TWO KILLED, FOUR INJURED IN CRASH NEAR LOMIRA

Leaving the home of Henry Weigand in the Town of Lomira shortly before 3:30 p. m. Sunday, Vincent Fashun, entertaining six young people in the Weigand neighborhood on an automobile ride, drove into the side of Soo Line freight train No. 25, northbound, at a town road crossing a half mile east of St. Paul's Lutheran church in the Town of Lomira, causing the instant death of Rudolf Pfeifle, 23, employed on the Weigand farm, and that of Miss Esther Yakek, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Yakek, occupants of a farm on the highway where the accident took place.

Other passengers in the car who were injured are: Hortense Weigand, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Weigand of Lomira, lacerations and bruises; Kathryn Yakek, 19, Lomira, cuts and bruises with possible internal injuries; Vincent Fashun, 21, Lomira, R. I. possible internal injuries, fractures, cuts and bruises; Jacob Beator, Jr., 16, Fond du Lac, leg and arm injuries. All the injured are confined to St. Arnes hospital at Fond du Lac.

The Fashun car skidded in loose gravel and crashed into the train, hitting it between the first and second cars. Tangled in the car trucks, the automobile was carried 75 feet north of the crossing, while the second freight car, which was partially loaded, was derailed. All but Pfeifle were thrown out of the automobile when it struck the train. Considerable difficulty was experienced in extricating Pfeifle who was wedged in the tangled mass of wreckage. Parts had to be torn away to release his body.

Miss Esther Yakek, who was a member of a family of beet workers, landed on the embankment at the side of the road. She sat up for several minutes and endeavored to speak to those who went to her assistance, among them being a number of farmers who had heard the crash and rushed to the scene. She collapsed and died.

Pfeifle's body was crushed. His body and that of Miss Esther Yakek were removed to an undertaking parlor in Theresa, two miles south of the scene of the accident, and later taken to Fond du Lac.

Fashun was employed as a hired man on the Weigand farm, while Pfeifle, whose home was in Oakfield, had been working in Fond du Lac county as well as Dodge county the last three years. Miss Esther Yakek had been working in beet fields on the Weigand farm.

REPORT OF RELIEF WORK IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

Mr. R. G. Oswald, Director of Relief in Washington County, has released figures concerning the relief coats during the month of June. He stated that he was anxious to keep the public informed on the relief situation in the county; and intended to publish, from time to time, any pertinent information.

The relief load decreased during the month of June, and the department provided relief for 1,471 persons, comprising 295 families. There were 346 families on the relief rolls in Washington county in May.

It required $7,997.49 to provide the necessary assistance to the 295 families on relief during the month of June. Inasmuch as Washington county is operating under the County Relief System, under the supervision of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission, it is eligible for Federal-State funds to help care for the indigents in this county. Washington county paid $3,878.53 of the total relief costs of $7,997.59, and received $4,118.76 from the Federal-State funds.

The cost of groceries, meat, milk, and household necessities amounted to $3,474.64. The Relief Department made shelter payments amounting to $790.06 for 84 families. Fuel costs amounted to $127.51, and miscellaneous expenditures totaled $42.18.

Medical and dental care is given to both direct and work relief families. During June, there were 132 persons who received medical care, and 9 persons who received dental care, at a total cost of $855.24.

Washington county had 72 men working on 13 Work Relief Projects in the county, at a total cost of $2707.95. On these projects, the county benefited by considerable brushing of town roads, the grading and seeding of the City Park in West Bend, beautification of parks and the cemetery in Hartford, and the laying of approximately 4,000 feet of curb and gutter, also in Hartford. There was also a Federal Housing Survey in the city of West Bend.

On June 21, 1935, the Washington County Relief Department received the following letter from Wm. Pfeifer, Jr., District Auditor, WERA:

"The Accounting and Auditing Division of the Wisconsin Emergency Relief Administration has audited the books and records of the Washington County Unemployment Relief Administration for the period from March 1, 1934, to February 28, 1935.

This audit covered a detailed examination of vouchers to determine their eligibility for reimbursement; a reconciliation of the Relief books with the County Clerk's records; and test the checks of the relief status of men working on relief projects.

