

COURTNEY RYLEY COOPER

A Famous American Writer, the Author of Our Next Serial.

Courtney Ryley Cooper was born in Kansas City, Missouri, October 31, 1886. He was fifteen when he began a kaleidoscopic career by running away from home to become a clown in a circus. Since then he has been a newsboy, trucker, glove salesman, circus press agent, actor, monologist and "back-and-wing" dancer in vaudeville, newspaper man, rodeo organizer, general manager of the world's second greatest circus—and by degrees has become an author of considerable reputation. He has also been press agent and secretary for "Buffalo Bill"—in fact, he helped Mrs. Cody write her "Memories of Buffalo Bill." In 1918 he enlisted in the United States Marines; later he was given a commission and sent to France to collect historical data for the Marine Corps.

He began writing at twenty-four, and has contributed innumerable articles and stories to newspapers and magazines. His books are: "High Country: The Rockies, Yesterday and Today"; "Go North, Young Man!"; "Under the Big Top"; "Lions 'n' Tigers 'n' Everything"; "Oklahoma"; "The Golden Bubble"; "The Challenge of the Bush"; and "Caged."

In 1916, he married Genevieve R. Furey, of Los Angeles, and they live at Idaho Springs, Colorado. His hobbies are fishing and hunting—hunting it up a mountain to a lost lake with a pack of grub on my back and the chance of getting a "big one" when I finally reach there—or "prospecting with pan and pick and shovel where perhaps some grizzled prospector worked fifty years before."

"CAGED"
our next serial is Mr. Cooper's most human story. You will like it and will not want to miss any single installment.

NEW METHOD FINDS FAVOR IN CROWDING BABY CHICKS

The traditional 72 hour wait before feeding baby chicks is headed for the discard—it is a method, that can be no longer justified.

Feed is frequently withheld with the idea of permitting the yolk sac to become absorbed and avoid digestive trouble. This plan is no longer justified for it is found that many good chicks retain the yolk sac for as high as five or six weeks. A three-day wait, furthermore, causes the chicks to become very hungry and may result in their eating sand and litter, a condition that very often causes death, finds C. E. Holmes, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Holmes gives the following method which he uses in growing healthy, peppy chicks at the University poultry yards: When chicks are dry and well fluffed, he takes them from the incubator and places them in chick boxes. Here the chicks are kept comfortable and when they become restless, which is usually from 12 to 24 hours after being put in the chick boxes, they are removed to the brooder house in which has already been placed both feed and drink. The first feed is placed on cardboard so the chicks may readily find it. The milk or other drink is placed in fountains.

Several of the chicks have their beaks dipped in milk or other drink when placed in the brooder house so that these may act as leaders in teaching the others to drink. By the middle of the second day, feed is placed in hoppers made of lath which are placed on the cardboard. An effort is made to get all chicks eating and drinking as soon as possible after they are placed in the brooder house.

Success or failure in raising chicks to profitable pullets is largely due, Holmes states, to the treatment they get from the start.

The April tournament of the Dodge County Skat League will be held on April 8th, 1932, at 2:00 o'clock P. M. at the C. K. Hall at Woodland, Wis., under auspices of the Woodland Fire Department. All Skat players are invited to this event. The business meeting begins at 1:30 P. M.

If all Wisconsin cheese were made into one big cheese consisting of layers of each variety it would look something like this: The American layer would make up three-fourths of it, on top of this a thinner one of Brick and Munster would make one-tenth, a still smaller layer of Swiss would make up seven per cent, then in order would come smaller layers of Cream, Neufchatel, Limberger, and Italian varieties. Some nine million pounds of skim milk curd cheese could also be used for trimming.

65 H. P. ENGINE, NEW BODY LINES FORD FEATURES

The new Ford V-8 represents a notable advance in motor car engineering.

The new car is large, long, roomy, fast, powerful and alert. Its eight-cylinder V-type engine develops 65-horsepower. The car is capable of 75 miles an hour.

Some of the mechanical features are rubber mounting for engine; down-draft carburetor; automatic spark control; fuel pump; rear fuel tank; soft, flexible springs; large mechanical four-wheel brakes; small, strong, electrically welded steel-spoke wheels and large tires. The frame is cushioned from the running gear by rubber insulators in the spring shackles and shock absorber links.

The 14 body types may be obtained also with an improved 50-horsepower, 4-cylinder engine at lower cost.

BODY INTERIORS ROOMY

The bodies are fresh and modern—from the gracefully rounded V-radiator to rear bumper. Body interiors are roomy and richly finished. Seats are of new style, designed for utmost comfort. Driver's seats in all closed cars are adjustable. A large ventilator is provided in the cowl.

The instrument panel is oval, with a rustless steel moulding. Inside sun visors fold out of the way when not in use.

Many outstanding features are found in the chassis. These include a strong, rugged frame; newly designed, soft, flexible transverse cantilever springs; rubber-cushioned spring shackles and self-adjusting hydraulic double-acting shock absorbers and large brakes.

