NEW VILLAGE BOARD MEETS

Kewaskum, Wis., April 22, 1927. The village board met with all members present to roll call. President Rosenzimer was the chair. The president appointed the following standing committees: Electric Light: Carl Schaefer, Otto Stark and Wm. Schaub. Sewer: Peter J. Haug, Fred August and Carl Schaefer. Streets: Fred August, Peter Haug and Theodore E. Schmidt. Cemetery: Otto Stark, William Schaub and Peter Haug. Public Buildings and Fire Apparatus: Wm. Schaub, Theodore Schmidt and Otto Stark. Chairman: Theodore E. Schmidt, Carl Schaefer and Fred August. An ordinance granting permission to the Wisconsin Eastern Gas Company to construct, maintain and operate a gas distribution system, and to lay pipes in the streets, alleys, lanes, parks and public places in the village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, was adopted. The ordinance of trustee Schmidt to amend the same adopted by adding a two year time limit clause was also adopted. Whereupon the president declared ordinance No. 254 adopted.

SIX INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

The wrecking of two cars and injuring of six persons took place Sunday evening at 6:00 o'clock, when a Ford coupe driven by Edwin Wahlen of St. Kilian and a Kissel touring driven by William Brown of Plymouth collided in a head-on collision on County Trunk Highway B, about 1 mile east of the intersection of the highway with Highway 55, this road also being known as the Armstrong road. Wahlen and Mrs. George Simon and Mrs. William Brown of Plymouth were taken to St. Agnes hospital at Fond du Lac. Wahlen received severe cuts on his arm, while Mrs. Simon and Mrs. Brown received a number of severe cuts and bruises from flying glass. The impact forced the engine of Brown's car up into the front seat injuring Brown's knee and leg. Two children of Mrs. Brown and George German Jr. of St. Kilian, occupants in Wahlen's car were thrown through the windshield. They received several broken ribs and a cracked collar bone, while German was bruised about the body. The Brown family were enroute to their home at Plymouth after attending a theatre party at Fond du Lac, while Wahlen was coming from Banner Gardens. Wahlen claimed he was blinded by the sun, which prevented him from seeing oncoming car, resulting in a head-on collision.

SUDDEN DEATH OF REINHARDT MILLER

The shocking news was spread over this community, of the rather sudden and unexpected death of Reinhardt Miller, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. August Miller of the town of Kewaskum, which occurred at his home on Tuesday morning, April 26, 1927, at 3 o'clock, following a short illness of about a week with kidney trouble. Deceased was born December 3, 1890 in the town of Kewaskum, where he lived his entire life. Besides his grief-stricken parents, he leaves to mourn, one brother Edwin of Milwaukee; three sisters, Annie (Mrs. Otto Backhaus) of Kewaskum; Elsie (Mrs. Wm. Bassil) of Milwaukee; Selma (Mrs. Herbert Backhaus) of Kewaskum. He also leaves his aged grand mother, Mrs. Charles Backhaus of the town of Kewaskum. Reinhardt, who managed his father's farm, was well liked by a host of friends and relatives. He was a kind neighbor and devoted son. Always willing and at hand to render assistance to those in need. His death in the prime of life has cast a pall of deep sorrow among his many associates, who were grieved to learn of his untimely demise. The funeral was held on Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence and at two o'clock in the Ev. Luth. St. Lucas church. Rev. H. Heidel officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. The sorrowing relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends in their hour of deep affliction.

VILLAGE BOARD GRANTS GAS PERMIT

The newly elected village board which met at the village hall last Friday evening, adopted an ordinance granting permission to The Wisconsin Eastern Gas company to construct, maintain and operate a gas distribution system and to lay pipes in the streets, alleys, lanes, roads, highways, parks and public places in the village of Kewaskum. Giving the company two years time in which to do this work. According to plans given out by a representative of the company, it is the aim of the company to install about ninety miles of piping, carrying the gas from North Milwaukee to Thiensville, Cedarburg, Grafton, Saukville and Port Washington, from Cedarburg to Jackson, West Bend and Kewaskum, and from Jackson to Hartford. The installation to cost about $750,000. Just how soon operations in laying the pipe lines will begin, is as yet not definitely known, nor can it be stated at this time how soon their line will extend to Kewaskum. The move however, is a good one and will no doubt meet with the approval of every citizen in the village. According to an article printed in The Milwaukee Journal of last Thursday's issue, the company has already commenced work on the construction of the pipe line. The article reads as follows: "With the organization of the Wisconsin Eastern Gas Co., Milwaukee, a subsidiary of the American Light & Traction Co., the 62-mile extension program to communities north and northwest of Milwaukee has been started. Gas service is being started by the new company this week in North Milwaukee. Under a two-year program, during which more than $750,000 will be spent for construction and equipment, the Wisconsin Eastern Gas Co. plans to extend its service by a high pressure main along the Cedarburg road to Brown Deer, Thiensville, Cedarburg, Grafton and Port Washington. There will be an extension of the line west to Hartford and West Bend and adjacent villages and cities. The extensions will reach 20,000 people. The system employed is to run gas from Milwaukee to a new North Milwaukee compressing plant where the pressure is raised to 50 pounds and then sent through the six-inch steel mains which have been carefully welded. There is practically no loss in the distance transportation of gas, according to E. Haase, vice-president of the gas company. The pressure is reduced at each service pipe under the system used. Most of the work will be completed this year, with the balance to be finished in 1928 under the terms of the numerous franchises obtained."

ORDINANCE NO. 36

The Village Board of the Village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin, do ordain as follows: An ordinance to authorize the Wisconsin Eastern Gas Company, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate a gas distribution system and to lay pipes in the streets, alleys, lanes, roads, highways, parks and public places in the village of Kewaskum, Washington County, Wisconsin.

"WAR PAINT" AT THE MOVIES

The North American Indian has the most democratic form of government in the world, says Col. Tim McCoy, star of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's initial western drama, "War Paint," to be shown at the Kewaskum Movies tomorrow, Sunday. "There are no hereditary titles," says McCoy, "and any Indian youth has a chance to become chief if he can show he is worthy of his high office. Usually the Indian boy has to prove great skill as a warrior, teacher or benefactor of the tribe before he is elected to the tribal council. After that he can become chief if he gains the confidence of a majority of the tribe. "War Paint" is a thrilling drama of the 'eighties when a general spirit of restlessness prevailed the Indian tribes of the Far West. More than five hundred real Indians take part in the picture most of which was filmed on location in Wyoming.

