touched round the knob, as she heard the steps of the men in the hall and knew it was too late to escape.

They burst in, thrust into the room's dim quiet as if shot by a blast. "It's nothing," she called, hearing her voice thin and hoarse. "Nothing's happened." It was Anne Tracy.

over me, there by the table, and I grabbed it and upset the lamp." Rawson looked at the table with the shattered fragments of the lamp beside it. It was not far from the entrance door. "Did you see anything—anything outside?" "No, not a thing and I didn't hear a sound." "What do you suppose made you feel faint?" "Oh!" She dared to make a gesture, upraised hands that dropped limply. "Haven't there been enough here to make anybody faint?" "You've got to remember, Rawson," said Basset who thought the man's insistence unnecessary, "what a shock this has been—especially to Miss Tracy who was Miss Saunders' friend."

"I remember." Then to Anne: "Miss Tracy, if you should withhold any information from us you'd get yourself into a very uncomfortable position."

"I wouldn't, I wouldn't," she breathed.

Rawson's glance remained on her, dubiously intent. Basset noted it with a resentment he found it difficult to hide. "You can absolutely rely on Miss Tracy," he said. "She would be perfectly frank with you if she had anything to tell."

"No doubt, no doubt," said the other, and walked to the entrance. "I'm going out to have a look around." On the sill he turned and addressed Anne. "I gave some instructions to you ladies and I expected to have them followed. You'll please remember them in the future."

He passed out into the brilliancy of the moonlight. Now that he was gone Basset felt he must make her understand. He had been astonished at what she had done. It was so unlike her, a disobedience of orders at such a time as this.

"You must do what they tell you, Anne. They have to make these rules and it's up to us to keep them."

"I will now, you can trust me, Mr. Williams, you can see how it was full of this awful thing, and I thought if I could put it on something else—get free from my thoughts even for a few moments."

Williams granted his comprehension. He felt rather tenderly toward her. She looked so small and wan and her voice was so pleading.

"Where was your book?" he asked. "On the table behind you. I was feeling round for it and I think I pushed it off with the lamp."

"What was the name of it?" "Victory," by Joseph Conrad. His back turned, she and Basset exchanged a long look. Williams picked up the book and came back with it.

"Here it is," he said, giving it to her. "And just make a note of the fact that you're not to go round the house at night after books or anything else."

She assured him she would not, she would give them no more trouble, and opening the door she slipped away. The room remained without speaking till she came out on the gallery and walked to her room.

"Well," said Williams, "her book was there."

Basset stared at him: "Was there? Why shouldn't it be? Good God! You have any idea she was lying? If you have, get it out of your head. I've known Miss Tracy for three years and she could no more say what wasn't true than well, she couldn't, that's all."

"I don't think she did. It sounded to me a perfectly straight story."

"It was. You can take my word for that." They were back in the library when Rawson reappeared with Shine. Shine, unable to sleep, had been sitting by his window when Rawson, scouting, had stopped to inquire if he had seen anyone. Shine had not, but had volunteered to join in a hunt and the two had been about the house and the immediate vicinity. Nothing had been discovered and Patrick had seen no sign of life or heard no sound. Now they had come back for the electric torch and were going to extend their search. A person concealed on the seaward side of the island might be moving at this hour when the causeway was free. Basset said he would go with them and the three men left the room by one of the long windows.

Williams opened the library door and turned on the lights. The noise of the departing trio would suggest to anyone on the watch that the house was free of police supervision and there might be developments. He took the desk chair as easier to rise from than the deep-seated leather ones and settled himself to a resume of what they had so far gathered.

He was convinced of Mrs. Stokes' guilt and ran over the records. A hysterical woman, frantic with jealousy—that alone was enough. But that woman had been the only member of the party who at the time of the shooting had been some distance from the house. She had taken the pistol with the intention of using it if an occasion offered. The occasion had offered. Miss Saunders, unable to resist the beauty of the evening, came to the Point alone. He set no store by Rawson's opinion that the woman's state of mind was too genuinely distracted. He considered it as part of a premeditated plan carried through with nerve and skill. She would have known that the report of the pistol would have been heard at the house. This, when Miss Saunders did not return, would have suggested foul play. And he, Mrs. Stokes, was the only person on the island. A later entrance, with an assumption of ignorance, would have turned suspicion on her like a pointing finger. She was too intelligent for that.

It was at this juncture that he suddenly cocked his head and let his hands drop softly to the arms of the chair. From the stairs came a faint creak, a pause, and then again, step by step a bare or stocking foot in gradual descent.

The big man arose as noiselessly as he could and made for the hall. But his bulk and his boots were not adapted to rapid movements or silent surprise. As he reached the hall he heard the pattering flight of light feet and cursed under his breath as he felt for the electric button. Her room—the one he had seen Miss Pinkney put her in—was just beyond the stairhead to the right. And her husband's—he turned and faced the secretive panels of his closed door.

Williams dropped his head and trod thoughtfully back to the library, but this time he left the hall lights on. Also he lit the library ones and allowed himself the solace of a cigar. "She won't let a that again tonight," he said to himself and dropped into an easy chair.

Then Stokes must know. They had had opportunity for private conference in that hour after the murder when the others were out of the house. She had either told him or he had accused her; for all they knew he might have seen her do it. Any way she wanted to get speech with him and it might be support, counsel, and the matching up of their stories—but whatever it was she must have been in dire straits to take such a risk.

Williams smoked on, comfortably sprawled in the deep chair, thinking out a line of attack on the Stokeses. (TO BE CONTINUED.)

Prosperous Year Is Expected for Golf

One big business that promises to keep going at a lively rate in 1927 is golf. Reports indicate that 1,000 new golf clubs were started in 1926. Experts estimate that they will spend approximately $138,000,000 during 1927 for new sprinkling systems and supplies and $15,000,000 for salaries, awards and entertainment. The expenditures of the 4,000 clubs previously in existence, added to those of the new ones, and the incidentals of members for clubs, balls and clothing, statisticians say, will run the total golf bill far past the $1,000,000,000 mark reached in 1926.

