

ON BEING LATE

By R. H. WILKINSON

BARBARA WILLIAMS is the sort of person who never arrives anywhere on time.

If you have an appointment to meet her on a certain street corner at a certain time, you can depend upon her being at least a half hour late, and safely regulate your own time of arrival accordingly.

No matter what the circumstances or how important the function Barbara concerns herself not with promptness.

Of course she is always full of excuses and apologies, and actually gives the impression of being frightfully sorry that "something intervened so she just couldn't make it."

Moreover, she is a wholly lovable person, possessed of an incredibly sweet disposition, and delightful company.

And when she looks at you with deep concern and pleading written in her rather attractive brown eyes, you are apt to cover your annoyance with a forgiving smile and hope that next time she'll make an effort to be more accommodating.

There have been numberless suggestions offered for cures for people having this being-late fault.

But most always these suggestions are offered by persons who don't have to live with folks like Barbara Williams.

It is quite simple when you are not dependent on a Barbara Williams for one thing and another, to suggest tyrannical methods of effecting a cure.

Dick Williams, who is Barbara's husband, is an easy going sort of person, and for a time after their marriage in 1928 his wife's tardiness didn't bother him a great deal.

But as their wedded life progressed, the thing began to get on his nerves.

After a year of meeting Barbara downtown once each week on Thursday nights in order that they might dine out together, and having to wait 30 minutes beyond the scheduled time, he spoke of the matter, at first casually, then more seriously and finally in an outburst of anger.

And on such occasions Barbara would turn the full power of her large brown eyes on him and nod her head in sad agreement.

"I don't blame you, darling," she'd say. "Not a bit. I should try to be on time, shouldn't I?"

And Dick would rage: "You certainly should! Why, it's positively selfish. Insulting. Folks invite you places and you can't even pay them the courtesy of arriving on time! You ought to be ashamed!"

"I am," Barbara would admit humbly. "I am ashamed, precious."

And "precious" would get up and take her in his arms and kiss her and tell her he was sorry he had talked to her so, but something really ought to be done about it.

Which would bring the matter to a close, and Barbara on the day following would accept an invitation to a bridge party at three in the afternoon and would arrive at 3:30, having forgotten or disregarded her firm resolutions made in Dick's presence on the night before.

The thing at length reached a point where Dick, driven to exasperation, his nerves on edge, his pride injured, determined that some drastic step would have to be taken to effect a cure.

It must end.

He loved Barbara, he knew, more sincerely and deeply than did the average husband in this day and age.

She had no other faults that were worth mentioning.

She qualified in every respect as a wife and companion and helpmate in his chosen profession.

Yet, despite everything—everything, by golly—she had to be cured of this one deficiency, or one, perhaps both of them, would go crazy.

And forthwith Dick set himself down to think and scheme and plan to the best of his ability.

After an hour of deep mental labor, he hit on an idea.

Today was Tuesday. Friday next would mark their second anniversary.

It meant a lot to Barbara. A great lot.

She had been talking about it, planning on it for weeks. She had bought a new frock in which to celebrate.

She had selected the place where they were to dine, chosen the theater which they would attend afterward.

It was, in fact, a big day in her life.

A thrilling, romantic, cherished hour during which she could be alone with her husband and tell him how perfectly adorable he was and how happy she'd been during the past two years. Dick's plan, taking all the above into consideration, was, on the surface, cruel.

And yet he told himself savagely it was no more than she deserved.

It would, he wagered, cure her once and for all of her great fault.

And so, having decided to promote his brilliant idea, Dick advised his wife that on Friday evening he would meet her on the corner of Tremont and Boylston streets at exactly five o'clock.

He would, he said, leave the office early in order to get there.

This would allow them plenty of time for dinner, without having to hurry.

Barbara was thrilled. She thought he might have forgotten.

The fact that he had voluntarily mentioned the great day increased her happiness 100 per cent.

She kissed him tenderly and agreed to the time and place of the meeting.

During the intervening days before Friday Dick felt rather low.

He hated to resort to such tricks; he hated to make Barbara unhappy if it could be prevented.

She was so wholly lovable and trusting. Yet he must go through with it. It was the only way.

She must be cured.

And so when, at last, Friday rolled around, Dick left the office early as previously planned, but instead of driving in town toward the agreed meeting place, he turned his car toward the suburbs and home.

He drove slowly, moodily.

Once or twice he almost changed his mind, but the traffic was heavy and turning about would be difficult.

He parked his car in the garage which he rented, a couple of blocks from the house, and sat in it a few moments, unhappily contemplating the blank wall ahead.

It was now 5:15, and he judged that Barbara would just about be arriving at Tremont and Boylston.

"It's no more than she deserves," he told himself savagely.

"I'll cure her once and for all of this habit of being late. She deserves it!"

Yet as he swung into the walk and unlocked the front door, a feeling of utter misery swept over him.

He felt like a cad, sneaky, utterly unhappy. He wished mightily that he had decided against the idea.

It was an underhanded thing to do, a pretty low way of getting back.

He entered the living room, flung his hat on the divan, and slumped dejectedly into a chair.

Guilt and shame and misery were written on his face. And suddenly he gave way to the urge he had been fighting against.

He leaped to his feet, glanced at his watch, discovered it was exactly 5:35 and decided that if he hurried he could get in town in ten minutes. He could offer some excuse. A flat tire. Engine trouble. Anything to explain—

Abruptly he stopped, stared, swallowed, rubbed his eyes.

The bedroom door had opened. Barbara stood there, resplendent in her new gown, her hat on her head, gloves in her hands, bag tucked under her arm.

A sight of him her eyes widened. She rushed across the room.

"Darling! Oh, precious, how sweet of you to think of coming home to get me! I wondered if you were intending to let me ride in on the dirty street cars. And you got here just in time, too. I was just about to leave! Another moment and I would have been gone!"

Dick stared and blinked and tried to adjust his confused thoughts.

Five thirty-five his watch had said. And she was just about to leave! And on their anniversary, too!

Rage seized him.

He opened his mouth to speak, checked himself, saw her big brown eyes looking at him so tenderly, so lovingly, so adorably.

A feeling of helplessness, utter, stark helplessness took possession of him. He wondered what he'd better do, wondered what he could do, wondered what anyone else in his place would do. And then decided that, under the circumstances, there was only one thing he could do. And he did it. He drew her toward him, folded his arms about her and kissed her.

Astronomers Have No Difficulty in Foretelling the Movements of Venus

If the orbits of Venus, the earth and the sun were all in the same plane, a transit of Venus—her apparent passage across the face of the sun—would occur once in every 224 days; the time in which Venus takes to make the circuit of her orbit. But, says a writer in Cleveland Plain Dealer, owing to the different inclinations of these orbits it only happens at long intervals, that when Venus passes one of her nodes—or points at which her orbit intersects that of the earth—is in a direct line between the earth and the body of the sun.

The earth passes the line of these nodes, respectively, on or about December 7 and June 6, so that transits can only occur near these dates. Usually a pair of transits occur near one of these dates with an interval of eight years between; then 243 years must elapse before a transit can fall upon the same date again. But near the middle of this period—not exactly the middle, because neither Venus nor the earth travels quite uniformly in its orbit—one or two transits will occur at the other date.

There was a transit December 9, 1874, and another December 2, 1882, and another pair of December transits will not occur for 243 years—in 2117 and 2125; but during this period two June transits will occur, in the years 2004 and 2012.

Switzerland Has Much Snow

Switzerland is an inland mountainous country in the central portion of the Alps and has an area of 15,976 square miles. The northwest of the country, bounding France and Germany, consists of some of the parallel ridges and valleys of the Jura mountains. Between Lake Constance on the Rhine and the Lake of Geneva on the Rhone, are the Lakes Neuchatel, Zurich, Lucerne, Brienz and Bienna, which all drain to the Aar. Lake Geneva and Lake Constance each exceed 200 square miles in area. Owing to its elevation, much of Switzerland is under permanent snow.

DRESSY DESIGN IN FROCK FOR HOUSE OR STREET WEAR

Looking lovely around the house is an art worth cultivating. It isn't a luxury to have good-looking morning frocks. It's just a matter of choosing the right designs. The frock in the illustration is so comfortably trim that it is nice to do your housework in, and yet, it has so many delightful fashion details that you can actually use the same pattern to make an afternoon or street dress. For mornings make it of one of the checked, striped or figured new cottons. For afternoons, use sheer cotton or silk. Pattern 9337 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric. Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coin or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE. Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth St., New York.

Fabric Gloves Add Zest to the Mode

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

the ends and edges with white gauntlet gloves of crinkled cotton crepe with deep-pointed cuffs of matching basket weave, such as the figure seated in the picture is wearing.

WHEN it comes to exciting events in the fashion realm the scene centers around fabric gloves, and the matching accessories which go with them. The new gloves reveal style possibilities such as the rank and file of us never dreamed could exist in connection with what once upon a time we were wont to regard as mere-ivory coverings, with perhaps a little variation in design and stitching and color, now and then.

However, here on the stage of fashion this very moment speaking for themselves is an endless array of gloves made of every material known to the ingenuity of man and revealing a wealth of ideas which are simply breathtaking in their originality and modern styling.