No attempt was made to ascertain the adequacy or inadequacy of the relief given to individual cases.

Within the scope of this audit all records were found to be in good order and with the exception of minor adjustments corrected in the audit the reports made to the WERA for reimbursement were found correct."

WEST BEND THEATRE INSTALLS NEW SOUND EQUIPMENT

Aug. C. Berkholtz manager and operator of the West Bend theatre, West Bend, has had new high fidelity sound reproduction equipment installed in his theatre. This new sound equipment was used for the first time Monday evening and a remarkable improvement was noticed.

The reason for the change is that because of great advances and improvements in sound recording made in motion picture studios in recent years the old apparatus failed to bring out the words and music of the modernized films clearly. Mr. Berkholtz is to be complimented on the new addition. He is always ready to do his utmost to give his patrons the best.

KEWASKUM FIRST TO BEAT MAYVILLE

TEAM STANDINGS

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
KEWASKUM	2	1	.666
Mayville	2	1	.666
Grafton	2	1	.666
Thiensville	1	2	.333

Port Washington	1	2	.333

GAMES LAST SUNDAY

Kewaskum 6; Mayville 2.
Port Washington 3; Thiensville 0.
Grafton 8, West Bend 5.

GAMES NEXT SUNDAY

Kewaskum at Grafton (two games).
West Bend at Port W. (two games)
Thiensville at Mayville.

Kewaskum regained a tie for first place in the second half of the split season last Sunday by defeating the first place Mayville Shoes by a score of 6 to 2. This was the first game Mayville lost since taking over Fond du Lac's franchise in the league. The other games Sunday were upsets with Port Washington beating Thiensville 3 to 0, behind the superb pitching of Al. Barron, former Kewaskum star, and Grafton upsetting West Bend with Po. can, by a score of 8 to 5. The Port-Thiensville game is under protest, the latter claiming that Port used an unregistered pitcher in Barron. And so, at the end of three games in the last half, we find three teams tied for first and the other three teams all tied up.

Two up-and-coming young pitchers, Marx and Finke, faced each other on the mound with Marx holding the upper end Finke fanned 7 and allowed three walks while Marx fanned 11 and walked none. The latter pitched good ball in the pinches to hold the Shoes down.

The locals pounded the ball for two runs in the third inning to take a lead which lasted until the fourth inning when Mayville retaliated with two in their half. This completed the visitors' scoring while Kewaskum kept on pounding for three more runs in the sixth and one in the seventh to make the score 6 to 2.

Harbeck led the Kewaskum attack with three hits out of three times at bat and a sacrifice while Finke tried hard to win his own game by collecting three hits out of four attempts for Mayville. Huffman and Trotter turned in good fielding performances for the local nine as did Malesovitch and Buchman for the visitors.

Next Sunday Kewaskum will go to Grafton to play a double header, the first game starting at 1:30. The first game of the twin bill will count for the first half of the season while the nightcap will continue on to the second half. If Kewaskum wins the opener the team will win with its undisputed first pace for the first half while a loss will put them in a tie for first with Thiensville. A real treat and a long afternoon of baseball are offered the fans next Sunday at Grafton. Take advantage of two games for the price of one by following the team and helping them win the right to enter the playoff at the end of the season.

NOTES OF THE GAME

Pres. Henry Bendinger of the Milwaukee Brewers baseball team witnessed the game from the stands.

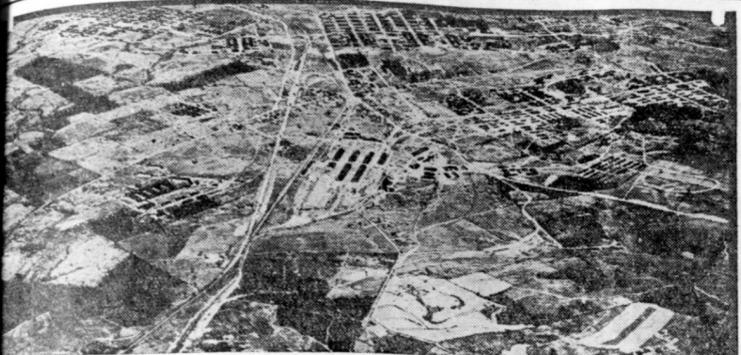

Mathias, the league-leading hitter, had a tough afternoon, going hitless in four attempts.

