Waterworks From a Public Health Standpoint

A public water supply offers unrivaled comforts and aids to personal convenience and sanitation. As a measure for real fire protection it has, of course, no equal. As a health measure it helps to insure freedom from the danger of contamination which is ever present with a system of outdoor toilets and cesspools, which are a prolific source of soil pollution and resulting waterborne ills. These are the experiences of thousands of cities and villages, none of which would today consent to the abandonment of public water supply for many times what it cost.

The method of paying for a water system is invariably by bond issue. This is the means by which it becomes least burdensome. By spreading the payments over twenty years, the annual payments may be limited to a comparatively small sum, becoming an annual burden to no one. These annual charges may be reduced to the property owner through lowered fire insurance premiums made possible by the introduction of waterworks. When Kewaskum has waterworks it will find its insurance rates reduced anywhere from 15 to 25 per cent. The additional fire protection afforded should save property owners upwards of $1,000 per year.

Preparation against loss of fire often pays big dividends. It pays in the saving of valuable taxable property. It is conceivable that the loss from a large disaster by fire might equal or exceed the entire cost of installing a public waterworks system.

Another factor to be considered is that, according to the records of the Railroad Commission, the average publicly owned water system is a profit-making arm of the public service, and that the income above expenditures can be applied to plant betterments and extensions, reducing the tax burden by that amount.

These are more or less mercenary considerations. The purely domestic aspects of waterworks are also important. Only those fully accustomed to the use of piped running water in the home and place of business can fully appreciate the convenience and labor-saving advantages of this utility.

Costs of waterworks construction will not be lower for many years to come, and may go higher. Waterworks, or sewerage, or both, are planned by a number of Wisconsin communities this year. Among recent installations are De Forest, Cambria, Rio, Athens, Brillion, Juneau, Milton, Kilbourn and Waunakee.

SENATOR JAMES A. REED TO SPEAK HERE

National Democratic committee men were in this office last Saturday to make arrangements to have Senator James A. Reed of Missouri speak at Kewaskum on Monday, April 2nd. Mr. Reed is one of America's ablest and most brilliant statesmen, and a candidate for the nomination for president of the United States. He is conceded to be one of the most eloquent and convincing campaign orators of our time and is thoroughly conversant with our leading political issues, with the national and international questions and issues now uppermost in the peoples' mind. He will be here at about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, coming here via auto from West Bend, where he will speak earlier in the day. Every citizen here and in this vicinity, who can, should turn out to hear him speak, for if there is no gathering here he will not take time to stop but go on to Fond du Lac where he will talk later in the day. This is the first time in many years that Kewaskum has had the honor of entertaining a prospective candidate for the nomination of president of the United States, as such, all who can, ought to turn out to hear him.

HAS VEIN CUT BY PIECE OF STEEL

Herbert Ramthun, aged 32 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Ramthun residing east of here, who is employed with the railroad track crew, came near losing his life by bleeding to death on Tuesday morning. The accident happened while the crew was at work on the railroad track near Campbellsport, and when the men were cutting a rail with a chisel and sledge hammers, a piece of rail chipped and struck Ramthun on the side of the neck, severing a vein. The unfortunate man was immediately rushed to Dr. Guenther's office at Campbellsport, where he received first medical attention. Later he was taken to the Bradley hospital at West Bend, where after great efforts on the part of the attending physicians the hemorrhage was stopped. The piece of steel is still lodged in his neck, and cannot be removed until he has regained sufficient strength, and the wound is partly healed. Mr. Ramthun is resting nicely at this writing, and if no infection sets in, will recover.

CAUCUS VERY QUIET AFFAIR

The caucus held here on Tuesday evening, was the quietest held here in many years. There being only 44 votes cast, out of a possible 400. This small percentage of votes cast, is due to the fact that there was no opposition for any of the offices. The following were nominated for the various offices: L. P. Rosenheimer, President; Trustees, Otto Stark, Fred Andrae and Louis Brandt; For Clerk, S. N. Casper; For Supervisor, Otto E. Lay and N. W. Rosenheimer, Mr. Rosenheimer, however, declines to run, and will, therefore have his name taken off the regular ticket at election; For Treasurer, John Marx and Wm. Schultz; For Assessor, Anthony P. Schaeffer; For Justice of the Peace, Emil Backhaus; For Constable, Fred Buss.