The importance of cotton for frocks and gowns for smart ensembles and the girls started the furor by creating a need for gloves to co-ordinate in fabric and feeling with the new costume for daytime wear. This movement toward unique fabric gloves, received additional impetus from the great French couturiers. With utmost enthusiasm Chanel and Talbot, those two foremost originators of sportswear, sponsor fabric gloves with matching accessories for spring and summer. So sound and altogether intriguing is the idea, it is spreading like wildfire throughout fashion's domain.

The interpretations of this new mode for matching accessories are legion. Just a glimpse of the new gloves of blue with gingham printed linen cuffs together with a tailored flower of the printed linen to wear on coat lapel or the shoulder of a sports frock (illustrated to the right) and your peace of mind will be destroyed until you become the happy possessor of just such an equivalent.

Perhaps you will covet even more the white scarf collar of blue basket-weave cotton, crossbarred in open Chamoisette, that practical standby, is glorified anew this season in gloves that feature plain checked gingham outlined with plain gingham, with matching reversible collar-scarf in the monotone and checked fabric. It appears also in gloves with cuffs and matching tailored bow for shoulder or neckline made of zany printed cotton. A most attractive accessory set of crocheted string features gloves and scarf of white, with the flared ends of the scarf and the flare cuffs of the gloves in three graduated shades of blue.

But do not think that your new fabric gloves simply must have matching accessories to be smart. There are so many materials and so many styles in glove fashions in general, it is impossible to do more than enumerate the important trends. Watch for the very sheerest mittens chiftons when the hot weather comes. They are in dark shades as well as white and are the coolest ever as well as wonderfully good looking.

Many of the new gloves in a variety of fabrics reflect the tailored vogue. Note the glove pictured in the inset. Below to the left is a glove of dull luster diagonal oatmeal-type fabric in a slip-on style; above it, a washable chamoisette open cuff gauntlet with smart wood button at the wrist; next (top to the left) a sanshien slip-on with two tiny pearl buttons at the wrist and with scalloped edge; in the center, another chamoisette glove with novelty stitching trim in leaf design around the cutout edge of the open cuff (very smart in navy). Above to the right short slip-on in fine honeycomb knit with rib-knit fringe edging; below, gloves featuring a pleated self-fabric fringe and diagonal stitching; and concluding the group a most outstanding type—crochet string mittens with lace cuffs which look as if hand crocheted.

WHEN THOUGHTS TURN TO TONICS

Fruits and Vegetables Are Better Than Drugs.

By EDITH M. BARBER

ARE you taking your spring tonic regularly? Perhaps I ought to say tonics, because the modern spring tonic does not come out of one bottle, and we eat as well as drink it. The reason why people found it necessary to resort to spring-tonics was because in a time when fresh fruits and vegetables were seldom obtainable during the winter months, they naturally suffered with that feeling of enervation, which is known as spring fever.

Rhubarb and soda and dandelion greens were other popular and more pleasant spring dressings. We prefer to take our rhubarb fresh, and we welcome its appearance on the market in such liberal quantities. Dandelion greens, served as a salad, or cooked, make a pleasant change from the usual lettuce or spinach. Here are some dishes which are real spring tonics.

Dandelion Greens.
Wash thoroughly, remove roots, drain and cook with a little water until tender, about fifteen to twenty minutes. Season with butter, pepper and salt. Serve with vinegar.

Rhubarb Roll.
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
5 tablespoons shortening
1/2 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups brown sugar
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup chopped nuts
3/4 cup seeded raisins
1 pound rhubarb, peeled and cut into thin slices

Sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder into a bowl. Rub in the shortening and add enough water to form a paste. Roll one-half inch thick and spread with a mixture of the brown sugar, flour, nutmeg, nuts, raisins and rhubarb. Roll like jelly roll, fastening ends securely. Place on a greased baking sheet and brush top with water. Bake about forty-five minutes in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit). Serve hot.

Rhubarb and Orange Salad.
2 cups steamed rhubarb (cooked with a little sugar)
2 oranges
French dressing
Fresh mint
Lettuce or romaine
Chill the rhubarb and pare and slice the oranges. Arrange the fruit in alternate layers on the lettuce and cover with french dressing. Sprinkle with finely minced mint leaves and garnish with mint sprigs.

Tomato Juice Cocktail.
1 pint tomato juice
2 teaspoons tarragon
2 teaspoons basil
1/2 teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Few drops onion juice
Heat the tomato juice with the herbs; add salt, cayenne and sugar, and allow the mixture to stand for an hour or more; add lemon juice and onion juice; strain and serve.

Caramel Pudding.
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups milk
1/2 cup flour
2 eggs
Scald one and one-half cups milk in double boiler with sugar. Mix flour and beaten egg yolks and the remaining half cup of milk and add to the hot milk, stirring constantly until it thickens. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Tomato Surprise Salad.
6 tomatoes
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 cup diced, cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/4 cup mayonnaise dressing
Lettuce
Select medium-sized smooth tomatoes and scoop out the inside. Chill ingredients, mix the chicken, cucumber, tomato pulp, and nuts with mayonnaise dressing. Add more salt if needed. Fill the tomatoes. Arrange on lettuce leaves. Garnish with mayonnaise and decorate each tomato with halves of shelled nuts.

It will be exhibited in the ceramics division of the arts and industries building.

HOW IT STARTED

By JEAN NEWTON

That Word "Bimbo"

WHO would have thought that we should find a history for the term "bimbo?" Probably the reader who asked for it regarded himself as an optimist.

"Bimbo" has always been slang, but we have a record of it as early as 1837 when the Boston Transcript described it as "a rasically compound of brandy and sugar flavored with lemon peel," and the Baltimore Commercial Transcript called it "an invention of the devil."

"Bimbo" is Italian for "baby" and the connection between this and strong drink is not very plain unless we assume that one who loved his drink might call it his baby! The theory has been advanced that the connection is really with Barbados rum, "bim" being a nickname for a Barbadian.

Today, as closely as this column can determine, "bimbo" is college slang specifically for a "girl with a telephone number!"

Turkey Counts Children of Polygamous Unions

Istanbul.—Polygamy has been forbidden by law in Turkey since 1926. But numbers of clandestine polygamous unions have taken place since then.

Parents of the unregistered offspring of these illegal unions now are being asked to declare their "hidden children" so that they may be made rightful citizens of the republic.

Tens of thousands of these "illegitimate" children are being registered in every province, the parents being pardoned under the amnesty law of last year.

It is expected the census of the country will rise from 14,000,000 to 18,000,000 as a result of the addition of these and other unregistered persons.

It is noteworthy, however, that only the children of the illegal unions are being recognized. The post-1926 polygamous parents are not allowed to have their unions registered as marriages.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

What funies, hand organs? The question came up in Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky's court in Yorkville recently. Dominick Cassello was the cause. Cassello has spent 30 of his 52 years grinding out music on the sidewalks of New York. But he turned the crank too close to a hospital and the police got him. It seems, however, that the charge was merely technical. It wasn't the hand organ but the choice of music that aroused the ire of patients to such an extent that they complained and Cassello was pinched. He preferred the old tunes, the ones he had listened to when first he exposed his teeth in a flashing smile in exchange for coins. The judge held with the prosecution. "After the Ball," "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" and other similarly dated airs were not for moderns. "Get hot," he said in effect to Cassello and Cassello promised somewhat sadly, however, since a change meant altering the entire "inwards" of the organ.

While hesitating to criticize an opinion of a magistrate, especially one delivered from the bench, there are those who hold that Magistrate Brodsky may have erred just a trifle. "Smoke Gets Into Your Eyes" or "I Saw a Dream Walking" or any of the airs of today that are played to death over the radio, they believe, have no place in a hand organ. The hand organ as a musical instrument belongs to another generation. Hence, "Little Annie Rooney," "Bicycle Built for Two," "Ta-ra-ra Boom de Ay" and possibly "Sweet Marie," are the proper repertoire since they bring back memories of the little old New York of hansom cabs, gas lights and bicycle cops. In fact, while discussing the verdict of the magistrate, a number of addicts of old-time music for old-time hand organs became quite sentimental.

The matter is of some importance. Not the pussy willow, the sweet smelling green bud of the lilacs or even the red-breasted robin is the real official spring harbinger here. The hurdy gurdy or hand organ is. Personally, I don't care what is being played so long as I see tenement kids dancing on the sidewalks.

Speaking of tenements, and it was done deliberately in the preceding paragraph, the old rookeries of the lower East Side have been much in the public eye lately because of the determined campaign of Langdon W. Post, tenement house commissioner, to do away with the traps. Conditions that have shocked the public have been known to social workers and many others for years. In fact, it was a long time ago that the late Jacob Riis brought them to the consciousness of the public with his, "How the Other Half Live." There are about 3,000,000 tenement dwellers in New York and about 187,000 families live in "old law" tenements which have no fire escapes other than porches. Hence New York's smoke eaters can tell a lot about tenement conditions. If it wasn't for their bravery and efficiency the death toll, heavy now, would be much heavier.

There are sections where there are tenements in the rear of other tenements, the houses in the back being reached by long, often dark, hallways through the houses in front. Once upon a time, the houses in the rear were built far back so that the owners might have green gardens between them and the street. When the great immigration wave came, the tenements were built and the poor swept over once aristocratic sections.

Some of the lower East side sections are still 100 per cent foreign born. The percentage of illiteracy is higher there than anywhere else in the city. Foreign language letter writers make regular visits to the tenements to read letters received and write others.