The rear spring is mounted on perches back of the axle housing and is bowed out around the differential housing.

The shape of the frame and design of the springs allow the body to be mounted close to the road, thus lowering the car's center of gravity and improving roadability and riding comfort.

LARGE BRAKES EMPLOYED

The large mechanical four-wheel brakes have 18 1/2 square inches of braking surface. Brake drums are of cast alloy iron which tests show does not score easily.

The steel-spoke wheels are 18 inches in diameter. Large hubs enclose the bolts which attach the wheel to the drum. There are 32 wheel-spokes which are short, sharply pitched and electrically welded to the drop-center rim and hub shell, forming an unusually strong unit.

Tires are 18x3.25 inches. Each tire is balanced to avoid "tramping" or vibration at higher speeds.

BODY INSULATED BY RUBBER

Rubber in the spring shackles and shock absorber links not only insulates the frame and body from road shocks but also prevents mechanical friction and eliminates the need for lubrication at these points.

A torque-tube drive is used. The tube transmits the driving thrust to a point well forward in the car and leaves the springs free to perform their function. Radius-rods keep the axles in alignment.

The front axle is of "T" beam section, of chrome alloy steel for strength and toughness. The axle is sharply tilted to give great roadability and easy steering.

MANY FROM THIS COMMUNITY PASS TO THEIR HOME BEYOND

FERDINAND FEUERHAMMER
Ferdinand Feuerhammer, aged 85, and a resident of the town of Auburn for the past sixty years, was found dead in the doorway of the cow barn on Sunday morning, April 4th, at 9:30 o'clock by his son Arthur. Death was due to heart failure. He had only a short time before found. Mr. Feuerhammer a week ago contracted a bad cold, which forced him to bed for three days, but soon recovered and was up and about.

Deceased was born in Sand Schoune, Pommern, Germany, on May 13, 1847. When a lad of six years, he immigrated to America, settling in the town of Herman, Dodge county. After plowing there for about fifteen years, he then went to farming on a farm near the Gage school house, 2 1/2 miles north of the village. On September 27, 1872, he married Wilhelmina Wessenberg, and in October, 1891, purchased the farm where he has resided ever since. His wife preceded him in death in April, 1912. Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Feuerhammer, one son, Paul, passed away Sept. 13, 1917. Those living are: August, Kilbourn, Wis.; Mrs. Louis Buettner, City, Wis.; Emma (Mrs. William Tasker), Waupun; John, Campbellsport; Mary (Mrs. Ollie Johnson), New Prospect; Henry, Elmore; and Helena and Arthur at home. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Louise Ramthun, Waucoosa; 27 grand-children, and 14 great-grand-children.

Mr. Feuerhammer liked fellowship and community spirit. During his career, he served a number of years as treasurer of the town of Auburn, president of the German Mutual Fire Insurance Co., and a member of the school board of Gage school district. For over fifty years he held the clerkship of the St. John's Luth. church at New Fane, resigning said office seven years ago, when he was struck by an automobile while crossing the road near his home, suffering severe injuries to his arm. He never betrayed his trust and he will be personally missed by his fellowmen who worked with him and loved him. He had that rare quality of leadership, which brought out the good in all he influenced and the best in those he commanded.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the residence with services at 1:30 in the St. John's Lutheran church at New Fane. Rev. C. J. Gutekunst officiated. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

CARL H. KAEMPFER
Editor and Mrs. H. B. Kaempfer of West Bend, suffered a great loss on Monday, April 4th, when their son, Carl Herbert, passed away at 2:45 a. m. Death was due to scarlet fever and meningitis. He was ill only three days. He contracted scarlet fever while doing practice work in the Milwaukee isolation hospital.

The deceased was born May 31, 1907, at West Bend and graduated from the West Bend High School in 1924. In 1926 he entered Marquette University to study medicine, and would have finished his medical course in May, at which time he would have reached the age of 25 years. He leaves his grief-stricken parents, and one brother, Henry, Jr.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon from Schancke's funeral parlor at West Bend. Burial was made in the Union cemetery, same city. Rev. R. W. Groth conducted the last rites.

HENRY O. KLUG

Deceased was born November 6, 1906, on the homestead in the town of Kewaskum, now occupied by his brother Arnold. The premature death of Mr. Klug came like a thunderbolt from a clear sky, and greatly saddened the homes of his mother, Mrs. Henry Klug, of West Bend; his sister Della (Mrs. Clarence Hess) of West Bend, his brother Arnold and many friends and neighbors.

He was a young man of very quiet disposition and well liked. His father preceded him in death a few years ago. The funeral was held today (Friday) afternoon, April 8th, at 1:30 from the home of his brother and at 2 o'clock services were held in the St. John's Lutheran church at New Fane. Rev. C. J. Gutekunst officiated. Burial was made in the adjoining cemetery.

