

WAR HERO TO ADDRESS CO. LEGION

On April 20, 300 legion men from the Hartford, Kewaskum, Boltonville and West Bend posts will meet at the legion hall at West Bend for a County Round-Up and Feed. The principal speaker will be Dan Chatsey, a World War hero and an active legionaire.

Dan Chatsey of Beloit, has had a picturesque career. Born on a farm in Wisconsin, a University of Wisconsin football man, volunteer in the Princess Pat Regiment, an American Spy, his life reads like an adventurer's story.

When the war broke out Chatsey and a pal enlisted in the famous Princess Pat Regiment that was completely annihilated with the exception of eight men. Even Princess Patricia herself was killed. So Chatsey now is one of the eight honored survivors of the entire regiment. When America went into the war, on account of his knowledge of the French, Spanish, German, and Italian languages, Chatsey was made an American Spy. As such, he was captured twice by the Germans and managed to escape each time. His last escape was by airplane. He and his pilot were living targets for the enemies' fire.

Chatsey was wounded several times and is living today on account of the success of one of the ten major surgical operations of the war, performed by Dr. Mayo.

Chatsey is now an active member of the American Legion of Wisconsin, former Commander of the Beloit Post, and a chap of Lt. Ray Dickop, after whom the West Bend post of the legion was named. He is now First District Commander of the American Legion of Wisconsin.

Plans for the dedication of the Washington County Memorial will be discussed at this meeting. Tentatively it is suggested that either President Coolidge, Vice-President Dawes, or National Commander Savage be invited to give the address of the day.

HARDWARE STORE CHANGES HANDS

Henry W. Ramthun, well known local hardware dealer sold his stock and business interests this week to Leo Skupniewitz from here and Ernst Claus of West Bend. The sale includes the hardware stock, plumbing and heating, wind mill and roofing business. Mr. Ramthun whose store is located at the intersection of Fond du Lac Ave., and Main street, has successfully conducted the business for the past twenty-two years, during which time, through hard work built up an extensive business. Mr. Ramthun, for the present will retire from actual business life, and will move to West Bend next week, where he and his family will reside for the present. The many friends regret to have the Ramthun family leave our midst. They however, have the well wishes for health and happiness in their new home.

Messrs. Skupniewitz and Claus took possession on Wednesday. They will conduct a general hardware and electrical business combined, for which they will keep a full line of general hardware and electrical supplies on hand. In connection with the hardware and electrical business they will handle lightning rods, gutters and steel roofing, and do all kinds of tin-smithing and electrical wiring, plumbing and sell and install heating systems, and electrical wiring, for which they will render 24 hour service. Mr. Skupniewitz has had eight years of experience in the electrical line and Mr. Claus, who is a licensed plumber, has worked at the trade for the past fifteen years. The business will go under the name of the Claus & Skupniewitz Hardware and Electrical Store.

Both men are industrious young men, and it will be their aim to give the best of service at all times. Mr. Claus is a married man and will move his family and household furniture to this village next week. They invite the general public to stop into their place of business and get acquainted. We wish them success.

All persons who have any of the following symptoms are also especially urged to attend the clinic: fatigue; lack of pep; loss of appetite and weight; indigestion; vague pains in the chest; afternoon fever; and a persistent cough or cold.

GLEE CLUB TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Music lovers of Kewaskum and vicinity, have an unusual treat in store for Thursday night, April 21, when the Mission House Troubadours of Plymouth, will present a concert at the Kewaskum Opera House at 8 p. m. The concert will consist of a male chorus or quartette. All of the members of the club have trained voices and have been in training since early last fall, and for the past several months have made a tour of the state giving concerts in cities and villages. It is the opinion of the Mission House that this year's club, ranks with the best in the history of the school, making a big hit wherever they rendered a program. The troubadours are not perfect strangers in this locality, having rendered concerts in neighboring villages and cities in past years, at which they were very successful, all who heard them speak very highly of them as royal and pleasing entertainers. The concert will be held under the auspices of the Young Peoples' Society of the Peace Evangelical church. The admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children. Tickets can be purchased from any of the members of the society. If you are looking forward to a royal entertainment of music, reserve this date and make it a point to attend, and we assure you that you will not be disappointed.

"LA BOHEME" ONE OF SEASON'S FINEST

"La Boheme," Lillian Gish's first American-made picture in some years, is the attraction at the Kewaskum Movies tomorrow Sunday. The much heralded play, in which Miss Gish is seen in the tragic role of Mimi, famous wherever opera is loved, is one of the outstanding productions of the year from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, and Miss Gish's interpretation of the role has created a furor in studio circles. King Vidor, who directed "The Big Parade," directed the new picture, which was staged on a lavish scale. John Gilbert plays the leading male role as Rodolphe, the poet, with Renée Adoree as the sprightly Musette. Others in the cast are Roy D'Arcy, Edward Everett Horton, Guy Orrado, Karl Dane, Geo. Hassell, Eugene Pouyet, Frank Currier, David Mir, Rosita Marstini and others of note.

As the Volga boatman in Cecil B. De Mille's powerful production of "The Volga Boatman," which will be shown at the Opera House, Wm. Boyd has one of the most dramatic roles of his screen career. Elinor Fair plays opposite him as a Russian princess. The supporting cast is unusually artistic. It includes among others, Victor Varconi, Julia Faye and Theo. Kosloff. The story is said to be unusually thrilling, shown at the Kewaskum Movies Wednesday, April 20.

HOTEL IMPROVED AT FOREST LAKE

With the season drawing near for lake resorts to open their doors for the summer business, Wm. A. Kuert, proprietor of the Forest Lake Resort, has taken steps in making improvements at his hotel at the resort at Forest Lake, located six miles north-east of Kewaskum, just east of the Milwaukee Chapter of the Izaak Walton Game refuge at Moon Lake, to accommodate the many resorters that spend their summer vacation at that popular place. The resort will be opened on April 20, when a community dance will be held in the dancing pavilion there. Some of the improvements made include, a new ice house in which 96 tons of ice have been stored. The new house contains 10 individual ice boxes large enough to hold cases of fruit, vegetables, eggs, etc., all of which draw air from the large ice chamber. One of these ice boxes has been set aside for the use of fishermen. A new laundry with stationary tubs and hot and cold running water has been installed and the kitchen has been remodeled. Above the ice house, laundry and kitchen five large rooms have been built for the help and a store room constructed at which provisions for private cottages will be sold. The size of the dining room and dance hall has been doubled and the hotel can now accommodate 150 dinner guests. The old walls of these rooms have been replaced, new flooring has been put in and a heavy cement foundation and pillars have been added. New lighting fixtures have also been installed. Mr. and Mrs. Kuert are planning to convert the Forest Lake hotel into an all-year round resort and have interlined all new buildings with building paper and finished with plaster board.

PUBLISHED PAPER UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Due to the illness of Donald Harbeck, one of the proprietors of the Statesman, and who in consequence was unable to work in the office, thereby cutting down the force of the staff, last week's issue of the Statesman was published under difficulties. As such several ads in the paper could not be changed and a good deal of news matter had to be omitted. Inasmuch as the work for one person is too much in getting out a newspaper and undoubtedly could not have been accomplished had it not been for Editor H. Kaempfer of the West Bend Pilot and Editor Jos. Huber of the West Bend News, who were kind enough to lend assistance in setting up ads, and also Charles E. Krahn who assisted during the week. Messrs Harbeck & Schaefer, proprietors of the Statesman, certainly appreciate very much the kindness of Messrs. Kaempfer and Huber for their assistance rendered in time of need, and wish to express their sincere thanks to those gentlemen for their services rendered. If at any time in the future they are in need of help we will certainly return favors.

LOCAL POST OFFICE ROBBED

In what is reported by postal authorities, to be a new gang of professional safe blowers, operating in Wisconsin and Illinois, robbed the Kewaskum post office last week Friday night between the hours of 12 and 3 o'clock. The men gained entrance into the building by prying a window open on the west side of the post office. Through expert work, adequate equipment and careful methods, the burglars by means of an electric drill, drilled a circle of forty-eight holes through the outer steel vault door. This done, they reached through the opening and unlocked the combination lock of the vault door from the inside. Another hole was then drilled through the lock of the inner door in which opening charges of nitro-glycerine were poured and the lock was blown open by the explosion. After getting into the vault the yeggmen tried to get into the safe, but were only successful in knocking off the combination dial of the door, when they abandoned their work, either for reason that the hour was getting too late or else were frightened away.

After working for about three hours on the job, the crackmen were only able to get $73.00 in cash which they found in one of the drawers placed on the top of the safe.

It is thought that the burglars were frightened away by people walking by the post office building, and also by assistant post master Arthur W. Koch and John F. Schaefer, who returned home at about twelve o'clock from a trip to Fond du Lac, where they had spent the evening. Upon returning home, Mr. Koch parked his car in the garage located at the rear of the post office building. He then went to his home located just across the street, where he turned on the lights. It is believed that the burglars were at work in the post office at that time, which led them to be frightened away leaving as the only clue, a large new hammer, two drills of the very best make, fuses and an empty bottle of nitro-glycerine. Had they been successful in breaking open the safe door, Post Master Erwin Koch stated, they would have gotten several thousand dollars in stamps and money. Postal inspectors who were notified by Post Master Koch, and who were here on Saturday to investigate the burglary, stated that the vault and safe at the local office ranks with the best that can be found anywhere, and it is this reason no doubt that the safe blowers could not make as rapid progress as they intended to, in order to get away with the intended loot.