Conley managed the team in Johnny Behn's absence.

The Mayville players were not the cleanest bunch Kewaskum has played against this year, especially their third baseman, who attempted almost anything to get his man.

New Deal Laws and the Courts

The Supreme Court of the United States.

By WILLIAM C. UTLEY

The New Deal has been tossing the Supreme Court in stormy political seas during the last few months in its effort to gain the shore of legislative approval. The Court has had at last run a series of tests, from which not even the most optimistic could have predicted that the New Deal would have been falling from the sky. Now that New Deal legislation has had a chance to get into the hands of the Justices, it has become clear that their ways to the New Deal are not as simple as they once appeared. At one time approximately 150 New Deal laws were pending in the courts. Now only a few remain. The New Deal has been abandoned in many instances, and the National Industrial Recovery Act and the Public Works Administration are being re-examined. There are about 17 of them left. The New Deal has been abandoned in many instances, and the National Industrial Recovery Act and the Public Works Administration are being re-examined. There are about 17 of them left.

CHART OF NEW DEAL'S COURSE IN COURTS

For New Deal, Government gold clause cases up-held.

TVA declared constitutional, reversing decision of lower court.

Against New Deal.

Sec. 9c of NRA (President's power to prohibit interstate transport of oil in excess of state quotas) declared unconstitutional.

Sec. 7a of NRA declared void when applied to companies not engaged in interstate commerce.

Government power to regulate wages in bituminous coal industry denied.

Right of PWA to condemn land for slum clearance in Kentucky denied. Again denied by Cincinnati court.

NIRA lumber code held invalid.

Right of states to form NRA divisions voided in some states.

Steps for stabilizing milk industry declared unconstitutional.

Railroad retirement act held invalid.

Whole NIRA ruled unconstitutional.

Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium act voided.

President stripped of power to remove federal officers.

PWA power loans voided.

Kerr-Smith tobacco act voided.

AAA processing tax ruled out.

Hog processing tax from packers voided.

Composite Score.

For New Deal: 2. Against: 15.

their crimp in President Roosevelt's power by denying him the right to remove a federal officer from office. The President had sought to remove William E. Humphrey from the Federal Power Commission.

And Another Blow.

The third blow, the one that left even Franklin D. Roosevelt speechless (for a while) was the decision in the Schechter poultry case. The decision was all the more crushing because it was unanimous. In delivering the court's opinion Chief Justice Hughes declared definitely that all of the code-making provisions were an unconstitutional transfer of legislative powers from congress to the President and others who had no constitutional right to them. About the codes, Chief Justice Hughes said:

... Section 3 (NRA) of the Recovery act is without precedent. It supplies no standards for any trade, industry or activity. It does not undertake to prescribe rules of conduct to be applied to particular states of fact to be determined by appropriate administrative procedure. Instead of prescribing rules of conduct, it authorizes the making of codes to prescribe them.

... We think that the code-making authority thus prescribed is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power.

About the power of the federal government to regulate local wages and working hours the chief justice said: "Without in any way disparaging (the administration's) motive, it is enough to say that the recuperative efforts of the federal government must be made in a manner consistent with the authority granted by the Constitution.

"We are of the opinion that the attempt through provisions of the code to fix the hours and wages of employees of defendants in their intrastate business was not a valid exercise of federal power."

Hits Processing Tax.

On July 16 the Circuit Court of Appeals at Boston declared that the processing tax of AAA was an unwarranted use of the taxing power to regulate and restrict cotton production; that it was an unwarranted exercise of federal power to delegate unlimited power to the secretary of agriculture to administer the tax, and that the tax violates the requirement that taxes should be uniform throughout the United States. In Philadelphia a lower court ruled much the same on the hog processing tax from packers. The whole agricultural program was "thrown up for grabs."