Kojac Sets Records

Photograph shows George Kojac, sensational stunt swimmer of the De Witt Clinton high school of New York, who set two records for the 100-yard swim at the University of Pennsylvania scholastic meet. Kojac broke the meet record and also set new figures for the national indoor record by covering the distance in 0:55 3-5, but a fifth of a second slower than the world's scholastic mark for the distance.

Stuffey Melnis Knows Both Major Circuits

John ("Stuffy") Melnis, who breaks into managerial ranks as playing head of the Philadelphia club of the National league, has had plenty of experience as a player in both major circuits. He will stand alone as one who has played on four clubs in two cities. He covered first base for the Red Sox and Braves in Boston and when he plays his first game at first for the Phillies, he will take up in Philadelphia where he left off with the Athletics. He became a star under Connie Mack. Melnis also played for Cleveland and Pittsburgh and has participated in five world series, three with the Athletics, and one each with the Red Sox and Pirates.

Fidel LaBarba Inspects Hoary Halls of Harvard

Harvard university, without which no famed foreigner's American itinerary is complete, has experienced something new in the way of visitors. Fidel LaBarba, world flyweight champion, established a precedent in pugilism by inspecting Harvard's classrooms and dormitories while vacationing in New England. It was noted that the diminutive prize fighter received fully as much attention from students as any president or prince who had ever wandered through the hoary halls. "Oh, boy," exclaimed Fidel, "it will only be until next September when I will hang up the boxing gloves to enter Stanford university at home."

Jack Bentley With Giants

Jack Bentley of the Giants, and Red Miller, Philly coach, stopped in St. Louis following a protracted hunting vacation in the neighborhood of West Plains, Mo. Soon after the season closed the two men embarked for West Plains and have been in the open almost continuously since. Bentley appeared to be in fine trim and declares he will not have to get his arm in condition when the Giants go to Saratoga. He hopes to regain a regular job with John McGraw.

Grimes Lauds McGraw

Burling Grimes, Brooklyn hurler, recently acquired by the New York Giants, expects a big season under John McGraw's leadership. "McGraw," said Grimes, "has sound baseball judgment and all he wants is a player to stay in shape and hustle all the time." Grimes has signed a contract with the Giants. He said it was the first time in his diamond career that he had ever signed such a document the day he received it. He did not divulge the terms.

Motorecycle Pal of Young Enters Movies

William Hastings, pal of George Young on the long motorecycle trek from Toronto, Ont., to California, announced he had signed a film contract for a picture in which the seventeen-year-old winner of the $25,000 Santa Catalina channel swim will not appear.

The contract will pay young Hastings a minimum salary of $300 a week with a 50 per cent interest in the profits of the film. The scenario is based on the adventures of the two boys on their way from Canada to southern California in order that Young might compete in the ocean marathon. Young is reported to have a contract for a similar film under consideration.

HE NEGLECTED TO FOLLOW THROUGH

Important in Almost Any Pass in Basket Ball.

John Dobbin was a forward on the State Center (Iowa) high school team last year, and Dobbin's passing was faulty. His coach, H. C. Johnson, taught him the technique of the various passes, but one thing Dobbin had great difficulty learning. That was the follow-through—an important element of almost any pass, writes Mitchell V. Charney, in the American Boy Magazine. The ball is passed from a regular stride. You hold it waist high, fingers pointing downward, grasping it along the axis; your elbows are bent and out from the body. Deliver the ball with a snap of the wrist, giving it a natural under-english.

And then—follow through! Your fingers and arms follow through behind the ball, while the rear leg follows through in the next after. The follow through helps you to give the ball direction, accuracy, speed enough to send it parallel to the floor (not in an arch) until it reaches the receiver.

Another frequently used team pass, and a very fast one, is the push pass. You can use it from any kind of position. Hold the ball chest high, your hands slightly behind the axis. Then, with a sudden forward push of arms and hands, shoot the ball away from you, following through with arms and hands. Often, in scrimmage, this pass is almost a "bat pass," for it can be executed very rapidly. It must have speed enough to travel parallel to the floor, like the two-hand underhand pass.

The one-hand underhand pass isn't much used, because it's slower, requires readjustment of the hands after catching the ball. And the two-hand pass from above the shoulder should never be used. Don't try it.

If you know the push pass and the two-hand underhand, you'll be able to take care of practically all situations. But suppose you want to make a long pass—too long for one of the team passes. Then you'll probably use the shoulder pass. This is a good deal like the catcher's throw in baseball. The ball is held shoulder high in one hand, and shot straight forward with an under-english that makes it carry more easily and accurately. The passing arm and whole body follow through. You must learn to execute this pass with the right foot forward as well as the left if you pass with your right hand to avoid a "rotation foul"—double dribble and illegal start on the dribble. This is not in the strictest sense a foul.

There are three hook passes, all used for special purposes. One you'll use when you've dribbled to the side lines in the offensive half of the floor. Leap forward and upward, taking the ball in your hands and turning in the air so as to face the other way. At the top of the jump deliver the ball with a full arm sweep from well above the head, then land with feet spread; you'll be facing just opposite to the direction you were dribbling. This pass is valuable for a tall man cornered near the side line, for it is a fast surprise play and often crosses up the defense.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get some of our pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Queer Disease England reports an epidemic of encephalitis, a disease which makes people disagreeable. Children become ugly-tempered and old people actually devote their time to annoying and irritating their friends.

Free
with order for one drum of

Delco Motor Oil

A HANDY, drip-proof, genuine Bennett Oil pump; a funnel-spout quart measure, a Corbin lock, and a steel drum — this complete outfit furnished FREE with your first order for a drum of Delco Motor Oil — 15, 30 or 50 gallon!