MRS. JACOB MUCKERHEIDE
Mrs. Jacob Muckerheide (nee Kohn) passed away at her home in the town of Kewaskum, Friday, April 1st, at 8 p. m., after an illness of two weeks with a complication of diseases. Although in a serious condition for the past few weeks, death came unexpectedly, as only the day previous, her sisters from afar, who had been summoned to her bedside the week previous, returned to their homes, believing that she was on a speedy way toward recovery.

Deceased reached the age of 68 years, 4 months and 2 days, was born November 29, 1863, in the town of Kewaskum, a short distance from the place where she died. In November, 1889, she was married to Jacob Muckerheide, who still survives. Three children were born to them, namely: Cora and Miles at home, and Belle (Mrs. John L. Gorin) of Chicago. Becker, town of Auburn; Mrs. John Andrae, Kewaskum; John, William, Frank and Math. Kohn, all of Kewaskum; and three grand children.

What need be said of a life that for 68 years has been spent among us. Memories of her genial presence, her kindly ways, the true friendship formed, speak more eloquently than words, for "to live in the hearts of those we leave behind is not to die."

The funeral was held Tuesday morning, April 5th, at 9:30 from the home with services at 10 o'clock in the Holy Trinity church, Kewaskum, conducted by the Rev. Ph. J. Vogt. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery.

Leifer), Cordula (Mrs. Chester Schultz) and 9 grand children, one brother and three sisters.

Wednesday evening, at about 7:30 o'clock, the farm residence together with all household furniture and personal belongings of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuehl of the town of Wayne, three miles southwest of St. Killian, was completely destroyed by fire.

The fire started while Mrs. Kuehl was filling a gasoline lantern, and in some manner the gasoline ignited and rapidly spread. Mrs. Kuehl was very severely burned about the hands and back, that she was not fatally burned is a mystery. She was removed to the home of her nearest neighbor, William Coulter, where Dr. Edw. N. Hausmann of this village attended her in the room at the time of the fire were her three children, her sister, Miss Mary Hassinger, and her mother, Mrs. Jacob Hassinger. All had to flee for safety. Her husband was busy in the barn doing the evening chores.

Only through the heroic work of the neighbors and the fire departments all other buildings were saved. The loss is estimated at $6000.00, partially covered by insurance.

THE REVOLT OF THE TAXPAYERS

From all over the country we read and hear reports of a rising tide of protest against the high cost of government. National, state, county, school and local taxes have grown in the past dozen years until the combined burden is more than most taxpayers can bear even in normal times. And in these times of reduced incomes and poor business the tax burden has become intolerable.

Congress is trying to "balance the budget" by imposing more and higher taxes. Doubtless there will be some show of reducing government expenditures, but so far we have heard very little about these. It seems to us that it should be the first point of attack, not the last. This country got along very well for a hundred years and more without trying to regulate everybody's business and teach everybody how to live. We think there are hundreds of millions of dollars literally wasted every year by Federal bur- reaus which never would be missed if they were abolished entirely.

The same is true of State governments. It is characteristically American, and something in which we take pride, that as a people we want the best of everything. We want the best possible roads, the best possible schools, and all that. But haven't we been trying to get these things too fast, without counting the cost, without finding out first where the money is coming from? We think that is the principal trouble with the United States today.

The inevitable result of this orgy of public spending is to stir up widespread discontent, which may easily result in an actual revolt on the part of taxpayers. Too much of the tax burden is laid upon land and its improvements, not enough upon the individuals, groups and enterprises directly benefitted by specific expenditures of public funds.

What this country needs right now is to cut all governmental expenses squarely in half—Federal, State, County and Local. That might cause some temporary embarrassment, but it would be only temporary. Relieved from half of the tax burden, property of all kinds would earn more for its owners, capital would be freer to go into production enterprises, men and women would get their jobs back, prosperity would return speedily.

We would like to see some real leader arise who would adopt for his political slogan: "Cut taxes in half!" He could be elected to any office to which he might aspire, in the present temper of the American people.

PATROLMEN BACK TO WORK

At different times during the summer the work of each man will be carefully checked and markings given him according to the manner in which his work is done.

EXPRESSING APPRECIATION

FRESH CLEW GIVES LINDBERGH HOPES

Philadelphia Woman Comes Into the Case.

Philadelphia.—A disclosure by Kern Dodge, director of public safety, that an unidentified woman is under surveillance in connection with statements she made about the Lindbergh kidnaping bolstered a belief that three Norfolk (Va.) intermediaries may be centering their negotiations here.

The woman telephoned Mrs. Walter C. Hancock, prominent in club and philanthropic circles a few days ago, and asked whether she knew any friends of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. When Mrs. Hancock replied that she did not the woman asked for a personal interview, which was granted.

Mrs. Hancock notified the police and a detective hid in the Hancock reception room and listened to their conversation. He has been following the woman since. Mrs. Hancock and Dodge declined to disclose what the woman said or any details of the interview.

Norfolk, Va.—Maintaining their secrecy concerning negotiations for the return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby, the three Virginian intermediaries here are firm in their belief they have been in touch with the child's abductors, not with impostors.