In the town of Kewaskum, the following ticket was nominated: For Chairman, Gerhard Fellenz; For Supervisors, Roman Backhaus, Jos. Uelmen and A. B. Ramthun; For Treasurer, Math. LOCAL GIRL WINS SPELLING CONTEST

Amanda Meilahn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meilahn, of the town of Kewaskum, won the county spelling contest held last Monday evening in Superintendent Buckley's office. She competed with contestants from ten other schools of the county representing city grades, state graded, rural and parochial schools. The Slinger representative was the second last one down, giving Amanda first place on the word "deligence."

This contest is sponsored by the Milwaukee Journal. The various county champions will meet in about four weeks at the State Teachers' College at Milwaukee to compete for the district championship.

Every pupil in the grammar grade room entered the contest. They were given a month's careful coaching under the supervision of Mrs. Muenker, the grammar room teacher. This training reflected itself in the local elimination contest as there were a number of pupils who, in the estimation of visitors, could have creditably represented the school in the county contest.

Miss Hazel Kennedy of La Salle, Ill., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kennedy, former residents of Kewaskum, took the habit of the Sisters of Presentation at Broons, France in February. Miss Hazel who is a registered nurse is now studying the French language, she is widely known here. After the 9:30 mass in the convent of the Presentation order in the French city, seven Americans and eight French took the habit in impressive ceremonies. A bishop, assisted by eight priests performed the impressive ceremony, which was followed by benediction. Miss Kennedy was graduated from the school of nurses at People's hospital, Peru, in 1925. After a period of private nursing in the Tri-Cities, she entered St. Margaret's hospital in Spring Valley as a postulant, leaving for France with the mother general of the order last May. She is now known as Sister St. Ita.

She is now known as Sister St. Ita.

Miss Hazel Kennedy of La Salle, Ill., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kennedy, former residents of Kewaskum, took the habit of the Sisters of Presentation at Broons, France in February. Miss Hazel who is a registered nurse is now studying the French language, she is widely known here. After the 9:30 mass in the convent of the Presentation order in the French city, seven Americans and eight French took the habit in impressive ceremonies. A bishop, assisted by eight priests performed the impressive ceremony, which was followed by benediction. Miss Kennedy was graduated from the school of nurses at People's hospital, Peru, in 1925. After a period of private nursing in the Tri-Cities, she entered St. Margaret's hospital in Spring Valley as a postulant, leaving for France with the mother general of the order last May. She is now known as Sister St. Ita.

AN AWFUL LOT

First Suburbanite—"He has no friends worth talking about." Second

Suburbanite—"Why, he has an awful lot of friends!" First Suburbanite—"Yes, an awful lot, but none worth talking about."

Erudition

"Is your boy Josh a student?" "He is," answered Farmer Cornstosel. "He has invented a college yell that the dictionary knows nothing about. If you want to know what it means, you gotta ask Josh; and even then he probably won't have time to explain it."—Washington Star.

Maud Wearing Black

"Maud is still wearing black for her late husband." "I fancy it's for her next husband now. She knows she looks charming in it."—Boston Transcript.

Observed

Hubby—The boss is beginning to take interest in me. Wife—Oh, good. Hubby—Yeah. He asked me yesterday at the office if I worked there.

Scraps of Humor

MIXED

From head to heel she was exquisitely modern, and the shop-walker to whom this fair young thing had beckoned felt his heart beat all the faster at the honor due him. She asked him where she could get "pencils for the eyebrows." The shop-walker was inclined to deafness, and he misunderstood her. "The stationery section is upstairs, madam—" he began. "But I want them for eyebrows," interrupted the slim young woman, somewhat puzzled. "Oh, highbrow stuff! Better ask them at the book counter."

CATTY

"That horrid thing just told me I still had my schoolgirl complexion." "Well, what of that?" "Why, she knew me in school and she knows I had a million freckles then."

Companionate Mother Goose

Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater, Had a wife but didn't keep her; For she-was Pa and Ma did dwell, Which suited Peter very well.

Not Exactly the Same

Park Admirer (sottoquizing)—It is a pleasing thought that although one may have no worldly possession worth mentioning, in reality the splendid parks are ours—mine, in fact. Here am I, an Englishman, wandering over my own magnificent estate, and nobody says anything—

Park Keeper (suddenly)—Come off that grass, d'yer 'ear, or I'll turn yer out.