It is now believed that the administration will seek to push as many of these test cases through the Supreme court as possible, with the view that if they are there held to be unconstitutional, constitutional amendment to centralize the legislative power of the nation much more than it is now will form the important part of the Democratic platform for 1936. That this is possible might be indicated by the fact that 3,500,000 farmers who have so far received $900,000,000, are directly affected by the AAA ruling. With their families, they might form a very substantial block of votes to change the basic law of the land.

One historian, Charles A. Beard, points out that three times before has the Supreme court "thrown itself resolutely across currents of powerful interests and ideas." Once was in the Dred Scott case, with its aftermath of the Civil war, and later the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments, effecting important changes in the federal system. Another was the court's attempt during and after the Civil war to restrain the President and congress in several decisions; its result was a curtailment of the court and an increase in the number of justices from seven to nine (the two new ones to be favorable to the administration wanted reversed, and the court reversed it). On the third time the court in 1895 declared invalid the income tax law of 1894. The decision was reversed by amendment.

Of course there is some question as to whether a parallel can be drawn between these decisions and the recent ones against the New Deal. If such a parallel can be drawn:

Will history repeat itself?

CORN IDEAL FEED AS FAT PRODUCER

Quality Poultry Important, Expert Points Out.

By H. H. Alp, Poultry Husbandry Extension Specialist, University of Illinois, WNU Service.

While farmers may not be in a position to compete with the commercial egg-producing areas, a plentiful supply of corn offers them the opportunity of becoming leaders in the production of market poultry.

Corn, the major grain crop of the state, has been found to be the ideal feed for producing high-quality poultry. The fat produced by corn is distributed through the meat in a way similar to "marbling" in beef. Wheat produces the poorest quality poultry. It has been shown by experiments in Canada. Both oats and barley are less satisfactory than corn. Corn not only made the best flavored poultry meat but also, when supplemented with 6 per cent animal protein, produced the best gains.

In addition to the needed corn, recent good prices offer further incentive to farmers to excel in the production of quality market poultry.

With good prices being paid for quality birds and the still-important feed available in the state's corn crop, the future looks bright for the poultryman who feeds for the poultry market.

Too often all the emphasis in poultry husbandry is placed upon egg production, with little attention being given to the production of quality meat and its sale in an appetizing manner. It is true that eggs are usually responsible for the main part of the poultryman's income, but this is not surprising when eggs have been the chief objective on most poultry farms.

Green Sod Near Brooder Induces Goslings to Eat

When the goslings are ready for feeding it is a good practice to place a green sod near the nest or brooder and let the young birds pull the tender shoots themselves. This will induce them to start feeding, observes a writer in the Montreal Herald.

For the first few days goslings should be fed on bread crumbs moistened with milk. When the young birds are about a week old they may be given a mash composed of equal parts by weight of corn meal, barley meal, bran and shorts. This should be made moist but not sloppy. The birds should be fed three or four times daily for about two weeks. When the weather is fine they should be given their liberty but they should be protected from cold rains and confined at night.

Give the goslings a good start and they may then be turned out on good pasture and the feeding of mash discontinued. Make sure that the goslings have plenty of shade and a liberal supply of fresh drinking water before them at all times.

Bloody Droppings

It is said that a dog's nose is his thermometer; if you want to test his health, put your hand against the tip of his nose which is always cold if he is well, and warm if he is sick. Poultry, too, have a thermometer—it is their droppings. If you want to gauge the health of your poultry flock, take a look at their droppings each morning while they are still fresh. They tell you the story, and sometimes it is a sad one. In your baby chick droppings, look for bloody droppings and if you find them, the chances are one of three things is the matter with them—worms, crowding, or coccidiosis.—Missouri Farmer.

Care in Vaccination

An important point to remember in vaccinating against bronchitis is to examine the birds on the fifth day to make certain that each shows a "take" or inflammation of the cloaca. If there is no evidence of this, the bird should be revaccinated, according to a poultryman. If there is any doubt concerning the identity of a previous outbreak resembling bronchitis, the poultryman should consult a pathologist or veterinarian.

