Village Park Bathing Beach Popular Place

The bathing beach at the village park was a very popular place the past week during the extreme heat spell when the thermometer soared as high as 103 degrees. The season's record heat wave started last Friday and the temperature registered ninety degrees and above since that time until Thursday evening of this week when showers and a cool air mass from the Northwest moved in.

Swimming at the local beach gave relief to many sweltering people, old and young alike, especially on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Monday evening the beach and water were really crowded, drawing the most people of the summer. Large numbers also took advantage of the water in the mornings and afternoons but the most swimmers donned their suits and trunks on these evenings.

Improvements have been made at the beach recently, adding to its beauty and complete facilities for bathing and relaxation. This week floodlights were erected above the beach under the supervision of Village Superintendent William Schaub and are lighted at night besides the regular park lights. The lights shine out on the water almost to the effectiveness of daylight. Lights were also installed in the bathhouse. A platform above the long pier extending into the water has been erected for the life guard so that he may have a good view of all bathers. This offers further protection, so that even the smallest children can swim with absolute safety at night. There is no charge for use of the bathhouse.

Trip to New York First Prize in Statesman Contest for Men Only

Joins Other Papers to Find State's "King of Kookery"

Paul Kral Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Game for Benders

Paul Kral of this village, who starred in athletics for Kewaskum High school the past few seasons, entered "Baseball's Hall of Fame" by pitching a no-hit no-run game for the West Bend Benders against Menomonee Falls Sunday in the Land of Lakes league. West Bend won the game 17 to 0. Kral's perfect performance was in the seven inning second game of a double-header against Falls. The Benders also won the first game, 10 to 0, behind the 4-hit pitching of Potter.

"Trit" Kral, Paul's older brother, who played with Kewaskum teams many seasons, was catcher in the game. Paul did not allow a man to even reach first base until two men were out in the sixth inning. It was Kral's own error that sent a man to second in that inning but that was as far as he got. The only other man to reach base also got there on an error. In his no-hit pitching Kral did not walk a man and struck out seven men. The Benders are in second place in the Lakes standings as a result of Kral's pitching, who has won nearly all of that team's games. He also has one two-hit performance to his credit. It is only too bad the Kral brothers do not play here with the Kewaskum team.

County 4-H Fair Plans Are Nearing Completion

Plans for the 1940 Washington County 4-H Club Fair are rapidly nearing completion according to those in charge of the various departments of the fair.

Three Washington county bands have been engaged to provide music for the county 4-H fair visitors. The bands and the dates they will play are:

August 16th—Kewaskum Community Band.
August 17th—West Bend Moose Band.
August 18th—Hartford Concert Band.

In the junior farmers and junior homemakers divisions the age limit is from 20-28 years. These groups include former 4-H club members who remain in club work until they reached the upper 4-H age limit. Additional classes of livestock such as the fat barrow, the fat lamb, the baby beef have been included in the junior farmers exhibits. The junior homemakers have an excellent opportunity to display a wide variety of sewing and needle work.

While the county fair is called a 4-H fair, this does not mean that exhibitors are limited to that organization. Any junior youth organization member is eligible to exhibit and participate in the fair. Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, CYO members, Campfire Girls, FFA members and any other junior youth organization membership is cordially invited to exhibit. A junior exhibitor must be a member of a youth organization to be eligible to show at the fair. The premium list includes a reasonable number of possible exhibits for any youth organization.

Anyone wishing to have a premium list may obtain one from the secretary by requesting it.

Kewaskum men who do a little cooking in their homes now and then have a chance right now to capitalize on their experience.

It has been talked about for years but now it's here—the "King of Kookery" contest—a dairy menu contest for men only. The purpose of this contest is to find the best amateur male cook in Wisconsin, a man who can cook a real dairy dinner.

Every man over 16 who thinks he understands the fundamentals of the culinary art (professional cooks, chefs and bakers not included) is a potential "King of Kookery," and, if he proves his right to the title, will find he has spent his time gainfully as an amateur cook.

He may win a round trip to New York City with all expenses paid. This would be in addition to winning the honor of being "King of Kookery." If his efforts at preparing a dairy menu prove second best he can still make a round trip to Chicago to the All-Star football game with all expenses paid.

If he fails to win first or second place he still has a chance to win third, fourth, fifth or sixth place—which, in each instance, would be the opportunity to make a round trip to the Wisconsin State Fair with all expenses paid.

The contest is being sponsored by the Kewaskum Statesman, the Wisconsin Press association, and the Wisconsin Dairy Industries association as an activity in connection with Dairy Day at the state fair, August 23.

Here are the rules:

1. Submit a plan to this paper for a dairy dinner using Wisconsin dairy products. Entries will be judged for their colorful appetizing appeal and balanced nutrition. The winning entry must be prepared by the winner at the Wisconsin State Fair.
2. Entries are to be written in ink on one side of the paper. No extra merit will be given for specially decorated entries.
3. Entries will be judged by a committee of impartial, well known chefs. Decision of the judges will be final.
4. All entries must be in not later than 12 o'clock midnight, August 10.