Just Wanted Verification

Caller—Is the manager in? New Office Boy—No, sir. Caller—Are you real sure, boy? New Office Boy—Well, that's what he told me. Go in there and ask him yourself if you don't believe me.—Cap-per's Weekly.

REASON FOR DANCING

He—Remember, dearie, you are dancing for my benefit—not for the benefit of the one looking at this picture.

Friends in Need

Fate in its irony must move And oft to disappointment lead. The friend that needs you may not prove. The friend that some day you will need.

Hypothetical

"No," she said sharply, "I wouldn't marry you if your pockets were lined with gold." "Right!" he responded cheerily. "In that case I wouldn't be proposing."

Usually Grumbling

"I hate to hear a man talking to himself, don't you?" "No; he's generally telling a hard tuck story and I'd sooner have him tell it to himself than to me."

Innocents Abroad

First American (in Paris)—I don't think you're much of a linguist. You didn't understand a word that gendarme was saying. Second American—Well, he didn't understand a word I was saying, either—so it was even.

Inside Stuff

"Jones certainly has a lot of inside information." "How do you know?" "Why, he's an interior decorator."

As It Struck Johnny

Father (indicating statue)—That is Sir Thomas Tipton, the man who gave those large suits to the schools. Johnny—Hub! And left the beastly things for us to work out.—Boston Transcript.

The Editor's Daughter

Wilfred—Then aren't you going to give me back my ring? Winifred—Ring unaccompanied by self-addressed stamped envelopes will not be returned.

RADIO

Power Lines Are Still Source of Interference

One of the most insistent problems in interference elimination is that dealing with disturbances which originate on, or are carried by, a power line. There are endless numbers of such disturbances which cause anything from an occasional click to a continuous roar which will drown out even a local station where it is being received over an antenna.

A power line acts as a sort of guide to high frequency currents which may be induced in it, much as they are in an antenna, or to high frequency currents which may result from an electrical discharge or disturbance on the line itself. The phenomenon is better known as "wired wireless."

The difficulty in eliminating this type of interference is due to the fact that it is quite similar to the signal which is to be received. For this reason the part of it that is induced in the antenna circuit is exceedingly difficult to eliminate. The portion of it that comes in over the power line and through the power supply device of the receiver, on the other hand, may frequently be reduced or even eliminated.

Where the receiver is of the power or electric type two small coils, such as are used as secondaries in a radio-frequency transformer, may be connected in series with the line and used as radio-frequency chokes. One coil should be connected in series with each power lead near the outlet and the two should be carefully shielded from each other and the receiver. A tenth microfarad condenser should be connected across the line side of the two chokes.

Although what is known as a "static shield" is used between the primary and secondary windings of the power transformer, it will be found that line disturbances are frequently present.

The two coils should be carefully mounted and insulated. An input and output plug should be used. In other words, the unit should be given the consideration that is given any device which operates on the power line.

Any disturbance which can be definitely traced to an appliance or motor should be remedied at the source by using one of the devices which are available on the market. These are usually a combination of condensers with one or more resistances.

Sets which use an "A" battery with a "B" battery eliminator are subject to the same type of interference that is evidenced in electric receivers. In this case the high frequency part of the disturbance may frequently be eliminated by connecting a radio-frequency choke in series with the radio-frequency tap at the eliminator. A half microfarad by-pass condenser should be connected from the ground to the choke terminal on the receiver side.

Facts You Should Know About Radio Receivers

Receivers represented as of the non-blooper type, due to some scheme of neutralization employed, do not always turn out as such. This is largely due to indifference when it comes to neutralizing or reneutralizing the receiver.

To neutralize a receiver does not require a great deal of technique, and, in the end, time spent on this important point is more than compensated for by the superior results obtained.

When each tube has its own filament ballast, the job is easy. After tuning in a station, remove the ballast resistor from its clips and, with a wooden stick, screwdriver or similar accessory, adjust the neutralizing condenser until the signal is reduced to a minimum or eliminated. After the first r. f. (radio-frequency) stage has been neutralized, the ballast may be replaced in its clips, and the same process used for the second r. f. stage. If the receiver is not equipped with ballasts for each tube, the same procedure should be used, but the filament must be turned off by some other means.