That the burglary was the work of a gang of safe blowers new to this part of the country, if not a newly organized gang, is believed by postal authorities, because their methods were different from those of any that have operated in this part of the state.

A warning was sent out Monday throughout Wisconsin and nearby states by federal officers to be on the lookout for a new gang of safe blowers who are capable of breaking into the vault of the average small city post office or bank. Postal authorities of Milwaukee and Chicago have since the robbery, been carrying on a systematic investigation, admitting, however, that their sole hope of capturing the gang is to be on the alert for another burglary.

According to information received from several people of this village, who were awake at the time, the yeggmen, consisting of about four to five men, saw a large high powered car drive into the village from the south on Highway 55, at about 11:30 p. m., parked the car on Clinton street just west of the railroad tracks, from where, they undoubtedly walked to the post office on one of the rear streets. The general opinion for parking the car where they did is for two carefully planned reasons, first that by not parking it at the post office, it left no suspicion that a robbery was in progress at the post office by people who might happen to walk by there at the time, another reason is, that if they should have been caught in the act, they could have separated and fled in different directions and later met at their stopping place, thereby making a safe get-away.

This is the second time that an attempt has been made by yeggmen to blow up the safe at the post office. The first time it occurred about ten years ago, in each case they were unsuccessful in completing their work for reason that they were frightened away.

FARM HOME BURNS

The dwelling on the John Polzin farm and occupied by Sam Bonnett and family, in the town of Osceola was completely destroyed by fire at 11:30 a. m. last Sunday. The property which was owned by Mrs. Edward Foy and Mrs. George Bartelt, was valued at about $2,500. Mr. Bonnett also lost considerable household furniture. The fire is thought to have started from a defective chimney.

NEW SCHOOL NEAR WAYNE

Recently the voters of the Spring School District No. 11, town of Wayne were called to a special school district meeting. They unanimously agreed to raise $7500.00 for the purpose of constructing a new pressed brick-veneer school building to replace the present structure that has been doing service during the past sixty years. This school is located four miles west of Kewaskum. The present school site will also be enlarged. County Supt. M. T. Buckley has recommended that this district provide a new and modern building. He also assisted the school board with all of the preliminary details. The building committee has inspected several modern schools in Washington, Waukesha and Milwaukee counties. They have employed Wm. J. Redden, School Architect of Racine and Milwaukee to prepare the necessary plans and specifications and supervise the construction of the building. All local contractors are invited to secure the plans and bid on the contract. The new building will measure 25 x 43 feet. The main floor will contain a standard class-room with lighting from the west only; a large combination library and stage; and separate boys' and girls' cloak-rooms. The large, well-lighted basement, only three feet below the ground, will be finished the same as the main floor. It will contain: the community club room; warm-air furnace and fuel-rooms; boys' and girls' toilet-rooms; kitchen; cistern; and sink and pump. The entire building will be wired for electric lights. This district will soon have one of the best rural schools in this part of the state. The building committee that will handle this important undertaking is as follows: Ruben Muehlius, director; Ben Breseman, treasurer; John Spoerl, clerk; Peter Schield; and John Schmidt.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN WEBER

Mrs. Nicholas Strupp, of the town of Barton, received the sad news of the death of her sister, Mrs. John Weber, which occurred at Marshfield last Thursday morning. Mrs. Weber had attained the age of 80 years. She was born in Germany and at the age of 6 weeks came with her parents to America, settling in the town of Ashford. Her maiden name was Mary Fink. Besides 10 children she leaves the following brothers and sisters: Bartol Fink of Fond du Lac, Peter of Oshkosh, Mrs. Nicholas Strupp of the town of Barton, Mich. Fink of Big Stone, Minn., Math. Fink of Ortonville, Minn., Nic. and Wm. Fink of Rose Creek, Minn. The funeral was held on Monday at Marshfield.

DEATH OF WM. SENN

Wm. Senn, son of Mrs. Dora Senn of Elmore, died at his home in Milwaukee last Friday, after an illness of seven years. Deceased was born at Elmore, and was employed as fireman on the Chicago & North Western road for a number of years. He leaves to mourn, his widow and mother, Mrs. Dora Senn and four brothers and sisters, John, Henry, Leo and Mrs. Edw. Rauch of the town of Ashford, Mrs. Herman Schrauth of Barton, Mrs. John Kludt of Hartford, Mrs. Edward Ruttinger and George Senn of Milwaukee and Mrs. Arthur Thompson of California. The funeral was held at Milwaukee on Tuesday afternoon.

Doings at Our State Capital

Madison—Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman has vetoed a $50,000 appropriation for the state penitentiary because of the "lowered funds in the general treasury."

The bill, calling for the expenditure for cells in the north wing of the prison at Waupun, originated in the senate.

"Again the practice of recent years in routing state taxes," the governor said, "has so depleted the general treasury that unless some unforeseen receipts become available a sizable deficit will follow at the end of the present biennium. I shall be compelled to insist that before appropriations are made there is assurance that funds will be available. The people of the state are demanding rigid economy in public expenditures."

The governor said that no pressing need existed for the construction of the cells. He cited a previous appropriation made by the legislature which was not used until seven years later, work which is now being carried on and which will give the prison 200 new cells.

The legislature cannot constitutionally enact a bill directing that the matter of salary increase for supervisors of Milwaukee county be submitted to a vote of the people. Atty. Gen. Reynolds has ruled in an opinion. That power is vested in the legislature alone, the opinion held.

Several weeks ago the assembly and senate passed assembly bill No. 400, to which had been added an amendment directing that the question of a salary raise for Milwaukee county supervisors be submitted to a referendum.

The new salary schedule sought by the supervisors calls for an increase from $1,500 to $2,400 for supervisors and from $1,800 to $2,700 a year for the chairman of the county board.

The original bill definitely fixing the salaries is valid, according to the ruling. It is probable that the bill will be introduced again without the amendment.

Gov. Zimmerman has signed the first bill of the session repealing taxes on personal property. The bill exempts from the personal property tax goods in warehouses received from steam railroads and boats. It is designed to correct a condition which results in the diversion of much lake and rail traffic to Chicago and the storage of goods there rather than in Milwaukee.

By a vote of 15 to 4 the senate has upheld the governor's veto of a bill appropriating $1,000 to Henry Johnson, former state treasurer, to compensate him for expense incurred in a lawsuit while in office.

A bill to compensate inmates of state institutions injured in performance of work has passed the senate by a 13 to 8 vote. The measure would leave determination of the amount of compensation to the industrial commission, subject to the approval of the board of control, with a maximum of $1,000 a person. Only inmates permanently incapacitated or injured to the extent that their earning power is reduced would be entitled to compensation.

The senate committee on state affairs has recommended for passage of the Duggert bill for the creation of a state park system in southeastern Wisconsin, but with less money than the sponsors had hoped for. The appropriation, originally $250,000 annually, has been cut to $200,000 a year.

State appropriations for the Southern Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, the Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, and the Central Wisconsin Cheesemakers', Buttermakers' and Dairywomen's Advancement association were disapproved by the senate when it engrossed a bill repealing the statute which grants them state aid. Dairy associations, originally included in the bill, were exempted by an amendment and will continue to receive aid from the state.

If the legislature does not take steps to modify the present vocational education law, the People's Defense League of Oshkosh plans to institute a test case before the supreme court, to test the validity of that statute.

This was decided at a meeting of the league, where the present law was attacked as being "class legislation," inasmuch as it applies almost entirely to the large cities.

Madison—Gov. Zimmerman gave out a formal proclamation offering $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of Erdman Olson, who is wanted for the murder of his former sweetheart, Clara Olson, last Sept. 10. Her body was found in a shallow grave by a posse that hunted for her shortly after Olson's disappearance.

Stevens Point—Padlocking of 11 saloons and roadhouses in central Wisconsin, five each at Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield and one here, was completed by James E. Harris, federal marshal. All of the places were closed for one year by federal injunction for violations of the prohibition act.

Orandon—Several boys' and girls' agricultural clubs will be organized in Forest county this spring under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Sauter, assistant state club leader.

Menasha—Mayor N. G. Remmel resigned and was reappointed to fill out his unexpired term, all in one night. This formally was made necessary by the fact that the chief executive decided to reconsider his resignation, submitted several weeks ago and accepted by the council at a previous meeting.

Medford—A Yorkshire sow on the farm of John Zenger, Taylor county, gave birth to twenty pigs. This is the largest litter of pigs ever recorded in this part of the state.

Badger State Briefs

Kenosha—A group of polish men who have received their citizenship papers, have organized a Polish political club, to aid others in becoming citizens.

Milwaukee—Milwaukee's fire alarm bug has again started operations, this time on the upper east side. A few weeks ago nine false alarms were turned in.

Appleton—A tack caused the death of a valuable cow owned by Arthur Locker, town of Grand Chute. The tack probably had been swallowed by the animal with its food, and it worked up through the stomach to the heart, penetrating that organ.