GREEK AND ROMAN TREND IN SANDALS

The shoe designers, who are taking themselves as seriously these days as the old masters immortalized in the Metropolitan museum, have delved into the ancient history of many nations to produce the array of sandals and slippers, bejeweled dance slippers and tailored pumps that confront the modern woman whose grandmother used to be contented with one good serviceable pair of shoes a year.

The up-and-coming deb this season will wear sandals modeled after those worn by Helen of Troy, or beach slippers such as once adorned the pink-clad toes of Cleopatra.

Authentically Greek and Roman in their inspiration are the new sandals worn not only for beach wear, but to complement any kind of summer sports costume. They're simple affairs made only of a couple of straps and a sole, holding the toes altogether unencumbered.

The footwear of a monk in Capri provided the inspiration for the monk sandal which promises to be the rage of the summer resorts.

EVERYBODY KNOWS

"Say, what do you mean by telling Smith that I was a blockhead?"
"Why, it isn't a secret, is it?"

Interesting Tips on Prevailing Fashions

Black and white ensembles are smart for late afternoon wear. Fur sequins are a novelty which we see the stylists talking. Fur capes are definitely more "cape" and less "capelet" in their new variations. Crisp taffeta touches give an ensemble a certain zest that lifts it from the mediocre class into the glamorous category.

London woman golfers are wearing waterproof trousers. Flowers are prominently featured as trimmings for evening gowns. Taffeta blouses designed to lend a perky, zany and young air to spring suits are important. Cashmires and crepes are among the fine, smooth weaves favored for coats of a "dressy" type. Twills are also considered highly important.

Panama Route May Use Old Gold Road

Washington.—The old Spanish "Gold Road" across the Isthmus of Panama, with its vivid memories of Pizarro and his conquistadors and English buccannons, may have a twentieth century counterpart at no far distant date.

The reconnaissance survey report on the inter-American highway, which is being studied by the house committee on roads, contains a suggestion that a road be built from Panama City to the Madden Dam-France Field section with Canal Zone highways. Bus and automotive traffic over a trans-isthmian highway from Colon to Panama would be relatively large.

The Panama City to Colon route is but one of several roads to connect with the Inter-American highway which was suggested to the Republic of Panama in the survey report. Other suggestions were:

"The transformation to a highway of the present pack-horse trail from David, province of Chiriqui, to Bocas del Toro would do much to advance the economic well-being of the western end of Panama.

"A highway from Colon to Puerto Bello, which is situated on a small deep-sea harbor and which in Spanish days was an important distributing point."

The report said that potential traffic on the Panama link of the projected inter-American highway cannot be estimated, "but indications exist of a considerable increase as the roads in the western section of the republic continue to be extended and improved."

The distance from Panama City to the Costa Rican border was given as 367.1 miles, or 590.8 kilometers. Completion of an all-weather road would involve a minimum cost of $2,141,200. Provision of a complete road, with 28 feet graded section and an oiled surface of 18 feet, would cost $6,420,043. The best type road, with a 30-foot graded section and 8-inch thick concrete pavement 20 feet wide, was estimated to cost $19,407,832.

The First Step to BIGGER Poultry Profits

Poultry profits depend largely upon early maturity of chicks, higher quality eggs, increased egg production and lower rates of mortality. It has been proven in hundreds of tests that the use of INTERNATIONAL Poultry Woot with Iodine in balanced poultry rations does all this.

You will find INTERNATIONAL Mashies with Poultry Woot and Iodine productive as well as preventive. INTERNATIONAL Poultry Woot puts the body-building, growth-producing elements to work by increasing assimilation so that you get greater value from your feeding dollar. They also assure healthier birds.

INTERNATIONAL Mashies with Poultry Woot contains Iodine to the full extent recommended by the Iodine Educational Bureau. You will find the Iodine Seal on every sack. Jake Becker was laid up with the measles the forepart of the week. The local baseball team will cross bats with Parnell at the latter place tomorrow (Sunday).

Schafer & Schultze had the new foundation built this week for the new addition to the Republican House.

Prof. Watson Pyre of Milwaukee was here Saturday to give the members of the class play "Snowball" their first drill.

About fifty young people from here attended the dance given by the Hose Company at West Bend Sunday evening.

Now would be the time for all business men to get together and see that a street sprinkler is bought, as the dust will soon be a nuisance.

Street Commissioner Fred Andrae laid a new sidewalk on the south side of Wilhelm street from Eberle's corner to Railroad street this week.

The moving picture show given by the Pacific Boro Co. in the North Side Park Hall Tuesday evening, was largely attended, 350 tickets being collected at the door.

Kewaskum is soon to have another automobile, Otto E. Lay having purchased a seven passenger Kissel touring car of the Kissels of Hartford, and which he expects to receive any day.

A crew of men of the C. & N. W. R'y were in the village Saturday stringing two telephone wires along their line which will be put into service in dispatching train orders instead of by telegraph.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

A few months ago most experts were inclined to be dubious as to the success of the cause of disarmament this year.

Now it looks as if the arms conference is to be even more of a dismal failure than the most pessimistic feared.

There are two very large files in the disarmament ointment. One is Germany, which is increasing its military budget, is arming rapidly, and is cleverly abrogating the arms provisions of the Versailles treaty. So long as Germany follows this course, France refuses to disarm—will, in fact, build up its defense forces accordingly. Both Germany and France blame each other for wrecking the conference.

The other file is Japan, which has all the major powers worried. Events of last year—culminating in the withdrawal of Nippon from the League of Nations—have proven that Japan doesn't just talk, she acts. And she isn't in any mood to arbitrate.

The upshot of all this is that a world which hasn't been able to recover from the deleterious effects of the last war is again nearer war than at any time since the spring of 1914. Unless there is a definite change of policy, every great power will follow a course of intense nationalism, as Germany, under Nazi rule, is doing now. Foreign trade will languish, sky-high tariff walls, even complete embargoes, will be created. An armament race will begin—and if that happens, taxpayers of all countries will find out what heavy taxation really is. Nothing in the world is so expensive. The last war, for example, cost the world close to $400,000,000,000, according to the Carnegie foundation, and future generations will pay for it.

Oddly enough, the best hope for peace and disarmament is the depression! Most countries are pretty close to being broke. Their citizens are complaining loudly about taxation. There's not an economist of standing who doesn't believe that another war would lead to national bankruptcies, revolutions—that it would set civilization back a hundred years. And a good many lookers-on are of the opinion that memories of the last war are still strong in the minds of the common people, who bore the brunt of the struggle, even if they have been forgotten by premiers and chancelleries and high commands.

Most interesting international events are now centering in the far east. Japan's statement of policy—which was politely phrased, but "said in effect, 'We'll run China and everything else around here; you white boys better keep your hands off or else!'"—started the world. And England's announcement that it would be necessary to protect her textile industry from Japanese competition has caused both powers to prepare for an intensive trade war which will be fought with tariffs now—and perhaps eventually with navies.

It's a serious situation—the fuse is laid and only a match is needed to start it going. One encouraging phase of it is the general belief that the U. S. will let other countries do their own fighting, will keep absolutely neutral.

These international events have rather obscured the doings of Congress, so far as headlines are concerned. But it's been a busy body. Most important act, in the light of its effect on industry, was the passing of the stock exchange bill by the House by an astonishingly heavy majority. It now goes to the Senate where there will be more opposition, though it is believed that enough votes will be forthcoming to put it through. In an attempt to placate industry, which doesn't like the bill at all, the securities act will be made less severe.

Both Senate and House have okayed the new revenue bill, designed to bring many millions more into the treasury. Its main feature is higher taxes for big incomes, lower taxes for small incomes. Gifts, corporations, and individual holding companies will be soaked harder. The bill contains numerous stiff guards against evasion. The ten per cent additional tax clause for 1935 was stricken out.

There hasn't been any silver law passed yet—but while metal advocates are jubilant, they recently conferred with the President—then predicted that a bill would be enacted to back thirty per cent of the nation's money with silver.

The Senate passed the new air-mail bill, and the House will undoubtedly follow, as the bill has Administration backing. Under it the I. C. C. will fix and determine public convenience and necessity for all air mail routes and establish rates.

Finally—this isn't a Congressional note but it's important—watch labor happenings. Recently A. F. of L. President Green called on Mr. Roosevelt, demanding a thirty-hour work week. What the President said hasn't come out—but it is reported that Mr. Green was plenty mad when he left the Executive office, said there would be a thirty-hour week or he'd find out why.

Twenty-one Guernsey breeders in Waukesha county recently organized an association for advanced registered testing. This is the first breed association organized on that basis in Wisconsin.

Ordinance No. 20

AN ORDINANCE to license and regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors within the village of Kewaskum, Washington county, Wisconsin.

The Village Board of the village of Kewaskum, Wisconsin, do ordain as follows:

Section 1.—The provisions of Chapter 176 Wisconsin Statutes, being Chapter 13, Laws of Special Session of 1933, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors are adopted as a portion of this ordinance so far as applicable, except as otherwise lawfully provided by village ordinance.

Section 2.—No person, firm or corporation shall vend, sell, deal or traffic, or for the purpose of evading any law or ordinance, give away any intoxicating liquors in any quantity whatever, or cause the same to be done, without having procured a license as provided in this ordinance nor without complying with all the provisions of this ordinance, and all statutes, ordinances and regulations applicable thereto.