Cheap Batteries Will Not Give Good Service

Cheap dry batteries generally are short-lived and fail to render good service even during this period. The cheapest battery in the long run is the most expensive in the first place. Good materials are essential to produce good batteries—heavy, seamless, zinc cans, for instance, instead of flimsy, solder-seamed cases; good chemicals, with the mud-bag construction instead of the crude wet blotter; proper insulation between cells in the assembly of the block, and so on. It pays to buy a good battery at any time.

Elevated Vs. Underground

The elevated wire is found to be superior to the underground antenna for reception of broadcasting stations. Interference from static is usually decreased by the use of a buried antenna; however, the signal strength is reduced in proportion.

More Sets for Reds

Radio is going ahead by leaps and bounds in the soviet union. Russian sets now total 200,000, against 30,000 in 1928. Forty-seven broadcasting stations are now in operation in Russia, and a dozen new ones are being constructed.

Plate Voltages

The plate voltages ordinarily used in receiving sets are 10 1/2 to 45 volts on the detector tube, 90 on the amplifier tubes and 135 volts upon the power tubes.

May Help

Most of the interference in a set can be eliminated by the correct adjustment of the dials.

Baby Cuts 10 Teeth Without Trouble
Mrs. John Ruthfuss, Glenville, Neb., was worried. Her baby was having such a hard time teething. He cried all the time. She was frantic; she knew that fever, colic, convulsions or worse might result. Some mothers induced her to use Dr. Pusheck's Teething Relief—absolutely harmless because it's homeopathic—that has been used for over 40 years. Let her tell about the difference it made—
"My little boy, 11 months of age," she writes, "has had 10 more teeth and has had no trouble cutting them all since I have been giving him Teething Relief."
Don't let your baby suffer or keep you awake another night! For both baby's sake and your own, get a bottle of Teething Relief from your drugist. It costs only 75c.

MOTHERS IMPORTANT

Mothers should see that the whole family take a thorough, purifying system cleansing laxative this Spring. NOW IS THE TIME. The family will be healthier, happier, and get along better if the blood is given a thorough purifying, the stomach and bowels cleaned out, and the germs of winter accumulated in the system, driven away. HOLLISTER'S ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA is one of the very best and surest spring medicines to take. Try it and see the difference in the whole family. Their color will be better, they'll eat better, sleep better and be well and happy—Otto W. Graf, Druggist, Kewaskum, Wis.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF THE BADGER STATE

Platteville—William Suh's herd of grade Holsteins made the highest average in February with a production of 1,115 pounds of milk and 39.6 pounds of butter fat.

Tomahawk—Extensive logging operations have been carried on in the vicinity of Tomahawk this winter and shipments of forest products have been unusually heavy.

Neenah—South Greenville Grange, one of the oldest farm organizations in Wisconsin, having been in existence for more than 50 years, is planning a $25,000 community hall.

Fond du Lac—A movement to have all places of business in the principal cities of the Fox River valley, including Fond du Lac, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh, Appleton and Green Bay, close Saturday nights is gaining impetus.

Madison—A sentence of 25 years in state prison was given Buford Dicks, Mazomanie, in superior court here in his trial on charges of having committed criminal offenses against several young girls.

Cornell—A 114-acre farm just inside the limits of this village, which was unimproved land 10 years ago, was sold for more than $10,000.

Madison—Wisconsin county and regional fairs this season will total seventy-seven and possibly seventy-nine if two proposed fairs at Sturgeon Bay and Gays Mills materialize.

Racine—Records kept by 16 Racine county farmers selected at random from five spray rings operating in that county show why Wisconsin farmers are taking better care of their fruit trees.

Oconto—Fifteen farmers of this vicinity formed the Oconto County Poultry Improvement association at a meeting here and will affiliate with the Wisconsin Poultry Improvement association.

Waukegan—Wisconsin potato growers who believed that market conditions would be better this spring and refused to sell their crop last year are now in a position to reap a substantial reward for their foresight.

Madison—The Price county board has tentatively approved the proposal to create a national forest unit of 140,000 acres in the county, L. B. Nagler, director of conservation, reported here.

Platteville—A pure bred Chester White sow in the herd owned by James Heilly, Jr., had a litter of 19 pigs.