We are making this special offer simply to get you into the habit of buying your motor oil by the drum. You benefit in several ways:

- (1) Your oil costs less when you buy by the drum — you get the benefit of bulk prices. A worthwhile saving!
- (2) Oil is handy when you need it — right there in your own garage. This might be the means of saving you scored cylinders or damaged bearings sometime. When the oil in your crankcase gets low, it is dangerous to drive even a short distance. An oil supply in your garage is the best engine insurance you can buy!
- (3) It is better for your engine to use one kind of oil, of uniform high quality, rather than a mixture of oils. When you buy by the quart you probably buy one kind of oil one time, and another kind the next time. Get the drum habit!
- (4) Delco Motor Oil keeps on lubricating at motor heats far past what ordinary asphalt-base or blended oils will stand. Get the Delco habit!

Better Milk Pays Better

A great many farmers have been overwhelmed with details exaggerating the trouble incident to producing good milk. The persons responsible for causing this confusion, have their own particular reasons for spreading such propaganda. The fact is that the job of producing good milk is not too big for any farmer to handle. Any inconveniences can soon be overcome by making it convenient, without a great outlay of money. The main thing is not to give up before making the start. Just plan cleanliness, and low temperature will keep milk good with the proper conveniences to do this, good quality can be produced every day. A milk house well supplied with cold water is about the best convenience a dairy farmer can possess, and is the best paying investment he can make. It assures a market that will constantly grow better and better.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

For Bladder Relief Is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 821 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used lithiated buchu (Keller Formula). She would have to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."
Lithiated buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Ed. C. Miller's.

HE MADE $40,000 IN JUDITH BASIN!

"A MAN that wants to be independent with a small start," says G. J. Dickson, of Coffee Creek, Montana, in the heart of the Judith Basin, "could never come to a better country than this! Nor meet a more generous and friendly people. We are satisfied and cannot say too much for the country!"
Mr. Dickson has good reason for enthusiasm. He came here empty-handed from Kansas, and is now worth $40,000. He owns 800 acres, and leases 340 more.
His crops average per acre: 15 bus. wheat, 40 bus. oats, a ton of alfalfa, 300 bus. potatoes. In his garden he grows beets, peas, onions, carrots, radishes, beans, cabbage, parsnips, lettuce, cucumbers. He raises some short-horn cattle, Chester white hogs, turkeys, Rhode Island white hens, and his own horses for farming.
"I like it here," says Dickson. "There's no comparison between this locality and the one I came from."
If you want more information about this wonderful country, write Mr. H. F. Hunter, Agricultural Agent, C. M. & St. P. Railway, Room 796, Union Station, Chicago, Illinois.

REPORT OF COUNTY PHYSICIAN

for Year Ending November 1, 1926

Called to the county jail to see a man who had been brought in in an unconscious condition, having been picked up on the roadside. It was hard to determine what caused his condition, whether it was coma, due to diabetes, or apoplexy, due to one of the blood vessels bursting in the brain, or a broken internal skull bone pressing on the brain, or whether it was due to too much moonshine. In a couple of days his brain cleared up and he confessed to having imbibed too freely of moonshine.

Called to Young America to attend a mother and son who were suffering with a severe attack of flu; the son was suffering with terrible neuralgia of the eyeballs.

Attended a young man, Richfield, who was suffering with inflammatory rheumatism, and also had inflammation of the valves of the heart, due to the rheumatism. When I saw him last he was at work on a farm in Richfield, having fully recovered.

Was called to Jackson, with Mr. Blank, to observe a patient who was suffering with delirium.

Treated a transient who was suffering with tuberculosis of the lungs, and also hemorrhoids.

Called to the jail to see a prisoner. Assisted Dr. Heidner in an operation on a child at Barton, who he had treated for pneumonia for months. The case developed empyema, which is pus on the lungs. It had to be operated to save the child's life. There was over a pint of pus. After the operation I took charge of the case, as the case had to be dressed and drained for months. The child is completely recovered.

Called to Young America to see a man who had fallen and split his head, scalp. Dressed same.

Called to Waubeka to see a couple of feeble and helpless old people, husband and wife, who were in bed and unable to wait on each other. They wanted to get into the County Home, but as we had no one in the home to nurse or take care of these people, the authorities of Ozaukee county had to take them to Milwaukee.

Treated a man with broken ribs, a transient.

Received a telephone call from the chairman of Germantown to see a man in Rockfield who was suffering severely. On examination I found he was suffering from severe pain in the abdomen. He had cancer of the gall bladder; the gall bladder ruptured, and the gall and cancer cells passed into his abdomen, which produced inflammation of the bowels. The next day he died of peritonitis, while I was with him. This man had a little life insurance, but the premiums had been paid by his mother, so that there was enough money to pay the undertaker and a lot in the cemetery, but there was nothing left for the doctor who treated him.

Called to Hartford hospital with Mr. Blank to see a young man who had been severely injured while riding a motorcycle. The upper inner side of his right leg was ripped open by the handlebar, exposing all the big arteries, veins and nerves which supply the leg. As he was too badly injured to be moved, the case was turned over to the Hartford county physician for two weeks, after which he was brought over to West Bend to the County Home, and I am still treating him. The wounds are healing fine. It was feared we would have to do some skin-grafting.

Called with Mr. Blank at Hartford to see a man who was suffering with a dangerous infectious disease—the entire head, hands and legs were covered with large yellow pasty scales. As we have no place in Washington county to handle such cases we thought it best to give him the railroad fare and send him to Chicago to the County hospital, as he has relatives in that city, and that hospital has wards for such cases—syphilitic infection.