Section 3.—LICENSE FEES. There shall be two classes of licenses: (a) Retail Class "A" Liquor License. A retail class "A" liquor license when issued by the village clerk under the authority of the village board, shall permit its holder to sell, deal and traffic in intoxicating liquors only in original packages or containers, in quantities of not more than one wine gallon at any one time, and to be consumed off the premises so licensed. The fee for such retail class "A" liquor license shall be $50.00 per year.

(b) Retail Class "B" Liquor License. A retail class "B" liquor license when issued by the village clerk under the authority of the village board, shall permit its holder to sell, deal and traffic in intoxicating liquors to be consumed on the premises so licensed by the glasses only, and not in the original package or container. The fee for such class "B" liquor license shall be $50.00 per year.

Section 4.—LICENSE APPLICATION. Application for a license to sell or deal in intoxicating liquors shall be made in writing on the form prescribed by law, and shall be sworn to by the applicant as provided by Sec. 326.01 to 326.04 of the Wis. Statutes, and shall be filed with the village clerk not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the granting of such license. Said application shall be accompanied by the bond required by Section 176.19 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and the amount of such cash bond or security provided therein shall be two hundred dollars ($200.00), or in lieu of either of such bonds any security named in subsection seven (7) of section 66.04, all to be approved by the authorities granting the license.

Said application shall be accompanied by the cost of publication as stipulated by Section 176.09 of the statutes.

Section 5.—PHARMACISTS' PERMITS. Permits for the sale of intoxicating liquors pursuant to Section 176.18 of the Statutes may be granted to a registered pharmacist upon action by the village board. A separate application for each premises shall be made to the village clerk upon forms provided by him. Upon the approval of the application by the village board the village clerk shall upon filing by the applicant of a receipt showing the payment to the village treasurer of a permit fee of ten dollars ($10.00); issue to the applicant a permit which shall remain in force until the first day of July next after the granting thereof. Each permit shall be numbered in the order in which issued and shall specifically state the premises for which issued, (the fee paid), and the name of the licensee.

Section 6.—OPERATOR'S LICENSE. An operator's license for retail class "A" permit pursuant to subsection (10) of section 66.05 of the statutes as required by subsection (11) of section 176.05 of the statutes may be issued by the village board to persons of good moral character, who have been citizens of the United States, and residents of Wisconsin continuously for not less than one year prior to the filing of said application. A written application shall be filed with the village clerk stating the name, residence, age and sex of the applicant, together with such pertinent information as to fitness as the clerk shall require. Upon the approval of an application by the village board, the village clerk shall, upon filing by the applicant of a receipt showing the payment to the village treasurer of a license fee of one dollar ($1.00), issue to the applicant a license to expire on June 30th next ensuing.

Section 7.—A violation of this ordinance by a duly authorized agent or employee of a licensee or permit holder shall constitute a violation by the licensee or permit holder. Whenever the holder of any license or permit under this ordinance or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto, proceedings for the revocation of said license or permit may be instituted in the manner and under the procedure established by Sections 176.11 and 176.12 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and the provisions therein relating to granting a new license shall likewise be applicable.

Section 8.—PENALTY. Any person who himself or itself or by his or its agent or employee shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished as follows:

(a) If for a violation of any provision enacted by reference, by a penalty the same as provided by statute.

(b) If for selling intoxicating liquors without license or permit, by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) besides the costs; or, in lieu of such fine, by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty (30) days, nor more than six (6)

DESIGNED FOR STREET WEAR
Pattern 8202—The gracious and flowing lines of the frock pictured here suggest the wind-swept motive so important this season. It is a frock designed for the larger woman, stenderizing, dignified but not old, not too mature, in short, a most attractive style for a woman of any age who is not small or very slim. The wind-swept motive is very becoming to the larger woman.

The printed silks led in the street scene for summer, next in importance are the dark sheers. This dress would be the most effective in a printed silk, but it could be made equally well in voile, or a dark sheer.

months; and in case of punishment by fine, unless the fine and costs be paid forthwith, be committed to the county jail until paid or until discharged by due course of law; and in case of a second or subsequent conviction by the same person during any year, the punishment shall be both by fine and imprisonment.

(c) If for a violation of any other provision of this ordinance by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars ($200.00), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and any license issued shall be subject to revocation by the court which tried the violation or as provided by Section 7.

Section 9.—SEVERABILITY CLAUSE. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The village board hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses and phrases be declared unconstitutional.

Section 10.—Any ordinance or parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 11.—This ordinance shall take effect upon passage and publication.

McCormick-Deering FARMALL
Now Built in TWO SIZES:
2-PLOW and 3-PLOW

The New Farmall 30
—3-pow, all-purpose tractor.

Ask Us to Show You the New 3-PLOW Model of the Original FARMALL

International Harvester announces a new addition to the Farmall System of Farming—the Farmall 30, which is a new 3-pow model of the original McCormick-Deering Farmall. Its design follows closely the original successful Farmall, which, since its introduction in 1923, has revolutionized power farming. It offers the same wide range of versatility. It has the power to tackle the big jobs and do them easily and quickly. It removes the last obstacle to Farmall ownership on every well-managed farm.

Every power farming requirement is successfully met with one or the other of these two Farmall models. Make your choice according to your needs; the original Farmall pulls a 2-bottom plow and the new Farmall 30 pulls a 3-bottom plow with equal ease. See these two Farmall models at your first opportunity . . . on display now at our store.

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer
FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.
Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

The First Step to BIGGER Poultry Profits

Poultry profits depend largely upon early maturity of chicks, higher quality eggs, increased egg production and lower rates of mortality. It has been proven in hundreds of tests that the use of INTERNATIONAL Poultry Wool with Iodine in balanced poultry rations does all this.

You will find INTERNATIONAL Mashies with Poultry Wool and Iodine productive as well as preventive. INTERNATIONAL Poultry Wool puts the body-building, growth-producing elements to work by increasing assimilation so that you get greater value from your feeding dollar. They also assure healthier birds.

INTERNATIONAL Mashies with Poultry Wool contains Iodine to the full extent recommended by the Iodine Educational Bureau. You will find the Iodine Seal on every sack. Learn more about INTERNATIONAL Poultry Mashies. Write INTERNATIONAL Sugar Feed Co., Minneapolis, Minn., for free copy of 64 page booklet, "Poultry Health".

We recommend and sell INTERNATIONAL Poultry Mashies with Wool.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual. National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

A few months ago most experts were inclined to be dubious as to the success of the cause of disarmament this year.

Now it looks as if the arms conference is to be even more of a dismal failure than the most pessimistic feared.

There are two very large flies in the disarmament ointment. One is Germany, which is increasing its military budget, is arming rapidly, and is cleverly abrogating the arms provisions of the Versailles treaty. So long as Germany follows this course, France refuses to disarm—will, in fact, build up its defense forces accordingly. Both Germany and France blame each other for wrecking the conference.

The other fly is Japan, which has all the major powers worried. Events of last year—culminating in the withdrawal of Nippon from the League of Nations—have proven that Japan doesn't just talk, she acts. And she isn't in any mood to arbitrate.

The upshot of all this is that a world which hasn't been able to recover from the deleterious effects of the last war is again nearer war than at any time since the spring of 1914. Unless there is a definite change of policy, every great power will follow a course of intense nationalism, as Germany, under Nazi rule, is doing now. Foreign trade will languish, sky-high tariff walls, even complete embargoes, will be created. An armament race will begin—and if that happens, taxpayers of all countries will find out what heavy taxation really is. Nothing in the world is so expensive. The last war, for example, cost the world close to $400,000,000,000, according to the Carnegie foundation, and future generations will pay for it.

Oddly enough, the best hope for peace and disarmament is the depression! Most countries are pretty close to being broke. Their citizens are complaining loudly about taxation. There's not an economist of standing who doesn't believe that another war would lead to national bankruptcies, revolutions—that it would set civilization back a hundred years. And a good many lookers-on are of the opinion that memories of the last war are still strong in the minds of the common people, who bore the brunt of the struggle, even if they have been forgotten by premiers and chancelleries and high commands.

Most interesting international events are now centering in the far east. Japan's statement of policy—which was politely phrased, but laid in effect, "We'll run China and everything else around here; you white boys better keep your hands off or else!"—startled the world. And England's announcement that it would be necessary to protect her textile industry from Japanese competition has caused both powers to prepare for an intensive trade war which will be fought with tariffs now—and perhaps eventually with navies.

It's a serious situation—the fuse is laid and only a match is needed to start it going. One encouraging phase of it is the general belief that the U. S. will let other countries do their own fighting, will keep absolutely neutral.

These international events have rather obscured the doings of Congress, so far as headlines are concerned. But it's been a busy body. Most important act, in the light of its effect on industry, was the passing of the stock exchange bill by the House by an astonishingly heavy majority. It now goes to the Senate where there will be more opposition, though it is believed that enough votes will be forthcoming to put it through. In an attempt to placate industry, which doesn't like the bill at all, the securities act will be made less severe.

Both Senate and House have okayed the new revenue bill, designed to bring many millions more into the treasury. Its main feature is higher taxes for big incomes, lower taxes for small incomes. Gifts, corporations, and individual holding companies will be soaked harder. The bill contains numerous stiff guards against evasion. The ten per cent additional tax clause for 1935 was stricken out.