Rhineland—Dr. J. T. Elliott, city health officer, has ordered that all dogs found on the streets here without a license tag be shot immediately.

Merrill—The Study Class and Woman's alliance, to conserve trees, has volunteered to plant permanent Christmas trees on two prominent sites here.

RIPON—FRED BABCOCK, 68, prominent in Masonic circles here, died in St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, of heart disease.

Madison—Permission for use of the state capitol for what will probably be the last of all University of Wisconsin dances there has been granted by C. E. Ballard, superintendent of public property.

Madison—Annual reports of the Madison Gas and Electric company indicate that its rates for gas and electric service yield excessive net returns on a fair valuation of its property.

Madison—A 28 per cent increase in the state gasoline tax for January, 1928, as compared with the same month in 1927, is noted in the monthly report of Solomon Levitan, state treasurer.

Livingston—The annual consignment sale of Guernsey cattle sponsored by the Southwestern Wisconsin Guernsey Breeders' association will be held here Apr. 25.

Fond du Lac—With the city already using legal proceedings to force delinquent tax payments, County Treasurer M. Washburn has announced that the county is making plans to use a similar method of reducing its tax delinquencies.

Washburn—The Chequamegon Co-operative creamery had a big increase in business during 1927, according to E. R. Tetzner, secretary-treasurer.

Madison—Wisconsin county and regional fairs this season will total seventy-seven and possibly seventy-nine if two proposed fairs at Sturgeon Bay and Gays Mills materialize.

Phillips—Joseph Dombola, a farmer living near Phillips, was severely bitten by a wolf which made a terrific fight for freedom after being trapped.

OIL QUIZ IS TURNED TO LATE PRESIDENT

Senate Inquiry to Reach Sale of Harding's Newspaper in Marion, Ohio.

Washington.—The current Teapot Dome scandal investigation reached new heights when it was announced that the search for Harry F. Sinclair's Continental Trading company Liberty bonds is to be extended into the estate of the late President Harding.

Senate investigators have already been assigned to investigate the sale of the late President's newspaper, the Marion (Ohio) Star, in June, 1923, for $380,000.

Recent development is the result of the persistent recurrence of the rumors first publicly voiced during the original Teapot Dome investigation in 1924 by Frank A. Vanderlip, former Chicagoan and retired banker.

Summoned before the senate investigating committee, Mr. Vanderlip admitted he was repeating "gossip." Louis H. Brush and Roy D. Moore, the purchasers and present owners of the Star, testified that they paid President Harding $50,000 in cash before he went on his Alaskan trip.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has coal interests in West Virginia, Colorado and Illinois; Charles M. Schwab, who has coal mines as a subsidiary to Bethlehem Steel, and P. J. Crowley, president of the New York Central railroad, which is running a nonunion coal mine in Pennsylvania, were ordered to be subpoenaed before the interstate commerce committee.

Springfield, Ill.—Illinois miners must accept a wage cut, or very few mines will be able to operate after April 1.

Coolidge Turns Down Plea From Porto Rico

Washington.—President Coolidge has delivered a rebuke to agitators for complete independence in Porto Rico, that little island of the West Indies group ceded to the United States after the Spanish-American war.

There has been a "complete misunderstanding of the concrete facts," in the President's opinion, in connection with the moves to obtain home rule without outside assistance on the island, whose government now was said by Mr. Coolidge to exercise a "greater degree of sovereignty over its own internal affairs than does the government of any state or territory of the United States."

Sugar Crop Decree Is Announced by Machado

Havana.—President Machado issued a sugar crop decree fixing the present year's crop at 4,000,000 tons. In case a mill has not sufficient cane to make up its allotment of sugar it must still leave 10 per cent of its cane standing.

Washington.—Allotment of $183,000 for improvement of Miami harbor has been approved by Secretary of War Davis.

TO SUPERVISE VOTING

SCHWAB, JOHN D., JR., TO FACE COAL PROBE

Washington.—Coal has moved up to take its stand beside oil in the current American drama of politics and industry.

Out of the canvas of human suffering that has been spread across the coal fields, and the clash of great economic theories that has been staged before the senate investigating committee, the personalities of the coal barons and the financial powers back of them emerged.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has coal interests in West Virginia, Colorado and Illinois; Charles M. Schwab, who has coal mines as a subsidiary to Bethlehem Steel, and P. J. Crowley, president of the New York Central railroad, which is running a nonunion coal mine in Pennsylvania, were ordered to be subpoenaed before the interstate commerce committee.