Poultry Notes

After being cooled, eggs should be held at 60 degrees.

If birds are properly sorted, even the cull birds may bring a surprising good price.

Chickens cannot do their best when mites and lice are taking their toll.

The best way to condition birds for market is to keep them in good flesh at all times.

Chicks put into a house that is thoroughly clean and then kept away from older birds seldom are troubled with lice.

The poultry brooder house should be cleaned before it is moved to new ground.

The best home-grown bedding for poultry consists of wheat, oat, and barley straw. Second comes dry, clean, shredded corn stalks; and third, dry, clean, coarse ground corn cobs.

To prevent or eradicate red mites, bed bugs, and the like in brooder or laying houses, spray thoroughly with an effective insecticide.

See that water is not allowed to stand in holes or depressions in the chicken run where it can become stagnant or contaminated.

Attempts to crate fatten may prove futile if the birds are to be moved any great distance since the shrinkage will likely be heavy.

Linen Suit a Midsummer Favorite

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE present vogue for linen is nothing short of sensational. Whether you go dining, dancing, swimming, flying, motoring, golfing or shopping, or play tennis, there's a linen for every occasion from rustic crashes and peasant weaves and colorful Tahitian prints to alluring novelties in stripes and plaids and in sheer lovely effects for high-style evening wear.

Midsummer days are proving that linen suits, especially in white and natural tones, are of first interest among best dressed women for about-town wear. A linen suit and a wardrobe of blouses and the problem of being smartly appareled during the daytime hours is solved not only for the immediate moment but for well on into the fall, since the very newest linens are in wine shades, in Dubonnet red, in beetroot, purple and orange tones.

Just now, while the weather is warm, it's the white and natural linens that are lending their immaculate and well-groomed appearance to the summer scene. The trio of stunning suits pictured represent the very creme de la creme in linens as now featuring on the style program.

The young woman seated shows that she knows fashion in that with her suit of mougashel linen, in natural color, she is wearing a dark blouse, the same being brown with white polka dots. You are doing the right thing this season if to wear with your white and natural linens you choose dark accessories. The coat is single-breasted with buttons all the way up to the collarless neckline. A novel idea is introduced in the placement of deep large pockets above the belt line. Raglan sleeves add a final touch of smartness to this linen classic.

The other two suits are also of mougashel linen. It is rather interesting to know in this connection that King George sends the flax grown on his royal estate at Sandringham, England (supposed to be the finest flax in the world) to Mougashel, Ireland, there to be woven, because the workmanship is so fine—quite a royal pedigree for these linens.

The two-piece centered in the group has a tight-fitting basque coat with no belt to disturb the natural line. It is of white linen with navy buttons and tie. The double binding to the coat which gives a vestee effect is new and smart. The sports flap pockets are chic, too.

Handstitching around the notched collar and the pockets gives a distinctive touch to the white linen suit to the right. The stitching and the belt are in matched coloring. The coat is double-breasted, and a polka dot shirt is worn under it.

A very fashionable thing to do is wear a bright colored linen coat or jacket with your white linen skirt. Like colored linens for these coats are the rage with beetroot or Dubonnet red close second.

Then, too, novelty linens with rubbery surface or loose porous weave are in good style for suits and for coats. These heavier suits are mostly in natural white. Very "nifty" ones are shadow-checked in gray and some stunning weaves are in herringbone patterning flecked with brown.

There are lovely embroidered linens shown for dressier wear and sheer striped linens are made up into fascinating evening gowns, as formally as if they were stately silks. With the new fall tweed suits designers are creating clever blouses of fine handkerchief linen in colorings related to the costume entire.

SMART BEACHWEAR

This beach ensemble is out of the ordinary. It is fashioned of purple fishnet lace over a linen foundation. Which again proves that lace goes everywhere this season. The ensemble consists of a pair of shorts and blouse with a wrap-around skirt. The large hat is of purple straw.

SHOE COMFORT IS MOST IMPORTANT

To be footloose and free during the season of pleasant week ends and after-dark breathing spaces, one must have foot comfort.