Stoughton—Residents of the Lake Kegonsa region have filed a petition with the state conservation commission asking that the seeding of carp in Lake Kegonsa be prohibited this spring. It is claimed that operations of the seeders interfere with the propagation of other fish.

Kankakee—With a hydrophobia scare threatening the city, R. H. McCarty, chief of police, ordered all dogs dead and muzzled immediately. Police will shoot all dogs left at large. Francis Hofer, 4, was bitten by a stray dog. The dog was killed and sent to Madison where it reacted positively to rabies tests. Witnesses of the accident claim the dog bit several other dogs before it was killed.

Wausau—The annual meeting of the North Wisconsin Saengerbund will be held in this city in June, at which time it is expected more than 500 singers will be present for the 3 days gathering. Singing societies from all over Wisconsin will take part in this event and there will be a number of soloists here for the occasion. The main event on the program will be a mass chorus of 500 voices.

Madison—Mrs. Alice Bling Van Hise, aged 77, widow of the late Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin from 1903 to 1918, died April 10 at her home here. She had been an invalid for the last five years. Mrs. Van Hise, whose maiden name was Alice Businell Ring, was born at Union, in Rock county. She attended the old Evansville academy, where she met Mr. Van Hise, to whom she was married in 1881.

Endeavor—One of the values of a cow testing association was demonstrated on the farm of Ernest Amacker, near here, the past month when the tester checking a cream separator found it was robbing its owner of nearly 3 of pounds of butterfat in every 100 pounds of milk or an amount which made a difference of $9 a month in Mr. Amacker's cream check. New discs were purchased for the separator which is now doing a clean job and will in four months save enough to pay Mr. Amacker's yearly dues in the cow testing association.

Ashtland—Thomas O'Connell, incumbent, defeated Richard C. Taggart, Giddlen, for the office of county superintendent of schools by one vote, according to an official count by the county canvassing board. Unofficial tallies conceded victory to Taggart by five votes. The official count gives O'Connell 938 and Taggart 937. Ashtland county voted for a salary increase for members of the legislature by a vote of 2,151 to 1,796. The forestry amendment also passed, 2,230 to 1,390.

Ashtland—Residents of Odanah, small village on the Bad River Indian reservation, are now assured of ample police protection, following efforts made by the local Indian officer for more than a year and a petition signed by 14 chiefs and headmen. A captain, a lieutenant and private will be stationed at the village. The recent murder there of a druggist and firing on the lone police officer had brought the matter to a point where further protection seemed imperative.

Milwaukee—Market quotations: Butter—Creamery, fresh extras, tubs, 48 1/2c; extra firsts, 47 1/2c. Cheese—Twins, 22 1/2c; daisies, 22c; longhorns, 23 1/2c; brick, 22 1/2c; Limburger, 23 1/2c; Eggs—Fresh gathered firsts, 23c; Poultry—Fowls, 25c; springers, 22c; 3c; roosters, 13c; young turkeys, 30c; geese, 16c. Hens—Fair to good butchers, $10.50 @ 11.20; fair to best lights, $11.00 @ 11.40; pigs, $10.00 @ 11.00. Cattle—Steers, fair to choice, $7.25 @ 8.00; heifers, $5.50 @ 6.00; cows, $5.25 @ 6.00. Calves, $10.00 @ 11.50. Sheep—Good to choice ewe and wether lambs, $14.50 @ 16.50; fair to good spring lambs, $13.00 @ 14.25; ewes, $6.00 @ 10.00.

Ashtland—A 72-pound timber wolf, the largest trapped in Ashtland county for several years, was brought to the office of E. H. Quisthoff, county clerk, for bounty by Martin Beykal. The animal was trapped within four miles of the city limits.

Clintonville—Efforts are being made by local business men to revive the monthly stock fairs here, which were so popular a number of years ago. It is planned to hold the first revival fair May 2.

Stevens Point—River Falls Normal, by defeating Stevens Point at home at Platteville at Platteville, won the Wisconsin normal debating championship. Stevens Point, winning from Platteville here, finished second. Decisions of the judges gave River Falls a total score of 200, Stevens Point 193 and Platteville 183.

Chippewa Falls—Ole Botstad, farmer living near here, was seriously injured when he was struck by the full charge of a premature explosion while blasting stumps on his farm.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA PLAN WAR ON CHINA

Mobilization of Troops Under Way—Five Powers' Notes Regarded as Mild.

London—Gen. Sun Chang-Fang, in a new offensive, is reported to have captured 5,000 of his former troops, who had deserted to the Cantonese, when Sun Chang-Fang was recently in flight. Sun is reported to have expressed great pleasure at meeting his old comrades, and then to have had the entire 5,000 disbanded. Sun has granted to his advancing troops the right to three days' looting at Yang-chow.

London—General Japanese mobilization is imminent, according to a dispatch from Shanghai to the Daily Telegraph. The dispatch states that it is not known whether this anticipated action by Japan is for possible anti-Russian action or for retaliation for the invasion by a mob of the Japanese commission at Hankow.

London—A Tokyo dispatch to the Daily Mail says Japanese correspondents at Harbin report a large concentration of Russian and Chinese troops on the Siberian border preparing for possible hostilities growing out of the strained relations between Soviet Russia and northern China. The dispatch says the Russians have four divisions and the Chinese one division and a half on the border.

Washington—The United States has made demand on the Cantonese for complete reparations for the Nanking outrages and threatens prompt retaliation unless the demands are met promptly. The demands include adequate punishment of all responsible parties, a written apology from the Cantonese commander in chief and a written promise to avoid all violence against foreigners in the future, and complete reparation for all injuries and damages.

Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy presented identical notes. They were handed to Eugene Chen, Cantonese premier, at Hankow, and to Gen. Chang Kai Shok, commander in chief of the Nationalist, or Cantonese, armies at Shanghai.

The terms were declared to be "strategically moderate" and not directed at the Chinese people, whom the "friendly" but at "those influences, both foreign and Chinese," responsible for the outrages.

It was generally believed that the American government had been successful in having the powers adopt this moderate policy instead of more drastic steps proposed by other powers.

It was generally conceded that the reprisal which the powers have in mind is a blockade of Cantonese ports.

Moscow—Rumors are current that recognition of the Cantonese government in South China by the Soviets and Japan is pending. M. Aratoff was mentioned as possible Soviet envoy to Hankow if recognition is accorded.

Washington—The "danger zone" for foreigners in China has widened with reports that trouble is brewing at Canton, in extreme South China, where the situation has been quiet.

American Consul Douglas Jenkins reported the atmosphere is "tense," with a clash anticipated between Communists and Moderates, who are both striving for gain control of the Nationalist movement.

The Canton Christian college has been closed, due to a strike of workmen on the campus, who made "demands beyond all reason," Jenkins said.

Alarming reports were also received from Hankow, where Admiral Hough said the situation was "ugly," due to large crowds of coolies out of work and hungry.

Shanghai—Armed Chinese, under orders of moderate Kuomintang leaders, raided the native districts of Chapel, Mantano and Pootung, routing radical laborers.

Twelve Chinese were killed, six hundred were disarmed and guns and ammunition were seized as part of the program to eradicate extremists from the Kuomintang (Cantonese political organization).

Following presentation of the protest by the five principal powers, Quo Tai-chi, commissioner of foreign affairs, was expelled from the Kuomintang party. It was reported.

The Cantonese in Shanghai express the opinion that the edge of the powers' demands was somewhat taken off by the announcement of Quo Tai-chi that the Cantonese have made certain demands on the British consul respecting the alleged violation of Chinese sovereignty by the British in the last few days.

To Get Gasoline From Lignite Paris—French engineers claim to have perfected a process of extracting gasoline with oil and sulphur as by-products from lignite. The new fuel, they assert, will cost one-third less than gasoline at present prices.

Passes $2,500,000,000 Budget Berlin.—The Reichstag has passed the $2,500,000,000 budget for 1927, which will necessitate an internal loan of at least $100,000,000 to prevent a deficit.

Heads Confederate Veterans Tampa, Fla.—Gen. J. S. Foster of Houston, Texas, commander of the trans-Mississippi department, was elected commander in chief of the United Confederate Veterans at the annual here. Little Rock, Ark., was chosen as 1928 convention city.

Premier Takes Presidency Santiago, Chile.—Gen. Carlos Ibanez, for some years premier and minister of the interior, has been chosen President of Chile.

U. S. NOT MEDDLING

Hugh Gibson.

Geneva—The inference that President Coolidge's proposed three-power disarmament conference "is prejudicial" to the work of the league's preparatory commission on disarmament, made by M. Paul Doumer of France, was replied to by Hugh Gibson, chief of the United States delegation. Mr. Gibson said America had no wish to "meddle" but desired a limited agreement in the event of failure of a general accord.

SACCO DEFENSE IN APPEAL TO FULLER

Death Sentence Is Meted Out After Seven Years.

Boston, Mass.—The fight to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from the electric chair, which has aroused interest through the world, was carried to the state legislature.

Representative Roland D. Sawyer, who is a Congressional minister, offered a resolution calling upon Gov. Alvin T. Fuller to appoint a commission to investigate and report whether Sacco and Vanzetti had a fair trial. The resolution automatically goes to committee. In the event of an adverse report, Mr. Sawyer is prepared to make a fight on the floor of the house.