Treated paupers and transients who came to the office with sores, leg ulcers, skin diseases, etc. Respectfully submitted,

W. J. WEHLE, County Physician

A bridge petition by the Town Board of the town of Wayne was read and referred to the County Highway Committee.

An invitation for a dinner at the Asylum in the evening of November 8 was extended to the members of the Board by Superintendent Blank.

A letter from the Division Engineer and addressed to the chairman, recommending the employment of a patrol superintendent, was read. On motion by Mr. Lay the matter was deferred until a later date of this session.

Mr. Vogelsang moved that the time for filing claims be extended up to and including November 16. Motion carried.

Mr. Salter moved that the Board adjourn until 10 a. m. November 11. Motion carried.

NOVEMBER 11, 1926

Chairman Mann called the Board to order at 10 a. m.

The roll was called and all 24 members were present.

The minutes of November 10 were read and approved.

Resolution No. 3, relating to the election of officers, was read and laid over under the rules.

Resolution No. 4, relating to an appropriation for tree pruning, was read and laid over under the rules.

Resolution No. 5, relating to an appropriation for Mothers' Pension was read and laid over under the rules.

A report of the State Department of Agriculture, relating to apiary activities in the county, was read. On motion by Mr. Mayer same was accepted and ordered filed.

 County Clerk for Washington County
 West Bend, Wisconsin
 Dear Sir:

We would appreciate your presenting to the County Board of Washington county at their November meeting the following report:

The eradication of American foul brood in the bees of Washington county is progressing steadily and the beekeepers are deriving great benefits from the co-operative work which is being carried on by the county and the state.

A tabular statement of the work for the season, as compared with the years 1923, 1924 and 1925, follows:

	1923	1924	1925	1926
Apiaries inspected	408	182	136	175
Apiaries diseased	92	64	41	25
Colonies inspected	2482	2026	2176	2128
Colonies diseased	307	312	110	55
Colonies treated or destroyed	307	312	101	55

The expenditures in the county during the past summer were as follows:

	Paid by State	Paid by County
Salary: A. H. Seefeldt	$122.50	$ 57.50
Expenses: A. H. Seefeldt	50.00
Salary: J. H. McMurry	54.00	139.50
Expenses: J. H. McMurry	176.25
	$402.75	$197.00

Recommendations

In view of the fact that 24 apiaries were still found with American foul brood in Washington county in 1926, a continuation of the same county appropriation as last year ($200) is recommended. As in previous years, the department is prepared, so far as state appropriations are available, to expend in the county at least double the county appropriation. Respectfully,

S. B. FRACKER,
 State Entomologist

WHEREAS, there has been some agitation in political circles and otherwise that the next State Legislature will be asked to repeal or amend the present tax law for the purpose of abolishing the personal property tax; and

WHEREAS, a certain amount of revenue is necessary for the administration of all government activities and the repeal of the personal property tax would necessarily result in the shifting of the tax levy upon real estate property; and

RESOLVED, that the Board of Supervisors of Washington County hereby go on record as being opposed to any legislation exempting all personal property assessments for taxation purposes; and

RESOLVED FURTHER, that the County Clerk send a copy of this resolution to the State Senator representing this district and to the Assemblyman of this county, and also to the speakers of both houses of the next Legislature.

The nature of the work done by the West Bend Home Service Section at the present time is practically the same as in former years. The work among ex-service men is, of course, not as heavy as a year or so ago, but there is still plenty to do. Throughout the county are scattered ex-service men who are victims of tuberculosis or mental diseases. It often becomes necessary to arrange for examinations, hospital care and treatment for them. When they are discharged from hospitals and allowed to live at home, they must be kept under observation, home conditions must be investigated and reports sent regarding their readjustment to civilian life. Ex-service men, who are apparently well, often are taken suddenly ill, physically or mentally, and must be removed to government hospitals. In cases of this kind, the Red Cross of-ice always receives requests for reports as to the previous history of the man in order that the physicians will be able to arrive at a better understanding of the man's trouble. This means visits to doctors, ministers, relatives, friends, neighbors, and the family. Usually a case like this requires a great deal of time, as everything possible is done to find the cause of the trouble for the purpose of helping to restore the man to normal health.

Insurance must be taken care of for the ex-service men or their families when they are unable to attend to these matters themselves. Compensation is also one of the phases of soldier work that still needs attention.

In civilian families cases of feeble-mindedness and delinquency are taken care of. Old people who are not receiving the proper attention are visited and the children and relatives notified to make proper provision for their care and comfort. Mother's pension cases are visited and reported on to the proper authorities. Girls who drift into the county are taken in charge and the parents notified to come and take them home. By making investigations the office has been able to keep undesirable families out of the county. As these families would probably become county charges before very long, the office is able to save money for the county through careful investigation and watchfulness. The Children's Home Society of Wisconsin has requested reports from the office on several families wishing to adopt children. Cases of unmarried mothers come up very frequently. Everything is done to establish the paternity of the child and to assist the girl in making plans for the best interest of the child and herself. The office is constantly in touch with children from the county placed in institutions. Letters are exchanged and little gifts are sent them occasionally. Requests for investigations come from the school authorities when a child is ready to be placed in a private home, preferably with relatives or friends of the parents. The office does not give assistance except in cases of emergency, the policy being most emphatically against this. If an emergency exists, groceries, clothing, or other necessities will be provided to give temporary relief. Otherwise the family is encouraged and assisted to make such adjustments as are necessary to themselves. The office in cases of this kind acts as an employment bureau, finding suitable jobs for the parents, or the children, if the latter are of permit age and unable to make progress at school.