Speaking for himself and his two associates, Rear-Admiral Guy J. Burgrave, retired, said: "I wouldn't have gone into the case and I wouldn't be in it now unless I was satisfied that we were dealing with the abductors of the Lindbergh baby."

WILLIAM GREEN

HOUSE ADDS ITEMS TO REVENUE BILL

Taxes Designed to Balance Federal Budget.

Washington.—The compromise revenue bill rode swiftly on its way in the house of representatives. Special excise provisions devised by the ways and means committee to replace the sales tax, and expected to produce approximately $293,500,000 in revenue, including an increase of one cent in first-class postage, were adopted in the new program to assess taxes required to balance the federal budget next year.

The bill in its early stages contained provision for raising $743,500,000 of the estimated billion and a quarter of revenue or savings needed by the government.

The house later added $169,500,000, and estimates of tax returns from sections previously approved, including increases in income taxes and estate and special import taxes, were placed at $280,500,000.

For a second day in succession, Speaker Garner took the floor to make his position clear to his colleagues and to exert his influence. This time it was to urge a compromise on a proposal to restrict affiliated companies in the making of consolidated tax returns. As written into the bill, with the corporation tax rate of 13 1/2 per cent approved by the house, the section covering consolidated returns will require a rate of 15 per cent for affiliates electing to consolidate rather than make separate accounting for tax purposes.

Although the amendment increasing the first-class postage rate from 2 to 3 cents provoked the greatest debate, opponents of the proposal gave way to what was the strongest argument in the house—the importance of any suggestion to raise money to balance the budget. It was estimated that the postal increase will provide $135,000,000. The increased rate would be applicable for a period of two years.

The house on March 30 inserted the following items in the revenue bill: Reduced surtax exemptions from $10,000 to $5,000, 7,000,000; Assessed value per cent tax on affiliated and consolidated returns, 18,000,000; Mechanical refrigerators, 4,500,000; Re-establishing the 1921 beverage excise taxes, 11,000,000; Safety deposit boxes, 10 per cent of rent, 1,000,000; Increased tax on corporations, 20,000,000; Levy of telephone message, 33,000,000; Increasing first-class postage from 2 to 3 cents, 135,000,000; Admissions tax on tickets over 45 cents, 40,000,000; Stamp tax on corporations, 12,000,000; Dividend tax on corporations filing separate returns, 5,000,000; Curtailment in federal expenditures already effected or expected to be made in the war and navy bills, including administrative changes in the postal laws and a possible government pay cut of $70,000,000, are calculated to provide economies of $277,000,000.

George C. Seaman, producer of Taylorville, Ill., was elected president; Ed N. Wentworth, a director of the Armour Live Stock bureau here, was named vice president, and F. G. Kenner, of Columbus, Ohio, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Eight standing committees were appointed to study the problems of the industry and to report at the next general meeting October 1.

HOUSE ADDS ITEMS TO REVENUE BILL

Taxes Designed to Balance Federal Budget.

Washington.—The compromise revenue bill rode swiftly on its way in the house of representatives. Special excise provisions devised by the ways and means committee to replace the sales tax, and expected to produce approximately $293,500,000 in revenue, including an increase of one cent in first-class postage, were adopted in the new program to assess taxes required to balance the federal budget next year.

The bill in its early stages contained provision for raising $743,500,000 of the estimated billion and a quarter of revenue or savings needed by the government.

The house later added $169,500,000, and estimates of tax returns from sections previously approved, including increases in income taxes and estate and special import taxes, were placed at $280,500,000.

For a second day in succession, Speaker Garner took the floor to make his position clear to his colleagues and to exert his influence. This time it was to urge a compromise on a proposal to restrict affiliated companies in the making of consolidated tax returns. As written into the bill, with the corporation tax rate of 13 1/2 per cent approved by the house, the section covering consolidated returns will require a rate of 15 per cent for affiliates electing to consolidate rather than make separate accounting for tax purposes.

Although the amendment increasing the first-class postage rate from 2 to 3 cents provoked the greatest debate, opponents of the proposal gave way to what was the strongest argument in the house—the importance of any suggestion to raise money to balance the budget. It was estimated that the postal increase will provide $135,000,000. The increased rate would be applicable for a period of two years.

The house on March 30 inserted the following items in the revenue bill: Reduced surtax exemptions from $10,000 to $5,000, 7,000,000; Assessed value per cent tax on affiliated and consolidated returns, 18,000,000; Mechanical refrigerators, 4,500,000; Re-establishing the 1921 beverage excise taxes, 11,000,000; Safety deposit boxes, 10 per cent of rent, 1,000,000; Increased tax on corporations, 20,000,000; Levy of telephone message, 33,000,000; Increasing first-class postage from 2 to 3 cents, 135,000,000; Admissions tax on tickets over 45 cents, 40,000,000; Stamp tax on corporations, 12,000,000; Dividend tax on corporations filing separate returns, 5,000,000; Curtailment in federal expenditures already effected or expected to be made in the war and navy bills, including administrative changes in the postal laws and a possible government pay cut of $70,000,000, are calculated to provide economies of $277,000,000.