There hasn't been any silver law passed yet—but while metal advocates are jubilant. They recently conferred with the President—then predicted that a bill would be enacted to back thirty per cent of the nation's money with silver.

The Senate passed the new air-mail bill, and the House will undoubtedly follow, as the bill has Administration backing. Under it the I. C. C. will fix and determine public convenience and necessity for all air mail routes and establish rates.

Finally—this isn't a Congressional note but it's important—watch labor happenings. Recently A. F. of L. President Green called on Mr. Roosevelt, demanding a thirty-hour work week. What the President said hasn't come out—but it is reported that Mr. Green was plenty mad when he left the Executive offices, said there would be a thirty-hour week or he'd find out why.

Twenty-one Guernsey breeders in Waukesha county recently organized an association for advanced registered testing. This is the first breed association organized on that basis in Wisconsin.

Ordinance No. 20

AN ORDINANCE to license and regulate the sale of intoxicating liquors within the village of Kewaskum, Wisconsin, Wisconsin, do ordain as follows:

Section 1.—The provisions of Chapter 176 Wisconsin Statutes, being Chapter 13, Laws of Special Session of 1933, and all acts amendatory thereof and supplementary thereto relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors are adopted as a portion of this ordinance so far as applicable, except as otherwise lawfully provided by village ordinance.

Section 2.—No person, firm or corporation shall vend, sell, deal or traffic, or for the purpose of evading any law or ordinance, give away any intoxicating liquors in any quantity whatever, or cause the same to be done, without having procured a license as provided in this ordinance nor without complying with all the provisions of this ordinance, and all statutes, ordinances and regulations applicable thereto.

Section 3.—LICENSE FEES. There shall be two classes of licenses: (a) Retail Class "A" Liquor License. A retail class "A" liquor license when issued by the village clerk under the authority of the village board, shall permit its holder to sell, deal and traffic in intoxicating liquors only in original packages or containers, in quantities of not more than one wine gallon at any one time, and to be consumed off the premises so licensed. The fee for such retail class "A" liquor license shall be $50.00 per year.

(b) Retail Class "B" Liquor License. A retail class "B" liquor license when issued by the village clerk under the authority of the village board, shall permit its holder to sell, deal and traffic in intoxicating liquors to be consumed on the premises so licensed by the glass only, and not in the original package or container. The fee for such class "B" liquor license shall be $50.00 per year.

Section 4.—LICENSE APPLICATION. Application for a license to sell or deal in intoxicating liquors shall be made in writing on the form prescribed by law, and shall be sworn to by the applicant as provided by Sec. 326.01 to 326.04 of the Wis. Statutes, and shall be filed with the village clerk not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the granting of such license. Said application shall be accompanied by the bond required by Section 176.10 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and the amount of such cash bond or security provided therein shall be two hundred dollars ($200.00), or in lieu of either of such bonds any security named in subsection seven (7) of section 66.04, all to be approved by the authorities granting the license.

Said application shall be accompanied by the cost of publication as stipulated by Section 176.09 of the statutes.

Section 5.—PHARMACISTS' PERMITS. Permits for the sale of intoxicating liquors pursuant to Section 176.13 of the Statutes may be granted to a registered pharmacist upon action by the village board. A separate application for each premises shall be made to the village clerk upon forms provided by him. Upon the approval of the application by the village board the village clerk shall upon filing by the applicant of a receipt showing the payment to the village treasurer of a permit fee of ten dollars ($10.00); issue to the applicant a permit which shall remain in force until the first day of July next after the granting thereof. Each permit shall be numbered in the order in which issued and shall specifically state the premises for which issued, (the fee paid), and the name of the licensee.

Section 6.—OPERATOR'S LICENSE. An operator's license for retail class "A" permit pursuant to subsection (10) of section 66.05 of the statutes as required by subsection (11) of section 176.05 of the statutes may be issued by the village board to persons of good moral character, who have been citizens of the United States, and residents of Wisconsin continuously for not less than one year prior to the filing of said application. A written application shall be filed with the village clerk stating the name, residence, age and sex of the applicant, together with such pertinent information as to fitness as the clerk shall require. Upon the approval of an application by the village board, the village clerk shall, upon filing by the applicant of a receipt showing the payment to the village treasurer of a license fee of one dollar ($1.00), issue to the applicant a license to expire on June 30th next ensuing.

Section 7.—A violation of this ordinance by a duly authorized agent or employee of a licensee or permit holder, or shall constitute a violation by the licensee or permit holder. Whenever the holder of any license or permit under this ordinance or any regulation adopted pursuant thereto, proceedings for the revocation of said license or permit may be instituted in the manner and under the procedure established by Sections 176.11 and 176.12 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and the provisions therein relating to granting a new license shall likewise be applicable.

Section 8.—PENALTY. Any person who himself or itself or by his or its agent or employee shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall upon conviction thereof be punished as follows:

(a) If for a violation of any provision enacted by reference, by a penalty the same as provided by statute.

(b) If for selling intoxicating liquors without license or permit, by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) besides the costs; or, in lieu of such fine, by imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty (30) days, nor more than six (6)

Designed in Silks: 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 44 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material with 1/2 yard contrasting.

DESIGNED FOR STREET WEAR

Pattern 8202—The gracious and flowing lines of the frock pictured here suggest the wind-swept motive so important this season. It is a frock designed for the larger woman, slenderizing, dignified but not old, not too mature, in short, a most attractive style for a woman of any age who is not small or very slim. The wind-swept motive is very becoming to the larger woman.

The printed silks led in the street scene for summer, next in importance are the dark sheers. This dress would be the most effective in a printed silk, but it could be made equally well in voile, or a dark sheer.

months; and in case of punishment by fine, unless the fine and costs be paid forthwith, be committed to the county jail until paid or until discharged by due course of law; and in case of a second or subsequent conviction by the same person during any year, the punishment shall be both by fine and imprisonment.

(c) If for a violation of any other provision of this ordinance by a fine of not more than two hundred dollars ($200.00), or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and any license issued shall be subject to revocation by the court which tried the violation or as provided by Section 7.

Section 9.—SEVERABILITY CLAUSE. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The village board hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, clause and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses and phrases be declared unconstitutional.

Section 10.—Any ordinance or parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 11.—This ordinance shall take effect upon passage and publication.

Passed May 7, 1934.

Approved May 7, 1934.

McCormick-Deering FARMALL
Now Built in TWO SIZES:
2-PLOW and 3-PLOW

The New Farmall 30
—3-plov, all-purpose tractor.

Ask Us to Show You the New 3-PLOW
Model of the Original FARMALL

International Harvester announces a new addition to the Farmall System of Farming—the Farmall 30, which is a new 3-plov model of the original McCormick-Deering Farmall. Its design follows closely the original successful Farmall, which, since its introduction in 1923, has revolutionized power farming. It offers the same wide range of versatility. It has the power to tackle the big jobs and do them easily and quickly. It removes the last obstacle to Farmall ownership on every well-managed farm.

Every power farming requirement is successfully met with one or the other of these two Farmall models. Make your choice according to your needs; the original Farmall pulls a 2-bottom plow and the new Farmall 30 pulls a 3-bottom plow with equal ease. See these two Farmall models at your first opportunity . . . on display now at our store.

Highest Paid Short Fiction Writer

FANNIE HURST is the highest paid short story writer in the world today. There's a good reason for that. She knows human nature and under the magic of her touch, the people about whom she writes become real people, not mere literary creations. The plots of her stories are based on incidents from real life as it is lived every day by the common people.
Such are the stories which are appearing in this newspaper. Be sure to read them and talk to your friends about them, for they like interesting stories, too. And Fannie Hurst's stories are interesting stories.

Badger State Happenings

Sheboygan—The Sheboygan Chair company plant, where a strike had been in progress since March 19, resumed normal operations after settlement of labor difficulties.

Milwaukee—Ninety-nine bridges of all types have been constructed in Wisconsin by the Civilian Conservation Corps since April, 1933, E. W. Tinker, regional forester, announced.

Monroe—Rejecting a motion to cut their own salaries, members of the Green county board in semi-annual meeting voted to reduce salaries of all other county elective officials 10 per cent.

Green Bay—Jean McGeehan, 12, De Pere, was announced as the winner of a state wide Nicolet essay contest sponsored by the Wisconsin Council of Catholic Women. She is a seventh grade pupil.

Waukesha—Two young women suffered painful burns here when gasoline exploded as they were cleaning clothing in the basement of their home. The blast blew out windows and the front door of the house.

Madison—A one-ton American cheese, probably the largest ever made, will be on display at the Wisconsin State Fair, August 25 to 31, according to plans announced by the state department of agriculture and markets.

Oshkosh—Edsl M. Brainard, 94, said to be the oldest member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in the state, died here after a long illness. He was very active in fraternal circles and had held a number of public positions.

Fond du Lac—Experiments with calcium chloride compounds in an attempt to alleviate dusty highways will be started at once by local county highway officials, it has been announced. The project marks the first time in the history of the county that steps have been taken to check dust-laden thoroughfares.

Waukesha—Seven Waukesha county taverns were padlocked for one year and the properties ordered sold to pay court costs, in an order entered by Judge C. M. Davison in circuit court. Five of the places were raided in a sensational vice cleanup on the night of Mar. 1 when operators and 18 inmates were jailed.