KEWASKUM HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

Editor-in-Chief: Margaret Diesner. A preliminary to the district Declamatory and Oratorical contest was held Wednesday evening after school. Out of the fourteen volunteers the following were chosen to appear at the district contest Thursday evening: Margaret Miller, Ruth Gutekunst, Mary O'Connell, Rosella Haug, Viola Gayevski, Margaret Diesner, Ray Perschbacher and Andrew O'Connell. They were selected by Mrs. Muenk, Miss Melius, Miss Schmahl, Miss Dixon, Miss Bezold and Mr. Nodolf. At the contest Thursday evening the following were the winners: First Margaret Miller, "Past Panther" second, Rosella Haug, "I Knew Lincoln." Third, tie between Mary O'Connell in "Kip and I" and Viola Gayevski, "The Soldier's Reprieve." Oratory, First, Andrew O'Connell, "Patrick Henry's Famous Speech," second Ray Perschbacher, "America's Motherhood." The judges were: J. W. Lowe, Robt. R. Winn, and C. G. Gunderson of West Bend high school. The debating club had a short business meeting Tuesday noon to determine dates for a series of short talks. At a district commercial contest held at West Bend last Saturday, Kewaskum High School was awarded fourth place in Junior typing and fifth in rapid calculation. The following high schools comprised the district: Cedarburg, Random Lake, Slinger, Kewaskum, Port Washington, Oostburg, Plymouth, Mayville, West Bend and Hartford. Kathryn Marx represented Kewaskum in rapid calculation, and Margaret Miller in rapid calculation. Next week May 1 to 7, is National Music Week. As a part of the program for that week the Kewaskum Woman's Club has arranged a free community musical program to be given at the high school auditorium, Tuesday evening, May 3, at 7:30. This program will consist of various musical selections and community singing. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

HAS TO HAVE LIMB AMPUTATED

Casper Klunke, one of the most prominent farmers of the town of Jackson and who for many years was engaged in business in the village of Boltonville, had his left leg amputated above the knee on Tuesday morning. Mr. Klunke was brought to the Bradley hospital in this city, on April 17, suffering with a rare ailment—an enlargement of an artery in the foot, which allowed the blood to clot and threatened tetanus. Although every effort was made to cure this ailment without resorting to an operation, it proved to be fruitless, and in order to save his life it was necessary to amputate the limb several inches above the knee. Mr. Klunke stood the operation well, and while he is not yet out of danger the chances for his recovery are encouraging. The loss of the limb is a serious handicap to Mr. Klunke and his many friends will sympathize with him at his misfortune all hoping however, that he will recover and, even though handicapped for the remainder of his life, he will reconcile himself to his condition and continue to fight life's battles in the future as he has in the past.—West Bend Pilot.

LOCAL BOY WINS HONORS

Sylvester Marx, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Marx, who is a Junior in the school of electrical engineering at Marquette University, Milwaukee, was last week chosen as one of the members of Sigma Nu Sigma, a newly organized honorary society of the College of Engineering. Sylvester was one out of two from Wisconsin to be initiated into the society. The honors won by Sylvester are certainly a credit to him, and his many friends here extend hearty congratulations upon his success. The Marquette Tribune gives the following story of the members initiated into the newly organization: "Three honorary members and five active were formally initiated into Sigma Nu Sigma, the newly organized honorary society of the College of Engineering, at a banquet and formal initiation held at the Colonial room of the Medford hotel. "Samuel J. Gates, president of the Gates Engineering company and consulting engineer in the city, specializing in power-plant operation; Roer C. Kirchoff of the architectural firm of Kirchoff and Rose; and Carl F. Kottler, who is interested in several firms in Milwaukee, among them the Wisconsin Mat company, were made honorary members. "Selection of candidates for Sigma Nu Sigma is based on the best indication of a success in their profession through scholarship and service. The following men were chosen from the Junior class: Louis Andriaschi, Ishpeming, Mich.; Alvin Krieger, Milwaukee; Sylvester Marx, Kewaskum, Wis.; Edward McGinty, Ishpeming, Mich.; and Bernard Pratte, Du Quoin, Ill.

A CHANGE IN TRAIN SCHEDULES

Due to the fact that train No. 108, which arrived here at 7:30 a. m. southbound, has been discontinued, a change in train schedules has been made, which went into effect last Monday. The changes made are as follows: Train No. 205, formerly due here at 3:26 p. m. northbound, now arrives here at 3:33 p. m. Train No. 214, which formerly arrived here at 2:37 p. m., southbound, now arrives here at 2:52 p. m. Since the discontinuing of train No. 108, another passenger train No. 224, has been put into service, southbound, running daily except Monday. This train leaves Fond du Lac at 11:00 p. m. and arrives here at 11:37 p. m. arrives at Milwaukee at 12:45 a. m. FOERSTER-KETTER WEDDING

At the St. Elizabeth's church, Milwaukee, occurred the wedding of Miss Eleanor Foerster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Foerster of Wayne, and Lawrence Ketter of Campbellsport. The marriage took place at 9 a. m., Tuesday. Rev. Williams officiated. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Wondra. The bride wore a gown of white georgette embroidered with beads and her long veil arranged in fan shape was fastened in pearls. She carried an arm bouquet of roses. Mrs. Wondra wore a dress of rose pink color, trimmed with gold and tan and carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations. The couple will make their home on a farm near Campbellsport.

BLAME IS FIXED

Collapse of the Mequon bridge, which brought death to one person and plunged two automobiles in the Milwaukee river on the evening of April 17, is attributed to the breaking of a guard rail and a girder driven by an automobile while being driven at a high rate of speed. The bridge will be entirely rebuilt. It will be widened and the remaining span torn away and replaced by another structure. As the bridge is located on a county trunk highway, it is very likely that the county will have to erect the bridge.—Cedarburg News.

CELEBRATE 20th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A large number of relatives and friends gathered at the Opera House last Saturday evening where they were royally entertained in honor of the 20th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kocher. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing. At 11:30 lunch and refreshments were served, after which dancing was again resumed.

RUNS INTO CAR TRYING TO SAVE DOLL BUGGY

Lillian, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jordan, collided with a car driven by Herbert Raschke in front of her parents' home, 253 State st., on Sunday afternoon, and as a result is suffering from a broken nose, a badly bruised arm, and legs. While playing with her doll-buggy, the little girl saw it blown out into the street, and rushing out to seize it, got in the way of the Ford coupe driven by Raschke. The machine ran over her right arm, hurling her to the street. She was picked up by the occupants of the car, who took her to the office of a local physician, where her injuries were attended to. Although she suffered severely from the shock, she is now all right. Her recovery is the cause of much rejoicing in her family, who had her Easter spoiled by worry over the accident. Lillian is their only little daughter, and their youngest, and had anything serious happened to her, it would have caused them extreme anguish.—Hartford Times.