The work so far described is known as soldier work and civilian work, the former a Red Cross activity and the latter known as social welfare work. Both are combined in a Red Cross office if no other welfare organization exists in the county. Besides the soldier work, the Red Cross has undertaken disaster relief, which at the present time is the outstanding Red Cross work in the county. Realizing the value of preparedness, in part at least, the West Bend Home Service Section has arranged with persons residing in every community to report at once any disaster that may occur. If outside relief is necessary, the office will at once notify the St. Louis headquarters and assistance will be rushed to the stricken community. Although we all hope and pray that no disaster will ever strike our county, such a thing may happen, and it is a comfort to know that in time of distress the National organization of the Red Cross is there to give assistance and relief.

Since the report of 1925, which showed that 859 cases were registered in the office, there have been added 25 more, all civilian cases, making a total of 884. Most of the work is taken care of at the office. As the Red Cross has no car, and almost everyone else has, it would be foolish for the worker to travel over the county and pay for transportation. The office is so well known and established that people come there to talk over matters of business and family troubles. A great deal of the work is also taken care of by correspondence. Calls are made when reports on home conditions are necessary. A good many of them are made in the evening when the father is at home, in order to become acquainted with him and to hear what he has to say in matters under consideration.

An important work done by the Home Service office is that of issuing labor permits. Children from all over the county are served free of charge. Assistance is given them in securing the necessary papers before the permit can be issued and in finding suitable places to board when they are from out of town. From January 1, 1926, the office has issued and re-issued 225 permits to children under 15 years of age. Some are only vacation permits, some for after school and Saturdays, while many are for regular work. Great care is exercised in issuing these permits and complete records for every child are kept at the office. This, together with the clerical work necessary in soldier and civilian families, makes the office work very heavy, particularly as there is a great deal of correspondence and keeping of records in every case.

The Junior Red Cross is still of interest to schools throughout the county. It is a great help to both teachers and pupils. Portfolio letters are being exchanged between American and foreign schools and tend to bring about splendid relations between the children of many countries.

Respectfully submitted,
FLORENCE A. THOMAS,
Secretary
West Bend Home Service Section

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INSANE

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors Gentlemen:

Your Committee on Insane begs leave to submit its annual report. We find the business of the Asylum and Poor Home and all connected with it has been audited by Willie and Company of Milwaukee, Wis., as reported by Supt. Blank, to July 1, 1926. We find it correct and corresponds in every detail with auditors' report as far as we can see.

A complete and thorough examination of the different departments of both the Asylum and Poor Home was made and we find everywhere the rooms neat and clean and orderly, and the patients made as comfortable as possible, and we think our management and services in both homes is of the very best.

In the stock barn we find a big improvement in our herd of cattle, both in number and quality, over a number of years ago. Conditions in the stable are both sanitary and healthy and the herd is in a thrifty condition. In the horse barn we find a number of work horses and a dandy pair of black colts about six months old which are being raised on the farm.

In the hog house we found a fine lot of hogs of different ages and sizes, but the building is the same old hog house we have been talking of replacing with a new one for the last six years. Now as we are not going to make any improvements on the farm buildings next year, your committee would recommend we build a new hog house, the cost of same not to exceed $5,000, and should there be a surplus after completing the hog house, that surplus to be used not to exceed $600 to buy new benches for the different wards in Asylum and County Home as the old ones are not comfortable and need paint and repairs.

A good crop of grain, hay, vegetables and fruit was raised last year but the corn crop did not properly mature.

We found that new boilers in the heating plant giving excellent service and expect they will furnish plenty of heat for both Asylum and Home, and still have a large reserve and also be a saving of fuel and labor.

We found a new addition has been built on the south side of the green house where an extra large bed of lettuce is growing for winter use.

We found the management and help has made a large tract of landscape gardening by planting a large number of shrubs and flowers in front of the Asylum on the north side of the street which adds very much to the beauty of the grounds and makes the surroundings more pleasant for the inmates.

This committee would recommend that the sum of $7,500 be appropriated for the maintenance and operation of the County Home. All of which is respectfully submitted.

OAK SANATORIUM REPORT

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors:

Gentlemen: We take pleasure in submitting to you our eighth annual report.

Looking over the work of the past year, we think we can say that it has been a good year for the Sanatorium.

There have been the usual problems arising but all these are working out in a satisfactory manner.

During the past summer some concrete work has been done around the new building, and we have installed some new equipment, have also done other work needed to maintain the institution at its present state of efficiency.

We all agree that some means of fire protection should be provided. We recommend that a concrete cistern or reservoir with a concrete top be built having a capacity of about 500 barrels. We recommend that you appropriate an amount sufficient to cover the cost, of about $400.00 for Washington County's share.

In conclusion we take this opportunity to express our appreciation of Miss Bresnahan's management as Supt., the support we have received from the members of the County Board, our consultant and attending physician, the staff and employees, and the public in general.

Respectfully yours,

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the Honorable Members of the Board of Trustees of the Oak Sanatorium:

The eighth annual report of the operation of the Oak Sanatorium for the year beginning October 1, 1925 and ending September 30, 1926, has been submitted to you for consideration and inspection.

The results accomplished in the treatment of the patients are given in the reports of the attending physician, Dr. L. W. Egloff and the consultant, Dr. Oscar Lotz.

The year just closed has been another successful year in the history of the institution. Our bed capacity has been taxed to its utmost, several times unable to accommodate the demand. A larger percentage of patients have been discharged in better condition than formerly due to the fact that they are sent to us when there still remains hope of recovery. We have served our own counties in a larger measure than any previous year from the fact that we have received and treated more patients from our own counties.

You will notice according to the financial report that the total cost to Waukesha county was $11,244.29 compared with a total cost of $11,473.66 for last year, caring for 66 weeks more board over last year.

The cost to Washington county was $4,235.39 compared to $2,334.68 for last year, but Washington county supported more patients at the sanatorium than the previous year. Last year 147 weeks board and care compared with 289 weeks board and care of this year.

Another noticeable fact is that our total receipts were somewhat larger than last year, making the per capita cost less than last year.