Cool shoes with flexible construction are a likely way of getting this comfort, with preference given lightweight numbers, and those that are ventilated by perforations, lattice and cut-outs.

Novelties in shoes are always at their peak in the summer season, and they are usually far more moderately priced than the novelties thought up for evening shoes to complement formal winter costumes.

Sandals of printed linen or crash, slippers covered with gay flowered chiffon, oxfords of splendid supporting strength, perforated into lacy prettiness, plain cotton or linen shoes of any color you can name, plaid linen in natural tones, checked gingham in kitchen apron designs, lightweight suede in any pastel hue or any flag hue and crocheted string shoes are just a few of the kinds you can choose from in the shops.

Oriental Influence Seen in Evening Clothes Styles

The Hindu influence, inspired by the Maharane of India, has initiated a definite swing away from fitted, bias lines to softly draped designs in evening clothes. Allied influences, such as Persian, Arabian, and a new version of Grecian folds, contribute to the same effect. These flattering, age-old drapery details are difficult to make and hence are not easily copied, a point being stressed now in high style circles.

Alx, the Parisian couturiere, has turned out a thrilling array of Oriental formal gowns. Most of them are topped with seductive saris, those long, scarf-like affairs which start out by wrapping around the body and then proceed to cover the head in the manner of a monk's hood.

WITH AN EYE TO COOL SIMPLICITY

PATTERN 9354

The smart girl has one eye on the budget and the other anticipating a rise in temperature—and makes a cool decision to include several summer sports in her wardrobe right now. It took a lot of ingenuity to design that clever yoke-cape-panel in one. It makes sewing so easy, and briefly, that cape is much cooler than a sleeve. Pattern 9354 sports an action pleat back and skirt just to help you "get places." If you find a simple flat neckline becoming, omit the dashing ruffles (but we like 'em). Very correct for spectator sports, office wear or week-end jaunts. Make it up in washable sport silk or shantung. Try a novel "cork" buckle and buttons.

Pattern 9354 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 4 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighth Street, New York.

WAGES OF HIRED MEN ON WISCONSIN FARMS HIGH-ER THIS YEAR

Wages paid to laborers on Wisconsin farms the first of this month were about one-fourth higher than a year ago, and the seasonal advance has been greater since April than it was during the same period of last year, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States departments of agriculture.

With the better crop conditions, more work, and somewhat higher prices than last year, Wisconsin farmers are using more laborers and the supply of farm labor showed a decrease the first of July as compared with a year ago. Also, the July 1 reports of this year indicated that there was a slight decrease in the number of family workers on Wisconsin farms as compared with a year earlier.

On July 1 the average wage rate per month with board was $24.00 and without board $34.75. Hired help were receiving an average of $1.20 per day with board and $1.65 without board, according to the reports of Wisconsin crop correspondents. The wage rate last year on July 1 was reported to be $18.75 per month with board and $29.00 without board. Daily wage rates averaged $1.00 with board and $1.40 without board. A situation much closer to normal in the supply and demand of farm labor was reported this year than on July 1 a year ago. The first of this month the supply of farm labor was reported at 96 per cent of normal compared with 114 per cent a year earlier, and the demand this month was 90 per cent of normal compared with 72 per cent reported on July 1, 1934.

Full sheet posters were posted here this week announcing the annual picnic and dance to be given at the North Side Park on Sunday, Aug. 31, by the Phil. Sheridan Lodge, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers of Milwaukee. The picnic and dance held here by the boys in previous years has always been the leading event of the season and the boys promise that this year's event will be better than ever. Over $100 worth of prizes are to be given away in the different contests to be held at the park during the afternoon. A special train has been secured which will leave Milwaukee at 9 a. m., bringing the excursionists. This train will return leaving Kewaskum at 12 midnight.

In the annual cup races held at Cedar Lake last Sunday, the Kuspadoor, with the Adolph Rosenheimer twins and Charles Klingler, Jr., as its crew, took the Commodore Cup presented to the club by Commodore J. L. Klingler, by a good margin, beating the closest boat by two minutes and 40 seconds.

Andrew Pick, mayor of West Bend, died last Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock, after a four weeks' illness with typhoid fever.