Fort Atkinson—Petition asking that the sealing of carp be continued in the lakes of southern Wisconsin was presented to the state conservation commission by residents of Fort Atkinson and Lake Mills. Carp are so numerous in the lakes of this area that the situation is becoming serious for fishermen, the petition states.

Madison—Drastic orders prohibiting smoking in the forest areas, except at designated safe places, and the burning of brush or building of camp fires were issued by Ralph M. Emmel, acting conservation director, as a result of the hazardous forest fire menace in Wisconsin. Emmel also instructed fire prevention patrols to follow every train through the forest protection districts to make certain no fires are started by flying sparks.

Milwaukee—The first case involving alleged violation of NRA codes to be brought into federal court here was dismissed by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger. The defendant, Robert E. Lee, a filling station operator, had been charged with giving free parking in connection with the sale of petroleum products from November 1, 1933, to January 24, 1934. Judge Geiger held that the government had failed to fix responsibility for the alleged violation.

Madison—A total of 1,571 blind persons in Wisconsin received $414,528 in pensions last year, according to the state board of control. Of this amount the state contributed $50,000. The board pointed out that although 95 persons were added to the pension lists in 1933, the expenditure for blind aid was $2,000 less than for the previous year. There were 3,490 blind persons in Wisconsin last year, the board said. Fifty-four per cent were on pension rolls and received an average of $19.54 per month.

Wisconsin Rapids—A disastrous fire reduced the three-story S. & S. Clothing Co. building, a cooperage plant, a coal shed and two cars of coal, two carloads of ties and two bunkhouses to ashes here with a loss estimated at $75,000. Fire Chief August C. Miller would not say that he suspected it was incendiary but stated that he was calling in the state fire marshal to investigate. Six years ago there was a fire in the S. & S. plant and two men were sentenced to terms in the state prison as a result.

Madison—Governor Schmedeman issued a proclamation pleading for extreme caution to prevent forest fires and calling upon law enforcement agencies and courts to "expend extra efforts that vicious incendiarism may be stopped."

Platteville—Rye, sweet clover and alfalfa are all showing seasonal growth in spite of the drought. The total rainfall in Grant county during April was .22 inches, the lowest in four years. Streams and springs are drying up and the water level in wells is receding.

Portage—If it had been gold plated, the little wall-eyed pike that Reider Melgaard, Wisconsin Dells, and Harold Irons, Poyntette, took from the Wisconsin river could not have been much more expensive. The pike cost them $13.40 plus their boat and fishing tackle. Fines of $50 and costs each were assessed.

Hudson—Thirty patients were rescued, some with extreme difficulty, here when fire swept through the $150,000 sanatorium operated by Dr. A. B. Bradford.

Menomonie—Henry Siedenber, 99, one of a squad of cavalry men who captured Jefferson Davis in flight at the fall of the Confederacy, died at his home at Elk Mound.

Superior—A quarter inch mask of hot tar fell on the faces of two county highway workers when a school bus struck their tar tank. Nurses used lard and olive oil to remove the tar.

Madison—The state department of agriculture agreed to the petition of milk dealers for reduction of the May price of fluid milk in the Milwaukee area from $1.00 to $1.85 per hundredweight.

Kenosha—An increase of 3 per cent in Wisconsin factory payrolls and 2.7 per cent in the number of factory workers between Mar. 15 and Apr. 15 was reported by the state industrial commission.

Kenosha—Mrs. Helen Correll, pastor of the Kenosha Four Square church, affiliated with Almee Semple McPherson's Angelus temple, turned the first spadeful of dirt for the local church's new site here Sunday, May 6.

Madison—Fond du Lac has been picked by Progressive-Republican leaders as the site for a statewide conference May 19 at which Wisconsin Progressives will decide whether to enter the fall elections as a third party.

Madison—Improvement of the banking structure of Wisconsin has permitted the state board of deposits to repay a $5,887,715 loan from the R.F.C. at a much faster rate than was anticipated when it was received in 1933.

Madison—Only about $20,000 remains outstanding of $2,050,000 in state bank scrip issued by the state banking department to relieve the throes of Wisconsin's cramped currency a year ago, it was disclosed here.

Madison—The will of John J. Blaine, former United States senator and member of the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, shows a net estate of approximately $17,000, all of which is left to his widow, Mrs. Anna C. Blaine.

Madison—Purchase vouchers for more than $2,000,000 in payments of supplies, materials and special services for the CWA program in Wisconsin have been approved, C. Don Larson, chief auditor, announced. More than 33,000 vouchers were included in the total.

Sparta—Henry Bass, 12, was accidentally shot and killed by his 14-year-old brother, Wesley, while the two were playing with a shotgun. Wesley told William M. Gleiss, district attorney, that he wanted to scare his brother and did not know the gun was loaded.

Oshkosh—With the reinstated aldermanic government slightly over a year old, petitions are in circulation here asking for an election next fall to return to the commission form. The present aldermanic government was put into effect after a protracted court battle.

Milwaukee—John O'Malley, son of Lieut. Gov. Thomas O'Malley, and Edward Curry, owner of the Motor Mart here were held under $1,000 bond each after their arrest on charges of operating an alleged federal "job racket." The two were indicted on nine counts by the federal grand jury.

Madison—The Wisconsin state health department expressed a dislike for laws of adjoining states which permit hasty marriages. Nearly half of the couples divorced in Wisconsin last year were married in bordering states, all of which have less exacting requirements leading to marriage than Wisconsin statutes provide.

Kenosha—A new all-time record in the number of documents filed in the office of John F. Schmitt, register of deeds for Kenosha county, was reported for April. Home Owners Loan corporation mortgages swelled the total, but other papers brought indications of increasing business in Kenosha and Kenosha county.

Rice Lake—Because Ladysmith citizens were instrumental in having the main road leading from Highways 8 to 70 changed from the vicinity of Bruce to Ladysmith, people living in Bruce have switched their trade from Ladysmith firms. This is bringing a small business boom to Rice Lake and other communities. Recent action on the highway change by the state highway commission has intensified the feeling.

Appleton—Marshall Peterson, town of Madison, Waupaca county, who was wounded by a bullet during the milk strike last November, was awarded $400 damages, subject to approval of Judge T. H. Ryan, by a circuit court jury in a suit against Sheriff Martin Verhagen and Deputy Sheriff Gus Bodway. Peterson alleged he was wounded when Bodway fired into a group of strike pickets at the Kading cheese factory.

Madison—Seeds of Canada thistle, buckhorn, perennial sow thistle, ox-eye daisy, wild mustard and other noxious weeds have recently been found in samples of seeds sold in 19 places in Wisconsin by a Winona, Minn., seed company, according to A. L. Stone, director of the seed and weed division of the department of agriculture and markets.

Chilton—A fire believed to have originated from a brooder stove destroyed 800 chicks and two brooder houses, property of Robert Bittner, here.

Elkhorn—A circuit court jury, deliberating an hour and 45 minutes, acquitted L. W. Swann, former Elkhorn banker, on eight counts charging violation of the state banking laws. Irregularities in book entries of the State Bank of Elkhorn were charged.

Prescott—A 50-year-old bell will be placed in the town of the new St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, the cornerstone of which was laid at impressive ceremonies Apr. 29. This will be the third structure to be built by the congregation in 68 years.

SAMUEL INSULL IS JAILED IN CHICAGO

Bond Is Set at $200,000 as Government Asked.

Chicago.—Samuel Insull, whose personal fortune only a few years ago was estimated at $100,000,000, went to jail here. He could not at once raise $200,000 for bail demanded by the government.

The seventy-four-year-old captive was weak when he reached here. He almost collapsed during the ordeal. Physicians said he is suffering a serious heart disease.

Unable to raise the bond, Insull was held prisoner in a jail hospital ward with six other prisoners. Insull's request for a "private room" was denied.

When Insull was taken to court, his attorney, Floyd E. Thompson, former Illinois Supreme court justice, pleaded for a low bail.

United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green and Special United States Prosecutor Forrest K. Barnes demanded that Judge John P. Barnes make the bond high. They pointed out that the government had spent a fortune while pursuing Insull over Europe for 18 months.

The two federal indictments against Insull charged embezzlement and violation of the bankruptcy laws. Court Clerk Edward Keeley read them in full. Both indictments contained numerous counts.

In addition to these charges, the state of Illinois has two indictments against him, both also growing out of the collapse of his utilities. An effort to press these charges was blocked by government officials, who said they would not consider allowing the state to enter the case at this time.

Before going to court, Insull was fingerprinted and his routine was repeated later when he entered the jail.

Insull pleaded that he was heart-sick and weary with both mental and physical fatigue, but asked no special consideration because of his condition. He was visibly surprised and hurt by the amount of bail fixed for him, which meant the hospital cell in jail instead of the hotel apartment engaged for him by his son.

Newspapermen and federal agents who accompanied him to Chicago from Istanbul, Turkey, were astonished by the sudden change in his spirit and appearance. On the steamer Exonia, which brought him to America, and on the train coming from the east fellow passengers had marveled at Insull's spryness.

German Tip Traps Youth After Dollfuss

Vienna, Austria.—A plan to assassinate Chancellor Dollfuss, has been frustrated by the combined forces of German and Austrian police, it is revealed.