RURAL CARRIERS TO LEAVE EARLIER

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned desire to express our sincere thanks to all our neighbors, relatives and friends, for the sympathy extended to us in our late bereavement, the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Mary Bremser. To Rev. Irion for his consoling words, to undertaker Reinbers for his services rendered, for the many floral tributes, to the pall bearers, to all who loaned cars and to all who attended the funeral. The Surviving Children. IN MEMORY. We miss thee from our home dear mother. We miss thee from thy place, A shadow o'er our life is cast, We miss the sunshine of thy face, We miss thy kind and willing hand, Thy fond and earnest care, Our home is dark without thee. We miss thee everywhere.

AN APPEAL FOR HELP TO FLOOD SUFFERERS

Miss Corrine Schaefer, local chairman of the Red Cross, received notice this week from the Washington County Red Cross Chapter to do all in her power to have every citizen and churches and organizations do their bit to help the suffering of the Mississippi flood. It is necessary that this money be raised immediately. All money received will be sent to headquarters promptly. Ministers are kindly asked to make an announcement of the same on Sunday from the pulpit. Any amount no matter how small or big will be accepted, for every bit helps to relieve those who have been caught in the flood area.

NOTICE

There has been considerable complaint lately of parties dynamiting and fishing with nets in the river near the bridge on the old Fond du Lac road in the town of Auburn. A large number of picketed have been taken out in this manner lately. The parties are known and unless this practice is stopped at once legal steps will be taken to prevent this lawlessness.

WUNDER-SOOK WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Marie Wunder and Elmer F. Sook was solemnized in the Reformed church at Elmore last Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. Rev. H. K. Hartman performed the ceremony. The couple were attended by Miss Leona Wunder, a sister of the bride as bridesmaid and Russell Dickman, a cousin of the groom as best man. The bride wore blue Elizabeth crepe and carried a shower bouquet of delicate pink Ophelia roses and white sweet peas. The bridesmaid was dressed in a pink flat crepe dress and carried pink Columbia roses and sweet peas. A reception was held at the home of Herman Fick with about 25 relatives and friends in attendance. The home was decorated with pink and blue crepe paper and white wedding bells. The newly weds left the same day for a wedding trip to points of interest in the state. Upon their return they will reside on a farm near Campbellsport.

CHOICE SALADS

For a delightful spring salad which will suit the taste as well as the eye, try: Spring Salad.—Slice crisp red radishes into thin slices, add slices of small green onions and a little chopped green pepper. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Cardie Light Salad.—Place a curly leaf of head lettuce for the bottom of a pineapple and insert in the center a banana slice to fit into the hole. Use the tapering end for the top of the candle and dot with a bit of candied cherry or a maraschino cherry, to simulate the flame. Serve with any desired salad dressing.

Benares Salad.—Take two cupfuls of fresh grated coconut, two tart apples finely cubed, one-half cupful of celery, two tablespoonfuls of grated onion, one tablespoonful of minced parsley and a dash of red pepper. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing.

Salad for Yellow Luncheon.—Cut head lettuce into quarters, let stand in cold water until crisp. Drain and shake dry. Put the yolks of hard-cooked eggs through a ricer or sieve, chop the whites fine. Pour over the lettuce a highly seasoned French dressing and sprinkle with the whites, then the yolks.

Pear Salad.—Take halved pears, lay two or three on head lettuce and arrange around them small cubes of cream cheese, using eight or ten cubes for each serving; decorate with four strips of canned pineapples. Take one cupful of double cream, two tablespoonfuls of pear juice or sirup, a pinch of salt and four tablespoonfuls of honey. Beat until light and serve as salad dressing.

Fruit Salad.—Lemon Jello lends itself so well for fruit salads. It may be cut into cubes and mixed with different fruits, or the fruit may be cut finely and molded in the Jello. A good combination is apple, celery, a bit of green pepper, a few dates and a slice or two of pineapple. Mix with mayonnaise.

Quick Salad.—A most dainty salad may be quickly made if one has peaches (canned), lettuce and mayonnaise dressing. Arrange the head lettuce with a peach in quarters or halves in the center, add a spoonful of good mayonnaise dressing and serve.

Fish Foods.

Bloaters are small herring lightly smoked, an excellent breakfast dish, prepared as follows: Remove the heads, tails and backbone from two or three bloaters. Rub them over with butter and fry until well heated through. Sprinkle with pepper and serve on fingers of hot buttered toast.

Broiled Finan Haddie.—Place a two-pound slice of finan haddie in a deep dish and pour boiling water over it. Allow it to stand for ten minutes, and dry in a cloth. Place on a well-greased broiler, turning often. When nicely browned place on a hot platter and dot with bits of butter. Garnish with bits of parsley.

Another Finan Haddie Recipe.—Take a two to three-pound fish, place in a baking pan face down; cover with boiling water and boil five minutes, drain, remove the skin and bones carefully, then pour over a rich white sauce. Cover and cook ten minutes. Serve hot.

Broiled Cod Fish.—This is especially delicious broiled, where one may procure the fresh fish. Serve with the following sauce: Press one small can of sardines through a sieve. Mix the fish with four tablespoonfuls of butter, the juice of two lemons and a tablespoonful of finely minced parsley.

Kedgerie of Cold Boiled Fish.—Take cold fish of any kind, break into small pieces. Boil one cupful of rice, drain and dry, add the whites of two cooked eggs chopped, add a half cupful of milk, salt, pepper and cayenne to taste, add the fish and some of the stock in which it was boiled, season and place on a hot dish; pile high and decorate with chopped parsley and the rice and egg yolks.

Baked Swordfish Steaks.—Butter a shallow baking dish. Place one thin slice of fish cut into individual portions in the dish, add salt and pepper, Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice (a tablespoonful of each), spread with a layer of chopped vegetables, using one carrot and one onion, well mixed. Place a second slice of fish over this, spread with butter and cover with bread crumbs. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Split cold boiled potatoes brushed with butter may be baked in the same dish; they are delicious.

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried." is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of St. Joseph, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I cannot speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends. These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. Gallant Guest (to hostess as they walk to the table)—And may I sit on your right hand? Hostess—No; I'll have to eat with that. You'd better take a chair. It may take courage to eat lettuce salad with the fingers, but it is the only adequate way.