R. B. Mellon of Pittsburgh, brother of the secretary of the treasury, and three other directors of the Pittsburgh Coal company, which has taken the lead in throwing the coal industry into its steadily growing open shop conditions, were also ordered subpoenaed.

Washington.—A measure designed to promote consolidation and co-operation in mining and marketing bituminous coal has been introduced by Representative England of West Virginia.

House Passes 16-Ship Naval Bill 287 to 58

Washington.—Pacifist and "little navy" opposition to the $274,000,000 compromise naval bill were routed a few days ago when the house, by an overwhelming vote of 287 to 58, overruled the measure and sent it to the senate.

PEASANTS IN DEMAND BRATIANO BE OUSTED

Bucharest Hears Mob Call for Maniu as Premier; Serious Trouble Feared.

Bucharest, Rumania.—Sixty thousand peasants from all parts of the country, under the leadership of Iuliu Maniu, decided to refuse to leave the capital until the Bratiano government resigns.

A gigantic parade of peasants wearing national colors marched past M. Maniu in Victoria platz, where an antigovernment demonstration was held.

Bucharest, Rumania.—A futile attempt to force Vintila Bratiano to resign and to compel the installation of Iuliu Maniu as premier was made by the National Peasant party.

For months the coalition of Nationalists and peasants under the leadership of Iuliu Maniu has been trying to force a change in the Rumanian cabinet and dissolution of the present parliament.

Maniu, however, rejected this plan, and in an open speech in parliament said that his party had no confidence in the present government.

Washington.—Pacifist and "little navy" opposition to the $274,000,000 compromise naval bill were routed a few days ago when the house, by an overwhelming vote of 287 to 58, overruled the measure and sent it to the senate.

Memorial

In loving memory of our beloved husband and father, Albert Butzke Sr. who passed away one year ago March 20, 1927.

Farewell dear father, sweet thy rest, Weary with years and worn with pain,

Farewell till in some happy place, We shall behold thy face again,

Tis ours to miss thee all our years

And tender memories of thee keep Thine in the Lord to rest for so

He giveth his beloved sleep.

Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Albert Butzke Sr., and children.

You GET this Oil Outfit FREE

You BUY one drum of Delco Motor Oil

As a special inducement to get car, truck and tractor owners into the good habit of buying Delco Motor Oil by the drum (you get the benefit of bulk prices), we are presenting every drum purchaser with the complete oil dispensing outfit here illustrated. You buy only one drum of Delco Motor Oil—15, 30 or 50 gallons. You GET, in addition to this supply of "pedigreed oil", of highest lubricating value, the following equipment:

1. A leak-proof Bennett Oil Pump—the neatest, handiest little pump you ever saw!
2. A funnel-spout Quart Measure that delivers the oil into the crankcase instead of onto the engine block.
3. A Corbin Lock with two keys—to keep oil pump locked as protection against petty theft.
4. A steel drum. This handy container keeps your oil supply clean and always available.

Put this Oil Outfit in your garage and have on hand at all times the best engine insurance you can buy—a supply of Delco pure paraffin-base Motor Oil. We feel confident that you will be so well satisfied with Delco Motor Oil, after you have used one drum of it, that you will continue to buy Delco Oil exclusively. That's where both of us benefit! And that's how we can afford to make this unusual offer!

This Special Introductory Drum offer closes May 1, 1928

Letter Heads!

Did you ever consider your letter-head as your most used card of introduction, Mr. Businessman? The first glance at your firm's stationery establishes the personality of your business in the mind of the recipient. The price of your letter-heads should be the last consideration.

Good paper—well selected type—artistic arrangement—and good printing may be expected when you let us print your letter-heads and other office stationery.

The most of well-printed stationery from our Print Shop is consistently low with the high-class workmanship maintained.

No matter what your printing job may be, we are equipped to give you the best work and prompt service.

Distance's Lure

I have heard it said of a great palming, "Don't go too close to it." In order to get the best out of a picture, view it in the proper light, and from a distance. If you get too close a look, you will realize the rough way in which it is made. I prefer (now) to also view women from a distance; never closer than four or five feet.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.