Washington—Fearing violence as a result of sympathy for Sacco and Vanzetti, convicted of murder and sentenced to death, guards have been placed at the War, Navy and State departments here.

Boston.—An appeal has been made to Governor Fuller to appoint an investigating committee of "impartial citizens" as the first step in the newest battle to save Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti from death in the electric chair in the week of July 10, the defense committee announced.

Sacco and Vanzetti were sentenced to death by Judge Webster Thayer of the Massachusetts Superior court for the slaying of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree, Mass., during a holdup on April 15, 1920.

This was reached the climax of a fight which for seven years has occupied the attention of the world. The effort of the two men to avoid the death penalty has been aided by tremendous defense funds raised by radicals in America and protests against execution have been received from nearly every country in the world.

Buenos Aires.—Labor organizations decided to end the suspension of work called Friday in protest against the death sentences imposed on Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti.

Taylorville, Ill.—Officials of the United Mine Workers subdistrict organization here have wired Governor Fuller demanding that he pardon Sacco and Vanzetti.

Forbids Unions to Bar Use of "Unfair" Goods Washington.—The United States Supreme court held that the refusal of members of a union to handle or work on material made by nonunion labor is an illegal restraint of interstate trade and a violation of the Sherman antitrust law.

The decision came in the case of 23 Indiana stone quarrying companies asking for an injunction against the Journeymen Stone Cutters' association of North America which had instructed its members not to handle the product of the appellant companies. The lower courts had denied the injunction, but in its decision the Supreme court reversed the finding. Justices Stone and Sanford concurred with the majority in separate opinions and Justices Brandeis and Holmes dissented.

Italy-Hungary Sign Pact Rome.—Premier Mussolini of Italy and Premier Bethlen signed the Italo-Hungarian treaty of mutual guarantees, which provides for conciliation and arbitration in the event of disputes between the two countries.

Irish Keep Allegiance to King Dublin.—The Dail Eireann defeated the resolution sponsored by the Republican deputy, Dan Breen, which would abolish the oath of allegiance to King George.

Plot Potash Monopoly Washington.—The government has filed suit in New York court charging a conspiracy on the part of German and French producers to monopolize the potash industry of the United States.

Signs Theater Padlock Bill Albany, N. Y.—Governor Smith has signed the Wales bill which provides for the padlocking of theaters in connection with the presentation of objectionable shows.

REFUSES FUNDS TO MAKE VARE INQUIRY

Senator Keyes Ignores Dawes' Ruling for Continuance of Reed Probe.

Washington.—The new lease of life given the Reed slush fund committee by the ruling of Vice President Dawes affirming its power to hold hearings after the adjournment of congress came to an end here recently. Senator Keyes (Rep., N. H.), chairman of the senate audit and control committee, will stand pat on his refusal to advance funds for a continuance of the inquiry into the Pennsylvania senatorial election.

Encouraged by the stang of Senator Keyes, other opponents of the Reed committee's activities, led by Senator David A. Reed (Rep., Pa.) are bringing pressure to bear on Senator Fess (Rep., Ohio) to decline the Dawes appointment to succeed Senator Goff (Rep., W. Va.) on the committee.

Senator Keyes said that regardless of Vice President Dawes' Chicago statement or his appointment of Senator Fess, he still believes that the Reed committee expired with the end of congress. Senator Reed (Rep., Pa.) issued a statement attacking the logic of the vice president's ruling, the right of the vice president to fill vacancies at any time, and especially when he is not actually presiding over a senate session, and concluding that the appointment of Senator Fess "is a nullity."

The statement also points out that the attempt of the Reed committee to impound Pennsylvania ballots from the Vare-Wilson election has taken the issue into the courts for decision and asks that the decision be awaited.

Chicago.—Vice President Charles G. Dawes has ruled that the Reed senate committee investigating campaign expenditures did not lose its power with the adjournment of the Sixty-ninth congress, during which it was appointed, and that it is as much alive as ever.

On the strength of this decision, the vice president, as presiding officer of the senate, appointed Senator Simon D. Fess (Rep., Ohio) to the place on the committee left vacant by the resignation of Reed (Rep., W. Va.)

The vice president's ruling was based directly upon the decision of the United States Supreme court in the case of Mal S. Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, in which there was affirmed the right of a senate committee even though the congress during which the committee was empowered had adjourned.

"The Supreme court was passing upon the powers of a senatorial committee authorized by a resolution to sit and perform its duties at such times and places as may be deemed advisable or necessary by said committee," it held the vice president's decision ruled. "It was the intent of the resolution extended the powers of the committee beyond the congress which passed the creating resolution."

"Senate resolution 195, Sixty-ninth congress, creating the present senatorial investigating committee," said committee is hereby empowered to sit and act at such time or times and at such place or places as it may deem necessary. The holding of the Supreme court in the Daugherty case, therefore, is clearly applicable."

The vice president's ruling settles a situation created when the resolution of Senator James A. Reed (Dem., Mo.), chairman of the committee, asking for the committee's continuance, failed of passage because of the filibuster which wound up the senate's closing hours.

Other Sports Benefited. "Golf, however, is not the only sport that has been benefited by the motor car. Name any sport, and it will owe much of its recent development to the automobile. It is just a matter of a few moments to convince yourself of this. Pass the baseball parks in the morning, visit the beaches, the tennis courts, in fact any place where sport is indulged in, and note the automobiles there."

"The automobile itself, the greatest aid developed in modern business, offers a variety of sport that no other thing could. Nothing is more beneficial than a spin into the fresh, invigorating air, and physicians everywhere recommend motoring as a great aid to a healthy physical and mental condition. Thousands annually join the ranks of those who are enjoying the benefits of the motor car in all walks of life."

Big Cereal Firms Sold; Armour Quits 'Change Chicago.—Events in the fortunes of the Armour Grain company, under investigation by the state legislative committee at the Fort Dearborn Athletic club, moved swiftly with the following points of interest:

1. The Armour Grain company announced that it had disposed of Maple Flakes, Inc., and Armour Oats to the Balfour Guthrie company of St. Louis and retired from the cereal field.

2. Charles T. Atkinson, secretary of the Chicago Stock Exchange, announced that J. Ogden Armour, principal stockholder, and George E. Marex, former chairman of the board, had sold their exchange memberships.

3. Attorneys for Harry C. Mallory, star witness against the company, revealed that their client had narrowly escaped abduction by two gunmen.

4. Emanuel T. Rosenbaum, president of the Rosenbaum Grain corporation and a founder of the defunct Grain Marketing company, stated that "too much organization" had brought about the spectacular failure of the firm—blame for which the committee is trying to fix.

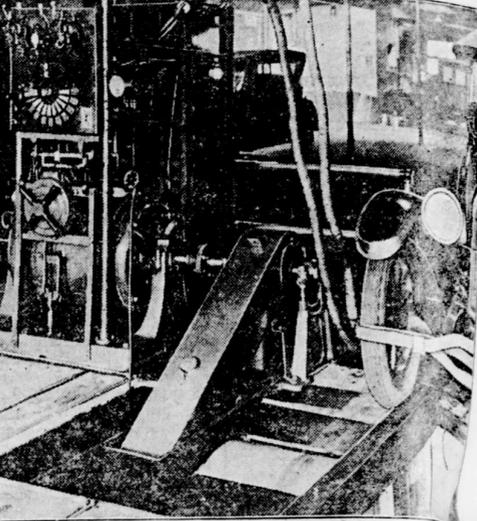

Speedy Wisconsin Justice Milwaukee.—Within six hours of the murder of Mrs. Rose Radich, twenty-six, her husband, Vaso, twenty-eight, was on his way to Waupun to start a life sentence for her murder, an outstanding example of the speedy justice for which Wisconsin courts have become famous.

$150,000 Wisconsin Mill Burns Antigo, Wis.—Fire destroyed the Faust Lumber company here, loss being estimated at $150,000.

Save Mt. Vernon Trees Washington.—Surgery and detelics are being resorted to in an effort to preserve and restore the health of nearly 100 fine but aging trees at Mount Vernon, some of which date back to George Washington's residence there.

Popular Film Star Weds Los Angeles, Calif.—Irene Rich screen actress, and D. F. Blackbourn, wealthy Pasadena real estate dealer, were married at Pebble Beach, according to word sent to friends here.

AUTOMATIC CAR PHYSICIAN IN OPERATION

None of the ills that motors are heir to can escape this new $1250 mobile trouble shooter, established in Chicago for the benefit of the motoring public. The testing laboratory is equipped with every modern device to diagnose motor troubles and is employed exclusively for that purpose. An hour's test under the delicate instruments suffices in sounding out every ailment on the modern car and discovering whether or not it is functioning on proper standard of efficiency.

DEVELOPMENT OF SPORT IS AIDED

Particularly Beneficial to Golfer in Affording Fast Transportation.

It would be interesting to delve into statistics and determine to just what extent the automobile has aided the development of any line of sport, or all lines. It is certainly true that sport flourished, but not in all its glory, before the advent of the horseless carriage. At any rate, it has certainly increased its scope since it was possible for Mr. Common People to own an automobile.