Tanlac Stops 7 Years' Suffering

George H. Heughens saw health slipping away. Tanlac built him back to old time vigor.

"I've been through seven trying years," writes George H. Heughens, 69, at 1311 Johns Ave., Superior, Wis. "I suffered intensely during those years. My lightest meal caused bloating, pain and palpitation. I couldn't digest anything, and gave up all hope of being well again. To make matters worse, my nerves became unstrung and I grew steadily weaker. What I went through can hardly be imagined. "Dizzy spells became more frequent and restful sleep deserted me. Tanlac gave me my first real relief; it quickly took hold of my troubles and stopped them. Soon my appetite came back, the bloating stopped and digestion was normal. Now, at 69, I'm in fine shape, eat, sleep and digest my food normally, and gaining strength steadily. To anyone run-down as I was, I recommend Tanlac, with confidence. "Tanlac is nature's own remedy, made from herbs, roots and bark. Start on Tanlac today. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold."

Only Way Little Gray Man Could Figure It

The big blue car, driven by the big red man with the big black cigar, hurried round the turn at a dizzy clip. The little gray car was meandering along in the hands of the little gray man, who glanced around only in time to shrink from the menacing radiator and a great windshield sticker which belted gently: "Howdy! Half the road's yours!" Wildly he spun the wheel, but too late. With a neat, crunching "swish" the big blue car sliced off his rear wheel, mudguards and running boards. The poor remains floundered crazily to a dusty stop. The little gray man crept forth, peering after the rapidly vanishing juggernaut. Slinding his eyes, he made out another cordial sticker which flouted his message of cheer from the shining rear window. This, too, heamed: "Howdy! Half the road's yours!" The little gray man pondered as he

"Overhead" Expenses

Speaking in general terms, by overhead is meant those items of general expense of a manufacturing plant (for instance) which are additional to the cost of the labor and material actually entering into the production of the plant. For example, under overhead it is usual to group salaries of officials and clerical and other employees not directly concerned in producing, office expenses, all indirect labor, traveling expenses of salesmen, interest, insurance, legal expenses, care of plant; depreciation also frequently is included under such head.

Business and Speculation

While it may be true that the man who risks nothing gains nothing, it is also true that gain does not depend on risk alone. In all business there is an element of risk, but in business this element is smaller than it is in speculation.—Grit.

Nature Good Physician

A Boston doctor, who has been giving some suggestions to his fellow doctors on the treatment of accidental wounds, says the main thing to do with a wound is to let nature do her best and not interfere too much with her. Nature, he points out, says the Pathfinder Magazine, prevents infection by various methods. Blood washes out the wound, carries away a certain amount of the foreign matter, including bacteria. The blood also contains certain "antibodies," which act as chemical antiseptics and kill bacteria. Nature, he claims, repairs wounds by bathing the injured tissues with serum which contains cell blood, and with white blood cells, which absorb and digest badly damaged tissue.

Kasba and Stone Marten

Among the smartest coats introduced for spring wear are models developed of black kasba trimmed with stone marten, whose tones of creamy tan are in striking contrast to the somber tones of the material.

Intricate Fur Workings

The squirrel and chinchilla pelts are frequently worked in the most intricate patterns, of which the chevron motif is a leader. These V-shaped

FRED LADE SERIOUSLY HURT

Fred Lade, aged 60, farmer residing a mile and one-half south of Eden is at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac suffering from a fractured skull resulting from an accident which occurred in the barn at his farm Sunday about 6 p. m.

While it was reported that he had been kicked by a horse, the attending physician discredits this theory of the accident since the fracture is directly on top of the head. The doctor believes that the man was knocked down by an unexpected movement of the horse and struck his head against some object in the barn. Mr. Lade was alone in the barn at the time of the accident. Shortly afterwards he walked into the house and sat down in a chair. It was almost a half hour later that he collapsed from the shock and a physician was summoned from Eden. His removal to the hospital was ordered at once. The doctor today reported that Mr. Lade's condition is serious, but stated that he will probably recover.

HAD SOFT DRINK PARLOR REMODELED

The soft drink parlor owned by Charles Struebing, near Schrauth's pond at Elmore has been remodeled and changed into living rooms in which Mr. and Mrs. Struebing are now residing until such time when their new home has been built. Mr. and Mrs. Struebing also wish to thank all their neighbors, and friends who assisted them in their hours of distress in the loss of their house seven weeks ago.

—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Weisner of Florida visited a few days at the home of Mike Weiss and family near Elmore, and from there they left for Wausau to make their future home.

—A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mueller at Elmore, this week. Congratulations.

Plan Basis for Rotation Idea

Principle of Modern Cropping Developed in Late Years.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Out of the practical experience of farmers over a period of 3,000 years or more has finally developed the fundamental principle of modern crop rotation, says W. W. Weir, bureau of soils, United States Department of Agriculture. This principle is the growing of an intertilled crop, a small grain crop, and a grass or leguminous crop in the order named, and in recurring succession on a given piece of land. Four stages of farming practice during these 30 centuries have resulted in the present system of cropping, and they are recounted by Mr. Weir in order that the importance of crop rotation may be fully appreciated today.

When cereals became the chief source of food of the early peoples it was natural that these crops should be grown on the same fields year after year. It was noted, however, that such cropping resulted in land depletion, and that resting the land renewed its producing power. This knowledge gave rise to the practice of "resting" the land, or abandoning it, at intervals to the natural growth of rough and weedy herbage. The oldest record of such a practice according to Mr. Weir, is to be found in the Mosaic laws (about 1400 B. C.) commanding the people, "And six years thou shalt sow thy land, and gather in the fruits thereof; but the seventh thou shalt let it rest and the still." Thus we have the first and "resting" stage of cropping. About 29 B. C., the "resting" practice gave way to one in which "bare fallow" was practiced to control the weeds. In this second stage the rotation consisted of a winter grain like wheat, followed by a spring grain like barley, which in turn was followed by bare fallow.

The third stage was marked by the introduction of legumes or clovers into the cropping system. The Flemish farmers about 1000 A. D., abolished the bare fallow practice, and grew clover in rotation with hemp, turnips, and small grains. This was a big step in the improvement of husbandry because it permitted more live stock to be kept and renewed as well as rested the land. The fourth stage was the introduction of intertilage in the field. Although the practice of hoeing in between rows of plants grown in the garden had been practiced by the early Romans, apparently nobody thought of carrying the practice to the fields until English farmers adopted it during the eighteenth century to meet the problem of weeds. The introduction of intertilage into the field gave rise to one of the greatest improvements in agriculture, and to the completion of the basic principle of crop rotation as it is known today.