All necessary repairs have been made from time to time in order to keep the building in good condition.

A moving picture machine was purchased to furnish entertainment and has proven very satisfactory.

I cannot close my report without saying a few words to the memory of the late Dr. L. E. Youmans who passed from out of our midst during the past year. He served on the board a number of years and always stood ready to defend and advise for the best interests of the institution.

In conclusion, I take this opportunity to thank you for your kindly and able advice, your words of encouragement, and sincere co-operation in all matters pertaining to the institution, the physicians, Drs. Oscar Lotz and L. W. Egloff, and all others who have assisted me in the discharge of my duties.

One more word of thanks to the honorable members of the County Boards for their continued co-operation and financial backing for the noble work we are trying to accomplish in your respective communities.

Respectfully submitted,

D. M. BRESNAHAN, R. N.,
Superintendent

November 10, 1926
To the Honorable Board of Trustees of the Oak Sanatorium:

Gentlemen
During the past year the service provided at the Oak Sanatorium has I believe been running along very smoothly. With the exception of the last few weeks the institution has been filled to the capacity throughout the year. A number of vacancies existing at the present time are due to the transfer of Sheboygan county patients to Rocky Knoll Sanatorium.

While the work has been running along smoothly I feel nevertheless that the progress made during the past year has not been sufficient to keep the Sanatorium in the front ranks. In order to maintain our position as a first class institution one should be able to give our patients the best both in diagnosis and treatment. This we cannot do without additional equipment.

We sincerely hope that your Board may see your way clear to provide the Sanatorium with an X-Ray machine during the coming year.

A porch where our patients may be given the benefit of Heliotherapy (Sunlight treatment) should also be given serious consideration.

Miss Bresnahan and her assistants have given the patients thoughtful consideration and splendid care and Dr. Egloff has been conscientious and co-operative.

Respectfully submitted,

OSCAR LOTZ, M. D.

Honorable Board of Trustees of the Oak Sanatorium:

I hereby submit to you my eighth annual medical report covering the year ending September 30, 1926.

We have treated 81 patients during the past year, 43 of this number were discharged, 10 being transferred to other institutions, 8 arrested cases returning to their former occupations or to their homes, 8 in fair condition, 10 deaths, and 7 unable to adapt themselves to sanatorium treatment.

The sanatorium has been filled to its full capacity during the past year. We are now receiving more of our own county patients. The physicians are sending earlier cases to be treated.

At present we have a few vacant beds due to transfer of patients to their own county sanatorium.

Thru the clinics conducted by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association throughout the state, one being held at Waukesha every month, we have received cases in the earlier stage. Thru these clinics contact cases are brought to light, early sanatorium treatment advised, and better results obtained.

The laboratory for examination of sputum, blood, etc., are under the management of a capable man who makes examinations monthly.

The patients have formed a club, calling the same Oak Sun Clan. They meet at stated periods, promoting good fellowship among the members, by holding parties and movie picture shows.

I wish to commend the members of the board of trustees for their faithful management, the superintendent, nurses and employees for their faithful services rendered to the Oak Sanatorium.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, since the last session of the County Board of Washington County, the supreme and great Ruler of the universe has in His infinite wisdom seen fit to remove from our midst, an esteemed citizen and friend, Chas. F. Leins. By these simple words we reverently pay a last tribute to this much honored and beloved man. He was broad-minded, sympathetic and public-spirited, with a goodly measure of charity and ever ready to lend a helping hand; his removal from this earthly life leaves a vacancy that is being deeply realized by his family and will prove a great loss to the community. For 28 years he served as a trustee of the County Asylum, during which time he gave, without measure, the best he had in making the unfortunates in this institution comfortable and well provided for. During his life time he held many offices of public trust and his wise counsel, his sympathetic interest and straight thinking will always be a source of inspiration to all who knew him.

BE IT RESOLVED, that we extend to the bereaved wife and family our sincerest sympathy, and further that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our proceedings; and that a copy of the same be sent to his wife and family.

Resolution No. 26, relating to county printing, was read and laid over under the rules.

Miss Cecilia M. Giesing, county nurse, read her annual report and on motion by Mr. Salter same was accepted and ordered filed.

REPORT OF COUNTY NURSE

To the Honorable Members of the Board of Supervisors of Washington County, Wis. Gentlemen:

Following is my report of the work done in the schools, homes and clinics in Washington county during this past year, beginning November 1, 1925, and ending October, 31, 1926, and also the work handled from my office in the court house:

I have found a great improvement in the physical condition of the pupils in the schools during the past year, from the condition I found the first year I was county nurse in Washington county, and I believe a careful study of the following table, when compared with my first report, will convince this honorable board that my office has been a great help to the teachers and pupils of the county. I wish also to report that the parents of pupils in the schools and also the teachers have co-operated with me to a great extent in the school work and know they realize that my work has done much toward the betterment of the physical condition of the boys and girls who attend our schools.

I have examined 2760 pupils since my last report and have given 74 classroom talks. As will be seen in my tabulated report we have stressed on corrective work in relation to the teeth. In all there were 1575 pupils in the schools who had some defective teeth and I am glad to report that up to the present time 992 have had their teeth taken care of by a reputable dentist. It will, no doubt, be of interest to you to study the following table and note the marked improvement in regard to dental work for decayed teeth of our school pupils:

Year	No. of pupils examined	No. pupils needing dental care	% pupils needing care
1922-23	2,927	907	44.2
1924-25	2,447	651	26.6
1925-26	2,760	583	21.1

During the coming year we are going to stress on corrective measures for enlarged and diseased tonsils and adenoids. During the past year I have found 674 cases of defective tonsils and 252 cases where they had received proper medical attention. I want to add here that no pupil can do the work expected of him or her as long as such disorders are allowed to exist. It will also be seen on the tabulated report that I have found 361 pupils with goiter and I can also report that very nearly all of these cases of goiter are now under treatment by the family doctor. Goiter in children of school age should receive the proper medical attention at once and we feel that with the school health inspection in discovering this goiter existence, much has been done to help many of our boys and girls on the road to better health.