George C. Seaman, producer of Taylorville, Ill., was elected president; Ed N. Wentworth, a director of the Armour Live Stock bureau here, was named vice president, and F. G. Kenner, of Columbus, Ohio, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Eight standing committees were appointed to study the problems of the industry and to report at the next general meeting October 1.

Bandits "Lift" $175,000 From Minneapolis Bank

Minneapolis, Minn.—Seven machine gun bandits raided the Northwestern National bank and escaped with cash and securities valued in excess of $175,000.

A hat, lost by one of the bandits, gave police their only clew. The hat label read Al Baskin, Joliet, Ill., haberdasher.

The robbery was one of the most daring and most carefully planned ever staged in Minneapolis, and was carried through without a hitch.

Income Tax Receipts Show Large Decrease

Washington.—March income tax receipts for 24 days totaled $188,894,007 against $229,384,353 for the corresponding period a year ago. For the fiscal year up to March 24, collections totaled $846,985,400 against $1,495,415,833 for the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year.

Princess Makes Claim on Sulu Sea Islands

British Position in India

Delhi.—Lord Willingdon, viceroy of India, told the chamber of orators that Britain is determined to maintain peace in India, and that use of force was solely for the purpose of preventing chaos.

Sales Tax Blocked

Jackson, Miss.—The 3 per cent sales tax bill designed as an emergency to balance the state's budget failed of passage in the senate. The house previously had approved it.

Current Wit and Humor

NOT A LOUD COLOR

A woman was having the upper rooms of her house painted and she fancied that the painter was slacking on the job. "Painter, are you working?" she shouted at the foot of the stairs. "Yes, ma'am," came the reply. "I can't hear you." "Well, do you think I'm putting it on with a hammer?"

NO CHARGE FOR WATER

Lady—What part of the price do you charge for the water in your milk? Milkman—Not a cent—I charge only for the milk that's in the water, ma'am.

The Inevitable Ego

"A man should think not of himself, but of his country." "True," answered Senator Sorghum. "But if a statesman neglects to take care of himself at election, how is he going to hope to put in practical operation his patient and far-reaching plans for the public good?"—Washington Star.

Amateur Huntsman

"Did you hit anything?" "Yes," answered the man who goes hunting. "Was it a deer?" "I don't think so. As I hurried away I decided that if it was a deer it was the most ill-natured and volubly profane of all its species."

This Way Out

Driving Instructor—Well, do you understand the car now? Beginner—Perfectly. There's only one thing I should like to know. Do you put the water and the gasoline in the same hole?—Successful Farming.

Rapid Adjustment

Polly—Isn't it dreadful? They hadn't been married a week before they were throwing plates at each other. Dolly—Yes, it isn't every couple that settles down to married life so quickly.

CROWNS HIS QUEEN

"Marie's hubby calls her a queen." "Yes, he's just the kind who'd crown her when he gets her home."

Yeah, What About That?

Will—All lawyers are crooks, and ought to be shot. Bill—Now, now, calm yourself. If there were no lawyers, who'd protect you from the other lawyers?

Another Way Out

"Have you Doctor Embonpoint's book, 'How to Get Slim'?" Bookseller—No, madam, but will you take Doctor Slender's book, 'How to Get Fat' and act against his directions?"

Remarkable Tie

Customer—I wish to see a tie in which blue predominates. Assistant—Here's one in which blue predominates, but the purple in it predominates even more, I think.

Genius

Father—You lazy boy! What would you have done if you had been brought up among people who lived by the sweat of their brows? Blase Son—I would have sold them pocket handkerchiefs!

A Little Logic

"Mother, I know why little boys want to fight." "Why is it, dear?" "So when they get married they can stand getting disappointed."

Ahead of Himself

Judge—Explain to the court why you have not made any alimony payments. Defendant—Your Honor, I promise to begin paying week after next. I still have two more installments due on the engagement ring.

Profanity Called For, and Caddy Was "There"

Dr. J. Whitecomb Brounger, now of Boston, but formerly of Los Angeles, took a fling at golf on the public links in Franklin park. He was doing splendidly until he reached the seventh hole, when he slipped his drive and had the embarrassment of seeing it dribble at right angles down the slope into an almost impossible lie.

As he gazed after the ball, a vehement string of profanity started the air and turning sharply, Doctor Brounger stood agape as his caddy spluttered cuss words on his six.

"Great heavens, lad!" demanded Doctor Brounger, "what is the reason for all this profanity?" "Well," replied the tough little caddy, "after a shot like that, somebody had to cuss and knowing you're ignorant to do it, I thought I'd better do it myself."—Los Angeles Times.

Blister rust kills white pine of all sizes. The smaller the trees the easier they are killed. Fortunately, this disease can be prevented from doing injury or, if steps are taken in time, a woodlot can be protected from blister rust by uprooting all currants and gooseberries within 900 feet.