Good Profit Made From Alfalfa Hay and Silage

A ration composed of alfalfa hay and silage as roughage and a grain mixture of shelled corn, oats, and ground soy beans (entire plant), has made a great increase in the returns from the dairy herd owned by Ernest Mennen of Tippecanoe county, Indiana, according to G. A. Williams of Purdue university. The herd has made an increase of approximately 70 per cent since this ration was adopted. The boys would have been better to feed as hay had the weather been favorable at harvest time, states Williams. In this case the beans were not cut until much of the foliage had dropped off the stems. With heavy producing cows the addition of one pound of cottonseed meal to this ration is advisable. While this particular ration is fitted for use with alfalfa it would not do for other cases where the protein content of the ration would be less. Mennen is convinced of the value of feeding a good ration to dairy cows as his herd average is higher now than it ever has been in the past.

In Spring Cut Out and Bury Raspberry Canes

The way black raspberries propagate is this: Late in the season, September and October, some of the new shoots bend over until they touch the ground and the tips take root, forming new plants. These may be left where they grew until the following spring, when the parent cane is cut off just a few inches above the new plant and you have a new stock of plants. The old fruiting plants never sucker, but a sufficient number of new shoots, later called canes, come up each year to form a new bush. As soon as the berry season is over or the following spring, cut out and burn all canes which have borne fruit. These are all through, will never bear again and if not removed will stand as dead brush. Many growers leave them until spring to help hold up the new canes during heavy snow, ice or windstorms. Not a bad idea. There is not much more to be said.

Take Remedial Measures for Spiders in Spring

There have been some inquiries relative to red spiders which apparently have shown up here and there where apples are grown. These pests work on the leaves and turn them a rusty brown in color. They stop the vigor and the growth of the trees after a certain length of time. According to C. S. Holland, the horticulture field man at Ohio State university, the insects lay their eggs on the bud scales of the past season's growth, and hatch out in the spring as tree growth is started. Frequently the color of the leaves will indicate an infested tree as far away as 50 yards. Remedial measures should be applied in early spring when the spider eggs are hatching and just when the trees are beginning to grow. A 2 per cent oil emulsion spray will prove effective, and this also is effective as a dormant spray against scale.

SILO GIVES CATTLE RIPE AND SUCCULENT FEED DURING WINTER

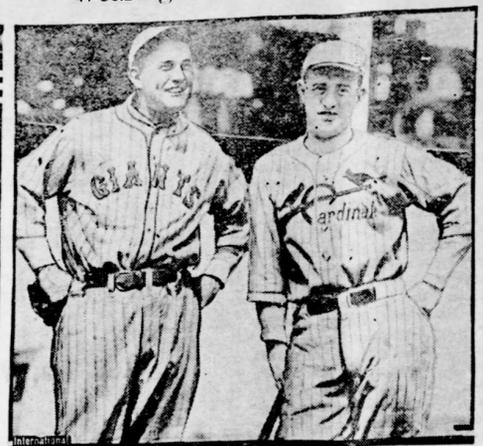

Rightly Termed the Fruit Jar of the Farmer.

The silo is the fruit jar of the field by which a farmer is enabled to cut his large and well-matured corn, cutting it up with an ensilage chopper into quarters, then lengths, blow it into his silo, thoroughly mix it and well pack the same (which will keep five years just as well as the first year) and give his cattle this ripe, matured, green, succulent feed during the winter months. Every farmer knows when he turns out into good June pasture that he reduces his hay and grain ration considerably and still receives an increased yield in milk production. These same results are accomplished by feeding this green, succulent, matured ensilage from the silo, just the same as going out and cutting June pastures, thereby saving one-half of his grain as well as his hay, with the same milk production as on good pasture. By cutting his corn when it is matured the farmer clears his ground so that he can raise another crop on the same piece of ground. He stores the corn when the acid and water have changed to sugar and starch, and fills with feeding value, preventing the old expensive method of cutting, husking,

Agricultural Items

There is no limit to the demand for the best in farm products. Sooner or later the sheriff will knock down the run-down farm. The first commandment of farming: Thou shalt not let thy land get poor. Rows of garden vegetables are better than rows of druggist's bottles on the shelf. Time spent selecting and testing seed corn will pay many dollars per hour for the labor. The farmer who puts to wise use what he has, finds it easier to get what he wants. Use the disk in preference to the plow for preparing a seedbed for oats following the corn. There is no reason why a good beet grower cannot become a good grower of potatoes and alfalfa. Investigators have found that to run a tractor nine hours, one hour should be spent in caring for it. Oiling, greasing, refueling and the like take the time. Plan now for liming sour land on which you expect to plant clover, alfalfa, barley, sweet clover, Canada field peas, or cranberry peas or beans. Ninety-five per cent of the statements about probable future trends in agriculture published in the 1925 and 1926 outlook reports of the bureau of agricultural economics at Washington were borne out by later developments.

Wearing Each Other's Shoes

Left to right are shown Rogers Hornsby and Frank Frisch, who figured in the biggest single deal in baseball in many seasons when they were traded. Frisch, for several years star second baseman of the Giants, was shipped to St. Louis in exchange for Hornsby, batting leader and manager of the world champions. They met for the first time when their teams clashed in an exhibition game.

Plan Outlined to Raise Money for Old Players

Joe Gardner, who operated the Dalles club in years gone by, is just like any other old-timer. He never loses his interest in baseball. The recent efforts of the Professional Players' association to gain financial support for operating their charity toward old players and present-day players who are ill or down and out, has set Gardner to thinking. He believes the money could be raised in easy fashion this way: Take 5 per cent out of each league's share in the world series; 2 per cent out of all sales and drafts of players from class AA; 2 per cent out of all sales and drafts of players from class A; 1 per cent of the same from class B, letting the smaller leagues alone. He would then organize a supervising board of directors including the heads of the two majors and President Sexton of the national association, and let them handle the money.

Job for Oldfield

Barney Oldfield, for many years a colorful figure of the automobile racing game, has joined many other sports leaders in cashing in on his talents and speed renown through the movies.

Oldfield has signed a contract to act as technical adviser and coach to Harold "Red" Grange, professional football player, who is to be starred in an automobile racing picture.