The German government, through the Austrian legation in Berlin and the German legation here, notified the Austrian authorities to watch out for seventeen-year-old Hans Guenther Patzig, who left Dresden with the intention of crossing the Austrian border and assassinating the chancellor.

The Austrian gendarmier arrested the youth near Linz after he had escaped from armed police earlier by firing two shots at officials.

New Rules to Speed Up Criminal Case Appeals

Washington.—New rules to speed appeals in criminal cases through the federal Circuit Courts of Appeal and the Supreme court were announced by the Supreme court. The rules were promulgated in accordance with a law approved last March giving the court authority to prescribe procedure "after a plea of guilty, verdict of guilty by a jury, or finding of guilt by a trial court where a jury is waived."

The rules will apply to prisoners found or pleading guilty after next September 1.

Foshy Landed in Leavenworth Cell

Leavenworth, Kan.—Apparently in high spirits and joking with his guard, Wilbur B. Foshy, former president of the defunct Foshy Utilities Enterprises, entered Leavenworth penitentiary with Henry H. Henley, former vice president of the concern.

Each was sentenced to a term of 15 years on mail fraud charges in connection with the collapse of the Foshy companies in Minnesota.

Evicted by Sheriff, Seeks Sheriff's Job

Blue Earth, Minn.—Roy Wollery of Elmora, who several weeks ago was evicted from his farm after a struggle with Sheriff W. H. Keigley and deputies, has filed for sheriff of Faribault county against Keigley and four other candidates.

Lift Bridge Toll for Shoppers

Keokuk, Iowa.—In an effort to increase retail sales, local merchants have announced that shoppers of Hancock, Adams, and McDonough counties in Illinois may cross the toll bridge over the Mississippi river free of charge. The offer holds good for round-trip crossings.

Cork Warehouse Burns

Lyndhurst, N. J.—A spectacular fire which started in a warehouse of the United Cork company's plant caused damage estimated at $500,000.

Six Die in Grain Explosions

St. Louis, Mo.—Six men were burned to death by three sudden, violent explosions in the towering Missouri Pacific grain elevator on the Mississippi river front in south St. Louis.

Mrs. Pinchot Is Hissed

Philadelphia.—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot was hissed as she attacked Senator David A. Reed in behalf of her governor husband's candidacy for Reed's senate seat.

DROUGHT AND HEAT ARE RUINING CROPS

Danger of Insect Plagues in the Midwest States.

Chicago.—Possibilities of ruined crops, milk and water shortages, high food prices and even insect plagues—all specters of dreaded drought—confronted the Midwest as another day of stifling heat was added to one of the driest springs on record.

While bright sunshine and a record-breaking temperature of 90 degrees lured thousands of Chicagoans to highways, parks and beaches, the congregations of rural churches prayed for desperately needed rain.

Over wide areas, a survey showed, grain sowed weeks ago lay on the surfaces of arid fields, its covering of soil pulverized into dust and blown into drifts along highways and fences. Grains cannot germinate without moisture.

Dry pastures provided no sustenance for cattle, and many farmers had little hay or grain in their barns with which to feed their cows. Wells are drying up in many regions which have had no moisture for weeks and streams are far below normal levels.

Accompanying the drought was a menace to farms that hordes of grasshoppers, chinch bugs and other crop-destroying insects, all of which thrive in dry weather, might descend on corn and grains that receive enough moisture for some growth.

Every section of Illinois, from the truck gardens near Chicago to the peach and apple orchards in the south of the state, was reported in need of rain. In some sections farmers' delayed planting corn because movement of machinery raised great clouds of dust in the fields and made working nearly impossible.

Milk dealers throughout a half dozen states in need of moisture for many weeks said their prices must be increased substantially if farmers are forced to continue buying feed for their animals.

Truck gardeners selling produce in Chicago said last winter's dearth of snow, which normally soaks the ground in the spring, had left their crops in a precarious condition.

Three Fleeing Convicts Halted by Machine Gun

Lancaster, Ohio.—A machine gun halted the flight of three Ohio penitentiary convicts who slipped down a cable from the high prison walls at Columbus nine days ago.

Sheriff William Behorn and his deputy, Dudley Crider, captured the trio—Rufus Deeds, Arthur R. Koontz and Martin Schmidt—in a quick attack on their hideout in a "hobo camp" a mile from Hooker station.

Mme. Caillaux Hurt in Political Scuffle

Paris.—Young royalists set upon and injured Mme. Joseph Caillaux, wife of the former premier and central figure in a famous murder trial 14 years ago when she was acquitted of killing Gaston Calmette, editor of the newspaper Figaro.

Twenty "King's Henchmen" rushed a platform in the Louvre museum as Mrs. Caillaux rose to give a lecture on art.

Wife and Admirer Slain Despite Pleas

Washington.—Disregarding all pleas for mercy, J. Francis Hunter shot and killed both his wife and Henry C. Corcoran, whose attentions to Mrs. Hunter he resented.

Hunter then turned a shotgun on himself. Physicians expected his wounds to prove fatal.

Notes for Shawneetown Bridge

Washington.—The house passed and sent to the senate a bill to authorize the city of Shawneetown, Ill., to construct a toll bridge across the Ohio river.

Mine Fire Kills 87

Muellheim, Baden, Germany.—Eighty-seven miners were killed when fire and gases swept the potash mine at Buggingen. The victims were trapped at their work when an explosion started the fire.

Naval Architect Is Dead

Bayhead, N. J.—William Gardner, one of the world's foremost naval architects, designer of the famous Kaiser's cup winner Atlantic, died after two years' illness. He was seventy-five years old.

Aged Man Hangs Himself

Montreal.—Moi-se Claude, eighty-one, hanged himself near the grave of his wife. He had visited the grave weekly for the last seven years, it is revealed at the inquest into his death.

"TOKEN PAYMENTS" NOW ARE BARRED

President Bears Down on Our War Debtors.

Washington.—The token payment method of meeting war debt installments went into discard by determination of President Roosevelt. It was made known privately that Great Britain and other European debtors must pay their June 15 installments in full or stand in default within the meaning of the Johnson act.

With Mr. Roosevelt deciding not to construe default, Great Britain is confronted with the necessity of paying $85,670,755 next month or being barred from the American money market by the terms of the Johnson act. The same applies to the four other war debt nations whose token payments in June and November of last year, like those of Great Britain, were adjudged by Attorney General Homer S. Cummings to have exempted them from the operation of the Johnson act.

This determination of administration policy became known in the face of indications that Great Britain has been planning to offer only a small percentage of the installment due from her in June. It has been assumed that Italy, Czechoslovakia, Latvia and Lithuania were preparing to follow the lead of Great Britain. Under circumstances, it is believed that Great Britain will pay in full rather than accept the stigma of default along with France, Belgium, Estonia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, as well as the Soviet Russian government, which is held responsible for the unpaid czarist and Kerensky loans.

President Roosevelt's decision, following the lines of Senator Hiram Johnson's argument in the senate, though recently reached nearly a month ago, gives a new turn to the war debt problem which awaited his arrival in the presidency and has produced a constantly recurring series of crisis since the Hoover moratorium of 1931. Officials believe it will concentrate attention on the projected readjustment of the Finnish debt as a possible model for general war debt revision.

Old Ironsides Will Go to-Sea Never Again

Boston, Mass.—Old Ironsides, listed upon the navy's rolls as U.S.S. Constitution, came home from three years of wandering, back to the old Boston navy yard, where she was built 137 years ago.

In her wanderings she had visited ever harbor and river in the country, with water enough to accommodate her 23-foot draft. Eight million feet, many of them very small, trod her decks.

Welcoming craft raced far to the seaward to salute her, and to ride proudly back beside her through the long corridor of the harbor islands. Overhead, the youngest of navy craft, airplanes, circled and zoomed a noisy greeting to this oldest veteran of the naval service.

No more is she to wander. In graceful ceremonial the homeward bound pennant was hauled down and cut up—a piece given to each member of her crew.

Johnson Goes After High Code Salaries

Washington.—NRA code authority officials have been voting themselves high salaries, it was revealed when Administrative High S. Johnson promised to do some "cracking down" on such practices which have been termed "rackets" by some observers.

The administrator himself receives a salary of $6,000 a year and the highest paid official of the regular NRA organization here is Donald Richberg who receives $12,000 annually. Some of these code authorities are said to have been putting salaries for themselves of upwards of $20,000 a year in their budgets which the code members must pay.

No Bidders; Iowa Tax Sales Are Off

Des Moines.—Because of a lack of bidders, delinquent tax sales in a number of Iowa counties have been postponed for varying periods. Some county treasurers, in calling off sales, expressed belief that federal loans and corn-hog benefit payments would permit payment of taxes before sales again are held.

Coast Divorce Judge Gets Divorce Himself

Los Angeles, Calif.—Judge Guy Bush, who has presided over numerous divorce hearings, has obtained a divorce himself. He said Mrs. Bush, whom he married in Detroit, November 24, 1910, "showed clearly that she thought more of her friends than of her husband."

Brooklyn Bank Held Up

Brooklyn, N. Y.—Five men, all armed with machine guns, held up the Prudential Savings bank in the Flatbush section during the busiest part of the afternoon. With the help of a blond woman at the wheel of a sedan they escaped with $22,033.