The Fatal Dearborn "Hunger March" Riot

When the police began trying to turn back the marchers by throwing tear gas bombs. Authorities charge that the rioting was planned by Communists.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Luncheon, Tea Suggestions

Where a luncheon precedes the card game, certain dishes are appropriate, with light tea between games, sandwiches, salads, and a beverage, cold or hot, as one desires; a late supper includes hot dishes of various kinds with salads and sandwiches. In fact, sandwiches, salads and beverages are the important part of most menus.

The following are a few suggestions:

Chicken Mousse.—Take one cupful of the white meat of cooked chicken, two cupfuls of chicken stock or broth, three egg yolks, one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of pepper, one-half cupful of finely chopped almonds, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin, a dash of cayenne and one cupful of whipped cream. Soak the gelatin in one-half cupful of cold stock and add the beaten egg yolks and seasonings. Cook in a double boiler until as thick as custard, add the gelatin. Mix with the almonds and chicken cut fine. When it begins to set fold in one cupful of whipped cream. Mold and chill and serve with:

Sauce Tartare.—Mix in the order given: One teaspoonful of mustard, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, one teaspoonful of powdered sugar, one saltspoonful of salt, a few drops of onion juice, yolks of two eggs, one-half cupful of olive oil, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, one tablespoonful each of chopped olives, capers and cucumber pickles and minced parsley. Add the oil slowly, then the vinegar and chopped ingredients. This will keep in a cool place for weeks.

Lobster Club Sandwich.—Remove a cold, cooked lobster from the shell and arrange on toast points toasted on one side and buttered. On the lobster place mayonnaise dressing, on top of this a crisp slice of bacon, another slice of lobster and mayonnaise. Garnish with sliced tomato, bacon curls and olives.

The Big Guns

LIGHTS OF NEW YORK by WALTER TRUMBULL

Real estate men, among themselves, divide New York into districts. There is, for example, the Grand Central district, the Plaza district, the Pennsylvania district, and so on. One of these experts said recently that the absorption power of the Grand Central district, up to 1929, had been about a million feet of rentable space a year. Now there is a surplus there of three and one-half million feet. From this he deduced that the district was now about three years behind former normal growth. He thinks the whole of Manhattan is about three years overbuilt.

It appears to be a fact that in New York, and I suppose in all other places, one side of the street, in a certain area, is very much better for business purposes than the other side. They tell me, for instance, that the greatest pedestrian travel is between the Pennsylvania and Grand Central stations. The mass of people on foot cross on the north side of Thirty-fourth street, then turn up the west side of Fifth avenue to Thirty-eighth street, where they cross to the east side of Fifth avenue to walk the four blocks to Forty-second street. This crossing of the avenue is explained by the old Wendell estate, a church, and the Public library being on the east side. The crowds cross so as to be on the side with the shops.

One of the reasons the Empire State building was constructed on its present location was that it is about halfway between the two stations. But in these days that doesn't do it much good. Its saving asset has been the tower. People have been patronizing that lofty view of the city and country at the rate of about $1,000,000 a year. How long this patronage will continue, nobody knows.

Frank Case, owner of the Algonquin.

How It Started By Jean Newton

"By the Skin of Your Teeth" IT IS unnecessary to affirm the popularity of this expression to indicate a narrow escape or achieving something by a very narrow margin. We hear it used every day in common speech.

As a man escapes "by the skin of his teeth" being injured by an automobile, sometimes it is also said that he made a train or came through a test "by the skin of his teeth." Always it means that he "had the break," that he had the benefit of just the right side of the dividing line.

Though it has a slangy tone, the phrase is time-honored and has an auspicious origin. For when Job, in the Old Testament was describing the miseries to which the Lord had subjected him, said: "I am escaped by the skin of my teeth," he coined a catch phrase which has come down to popular usage in present-day speech. One version has the original reference as: "I must sustain myself with the gums of my teeth."

My Neighbor Says:

MEND clothes, especially starched ones, before sending them to the laundry, so that when they are returned, clean and nicely folded, there will be no need to disarrange and crumple them for mending purposes.

Few people know how to hang sheets properly on the line. Shake them well while still wet and hang them with the hems together and the hem-edge pinned to the line. This prevents whipping the corners and lessens the wear and tear, while the sheet will need less pulling into shape for the ironing.

Beef or mutton drippings which are to be used for pastry should be beaten to a cream with a teaspoonful of baking powder and a few drops of lemon juice. If this is done the pastry will be much lighter.

Plan Airplane Route to Europe

Survey Awaits Sanction of Iceland Government.

New York.—Immediate and detailed survey of the air route to Europe by way of Canada, Greenland, Iceland, the Faroe Islands, and England, with a view to establishing a trans-Atlantic mail line, awaits only the sanction of the government of Iceland of a bill just introduced in the parliament of the land.