Sport Notes

Robin Bell, Erie, Pa., has been elected captain of the 1928 Ohio State university basketball team. LeRoy L. LeCron, '28, guard for two years on the University of Oklahoma basketball team, has been elected captain of the 1928 team. The visit of the Fresno (Calif.) Japanese club to the Orient will be the first time a Japanese team has ever invaded Japan on a baseball tour. Richard F. Vaughn, '28, of Newton Center, Mass., has been elected captain of the Yale university hockey team for next season. John Newton Barbee of Chicago has been elected captain of the Harvard basketball team for next year. Barbee also is a first string pitcher on the baseball team. Coach "Well" Craystle, who was elected as head field coach of the 1924 American Olympic track team, is now entering his twenty-sixth year of coaching at the University of California. The University of Minnesota is planning to follow the lead of Iowa and Michigan in awarding varsity letters to all athletes who represented the university in major sports previous to 1920. Charles Squires of Shanghai, China, has been elected captain of the Princeton university soccer team. Squires played on the team for three years, and last season was named for the all-collegiate eleven. John P. Chase, '28, of Milton, Mass., has been elected captain of the Harvard university hockey team for next season. Both Bobby Jones and Virginia Van Wie, golf luminaries, entered their first important tournament at the age of fourteen—and both won. Joseph S. Kennard, '28, of New York city, has been elected captain of the Princeton university hockey team. Kennard played on last season's football and lacrosse teams.

BASEBALL SQUIBS

Babe Ruth has taken part in more world series than any other player in the game. The famous old Baltimore Orioles are credited with the invention of the hit-and-run play. Babe Ruth has played on baseball teams in Baltimore, Providence, Boston and New York. California has a Japanese Baseball league, which is the first of its kind, and has met with huge success. Clay on training diamonds bakes so hard in the Southern sun there is some talk of instituting a two-pants baseball suit. Back in 1881, George Gore of the New York Giants stole seven bases in a game, a record which has never been equaled in the big leagues. Portland, Ore., has two pitchers on its roster who displace almost a quarter of a ton between them—Tamm, 228 pounds, and Kinney, 214 pounds. Another popular baseball diamond in some sections of the reputedly Sunny South is the fried egg type, featuring a round raised effect in the center. Joe Kelly, southpaw outfielder, was the first of the Chicago Nationals to feel the ax. He was released to the Toledo club of the American Association. During the 1917 season Harry Krause pitched 58 games for the Oakland club in the Pacific Coast league. His earned run average being 2.98 per game. In a game against the Giants of 1896, with Amos Rusie pitching, the Baltimore Orioles laid down six safe hits in one inning, scoring six runs and winning the game. Ernest C. Quigley calls 'em as he sees 'em in the National league during the summer and in the fall and winter keeps busy officiating at football and basketball contests. Babe Ruth's pilgrimage to Hollywood has brought the question into discussion whether he has a screen name. It is conceded freely by both sides that Mr. Ruth has a face. Fred Frankhouse, Buffalo pitcher, is not only an effective hurler, but he is a hard and consistent litter as well. Joe Mathes will have a real pinch hitting threat this year in Frankhouse. It is estimated that restricting Mr. Ruth's salary to a figure under that of the President of the United States ruined 2,349 head-wagging public utterances already in course of preparation. Baseball scandals have not affected the demand for tickets to opening games—'em. This will cheer up many sport writers who could think of no way to describe them but as "coveted pastebards." Among the highest-priced men in baseball are Babe Ruth, who receives a salary of $70,000 a year, followed by John McGraw, $65,000; Judge Landis, $65,000; Ty Cobb, $60,000; Tris Speaker, $40,000, and Rogers Hornsby, $40,000. In addition to eight new managers in both the American and National leagues since the close of the 1926 baseball season, there have been deals, trades and sales, involving 33 players, some of whom rank among the game's elite. "Baseball kills its fatted calves for the profitless," says a sport writer, commenting on the salary boosts given participants in the winter's investigations. There haven't been any really fatted calves in baseball since Charley Nickman's. With the players back in the center of the limelight, there is nothing really left for Landis but to find a new chin-lead and swim it. Al Denare says umpires have their weaknesses the same as players. Tim Hurst was the word "them"; for example, "Cut out them remarks." Connie Mack's team this season will be different. For some years when his ulna trotted out on the diamond people used to say, Who let those kids into the park?

DEVELOP NATURAL STYLE IN RUNNING

Boy Should Strive Only to Please Himself.

How many boys have known they had the making of a runner in them? And how many boys have given up, discouraged, because their friends laughed at their decidedly less than god-like style? Such boys may derive comfort and encouragement to go on from an article by Dean Cromwell, University of Southern California track coach and developer of Charlie Paddock, Bud Houser and other famous stars, in the American Boy Magazine. Coach Cromwell makes short work of those purists who argue that there is only one perfect style for any given track event, and who would have the youngster spend all his time trying to conform to their preconceived ideas of the proper angle at which to hold the arm or the head. He merely points to his protegee, Charlie Paddock, "the world's fastest human," and says: "If style counts how do you account for him? Paddock runs with a 'grizzly bear' style. On the track he looks positively awkward. But I never made any attempt to change him and now he is the greatest sprinter of all time." All of which proves, according to Mr. Cromwell, that a boy should strive only to develop a style that suits him—one that comes naturally to him. Another point made by the Southern California coach in the American Boy Magazine article is the necessity for specialization in track competition. He says: "Specialization holds good in track as it does in business or the professions. The lawyer who tries to sell insurance and run a collection agency on the side has a hard time winning out against the fellow who hits all six cylinders solely on the law. In these competitive days the jack-of-all-trades is generally out of luck. "Choose your event and study it. That's fundamental. The race or field event you select will depend upon your natural physical endowment. If you have endurance, pick a distance run. If you have speed, try the sprints. If you have both—select a middle distance. "If you are long-legged and loose-jointed you can run the hurdles after you have developed form and speed, but unless a boy is of the big, long-legged type, supple and limber, he will waste his time training for the high and low sticks. "When Bud Houser was in high school at Oxnard, Calif., he was the bright star in nearly every event on the program. In the interschool contests, he hoisted the shot and discs, threw the javelin, ran the high hurdles and competed in the high jump. "Bud" was a baseball star, too. "After he joined the Southern California squad I urged him to drop javelin throwing. Tossing the spear simply doesn't mix with the shot and discs events. Nor does baseball, which Houser abandoned. Getting the shot away is a 'push' while baseball requires an 'overhand' throw, and the two are antagonistic. "Houser gave up running the hurdles, abandoned high jumping, put javelin throwing in the discard, and began to specialize in the events in which he could become a champion. Result: He became the outstanding shot putter and discus thrower of the world in 1924. "On the question of training Coach Cromwell says: "To my mind, there's no real danger of burning out a track athlete's enthusiasm by reason of a too strenuous track program than there is of weakening him physically. "Too much competition or a too rigorous training program may be bad physically—it usually is—but it's more ruinous to his spirit. To stay at his top form he shouldn't spread himself all over the map, competing in half a dozen events, nor should he go at too speed every afternoon in his training period, nor finally should he compete in too many races. "If the potential college star over-competes in high school he'll have no resiliency when he's twenty-two and a senior—just when the coach and university are depending on him for big things in the intercollegiate meets. "Paddock conserved his enthusiasm and his strength. At Pasadena High he never ran the relay if he had taken part in the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Sometimes he bolstered up the relay team by running a lap of 220-yards, but in this case he omitted the 220-yard dash from his afternoon's program.