In the total of 2,760 pupils examined, I only found 457—10% or more underweight, and I believe with proper care of teeth, tonsils and adenoids, medical attention given to goiter cases, and also establishing better health habits, this number of under-weight pupils can be materially reduced.

Following is the tabulated report of the pupils health inspection conducted in the Washington county schools this past year:

Teeth		Tonsils		Vision	Goiter
Examined	Defective	Corrected	Defective
2760	1575	992	674	252	386

During the past year I took 39 throat cultures which were sent to the State Board of Health for examination. These cultures were taken from pupils who had been exposed to diphtheria as a precautionary measure to prevent a possible epidemic of diphtheria and probably some deaths among the precious sons and daughters of the county. I am glad to report that there have not been any serious epidemics in any schools of the county. There have been a few cases of contagious diseases but they were confined to a few families and not allowed to spread.

I have been kept fairly busy during the past year with home calls, some of these calls being made on Sundays and evenings, as my program of activities would not allow me to make the number of calls required during the day. The child welfare and prenatal calls made by me numbered 139; calls made to tuberculosis patients numbered 28; mental cases 26; delinquency, neglect and child labor, 126 calls; and orthopedic cases, 8 calls. This total number of calls made were handled to the best of my ability and I did my duty as I saw it. There were a few other cases handled by me as county nurse which were of such nature that will not allow me to make a report but can say that I have tried to handle the cases in such a way as to reflect credit on the governing body of Washington county. I made 30 calls on the request of teachers or members of school boards to examine pupils who were absent from school, presumably on account of contagion. I made 14 calls on blind residents of the county, and also had Miss Hamilton, an instructor for blind people, from Milwaukee, call on these persons, and at the present time she has a plan under way whereby the unfortunate people may receive instructions in their homes enabling them to perform useful and remunerative work.

I made 38 calls on account of truancy of pupils and made a careful investigation of the cases so reported as truant. We were able to overcome some of the difficulties and bring the boys and girls back to school but at no time has it been necessary to refer the cases to the sheriff or district attorney. These truancy cases were given my immediate attention as soon as reported to me.

My office has sent out 1808 personal and circular letters and as I did all the writing and addressing myself it took some of my time that could have been used in examinations and home calls. During the summer I took some of my vacation period and a few spare hours from my regular work and put in a complete record and filing system. By referring to this file I can follow up all cases which come to my attention.

I am so glad to report that the free chest clinics, sponsored by this board, were well attended. We have tried to reach the families where there have been active cases of tuberculosis, in order to have all the contact cases examined; as well as those who have had pulmonary trouble, and those who are suspicious cases. Clinics were held at South Germantown and Slinger, and twice at Hartford and West Bend, a total of 199 being examined at these clinics. We have not had the time necessary to compile statistics for Washington county, but I know that the statistical report of the State Association will convince this body that the free chest clinics are one of the most important health projects carried on in any community.

In 1918 when this work was first introduced tuberculosis claimed more lives in the state of Wisconsin than any other disease, but now has been forced to fourth place. This is largely due to the fact that the communities are being educated to recognize this disease in its early stages by means of the free chest clinics carried on throughout the state by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association.

The work of the chest clinic has not been limited to tubercular work only, but has taught parents and teachers to recognize defects in children as well as in themselves. This alone is doing more to change the health outlook of many homes in our communities which would otherwise not be reached. This health work is hard to gauge in the number of individuals reached as so often the message or lesson given one individual in the clinic may ultimately reach an entire family or neighborhood. However, it is easy to gauge the number of individuals reached by actual examination in these clinics. You will recall that I gave you the figure of 199 cases examined in this type of clinic in Washington county alone this last year, so that this honorable board may feel very gratified for their share in Wisconsin's health project which has resulted in lowering the death rate (from tuberculosis) to 61 per 100,000 population, from the appalling death rate of 109 per 100,000 in 1908.

This wonderful work accomplished does not mean that our task is finished, for actual figures interpret this percentage as 1700 actual deaths from tuberculosis in Wisconsin in 1925 (we have not touched here upon the contacts and living cases). The continuance of this work is of increasing importance as our communities are educated to realize that the greatest percentage of these 1700 deaths occurred between the ages of 20—29, which is recognized as the child bearing period, and also the period in which homes may be well started and stabilized, or in which homes may be disrupted and children orphaned due to tuberculosis.

No doubt you recollect that the federal and state government has a fund created by the Shepard-Towner bill, which provides for Child Welfare work to be carried out in the state. Washington county is one of several counties in Wisconsin where child welfare work is being carried out under this provision. Monthly child welfare clinics have been held throughout the year, alternately at West Bend and Hartford, a total of 179 children of pre-school age being examined. It is the general belief of the medical profession that many of the ailments which manifest themselves in later life may be prevented in childhood (as proof to this statement I refer you to the statistics of the army). From this standpoint alone the value of these pre-school clinics is obvious.

It has given me a real pleasure to offer this report to you regarding the health work of Washington county which you have thus far entrusted to my care.

Very respectfully yours,
CECILIA M. GIESING, R. N.
Washington County Nurse

To the County Board of Supervisors
Washington County,
West Bend, Wis.

Gentlemen:

For your information regarding the activities of the Washington County Humane Society, as its agent I offer a brief summary of its work the past year:

On file with the society's secretary is a memorandum in detail of services rendered by me as agent.

Our society, having been active for so many years, cases of cruelty to children, old people, or animals, are not so common as in years gone by, yet occasional cases are still found.

During the past year I have traveled more than one hundred miles in responding to complaints, and made over one hundred calls and investigations.