This bill would give to the Trans-American Airlines corporation, a subsidiary of the Thompson Aeronautical corporation, north flying passengers and mail between Cleveland and Detroit and between Detroit and Chicago as well as to northern Michigan, permission to establish a base in Iceland under a contract running for 75 years and giving the company exclusive privileges for 15 years.

Richard F. Hoyt, chairman of the board of the Curtiss-Wright corporation and a director of Trans-American, said recently that there would be no delay in making a study of the exact route and flying schedule to be followed should this bill become a law.

The detailed work before the proposed trans-Atlantic airline, which would become an international undertaking, might require a permit for two years, he added.

The northern route to Europe has held the interest of airline operators for several years because of the shortness of the over-water legs involved. None exceed 400 miles in length. The United States army round-the-world flyers made use of this route.

Last August Parker D. Cramer, pilot of many fine flights, and his radio operator, Oliver Paquette, were lost on the last short leg of a flight over the northern route, that is, from the Shetland islands to Copenhagen.

Cramer had taken off secretly from

EDITED BY DOROTHY EDMONDS

The Woman of the Shoe and Her New House

(As Told in Pictures.)

The old woman with all her children who wouldn't fit into the old shoe gathered them together and decided they must have a new house. So she went to the king's palace. The gatekeeper unlocked the gates and let the old woman with her children pass through. The doorkeeper haughtily opened the great door. The guard at the throne room drew back the velvet curtains and the king received them upon his golden throne. The old woman and her children went to see the beaver at his request and told him the king wished him to cut down a tree to provide them with lumber. The beaver was glad to help and the carpenter sawed the tree into boards as soon as it was down. The children danced out upon the lawn and no longer did they have to live in a shoe. They lived in a very grand new house with room enough for all.

The Little Brother Francis of Assisi

Far away in the country of Italy, nestled cozily among the sharp peaks of the Umbrian mountains, is the tiny city of Assisi. It was in this city of Assisi, more than seven hundred years ago, that the Little Brother lived.

His father was a very rich merchant. Francis was his only son and he had many dreams of his growing to manhood and becoming as rich a man as he himself and a yet more powerful one. Francis was dressed in the finest of clothes and had everything for which a boy could wish. He was known as a child of joy, singing from morning till night songs that his mother taught him.

Often, had you lived in Assisi then, you might have seen him at the head of a group of other boys, singing and dancing and parading through the tiny, narrow streets. It was not strange then, that when he grew to be about sixteen and soldiers of enemy countries invaded the streets of Assisi, Francis took his place among the defenders and neither was it strange that one day he was taken prisoner and with others cast into a dark dungeon.

For a whole year he was forced to stay in prison but during all that time, though it was a cold, cheerless place, Francis kept his happy nature and used it to cheer the other prisoners.

At last the year drifted by and Francis was once more free, free to dance and sing with his companions. But alas! His year in the jail had made its mark. Something had happened to him. As he stood on a hill-top looking over his Assisi, his heart did not sing as usual. He seemed to see the city in a new light. In those days there were many, many poor people, many people sick and miserable. Francis had always loved everything beautiful, and misery or unhealthiness were to him ugly things from which he would turn away. But now as he stood looking over his city, somehow or other, he could think of little else but the hundreds of miserable people who needed help.

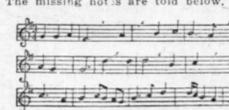

His mother, Madonna Pica, as she was called, found him one day removing from the table all the fruits and good things to eat and packing them together as if he were going on a

"I don't want anyone to know it," asserted Mr. Case. "Nor do I wish them to know that Dorothy Parker or anyone else is in the hotel. If the news got circulated, some of the larger hotel keepers probably would kidnap them."

A Musical Blank Puzzle

Here is a song that you all know. The missing notes are told below.

1. One of the shortest words you know.
2. First letter of something you cool yourself with.
3. What farmers say to oxen when they want them to go.
4. The first letter of what you eat.

9. The sixth letter of the alphabet.

Journey. She watched him and was surprised to see him take them into the street and distribute them here and there to those who were hungry. Madonna Pica was pleased, for she was a very good, kind woman and indeed helped him to pass them around. But his father, Peter Bernadone, was very angry, for he was a selfish man and few in those days thought of beggars as any but people to be left alone.

"I will beat him into forgetting these foolish notions," Peter Bernadone said. And he did! But the more his father struggled against him the more Francis kept by himself and did kindnesses unknown to him. He was afraid of his father and ashamed for being afraid, but he could not seem to help it.

One day he said, "I will not be afraid of my father any longer," and he walked through the streets with his head held high, almost in rags. People in the streets saw him and knowing who he was, that he was a rich man's son, could not understand him and so jeered at him, calling him names, and shouting, "See the little Frenchy! See him—he has gone crazy!" Thus they shouted at him all the way to his home and his father, seeing his son dressed in such a way and hearing the jeers of the crowds, became more angry than ever. He was cruel, beating Francis and locking him in a dungeon. This time, however, Francis was unafraid. He had grown from a boy into a man and he resolved to leave the life his father wished for him entirely, and to devote all his time to making the suffering of the world less.