Paper From Tree
Rice paper is not made from any part of the rice plant, but from the pith of a tree growing in the island of Formosa. The stem of the tree is cut into certain lengths and the pith pushed out. Then the latter is very skillfully cut into a kind of very thin spiral, which is afterwards flattened out. The paper made from rice straw is much coarser and more uneven.

CARE OF TIRES BY CAR OWNERS

Average Motorist Will Be Found Guilty of Neglecting Some Detail.

Most forgotten of all parts of a motor car when they are in good condition, and most blamed when they go wrong, tires plead mutely for a driver's attention.

If you should ask the average motorist whether he takes care of his tires, he would probably reply, "Of course"; and yet the chances are that he is neglectful of some detail of tire care.

Three Tire Factors.
There are only three factors which govern the cost per mile of tire operation. The first is the quality of the tire, the second, the conditions of operation, and the third, the care of the tire by the owner. In order to cut down the cost of the mileage, all three factors must be regarded as important.

It is of no benefit to buy the best tires obtainable, put them on your car, and then forget about them. Watch for small cuts, bruises, pieces of metal or other foreign matter in your tires. Slight defects such as these, if unattended to, will cause serious trouble.

Proper inflation of tires is most important. Tires of any size are made to hold a definite amount of air under pressure. Any certain tire is designed to carry its prescribed weight only if it is properly inflated. Therefore, don't wait until your tires are obviously flat before reinflating them, and don't trust to the "kick" method to tell you whether or not they are hard enough. Take a pressure reading once a week, whether your tires seem to need it or not. Underinflation flexes the tire side-walls too much, causing them to break down.

Care of Balloon Tires.
Underinflation in a balloon tire is not as noticeable as in cord tires, and for this reason, extra care must be taken in checking up on balloon tires. In this type of tire, it is not necessary to use such high pressure as in cord tires, but it is just as important to see that you have proper inflation. Balloon tires are also often overinflated. This destroys much of their power to absorb road shocks.

Don't abuse your tires by driving in cur tracks and deep ruts, or by scraping curbstones. And don't forget that proper care of your tires means a saving both of time and money.

Automobile Inspection Would Avert Accidents

Many automobile accidents could be eliminated if motorists got into the habit of having their cars inspected and overhauled regularly, in the opinion of the National Safety Council, which points out that a great proportion of automobile accidents are due directly to faulty equipment.

The following rules also should be carefully adhered to by motorists in order to cut down the number of unnecessary accidents:

- Brakes should be kept in efficient condition at all times, and frequent tests should be made.
- Chains should be used during icy and wet weather.
- Number plates should be kept clean.
- Motorists should not tolerate noisy mufflers.
- All cars should be equipped with bumpers, as they will lessen damage due to collision.

Army Car Drivers Must Share Road With Others

Listed among the strict prohibitions observed by operators of United States army cars are: Smoking while driving, repeated sounding of horns, and holding back faster-moving cars. On dry, dusty roads the driver must run at reduced speed, so that no unnecessary dust will be raised to obscure the vision of other motorists. When meeting an approaching car the soldier-driver is ordered to give it no less than half the road. If the road is narrow or rough he must slow down to half speed. No operator is allowed to halt on a bridge, narrow road or bend of the road. These traffic orders have been drawn up to provide the greatest possible saving of life, time and motor equipment.

SMALL CAR MAY SOLVE TRAFFIC PROBLEM

This light car is used by business men of The Dalles because it can "wiggle" its way through heavy traffic. It is so light that it can be pushed up, one end at a time and parked in a small space. It is capable of running at a speed of 12 miles an hour. This type of car, in the opinion of experts, may solve the traffic problem of the future.

Spreading Spring Leaves

There is no danger spreading spring leaves apart by driving a screwdriver between them, provided the body of the car has been jacked up in order to take the weight off the springs. Ordinary driving strains springs far more than would be possible for the car owner to do when spreading the leaves apart. An excess of lubricant should be forced into the bearing of the engine fan now and then to drive out any thin lubricant that may leak and spread over the engine.

Brunette Is Most Careful Car Driver

Fair men are more careful motor car drivers than dark men, but brunettes are much steadier than blonds at the steering wheel, it was declared by experts at a luncheon celebrating the opening of the fall automobile show in London recently.

Incidentally it was stated that one woman in four in England knows how to drive a motor car.

Passing on Blind Turns Very Dangerous Practice

Passing on blind turns! That's too common a trait of the average motorist, according to the safety bureau of the National Automobile Club. Making up time, delay in passing the car ahead until too late for such passing, recklessness, taking a chance, all these factors enter into the problem of hazard.

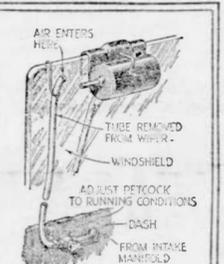

A group of newspaper men set out to observe the other day a driver who was just ahead of them and who seemed to have a habit of attempting to pass at the wrong moment. These men saw this driver would slow up on the straightaway only to speed and pass the car ahead when he came to a turn. There was something radically wrong with his driving complex. He might have intended to be careful, but his judgment brought him to grief.

Most accidents are caused by just such drivers, drivers who should not be allowed at the wheel of a motor car, as they are a menace to the safety of others. The innocent victim is usually the man swinging around a turn only to find a foolhardy pilot taking more than his share of the highway.

A forfeiture of a driver's license, a few days in jail, these are sentences that should be the reward of the man who takes a chance when by taking the chance he endangers the lives of others on the road.