Big Aid to Golf. "The motor car has greatly aided one of the oldest games known," says Robert S. Breyer of California, "and that is the royal and ancient pastime throughout Europe, and especially in England and Scotland, swarmed the links playing golf, but the automobile has made it possible for thousands of persons in this country to indulge in the sport. An increase is also noticeable in the old country."

"The minutes of today's everyday business man are worth real money to him. And he is one of the greatest devotees of the sport in the country. The only reason for that is the automobile, quick efficient transportation between his home, the links and his office. There are very few courses in the entire country that are not accessible to the automobile, and courses to which there is no other transportation save walking."

"Other Sports Benefited. "Golf, however, is not the only sport that has been benefited by the motor car. Name any sport, and it will owe much of its recent development to the automobile. It is just a matter of a few moments to convince yourself of this. Pass the baseball parks in the morning, visit the beaches, the tennis courts, in fact any place where sport is indulged in, and note the automobiles there."

"The automobile itself, the greatest aid developed in modern business, offers a variety of sport that no other thing could. Nothing is more beneficial than a spin into the fresh, invigorating air, and physicians everywhere recommend motoring as a great aid to a healthy physical and mental condition. Thousands annually join the ranks of those who are enjoying the benefits of the motor car in all walks of life."

AUTOMOBILE NOTES. Speedometers may lie, but you can't convince the judge that the needle on the cop's motorcycle does.

No medium priced cars are made at the Paris auto show, because in France there are only rich motorists and poor drivers.

A new British automobile travels 176.45 miles an hour. It is hard to believe that anybody in Great Britain is in that much of a hurry.

The majority of automobile accidents occur at intersections. Motorists should always assume that another driver is just coming around the corner.

It isn't strictly the railroad crossing rule that it is more dangerous to get out of a car than to get into it. It is well when he had the horse in his thinking for him.

A bill to compel motorists to stop at railroad crossings is being opposed by motorists, and there is some force in the argument that it is almost impossible for trains to stop as a matter of habit and look for the peril.

Motor vehicle operators should make sure they have sufficient gas, oil, and water before starting out.

Motorists who work near the exhaust manifold of a car should cover it with a shield, as the pipe is hot enough to cause second degree burns.

To many more pedestrians who will most have become acrobats by jumping over cars, it seems that many motorists also drive without using their eyes.

Pedestrians Quite Safe in Afghanistan

Not only has the United States the greatest number of automobiles, but it has higher ratio of automobiles to population than any other country—more than to every six persons.

China, with a population of 436,000,000, has only one automobile for every 31,571 people and India has only one car for every 3,573 of its population of more than 247,000,000.

Hawaii has the second highest ratio, with one car for every eleven persons, and Canada ranks third with three persons for every automobile. The ratio of automobiles to population in New Zealand stands next in the order is one car to fourteen persons, that of Australia, one to twenty, the of Denmark, which ranks next is one to fifty.

Ratios for other countries are from one to fifteen for France, to one to one million and hundred thousand in the case of Afghanistan. The lower the ratio, the more dangerous the road.

Fastening Arrangements on Hood Will Get Loose. The fastening arrangements in the hood of the modern automobile really hold it tight enough to prevent rattles, but when the fastenings get, annoying rattles sometimes drop.

McCormick-Deering Tractor

From the standpoint of effort the tractor owner has an easy time compared with the other fellow. He does not have to crack the whip over tired and weary horses. He has no chores to do. He has full power and efficiency at his command at all times, regardless of heat and dust and flies. His tractor and tools may be made to work through twenty-four hours a day, if the season demands such extra speed, with utmost efficiency.

Why Delco Motor Oils

Oil Better and Longer!

FOR the same reason that a pure-bred dairy cow gives more, and better, milk. For the same reason that a thoroughbred horse has the heart and stamina for that needed, final winning spurt. For the same reason that a blooded bird dog will hold a point, without flinching at the heaviest gunfire.

Other Delco
Lubricants
Delco Cup Grease,
Transmission, Differential and Universal Joint Lubricants, General
Purpose Oil, Etc.

All of which, "sugared down," means that Nature has put into the thoroughbred animal and the thoroughbred oil, "that little more" which merciless trial brings out so sharply.

Delco Motor Oils are refined, whole and complete, from pure, paraffin-base petroleum. Almost always you pay a premium price for the better lubricant this finer petroleum produces. No asphalt-base oil can equal Delco's heat-resistance. Here's what your motor gets, with Delco, without added cost.

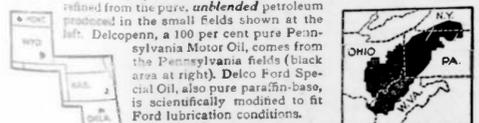

25% less "drag" when motor is cold.

12% more oil body at motor heat.

15% less loss through vaporization and burning.

19% less carbon content (Conradson test).

—The fire department was called out on Wednesday noon to extinguish a chimney fire at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Raether on East Main Str.
—Louis Bath and family, A. Beisbier and family, Helen Harbeck and Mrs. Walter Nigh and daughter Rosemary were Fond du Lac callers Saturday afternoon.
—Announcements were received here by friends of the birth of a baby boy, Robert Herman, born to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Gottsleben of Milwaukee on March 25th. Congratulations.
—Mrs. Nicholas Strupp and son Roman spent several days the forepart of the week at Marshfield. While there they attended the funeral of Mrs. Strupp's sister, Mrs. John Weber which was held there on Monday.
—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Martin of West Bend spent Wednesday evening with the John Martin family. They were accompanied here by Mr. and Mrs. And. Martin Sr., who visited several months with the Geo. and Wm. Martin families at West Bend.
—Emil Ramel of the town of Auburn, purchased the Mrs. Carl Urban residence on Clinton street in this village last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ramel expect to move into the same in the near future. Mr. Ramel rented his farm to Arthur Naumann.
—Misses Florence Rosenheimer, Bernice Perschbacher, Elizabeth Quade and brother Raymond, left Tuesday for Madison to resume their studies at the University of Wisconsin after spending a week's vacation with their respective parents here.
—Mr. and Mrs. Gust. Perschbacher and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kniekel and family and Galen Kersha of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peters of West Bend and Dr. Chester Perschbacher and W. Mickel of Appleton spent Sunday with the A. A. Perschbacher family.
—The following spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Math. Beisbier and with Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Schields: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Greiten and daughter Ardell and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lorenz of Grafton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beisbier and daughter Helen of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Beisbier of Fond du Lac.
—A new counterfeit $10 bill is in circulation, postal authorities were notified Saturday. It is described as a $10 note on the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, series of 1914, face plate No. 193, back plate No. 1314, has the signatures of Frank White and Andrew Mellon and portrait of Andrew Jackson.
—Mrs. Charlotte Hausman entertained the A. C. Backus family of Milwaukee, Dr. Gust. A. Hausman family of Waupun, Dr. William Hausman Sr., family and Dr. and Mrs. William Hausman Jr. of West Bend, Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Hausman and Dr. and Mrs. K. F. Hausman of here at dinner on Sunday, in honor of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Fleischman's seventy-fifth birthday anniversary.
—The ladies coat, dress and millinery sale held at the L. Rosenheimer store on Wednesday, was a big success. In connection with the sale the day was recognized as "egg day," which went over big, nearly 70,000 eggs were purchased by the firm. This is the largest number of eggs ever purchased here in one day in the history of the store, and perhaps the largest amount ever purchased in this section of the country in any one day.
—D. M. Rosenheimer left last Friday for Rochester, Minn., to visit his son Marc David, who last Saturday, underwent a very serious operation at the Mayo Bros. Clinic there. Marc has been confined at the clinic for several months, where he is being treated for stones in the kidneys. The ailment is such that it baffles the physicians of that institution, who, up to the present are at a loss to discover the source of his disease. From last reports received here, Marc has successfully withstood the operation, and is getting along as well as can be expected.

And Now, Engagement Rings For Men

Not only now, do men give their fiancées an engagement ring, but an ever-increasing custom dictates that the girl give the man a ring too. A stone ring set with the man's birthstone or the stone typifying the month of the engagement is appropriate. We shall be glad to show you engagement rings for both ladies and men. We have the latest styles in Wedding Rings and as always the largest stock to select from.

Pair of Aces That May Win Flag

The photograph shows Ty Cobb, at left, and his new boss, Connie Mack, at the playing field at Ft. Myers, Fla., where the Philadelphia Athletics train for the championship race in the American league.

Miller Huggins Has Been Much Abused

No manager has been more criticized and abused than Miller Huggins. The distinctive leader of the Yankees has had to take it ever since he took the job. There are still a great many people who have no regard for the managerial ability of Huggins. Point to his record and they will tell you his teams win in spite of him. This argument cannot go far. Other managers in the American league have had top class playing talent at their command but they could not pull through to one championship in spite of poor management, but the team would not repeat the performance.

ATHLETE NEEDS GOOD TRAINING

Form and Relaxation Are Among Big Essentials.