Havana Students' Strike Ends

Havana.—Five thousand Havana university students voted to return to their classes, ending the strike which resulted from the killing of a student.

Leviathan to Sail Again

New York.—The mighty Leviathan, tied up at a Hoboken (N. J.) pier for almost a year, will be put back into transatlantic service, the International Mercantile Marine company announces.

Fire Destroys Ten Homes

Harrisburg, Pa.—Ruins of ten homes and blackened acres of timberland lie in the wake of a brush fire which swept a 50-square-mile area in the Pottsville area.

Wit and Humor

'TWOULD SEEM SO

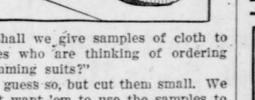

During a history lesson the teacher pointed out to her pupils that a surname often indicated the trade or profession of the ancestors of those who bore the name.

"For instance," she said, "supposing your name was Baker, that meant your ancestors were makers of bread. Or, as another example, supposing your name was Smith, that meant that your ancestors were workers in iron—blacksmith, and so on."

She pointed to one of the boys. "What were your ancestors, Webb?" she asked.

The boy looked thoughtful. "Spiders, teacher," he said, after a while.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

SAVE THE SAMPLES

"Shall we give samples of cloth to ladies who are thinking of ordering swimming suits?"

"I guess so, but cut them small. We don't want 'em to use the samples to make the suit."

Reward of Thrift

A father said, "Now, son, start saving the pennies and put them in this yellow box, and when you get five pennies give them to me and I'll give you a nickel and you can put that in this blue box; then, when you get five nickels give them to me and I'll give you a quarter and you can put it in this red box."

Seventeen years later the boy discovered that the red box was the gas-meter.

Give Him the Green Light

"Going to a fire?" asked the traffic officer, sarcastically to the speeding motorist.

"Well, not exactly," answered the motorist. "Just trying to prevent one."

"Yes, and how were you going to do that?"

"Well, the boss said that's what he'd do if I were late again, and I was hurrying to get to the office in time."

In the Spotlight

"Why should you run for office in times of so much uncertainty?"

"I'm not running," answered Senator Sorghum. "I'm being pushed."

"Are you, then, so popular?"

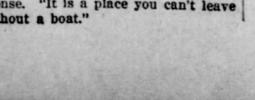

"I have my doubts. I am afraid some of my constituents are making it certain that I am fairly prominent, so that I'll be sure to be investigated when my turn comes."

A Good Thing

Opera Singer—What do you think of my execution?"

Press Agent—Well, I think everybody will be in it.

UP-TO-DATE

He—You don't believe in long engagements, do you?

She—I prefer two short ones any time.

Unwelcome Gift

Six-year-old Freddie was asked by his teacher: "Freddie, what did you give your dear little brother for his birthday this year?"

"I didn't have nuffin to give him," said Freddie, "but last year I gave him the measles."

Conclusion

Sims—While in Paris I paid $25 in tips alone.

Waiter (assisting him on with his coat)—You must have lived there a good many years, sir.

Way It Sounds

Little Bobbie was sent by his mother to a confectioner's shop to buy a pound of salted cashew nuts.

"I want a pound of sneezes," requested the lad, pointing to the nut jar.—Indianapolis News.

Ballot Mathematics

"How many votes do you control?"

"That question," said Senator Sorghum, "is abstruse and baffling. What I am trying to ascertain is how many different varieties of votes are trying to control me."

Reciprocity Lacking

Father-in-law—When I gave you my daughter's hand I didn't think you were always going to be dependent on me.

Son-in-law—Neither did I. I thought you would give us enough to live independently.

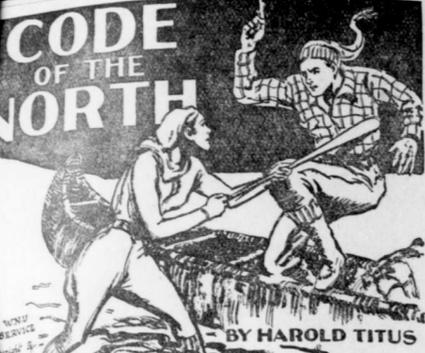

What! No Air Line?

The school teacher asked a small boy if he could describe an island.

"Sure I can," was the prompt response. "It is a place you can't leave without a boat."

"Rock-Made" Waves Wash Away Fishing Hamlets

Norway's Worst Disaster in Half a Century.

Washington—Huge waves, set in motion by tons of falling rock, washed away two fishing hamlets and drowned nearly 50 persons in Tafjord, western Norway, recently.

"Tafjord is a narrow, stone-ringed finger of water branching off from Storjord, one of the dozen great arms of the sea that penetrate the heart of the Scandinavian peninsula," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.

Unusual Scenery.

"Tourists seldom visit these deep, winding waterways, although they would be rewarded with some of the world's most unusual scenic spectacles if they did."

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

BY MICHAEL K. REILLY: M. C.

Congressional leaders, Democrats and Republicans, are hopeful that the Second Session of the 73rd Congress, is approaching an end. While it is true that the legislative deck is being pretty well cleared, there are still many important pieces of legislation to be passed on, before the Senators and Members of the House will be free to go home and visit with their constituents.

The Reciprocity Tariff measure, recently passed by the House, is still on the boards for a long debate in the Senate.

The Rayburn Stock and Bond Bill, that went through the House last week has occupied the attention of the Senate for the past week.

Legislation extending the temporary feature of the Bank Guaranty Law for one year more has passed the Senate and is still in the House. Under the Bank Guaranty Law, all deposits, beginning January 1, last, were to be guaranteed up to $2500.00, 100 per cent. On July 1, the 100 per cent guaranty was to go up to $10,000.00 for each depositor, and deposits between $10,000.00 and $50,000.00 were to be guaranteed 75 per cent of their claim against the Bank, and depositors above $50,000.00 were to receive 50 per cent of their bank deposit in case of a bank failure.

Those having in charge, the putting into effect of the Bank Guaranty Law have recommended to Congress that the temporary feature of the Law be extended for another year from July 1, next, so that more time could be given to work out the Bank Deposit Guaranty Program before the law would permanently go into effect.

The general impression is that the Bank Guaranty Law has worked successfully. Not a single bank has failed since January 1, last, and hundreds of millions of dollars have been brought back to the banks by hoarders. Of course, with a 100 per cent guaranty of bank deposits up to $2500.00, 95 per cent of the bank depositors have all of their bank deposits guaranteed. In other words, 95 per cent of the people who have bank deposits have to their credit in the bank, a sum not in excess of $2500.00.

These are just a few of the pending bills that have passed one house or the other, but there are many other important pieces of legislation, that have not to date, been passed by either House, that may keep Congress in Washington until the "dog-days" of July.

On last Saturday the House considered and passed several so-called crime bills, seven of which had already been passed by the Senate.

It is generally recognized that the crime problem, theretofore, left largely to the States to handle, has become too big for the States, and that it is necessary to the protection of lives and property, that the United States Government in the future assume a more important part in the handling of our crime problems.

I take it that the reader will be interested in a short description of these several new laws, enlarging the criminal jurisdiction of the Federal Government. These bills make the following acts Federal crimes or bring such conduct of our citizens within the criminal jurisdiction of the U. S. Court, to wit: "The assault or killing of an United States officer; the using of the telephone, telegraph, or radio for the purpose of extorting money; the transportation of kidnapped persons in Interstate Commerce; the flight of a criminal to avoid prosecution in a court, or the flight of a citizen for the purpose of avoiding the giving of testimony in a court; the transportation of stolen property in Interstate Commerce; and any offense committed against a National Bank or against banks belonging to the Federal Reserve System.

Another crime bill passed by the House, permitted Congress to authorize the offering of rewards for the apprehension of public enemies, up to $25,000.00.

Another bill was passed on last Saturday, provided that where a faulty indictment has been brought in by a Grand Jury, the Statute of Limitations will not be run until after the meeting of the next Grand Jury, which can bring in a true and legal indictment. At the present time if a Grand Jury should bring in a faulty indictment, and the Statute of Limitations had run before the meeting of the next Grand Jury, the man charged with crime would be free, but now, under the new law, the Statute of Limitations will not become effective until after a new Grand Jury has met and had an opportunity to bring in a legal indictment.

All of this legislation has been made necessary because of the changed and changing world in which we are living. Crime used to be local. Now it is not only national, but in some cases, international. A half century ago, the United States had very few public officers scattered over the country, executing its laws, but now the Federal Government has an army of its representatives in all the States of the Union, and the result is the belief that any assault or violence inflicted on an officer of the United States Government should be dealt with by the Federal Government.

Again the kidnapping game, has become a national game. Frequently, several states are involved in the planning or committing of the crime, and the carrying out of the kidnapper's program. Hence, it has become necessary for the United States Government to

WHY do you suppose Chevrolet keeps repeating, in all of its advertising, "Drive it only 5 miles"? Very frankly, here's the reason: Chevrolet engineers have tried out all the various makes of cars in today's low-price field. They have compared performance—on rough roads, in traffic, over hills, through sand and mud and water! And they have proved, to their complete satisfaction, the same things that hundreds of thousands of Chevrolet owners are proving in their daily driving. The Chevrolet ride simply can't be matched by any other in the low-price field. That's why we urge you to "Drive it only 5 miles"—and that's why we promise, "you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car."