Simple Arrangement to Gain Extra Gas Mileage

If your car is fitted with an auto made windshield wiper of the vacuum operated type you can fit an auxiliary air inlet to get more mileage out of your gasoline on long runs. Connect a petcock in the rubber hose line leading to the wiper and on long runs you can pull the end of the hose off the wiper and allow extra air into the manifold by adjusting the petcock. The illustration shows the arrangement.—Popular Science Monthly.

AUTOMOBILE HINTS

- A car that will go eighty miles an hour shouldn't.
- Too high a temperature will dry out the rubber in tires, while too low will stiffen it.
- Do not use a non-skid tire on one rear wheel and a plain tread on the other wheel.
- An emergency cotter pin can be made from a common hair pin by a few twists of the pliers.
- A man never realizes just what "dumbness" means until he is driving on a country road and meets a cow.
- An eastern judge has ruled that a man has a right to drive his car without any assistance from friend with in the back seat. He also has a legal right to monkey with a bass saw or light a match to find a gas leak.

The open mind

GENERAL MOTORS has an open mind. Its program is to provide a quality car in each price field. Already this program has led to the development of cars that differ widely in type and special features, each designed to serve a special purpose.

Through its laboratories, which are the largest automotive laboratories, General Motors seeks to look into the future. At its Proving Ground it tests improvements created anywhere in the world.

It is committed to nothing except quality at the lowest possible cost. Every detail is subject to constant questioning and the possibility of betterment.

This mental attitude is of interest to you as a car buyer. You are assured that you are buying the result of today's best thinking, not yesterday's prejudices or the mere product of habit.

You are benefitting by contact with active open minds.

Canadians Were Slow to Take Liking to Skis

Skis were in use in Scandinavia long before the Christian era, and Xenophon relates that ancient Armenians even had their horses trained to walk over the deep snow on a similar device.

Their introduction in America, however, was comparatively recent. Lord Frederic Hamilton, who traveled widely in the interests of the British crown, related: "I can claim to be the pioneer of the ski on the American continent, for in January, 1887, I brought over to Canada the very first pair of skis ever seen in America. I used to coast down the toboggan slides at Ottawa on them amidst universal derision. I was told that however useful skis might be in Russia, where I had learned to use them, they were quite unsuited to Canadian conditions, and would never be popular there as the old-fashioned 'raquettes' were infinitely superior."—Kansas City Star.

Oldest Protestant Church

J. Kirby Brown writes to the Church Forum asking whether the Fee Fee Baptist church, organized in 1897, at Pattonville, St. Louis county, should not rightfully have the title of "the oldest Protestant church west of the Mississippi river." Current reports have cited the First Presbyterian church, which is about 110 years old, as possessing this first distinction as to age. The point seems to be made, in behalf of the claim of the First Presbyterian congregation, that it held continuous services, while there appear to be times at Pattonville, perhaps during the Civil war, when the Fee Fee church was closed. The classification is made, "having continuous existence."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Spring Tints

Gaily colored frocks this Spring! Underthings in soft shades to match. Tint them in ordinary water—but with true dyes. Dipping will do it—in ordinary cold water—but you must have real dye to get a smooth, perfectly even tone.

Diamond dye powder is fifteen cents at any drug store; so why do half a job with something not half so effective? And when you want the tint to be permanent, just dip in boiling water instead of cold!

The druggist has color cards and simple directions for doing perfect dyeing of all sorts of material: silk or wool; linen, cotton goods; rubbers, goods, or any goods at all; and a complete tinting of baby things. Send for a marvelous book of suggestions in full colors. Ask for Color Craft; Address DIAMOND DYE, Dept. 281, Burlington, Vermont.

Old Pictures May Be Work of Egyptians

According to a report from South Africa, two men searching for cattle in Rhodesia found some queer-looking pictures painted in a shallow cave under a boulder. They sent photographs of the pictures to Dr. S. P. Impey, a South African authority on rock paintings, who pronounced them specimens of Egyptian art. "There are hundreds of crude bushman paintings in caves all over South Africa," declared Doctor Impey, "but these are clearly of a different technique from anything discovered before. There are 11 figures, apparently minstrels playing stringed instruments unknown to bushmen. In the cave is a large rock where the artist must have rested, using a long brush to reach the roof. The painted figures wear Egyptian costumes, while bushmen's figures are always unclothed."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Neatly Hit Off

District Attorney Banton, who is going to drive obscene plays from the New York stage, is a critic of ability, and at a recent dinner party he hit off neatly an actor's spiritless performance in a blank verse drama.

"He played the King all through the show," said Mr. Banton, "as if he was in constant fear that somebody was going to play the ace."

One may like a grutch better after he gets acquainted with him, but who will take the trouble?

The Consumer Wants The Best

The quality subject is an old one, but the most important one in all branches of the dairy business. It is of the greatest importance in milk production on the farm. The degree of perfection attained on the farm will reflect directly on the quality of the product manufactured or when sold as market milk. The idea that the only thing necessary is to stay within the limit the health authorities will permit is all wrong. The better way is to follow all these rules and then add your own to meet local conditions, with the thought ever in mind to make your milk a quality product indeed. Conditions differ on every farm, therefore every dairyman must plan and work to get his place in such shape that he can easily produce only the best. There is real satisfaction for the producer of quality milk. There is even more than satisfaction, because there is sure to be more money in it in the long run. The consumer of milk or milk products will pay any price he is able to pay, providing he is sure that it is worth the money.

Dangers to Gems

As pearls consist of carbonate of lime, vinegar and other acids will eat away the polished surface in a short time. Hot water is fatal to an opal, destroying its fire and softening causing it to crack. Soap is a deadly enemy of the turquoise. If a turquoise ring is kept on the hand while washing, in a short time the blue stones will turn to a dingy green.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Why Is the Repair Man's First Query:

"What Oil Do You Use?"

WHEN you clatter into the garage with a crankcase full of babbitt — bearings all gone, cylinders scored, pistons warped—if you could hear John Mechanic above the racket of your dramatic entrance, he'd be saying:

"Uh-huh! Another chap's 'saved' some money on oil!"

Like halitosis—"that's the insidious thing about it"—one never knows about poor oil until his checkbook gets pernicious anemia.

Delco Motor Oil, because of its 100 per cent pure paraffin-base, fights heat far longer than ordinary asphalt-base oil. It gives you—

- 25% less "drag" when motor is cold.
- 12% more oil "body" at motor heat.
- 15% less loss by vaporization and burning.
- 19% less carbon content (Conradson test).

Those qualities guarantee you longer motor life. And that runs into money! Ask John Mechanic—he knows.