Ernest Beer, proprietor of the Orchard Grove cheese factory, in the town of Farmington, left for parts unknown last Saturday night, leaving a lot of patrons of the factory who had not been paid for their milk for two months. Last week Friday Beer went to West Bend and drew $2,300 from a bank stating that he wanted to pay the patrons, but disappeared with the cash. On Monday morning when the patrons found no one at the factory they became suspicious and immediately took steps to locate him. Beer and his family came to Kewaskum Saturday evening shortly before the Marshfield train left. He put up his horse in the Central Hotel barn and boarded the northbound train.

WORLD-FAMOUS THRILLER ACTS AT STATE FAIR

World-famous thriller acts and an all Wisconsin half-price opening will feature American Legion night at the grand stand at the 1935 State Fair at Milwaukee.

Three revolving stages, a dozen loud speakers and a cast of 150 will be employed in the presentation of the stratospheric spectacle "Soaring High" and a two-hour fireworks display will be set off in fifteen minutes.

The announcement was contained in the statement by Manager Ralph E. Ammon, that admission to the grandstand events and the fireworks carnival will be twenty-five cents for adults and ten cents for children on the night of August 24.

With American Legion Day announced as Saturday, August 24, the Wisconsin American Legion will hold a special celebration at the State Fair with the bands and fife and drum corps tournament and drill teams at the grandstand in the afternoon. War veterans will be admitted free to the grandstand at that time.

Among the special thriller acts of the Saturday night opening will be the Potters in the world's greatest casting act; Prince Nelson, who won fame by walking a tight wire across Niagara Falls; Ray and Sunshine, who come to Milwaukee from the Folies Bergere, Paris, France, the Brants, headless clowns from Grosvenor House, London; Candrea Brothers, official trumpeters of the Olympic Games; and Floresco, son of a Spanish banker, who performs on a steel fishing pole 120 feet above the ground. Billy Lorette, cheer-leading clown will be master of ceremonies.

Most sensational act is that of Miss Eddy, nineteen-year old girl who is shot from a cannon. Not only is she the first girl ever to be shot from a cannon, but she is the first to dispense with the use of a net.

This Week in Washington

Reports of the doings of the legislators at the Seat of Government by Congressman M. K. Reilly

Congress is moving on toward the first of August, but there is no definiteness about the adjournment date.

The Senate finally disposed of the Agricultural Adjustment Act which it had before it for eleven days. This bill, as the reader knows, passed the House several weeks ago and amended the original AAA. The bill passed the Senate by a large vote of sixty-four to fifteen. While many of the Senators have criticized the Agricultural New Deal, when it got down to voting, they gave their support to passage of the bill.

The bill, as it passed the Senate, contains numerous amendments to the House bill. It substitutes a new system of marketing orders for the licensing provisions brought into question by the recent Supreme Court decision nullifying the NRA. In other words, the bill sets up a new formula for continuing the processing taxes, and thereby makes the bill conform to the Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court in its decision.

The Senate now has under consideration the Banking Bill. This bill was passed by the House several weeks ago, and was held up in the Senate Banking and Currency Committee because of the opposition of Senator Glass to many of the provisions of the House bill.

This bill is like Ancient Gaul, divided into three parts, and is otherwise known as an omnibus bill. Part one pertains to Federal Deposit Insurance subject, or amends the Federal Deposit Insurance Law. Part two pertains to the Federal Reserve System, and contains some very far-reaching amendments to our banking system. Part three is made up of sections amending certain parts of existing banking law.

There has been, and is now, very little conflict over parts one and three. It is generally conceded that the law insuring bank deposits has worked very satisfactorily, and even among bankers themselves, there is strong sentiment in favor of continuing the law.

Of the fifteen thousand licensed banks in the country, fourteen thousand have their deposits insured up to five thousand dollars under the existing law, and this amount of banking protection will be continued when the law becomes effective. The insured banks have deposits in the sum of forty billion dollars, and ninety-eight per cent of the depositors in these banks have one hundred per cent protection. These banks also have about fifty million depositors.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation became a law in the summer of 1933, and up to the present date, only nineteen of the insured banks have failed. Some of these failed banks, it is stated will pay out one hundred per cent, and the cost to the insuring corporation will be negligible. Between 1921 and 1930, over seven thousand banks failed in this country, with deposits of about two billion, five hundred million dollars.