Since our county has provided a county nurse, and the American Red Cross has become one of our established social service organizations, the Humane Society has splendid assistance and co-operation in its work.

State aid for dependent children is a great help for widows left with limited means and small children to care for and educate. For 20 years I have acted as agent for the Humane Society and am pleased to report that Washington county takes splendid care of its unfortunates.

Our society deeply feels the loss of its esteemed president, C. F. Leins, who for many years generously and efficiently served not only the Humane Society but every philanthropic and social movement for a better community life in Washington county.

The officers and directors of our society is representative of our worthy citizenship. Their names are as follows:

President—E. C. Schauer, Hartford
Vice-President—H. B. Kaempfer, West Bend

Secretary-Treasurer—Martha C. Portz, Hartford
 Directors:
 F. W. Bucklin, County Judge, West Bend
 Sgt. M. T. Buckley, West Bend

 Mrs. Florence Thomas, West Bend
 Mrs. Clara Schlegel, West Bend
 Mrs. G. C. Frey, Hartford

Tillie Hosp, mother of said child, and in whose custody said child is, appears voluntarily in court and consents to an immediate hearing in said matter.

Tillie Hosp sworn and testified and testimony ordered reduced to writing. Testimony filed.

After hearing the evidence offered, the court finds that said Rose Mary Hosp is dependent upon the public for support; that her mother is unable to take care of her and that the person whom she claims to be the father of the child refuses to support said child.

Ordered that said Rose Mary Hosp be committed to the State Public School at Sparta, Wisconsin.

Ordered further, that Cecelia M. Giesing, County Nurse, be and she hereby is appointed to convey said child to said school.

It was reported to the court that child was no longer at the home of its father.

Action deferred pending investigation.

In the matter of Frank Strauss, alleged neglected child.

October 26, 1926

Petition of John J. Murray, setting forth among other things that said Frank Strauss was 15 years of age on August 15, 1926, and that he resides with his father and that said child does not have proper parental care and guardianship, was presented to the court.

Louis Strauss, father of said child appeared personally and requested that an order of the court be entered finding and determining the status of said child to be that of a neglected child and signed written consent attached to the petition.

Frank Strauss also in court personally.

Service of summons and notice of hearing said matter waived in open court.

REPORT OF FINANCE COMMITTEE

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors
Washington County, Wis

Gentlemen:
We, your Finance Committee, to whom was referred the audit report of the Wisconsin Tax Commission, beg to report that at a meeting held on January, 29, 1927, we examined said report and recommend that same be accepted and filed.

The following is the narrative portion of said report for your consideration:

"In accordance with your request, we have limited our examination of the general records to an audit of cash and an analysis of balance sheet items. Reference was made to distribution of receipts and vouchers only when balance sheet accounts were involved. Claims were also examined to verify authority for each expenditure.

"In addition, the examination of cash was continued the August 23, 1926, in order to ascertain the status of the treasurer's accounts to the date of the audit when an actual count of cash was made.

"The records were found to be well kept, complete and dependable.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT

"The examination of the highway records was limited to an analysis of the fund balances. Appropriations, and total receipts and expenditures were checked with the amounts shown on the general records. The vouchers were examined to substantiate authority for payments.

"Distribution of receipts and vouchers was not verified except in questioned transactions. The vouchers, however, were examined to verify authority for payment. Part of the claims, particularly time cards, were missing for the first part of 1923. Later claims, however, were complete, although most of them were not verified by the oath of the claimant as required by law.

"Many discounts and freight allowances were lost through failure to deduct same from remittances or to remit within the discount period. Items which can be recovered amount-

... to 1927-28, have been set up as sundry accounts receivable. The necessary adjustments have been entered on the records and incorporated in the analysis of fund balances indicated above.

It is suggested that the claims be examined more closely in order to take advantage of all discounts and freight allowances.

In other respects the highway records were found to be accurate and complete.

In conclusion, we wish to thank the county officials for the courtesy and cooperation extended our auditors during this examination."

Respectfully submitted,
WISCONSIN TAX COMMISSION,
 By: A. J. Myrland, Secretary

We recommend that the claim for $875.49 of the Wisconsin Tax Commission for services rendered in connection with auditing the county records for the three year period be paid.

We further report that we have examined and approved the bonds of the several elected county officers and also of the depository banks for 1927.

JOSEPH ARENDS
J. J. VOGELSANG

Mr. Hemmy moved that a highway map of the county be again inserted and made a part of the proceedings of this County Board. Motion carried.

Mr. Lay called the attention of the Board to a clerical error in the report of the assessor of incomes showing the ratio percentage upon which 1925 county taxes were apportioned to the several taxing districts and whereby it is contended that the Village of Kewaskum paid a county tax of approximately $1,400.00 in excess of its equitable share for said year and he therefore enters a protest in behalf of the village in this matter.

Mr. Brown moved that the chairman be instructed to appoint a special building committee of three members of the Board to co-operate and work in conjunction with the County Asylum officials in the construction of the new hog barn on the Asylum farm.

Mr. Weber moved to amend the foregoing motion by adding that the members on said building committee serve without compensation. The motion to amend was lost by the following vote:

Ayes—3; noes—20.

The original motion by Mr. Brown was duly carried. The chairman appointed the following to comprise said building committee: Messrs. Brown, Rettler and Groth.

Mr. Pfeifer moved that it be the sense of this Board that the sheriff be instructed not to appoint any of the county traffic officers as dance supervisors during the season for which they are employed as county traffic officers. Motion carried.

On motion by Mr. Hemmy the clerk was instructed to prepare mileage and per diem schedule for two days meeting of the Board and draw orders on the county treasurer for same.

The clerk read the minutes of today's session which were approved as read.

On motion by Mr. Aulenbacher the Board adjourned sine die.