And so did he become a knight in the service of all mankind, a little brother to all the world.

Carrying on the traditional ceremonies of Japanese "dool day," which have their root in religious beliefs formulated many centuries ago, more than 200 American-born Japanese children of the San Pedro (Calif.) school donned the beautiful and expensive costumes obtained by their parents for the celebration. The school, in the Japanese colony of fishermen, has more than 500 pupils.

ODD "INDUSTRIES" IN BRITISH ISLES

Almost under the shadow of Westminster cathedral is a narrow thoroughfare called Strutton ground, and here you will find an Armenian who claims to be the only outdoor repairer of timepieces in London and perhaps in England. He will mend your watch while you wait, says a writer in Pearson's Weekly.

"Bottler of smoke" is surely one of the oldest of professions, yet in the census returns we find one person who so describes himself. The smoke comes from hickory logs and no doubt is used for the curing of bacon. Less puzzling is the industry of collecting walrus whiskers, which has only one follower in the British isles. These walrus whiskers go to the East, where wealthy Chinese prize them as toothpicks.

There are two lighthouse builders in England, but only one man who sells his skin for a living. This man, formerly a mechanic, saw one day an advertisement asking for a healthy subject who would consent to sell a portion of his skin to be grafted on the face of a rich man's child who had been badly burned. He got two hundred pounds for his trouble and has since been in hospitals in various parts of the world on similar missions.

Dock Floats 13,000 Miles

After a journey of nearly 13,000 miles, or half way around the world, one of the largest floating docks in existence has come to its destination at Wellington, New Zealand. The dock left Newcastle, England, where it was constructed, more than six months ago, and so efficiently was it handled that its trip was rather uneventful. The dock was built according to the specifications prepared by experts of the Wellington harbor board, whose representatives went to Newcastle to supervise the work. It is designed to accommodate ships of 17,000 tons, which engage in the New Zealand trade.

Autos Lost in Fog

Descending suddenly at Harringey dog-racing track near London, recently, a fog caused abandonment of the meet and created chaos among the spectators. Cars leaving the enclosure could move only at walking pace, and in some parts the mist was so thick that drivers had to be guided by people walking in front of the cars with handkerchiefs tied to their backs.

NAME FURNITURE CONTEST WINNERS

News of great interest to Mr. Edward Theusch, R. 2, Box 17, came over the press association wires today. This was the announcement of the winner in the contest conducted by Household Science Institute of Chicago to find the oldest piece of mohair covered furniture in the United States. Mr. Theusch had an entry in the contest.

The winner is J. H. Greene, a farmer of near Alton, Va. His entry, a sofa well over 100 years old was awarded the $250 cash prize by Sanford Mills, Sanford, Maine. The winning piece is considered an excellent example of the American Empire or Federal period in design. It is covered in a mohair velvet of rose brocade pattern, the color being the popular shade of the early mohair velvets now called velmo, and is in a remarkable state of preservation, considering its great age.

Interest in the contest was widespread. More than 3,000 entries were received, practically every state in the Union being represented. Nearly three months were required to pass on all the affidavits and entries. Judges in the contest were Miss Norma Stahle, executive secretary of the Association of Arts and Industries; Ross Crane, inter-nationally-known interior decorator and stylist; and Bernard C. Jakway, outstanding textile authority. According to present plans, the sofa will be displayed at the Century of Progress world's fair in Chicago next year.

C. & N. W. ACCIDENTS FEW

According to Herbert Miller, who has charge of the local C. & N. W. R'y station during the absence of A. P. Schaefer, reports that the Chicago & Northwestern railway made a better safety record in 1931 than in 1930, in which year they were awarded the National Safety award in the accident prevention contest for steam railroads. The 1931 reports showed a 65 per cent reduction in employe fatalities and a 52 per cent reduction in the number of reportable accidents. Great credit is given employes of the company by G. B. Vilas, general manager, who stated that this was the result of constant observance of the rules of safety and the campaign on the value of safety being carried on by each department in railroad operation. Only five employes were killed in 1931, compared with 14 of the previous year; the number of reportable accidents was reduced from 258 to 123. No passengers were killed in train accidents, the same held true for 1930. There was a decrease of 50 per cent in injuries to passengers.

Since the inauguration of the safety campaign in 1923, the casualty rate of the company has been reduced from 30.15 to 1.58 a record which speaks for itself.

His smiling way and pleasant face are a pleasure to recall. He had a kindly word for each one. And died beloved by all.

Sadly missed by his parents, sisters and brothers.

In loving remembrance of Barbara Klein, who died March 17, 1932, aged 90 years. Gone But Not Forgotten. A precious one from us has gone.

A voice we loved is stilled; A place is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled. God in His wisdom has recalled. The boon His love had given. And though the body slumbers here, The soul is safe in Heaven. Sadly missed by the children.