One day last spring Bob Simpson, world's champion hurdler when a student at the University of Missouri, and I were talking about a third athlete, a man who was a promising prospect for the American Olympic team in the high hurdles. We agreed that his form was wrong, writes Harold M. Osborn, deanthletic champion, 1924 Olympic games, in the American Boy Magazine. He had recently broken an ankle, and although it had mended well, the leg dragged as he took the barriers. "He'll go all right in the earlier heats and races," Simpson said, "but just wait until he meets the best competition. He'll not make the grade unless he perfects his form." I happened to be talking to this man a few days later, and told him what Simpson and I had said. It made no impression on him. "That's just my style," he insisted. "I don't want to change it." When the final trials came, this man was eliminated. That dragging leg kept clipping the tops of hurdles. He had committed one of the two great crimes of the track and field athlete—he had not studied his event. Another case. A high school boy—long, rangy chap he was, with clean limbs and the appearance of a real athlete—was competing against my team in the broad jump. His team needed the points pretty badly, and although we had a good little jumper I had figured this fellow as a sure winner. When he started his run I sensed something wrong. He pounded up to the take-off and hunched stiffly into the air. When he hit the ground he had jumped only 17 feet, and he was rigid as a statue as he came down—sprawled all over the jumping pit. He had committed the second error—he did not relax. These are the two worst things you can do, if you have aspirations on the track or in the field events. No man, or boy, can be an athlete if he doesn't practice incessantly, study every move he makes, get all the advice he can from coaches, athletes and anybody who really knows, and correct every fault the moment he finds it. And no matter how perfect his form is, he'll never get good results from it unless he learns to relax—to use his muscles freely and easily, to swing through his event rather than to crank through it, to let his arms and legs move naturally and not at a tension. Relaxation is the secret of track success. I once knew a college athlete who knew every possible move he ought to make in throwing a discus. He timed himself to a fraction of a second, and spaced his steps and swings to a fraction of an inch. But when he actually started to throw the discus, he stiffened up and his arms worked like rails. He couldn't take it easy, and he never became a real discus thrower. You must, of course, first get yourself into good working order. Cross-country running, in the fall, is the best possible conditioning for any kind of a track or field man, because it develops chest and legs. Remember that next fall, and try it out.

Amplifying Tubes and Selectivity

Negative Grid Bias on R. F. Amplifiers Will Reduce Interference.

By HERMAN BERNARD (Associate Institute of Radio Engineers) With selectivity the outstanding consideration of the moment, because stations are so numerous and close together in frequency, much attention has been given to circuit designs that will afford high selectivity. Yet little attention has been paid publicly to the proper use of radio-frequency amplifying tubes so that their contribution to selectivity may be adequately capitalized. The characteristics of such tubes, as well as those of super-sensitive special detector tubes, are such that improper use may impair selectivity. Selectivity is something most usually associated with receiver circuits, coils and condensers, but the tube is entitled to a just share of the honors. Selectivity may be regarded as the ability of an operating receiver to restrict reception to only one frequency, or to a very narrow band of desired frequencies, at a time. As the problem arises usually in connection with wave lengths or frequencies quite close together, selectivity enables discrimination among these wave lengths or frequencies, the acceptance of one of them to the exclusion of all others. Thus is inter-station interference avoided. That goal is very important today. A circuit is selective because its resistance to a desired wave length is very low when the correct dial settings prevail, while the resistance to other wave lengths, at those same settings, is very high. Now, to make things easy for the desired signal, while maintaining barriers against all other frequencies, you may introduce a negative grid bias on the radio-frequency amplifying tubes. If the usual 6.3 to 90 volts are applied to the plates of those tubes, application of such bias is equivalent to putting a resistance across the coil or variable condenser in the tuned circuit. The technical term used to describe such a condition in the tuned circuit is that the tube is used without bias, the "input impedance" is low. The Effect Stated. The negative grid bias, besides reducing the plate current drain on the "B" supply, whether that supply be batteries or eliminator, increases the input impedance, resulting in decreased damping of the input circuit (grid to filament). A low input impedance, therefore, is equivalent to adding a resistance in parallel with the tuning condenser, thus broadening the tuning and reducing the voltage built up across the condenser by a given induced signal voltage. This effect may be reduced to a minimum by the negative grid bias. Even so small a bias as one volt helps considerably in improving selectivity, although reducing the plate current only slightly. For instance, the CX-301A, a radio-frequency amplifying tube (which is also a detector and audio-amplifier) draws 6 milliamperes of plate current at 90 volts, with the grid connected to the negative filament, i. e., at zero grid bias. If the grid is negatively biased only one volt, as by connecting the grid return to the battery side of the rheostat (to minus A), instead of to minus filament, the plate current is reduced to 3 milliamperes. This is due to the one volt negative grid bias resulting from the drop of one volt in the rheostat. But at 4.5 volts negative grid bias, again assuming the same plate voltage of 90, the plate current drops to 2 milliamperes, a reduction of 66 2/3 per cent. However, for radio-frequency amplifying purposes some may prefer to use less than 4.5 volts negative bias, the maximum negative grid bias recommended for a plate voltage of 90, because of the somewhat lessened volume resulting from negatively biasing the radio-frequency amplifying tubes to the allowable limit. The Relationship. On the score of selectivity the gain even from a single volt of negative grid bias is relatively much larger than the saving in plate current drain, because the increased input impedance is pronounced. An indirect relationship between the tube and selectivity exists in regard to the CX-300A, the special detector that outperforms its predecessors without being critical as to filament or plate voltage. This tube, which works on the alkali vapor principle, is something new in tube design. Its recommended operating voltages are 5 volts filament and 45 volts on the plate. Preferably the grid should be returned to negative filament. This tube greatly increases the volume of weak signals, for instance, when distant stations are being received, as compared with the results obtained when using a CX-301A as detector. On strong signals the ear does not notice this particular effect so readily. Hence, if one desires greater selectivity it is possible to sacrifice the volume gain to accomplish the possibly more important end. Looser coupling of the antenna may be employed. One popular method is to place a fixed condenser, say of 0001 mfd. capacity or smaller, in series with the aerial. Another is to remove turns from the coil that is in the aerial circuit. Loose Coupling. The series connection of the fixed condenser consists of joining one side to the antenna binding post of the receiver, and the other side of the fixed condenser to the antenna lead in the wire that has been removed from the antenna post of the set. The reduction of the number of turns on the antenna coil is a substitute for the series condenser remedy, and is not auxiliary. The use of loose coupling reduces the detrimental effect of the antenna resistance, hence increases selectivity. Less energy is induced, and volume is comparatively less, where one compares results with a given type of detector tube. But if the 300A is being used as detector, replace it with the 300A and the methods of increasing selectivity may be resorted to, the previous volume still being retained, although the selectivity has been materially increased.

Consider Motor Element in Radio Loud Speakers

In considering the operation of a loud speaker, the reproduced sounds may be referred to as having two properties, i. e., intelligibility and naturalness. In radio broadcasting, not only communication but entertainment must be supplied, and therefore the property of naturalness is very important. Quality in a receiving set, as outlined in a paper delivered by J. F. Nielsen before the Radio Club of America, and published in Radio Broadcast Magazine, is affected by the sharpness of tuning of the radio-frequency stages, by the time constant of the grid leak-condenser combination of the detector circuit, by the characteristic and power capacity of the audio-amplifier, and finally, by the loud speaker itself. Speech consists, in general, of two fundamental forms of sound, namely, continuents and stops, and their combinations. The former are those produced by the continuous flow of air, such as the letters F, S, etc., while the latter consists of those sounds produced by a sudden stoppage of air, such as the case with the letters P, B, and M. Speech energy is distributed over a band of frequencies from 50 to 10,000 cycles and if the loud speaker is inefficient on the upper end of the spectrum, the S, T, and other high-frequency sounds, will be missed entirely, or suppressed. Music is characterized by various harmonics which may be of larger or smaller amplitude than the fundamental. These harmonics distinguish the same note in the same octave as played on different instruments. Musical sounds are sustained at definite frequencies for comparatively long periods and have the change in pitch take place in definite musical intervals, called thirds, fifths, octaves, etc. Having considered the nature of speech and music, it is evident that the perfect reproducer should give constant response when actuated by constant audio signal impulses, and be free from resonant effects, or hangovers, of any sort. In the paper published in Radio Broadcast Magazine the loud speaker is considered as a possible source of poor quality. The parts of the loud speaker may be divided into three distinct and separate components, the motor, the connecting mechanism between motor and diaphragm, and the diaphragm or sound-producing device itself. The motor element is one of the most important factors in the production of good quality speech and music, for, as it may readily be imagined, the actuating force must be exactly in time with the electrical impulses. There are three different types of motors in common use, the reel type, the balanced armature type, and the moving coil type, any one of which may be used with a horn or cone type loud speaker. The balanced armature and moving coil type both convey the electrical impulse to the diaphragm with greater fidelity than the reel type and are also less inclined to resonate at any particular frequency within the audio range. Causes of distortion in the motor are saturation of armature and pole pieces (due probably to the direct-current component in loud speaker's working without an output device), iron losses, hysteresis losses, and eddy current losses. There are, of course, other causes of distortion than those outlined above, but it may be seen from a perusal of the preceding paragraphs that the buyer of a loud speaker should consider the motor element as well as the outside appearance of the instrument.