On the whole, the passage of a law which protects ninety-eight per cent of the men and women who have their money in the banks of the country insured one hundred per cent is a great social and economic advance. Our banking system is most vital to the industrial life of the country, and there is every reason for believing that in the future there will be no serious bank failures resulting from runs on banks or loss of confidence in the stability of banks by the depositors. There will be, of course, bank failures because of misjudgment on the part of bankers in investments they have made, and also because of dishonest banking methods.

A great many of these nineteen banks that have failed since the banking insurance law went into effect, to the extent of thirty per cent, the writer believes, failed because of defalcations. Now that the bankers of the country as a whole have a financial interest in maintaining a sound banking system, it is believed that unsound banking methods will not be able to continue for any great length of time without being detected by the examiners of the FDIC or by the vigilant eyes of the bankers themselves.

The House spent Monday considering District of Columbia bills. I have often made this statement before, but it is well for the citizens to understand that about one day every week or so, the House of Representatives spends the whole day acting as Common Council for the city of Washington. There is a great deal of agitation going on in Washington to make the District of Columbia a state, so to speak, and to give it representation in the Senate and House; that is, two United States Senators and two members of the House. The cry of taxation without representation is continually heard, and there is a tremendous conflict every year in the District of Columbia Committee and the Appropriations Committee as to just how much money the United States government should contribute to the operating expenses of the District of Columbia.

Of course, the United States government has hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property in Washington, D. C. and there is one class of residents in the District demanding that the United States government property should be taxed just as other property is, and that Uncle Sam pay taxes accordingly. That plan has never been followed, and it is very doubtful if the value of the United States property will ever be a basis for taxation. Formerly, the United States government used to pay half of the operating expenses of the District of Columbia; now the amount is much smaller and every year it is whittled down, largely because the real estate rate is not nearly as high as in the districts of the Congressmen and Senators.

On Tuesday, the House considered and passed what is known as the Federal Alcohol Control bill. This bill creates within the Treasury Department a new agency to be known as the Federal Alcohol Administration, and is intended to take the place of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration operating under the NRA, which was declared unconstitutional by the United States Supreme Court NRA decision.

The Administration desired a bill that would establish an independent agency to control the liquor business from a national standpoint, but the House bill, as finally passed, creates, as I have said, a bureau in the Treasury Department. There was no fight over the bill as it was considered by the House, except as to sales in bulk, and also as to whether or not there should be set up an independent agency outside of the Treasury Department or the Department of Justice to handle and control the liquor problem from a national standpoint.

Of course, the real purpose of this legislation is revenue, of which the government is sorely in need, and of which it has been in need ever since the panic began. There is a feeling today that while the government will get hundreds of millions of dollars in revenue from the so-called liquor traffic, it is losing the same amount of money because of chiselling and sale of illicit liquor which escapes the government tax.

This bill, as passed by the House, requires everyone in the industry except retailers and brewers to have federal permits, outlaws interlocking directors, and tie-ups between manufacturers and retailers and bans unfair practices.

R. O. P. HENS PRODUCE MORE IN WISCONSIN

The difference between 232 eggs and 85 eggs is the number of eggs that R. O. P. (record of performance) hens produced more than the average Wisconsin hen in 1934, according to a report from C. Howard King, in charge of poultry and egg marketing in the department of agriculture and markets.

The performance records of R. O. P. hens have so conclusively proved the economy of having these high producers that in spite of 47,257 R. O. P. chicks being hatched in 1935, a total of 5,000 more than in 1934, the increase fell far short of satisfying the demand, said Mr. King. This condition of demand exceeding supply existed in the face of the fact that R. O. P. chicks were sold for almost five times the price of ordinary chicks.

The general shortage Mr. King pointed out exists chiefly in the heavy breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Wyandottes, and Rhode Is and Reds.