Your Kidneys Must Function Properly For You to Be Well

LATE hours, rich foods and stimulants in your drinks are all hard on your kidneys. If their action becomes sluggish, they do not thoroughly cleanse the blood of poisonous wastes. Such impurities may make one dull, tired and aching, with other aches, backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common symptom of impaired kidney function is scanty or burning excretions. Thousands have learned the value of Doan's Pills, stimulant and diuretic, in these conditions. 50,000 men have publicly recommended Doan's to their neighbors! 50,000 Users Endorse Doan's. Lambert W. Cox, Westport, N. Y., writes: "Doan's Pills proved their value to me. My kidneys were sluggish and I had backache and aching. There was a pain across my back that I couldn't describe. I was told to use Doan's Pills and I was glad that I did. They put me right."

Special Offer to Victims of Indigestion

Your Druggist Says Pleasant to Take Elixir Must Help Poor Distressed Stomachs or Money Gladly Refunded. You can be so distressed with gas and fullness from poor digestion or dyspepsia that you think your heart is going to stop beating. Your stomach may be so distressed that your breathing is short and gasping. You are dizzy and gray for relief—what's to be done? Just one tablespoonful of Doan's Mentha Pepsin and you'll see the gas disappears, the pressure on the chest ceases and you can breathe deep and naturally. Oh! What blessed relief, but why not get rid of such attacks altogether? Why have them at all? Especially when your druggist everywhere guarantees Doan's Mentha Pepsin, a pleasant elixir, to help you in money back. Changing His Tune. Bobbie, like most little boys, had been told that Santa Claus comes only the good little boys and girls, so he tried to be good before Christmas. While visiting his grandmother he forgot for a moment and started crying. As he began to cry his grandmother said: "Santa Claus, just then in his little boy cry." The crying stopped instantly. Bobby exclaimed: "Shut the door, grandmother, I'm not crying. I'm laughing!"—Johnapolis News.

The World's Hustlers

Jo Davidson, the American scoundrel, departing from his home in France to finish his bust of Robert M. La Follette and his statue of War Admiral, praised American energy. "It's no wonder we succeed," he said to a New York reporter, "for we are the world's great hustlers." "Yes, sir," he ended, "in America if you're not up and doing, you're down and done."

Why He Succeeded

Ignored politically and professionally, during his lifetime, Dr. J. C. Pierce, whose picture appears here, made a success for himself as a quack. His pure herbal remedies, which have stood the test for many years, are still being sold. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a stomach alterative which makes the blood richer. It clears the skin, beautifies it, purifies and eruptions vanish quickly. This discovery of Dr. Pierce's puts you in fine condition. All dealers have it in liquid or tablets. Send 10 cents for trial pkg. of tablets to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free advice.

Cannibal Butterflies

Butterflies that eat plant life and insects during the larval stage, instead of the usual vegetable diet, have been discovered in the Orient and New England. Known as hair-streaks, they even carry their cannibal habits to the point of devouring their own species during the helpless state of transition from larva into the pupa.

Katherine is four and has absorbed as many grown-up words as one small hand can gather. She went motoring recently with Billy. Billy's mother was driving. To make conversation, Katherine asked (in the same manner her mother might have used): "Billy, are you married?" "No," the little boy replied; "but I knew a man once who died."

Linting Tips

Here's the secret of giving lingerie, stockings, etc., the most gorgeous tints. All dyes are really colors. So use real dyes. Get an envelope of the actual dye powder at any drug store, for fifteen cents. Do your own diluting, which saves money and gives you the exact shade you want. Diamond dyes do perfectly beautiful tinting—in cold water. A dip, and it's done. And true dyes don't streak! Dyeing doesn't look weak, however delicate a tone you use; nor does it wash out unevenly. When you want the tint to be permanent, just use boiling water instead of cold! Regular dyeing of all dress materials, drapes, etc., just as easy. Ask druggist for color cards and suggestions. Or, a wealth of ideas in full color, in new book Color Craft free and postpaid, write DIAMOND DYES, Dept. 230, Burlington, Vermont.

Has Good Chance to Break All Records

Bill Carrigan, returning to baseball this year, has a chance to break all records of all time by taking the Red Sox into the pennant. Boston finished a bad last year in 1923. It is not much of a team, but Carrigan is much of a manager. He is regarded as the best who ever led an American league team. It has always been said that no man can win a pennant unless he has the players, and it must be admitted that Carrigan has less playing talent on his Boston roster than any rival manager has at his command. If Carrigan can finish out of last place he will be doing better than 99 out of 100 managers could do with the same baseball timber. If Carrigan should win a pennant this year then one may well say that the day of miracles is with us again.

Boy Tennis Champion

The photograph shows Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, boys' tennis champion of the United States, who, according to William Tilden, possesses the best tennis form in the world, ready for a contest on the Flamingo courts. He created a sensation in a recent tournament at Miami beach.

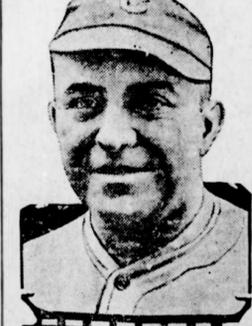

Sport Notes

The longest measured golf drive on record is 388 yards, made by Bill Horn at North Berwick, Scotland. Notre Dame has reorganized its athletic program so that each major sport will be conducted under a separate coach. The Victoria cricket team in Australia is the only team which has ever made 1,000 runs in first-class competition, recently totalling 1,107 against New South Wales. Despite the fact that golf experts rate her as one of the best female players in the game, Miss Louise Branch of Richmond, Va., has never participated in any golf tournament. Five women are prominent in the breeding of thoroughbreds in this country—Mrs. R. F. Carmen, Mrs. C. W. Moore, Mrs. Louis Vian, Mrs. Payne Whitney and Mrs. Margaret Emerson Baker. Ninety-one owners have nominated 162 thoroughbreds for the Kentucky derby. Practically every stake winner and many others of the good crop of two-year-olds of last year were included in the nominations. Figure skating was a well developed winter recreation in the countries of northern Europe 150 years ago. Big Ten football teams have scheduled games for the coming four years. You'll not hear the raccoons giving nine rabs about that. Horace Duffy, eleven, of Rushville, Ind., a page in the Indiana state senate, is the sole caretaker of C. D., a pacer that has become a sensation on the Grand circuit.

DIAMOND PICK-UPS

Babe Ruth wanted $100,000 for a season of what he quaintly calls work. A veteran baseball player is one who has been absorbed by both leagues. Ben Egan, coach of the Chicago White Sox last season, has been made coach of the diamond artists at Georgetown university. "Lefty" Groves, Connie Mack's pitching pride, won second honors in a livepigeon shooting match held recently at Lonaconing, Md. The Wichita Falls (Kan.) baseball club has erected a clubhouse at the ball grounds in which unmarried players may live free of charge. Victor Sorrell of the Toronto Leafs was the only undefeated pitcher last season in the International league, winning eight games and losing none. Pitcher Lefty Darrowh is again with the Dallas team of the Texas league, having been turned back to the Steers by the Philadelphia Athletics. "I'll let them know the old batting eye is as keen as ever," Zach Wheat is reported by a Philadelphia paper as saying. Presumably with the informative double. Lyman Hipperton, veteran third baseman, has been signed to manage the Palestine team of the new Lone Star league. He played with Pales- tine last summer. Manager Derrill Pratt of the Waco team of the Texas league has signed Pitcher Harold Elliott and Catcher Vern Edgar, both former members of the University of Michigan team. Matty Alivo, former Lincoln (Neb.) high school player, has signed with Molme of the Mississippi Valley league. He is a right-handed batter and can play almost any position. Pitcher John Berly, big right hander, who helped pitch Spartanburg to a pennant in 1923, has been repurchased by that club. Berly was with Wichita of the Western league, last spring. Julian Wera, St. Paul shortstopper, who is being watched by the Yankees this spring, is considered by Bob Conner, Yankee ivory hunter, as the best prospect of the year to reach the majors. Sam Smith, former sports editor of a Des Moines newspaper, has been made business manager of the Lincoln club of the Western league, according to Dick Breen, new president of the Links. William C. Whitman of Philadelphia, who, for the last three years has been a scout for the Chicago National League baseball club, has signed a contract to manage the Pittsfield baseball club of the Eastern league. Neat Ball has gone back to his old business of managing the New Haven team of the Eastern league. He pitched the Profs in 1923 and finished third. Last summer he tried his hand at Pittsfield, but quit before the season had gone very far. Buffalo of the International league, has sold Outfielder Vernon Spencer to the Toronto club of the same league. Spencer was placed on the suspended list by Manager Clymer of the Bisons, last July, following a run-in. He played with Toronto some years ago. Harry T. Madden, registrar of Lackawanna county, Penn., for many years and a close follower of baseball, has been made president of the Scranton club of the New York-Pennsylvania league. Madden acquired an interest in the club from Charley Davids of Newark. Harry D. Stovey, star of the old Athletics, once stole second and third bases three times in succession in the same game. Manager Stuff Melniks of the Phillies, announced the signing of two rookies—John Curry, a catcher, and Dick Spalding, an outfielder. Regularly appointed umpires made their first appearance in the National league in 1883. Up to that time it was the custom for the home club to furnish the umpire.

New Indian Manager

The photograph shows Jack McCaullister who is taking the place of Tris Speaker as manager of the Cleveland ball club. He is one of eight new managers in the big leagues.

Judge Landis Voids Trade

Judge Landis has kept a good ball player away from Buffalo, but he has kept faith with the rules of the game, comments Billy Kelly in the Buffalo Courier-Express. The transfer of Eddie Sicking to New York and his transfer from New York to Buffalo were accomplished almost in the same motion, so the Judge decided the work was too rough and voided the whole affair. For just such instances of efforts of magnates to circumvent the rules Judge Landis is needed.

Uncle Sam Listens In to What Ships Say on Air

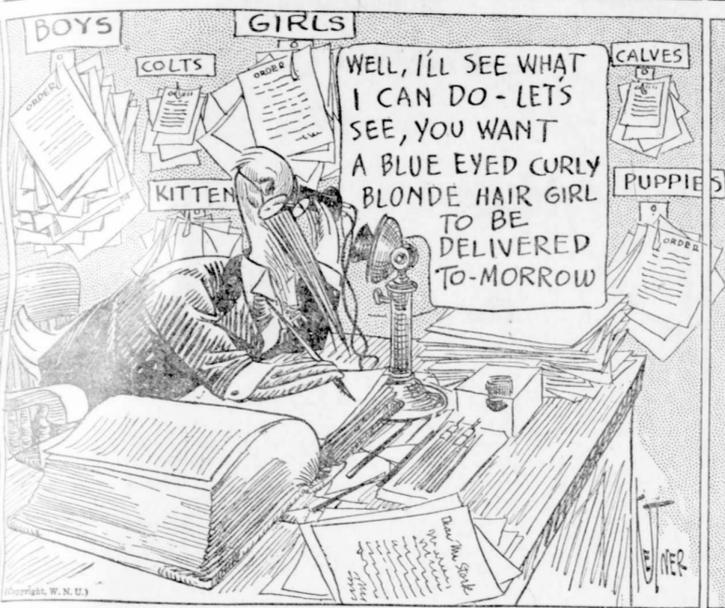

Newark, N. J.—"Ships that pass in the night" and what they say to each other on the air waves are of vast interest to Uncle Sam. So much so that the United States government requires every radio station to keep a man exclusively occupied keeping a log of everything he hears on the air during the hours the station is broadcasting. At WAAM, William Riedel, "AI" Reinhardt and Joseph Deppie, assistant operators, take turns sitting with a pair of phones over their ears and jotting down strange jumbles of letters on a typewriter. The chart they keep represents everything they can catch that vibrates the ether during broadcasting hours. Mostly, these notes, which the government forbids making public, are memoranda of ships signaling each other to land stations about docking facilities and the like. Occasionally, without any warning, comes an S. O. S. in a flash, the oper-

TUCKS AND PLAITS ADD CHARM; FLOWERS NOW FEATURE HATS

TUCKS and plaits have formed a union. By doing team-work they are contributing a twofold effectiveness to many a springtime frock. This employing of both tucks and plaits in the styling of dress is characteristic of many of the newer styles. The tucks are usually assigned to the blouse, and the plaits to the skirt. Under the manner described by the modish two-tone silk frock in the picture. Sometimes the two are even more intimately interworked, for the have reentered the millinery picture. When certain little violet toques came sailing across the sea to our shores straight from a leading atelier of Paris, they brought with them a promise of more flowers to follow. So it is that at this moment more interest is being shown in flower-trimmed hats than for many seasons. Violets! Myriads of them forming a cunning flower toque, the same accompanied by a flirtatious nose-veil of maline. That is the way the mode fore-idea of tucks plus plaits is being carried out in many intricate ways. As to tucking, novelty is the word this season. 'Tis a fact, tucks have departed from the "straight and narrow path." No longer do they follow the course of row-or-row regularity. Rather are they taking to strange and devious curves, zigzags, scallops, diagonals, and the favored of all is substart tucking, the same radiating from a center like spokes of a wheel. Not even for as simple a little frock as this in the picture do tucks run straight. They sort of loop-the-loop in a series of curves on the blouse and the result is an added touch of artistry to the general effect. As to the plaits in the skirt, they are the all-around kind, not merely exhibits a leading spring vogue. Oh! yee the shoulder bouquet of violets to match must not be forgotten. Quite as fascinating are the close-fitting crocheted visor hats, as are those of fine milan straw, on which is positioned over one ear a cluster of lovely spring posies, and of course, there must be the accompaniment of a shoulder flower piece, a replica of the one on her "bonnet." Flower-on-hat answering to flower-on-shoulder bids fair to become a habit with the woman of fashion this season, and the effect is as lovely as springtime itself. Flat flower work is most charmingly interpreting this season's floral vogue. With genuine artistry, milliners are designing stately pads made of stutending across the front as was the fashion some time ago. The very wide inset belt is an outstanding style item in this dress, as is also the self-fabric "kerchief" necktie. This frock also carries out the prevailing idea of employing two tones of silk. Speaking of the novel use of tucks, peek to hem, those at the top being quite tiny, gradually widening toward the bottom, until at the hemline the final tuck is maybe two inches wide. The same method of graduated tucks running around-and-around is employed for the long sun-fitting sleeves. At last, flowers, which have been so long absent from millinery's chapeau, gie blossoms, these applied to the hat so as not to disturb its contour. Particularly is this method carried out when trimming the larger shapes, as illustrated at the top in this group. Some of the French models bear flower bouquets posed high at the side of the crown as shown on the first hat in the picture. The toque to the right at the top is of wide satin-faced noisette ribbon, with two large roses being comically posed to one side. Lavender hydrangeas trim the straw with velvet-crown toque below to the left. Two shades of yellow with black velvet form the side crown of the daisy toque which completes this group. JELLA BOTTOMLEY. (© 1921 Western Newspaper Union)

Satin and Taffeta
The black satin frock with its discreet use of white is one of the smartest and most successful spring fashions, while even newer is the taffeta dress fashioned on lines of appealing youthfulness.

Glass Heels for Dancing
Another striking fashion in shoes is the use of glass heels for dancing. Unlike Cinderella's slippers they have a foundation of wood, and are, therefore, serviceable as well as pretty.

Hats of Natural Straw
The vogue of hats of natural straw, which was such a feature of southern resort fashions, is destined to have an influence on summer millinery modes. They are of panama, tephorn and Italian crocheted straw, and in many cases are trimmed with black velvet or ribbon.

Compose in Lingerie
Compose effects are featured in lingerie, which often shows a combination of three tones in a single model.

Arabs Make Good as Desert Police

Because of their exceptional military qualities, more noticeable in the service of the French authorities, the Chambaa tribesmen are acquiring a distinction as conquerors of the Sahara. They are less known to the world than are the Tuaregs, plunderers of the camel caravans and explorers. However, the Chambaa are earning a reputation in tracking down the despoiling elements and have made it possible to cross the Sahara from Algeria to the River Niger with no fear of danger.

Staid as the camels on which they are mounted, able to ride over the hot sands for days and nights, stopping only to eat from their little bags filled with dried grasshoppers, and endowed with a keenness of sight that gives deadly accuracy to their rifles, these nomads inspire a great fear among the plundering tribesmen.

Diving Dog

Doris Pigeon of North Adams, Mass., has a "diving dog." Brownie, as he is named because of his color, likes to go swimming better than anything else. Doris says that one of his best stunts is to stand on his hind legs and dive into the water. Brownie does all the other "dog" tricks, such as "praying," sitting up and speaking for his dinner, but Doris and her friends think that his "diving" stunt is entirely different from anything else that dogs usually do.—Washington Star.

Weak From Operation Wins Robust Health

Milwaukee matron, exhausted by illness, gains new strength. Gained twenty pounds. Thanks Tanlac for new vim and stamina.

General breakdown and weakness following an operation drained the strength and vitality from Mrs. Wm. H. Packman, 711 1/2 Milwaukee Ave., South Milwaukee, Wis. Speaking of that experience, she said recently, "I had no strength or stamina left. My nerves went to pieces and my appetite failed me altogether."
"I lost weight rapidly, and was a living skeleton. I went down to 100 lbs. Tanlac quickly restored my appetite, so that I could eat anything I cared for, and plenty of it."
"I congratulate myself over the way Tanlac built me up. I soon began to feel the nourishing effects of good foods, as my strength, ambition and weight increased. I am now 120 lbs., the most I've ever weighed. My friends all notice my new vim and stamina and I tell them Tanlac deserves all the credit."

SUCCESS A MATTER OF EFFORT

Some people seem to think that successful men in any line of business are just more lucky than others. The fact is nobody is run down and overcome by success. Should we peep behind the curtain we would find their success all hard work. Some dairy farmers have made rapid advances in their work. They are successful for that reason they are learning more about the correct manner of handling cows for profit, and the proper care of milk to make that profit sure and steady. Many have left pioneer work behind and are now real business men in their line. All dairymen should be through with guess work in the care and handling of milk. For this work a proper milk house and cooling tank, stirring rod and thermometer should be provided. All milk placed in cooling tank immediately after milking and stirred while cooling. Don't miss night and morning milk or milk of different temperatures. Don't guess temperatures use a thermometer. Don't neglect the stirring process while cooling. Don't remove cover except when stirring. Don't forget the three C's for the production of high quality milk—clean, covered, cold.