Gutekunst, formerly of New Fane. No one has been employed in his place at the store.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Wollensak and two children last Friday moved from their apartment in the Hausmann home on Fond du Lac avenue into the Aug. C. Ebenreiter home just north of the village, which they will occupy with Mr. Ebenreiter and his son.

Campaign of 'Peace Rumors' Precedes Britain 'Blitzkrieg'; F. D. and Willkie Set for Battle

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Seeking John Bull's Eye.

THE CAMPAIGN: Chicagings-on

This was the Democratic convention's lead-off message: "I (Senator Barkley) and other close friends of the President, have long known that he has no wish to be a candidate again. We know, too, that in no way whatsoever has he exerted any influence in the selection of the delegates, or upon the opinions of delegates in this convention."

"Tonight, at the specific request and authorization of the President, I am making this simple fact clear to this convention. The President has never had, and has not today, any desire or purpose to continue in the office of President, to be a candidate for that office, or to be nominated by the convention for that office. He wishes in all earnestness and sincerity, to make it clear that all of the delegates to this convention are free to vote for any candidate. That is the message I deliver to you tonight from the President of the United States, by authority of his word."

Some 22,500 men and women, packed into the Chicago stadium, heard the presidential message. It was a turning point, probably, in American history. For the convention the next day nominated President Roosevelt for a third term. No man had ever before received this honor. A day later, Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, was nominated vice president virtually at the request of the President. The convention indicated the issues would be foreign affairs and the utilities, principally.

Wendell Willkie in the meantime warned the Democrats. He said he didn't want to hear any more about the Insull scandal, and indicated that he was tired of wisecracks about public utilities. It was true that some Democrats had been whispering at a great rate along those lines. Willkie was a bad man to peep and smear, for he is peppy, peppy, and given to rough, biting invective. But Willkie did agree with the Democrat Bankhead, in condemning the speculative orgies of the 1920s. Willkie said, too, that he liked to protect the investments of the people against the assaults of their governments. This all emanated from Willkie's vacation haunt at Colorado Springs, as did a statement that he welcomed the third term issue presented by Roosevelt. What price "party"? Wendell

King Zog of Albania, his tiny crown prince Skander, and his half-American Queen Geraldine, plus Zog's sisters three, were planning to come to the United States, that new "St. Helena."

Allyn Jennings, general superintendent of New York city's parks since 1936, became the new general director of New York's famous Bronx zoo.

Pope Pius instructed his official nuncio to France, Valerio Valeri, to give every aid and support to Marshal Henri Petain's new fascist government. Generals Petain and Weygand, two of the triumvirate, are devoutly clerical. Dark-faced, white-tied Laval, the third member, is not.

Oswald Lewis, Tory member of parliament, suggested that England sell America at least one of the West Indian islands for use as an air and naval base. This, said Mr. Lewis, would cancel that "eternal" war debt question.

Under Prime Minister James Fraser New Zealand installed a five-man war dictatorship on the five-man "Churchill" English model.

Dr. Evan Thomas, brother of Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, became chairman of New York's metropolitan board for conscientious objectors, whose object was to offer consultation and advice to pacifists. "America seems to be caught in a wave of militarism, which cannot now be halted," said Dr. Thomas. He added that he thought war and totalitarianism were just about the same thing.

HOLY LAND: Bombed!

Italian airplanes raided British-mandated Palestine, and dropped 50 bombs in 20 minutes. They peppered the Mediterranean port of Haifa, where an oil pipeline for the British navy feeds John Bull's water monsters. It brings in petroleum from the rich fields of Iraq, and is considered a key spot in the empire. In the Italian aerial stab, one American oil-refiner was injured. His name was Flannigan. Italian planes also were raiding off the Grecian coast, while Italian and British warships were skirmishing up and down the blue waters of Mare Nostrum. But the loudest bombs exploded on the pages of the Italian newspapers. The above was ancient Palestine's first experience with streamlined, modern, bellicose methodology.

II Spanish War??

The hideous Spanish civil war, 1936-39, killed more people by murder and execution than it did in actual fighting between the armies. It resulted in the clerical dictatorship of Generalissimo Franco, a kindly, pudgy creature on the whole. Meanwhile, a number of the exiled Spanish reds fled to Latin American spots like Mexico and Chile. In Mexico they made a certain amount of trouble, but in Chile they agitated actively against the fascists of Spain. Chile had a so-called Popular Front government, and loyalist Spain had had the same thing. The Spanish radicals fled quite at home in Santiago and Valparaiso.

But Franco didn't like all this. He was touchy about his relations with Latin America, and distrusted Popular Fronts of all sorts. Chile had been pro-loyalist in the Spanish civil war. So Franco broke off Spanish-Chilean diplomatic relations—a bitter family quarrel between mother and child. It was too bad, for Chile (a long strip of rocky coastline, with only 4,000,000 people) could hardly damage Senor Franco, the friend of Herr Hitler. Meanwhile, Chile's President Pedro Aguirre banned strikes, lockouts, and other labor disturbances, and kept a cold hawk eye on the local Nazis. This was one of the things that Franco-Hitler did not like.

NEXT DOOR: Canadians

Every Canadian had to register, if he or she was over the tender age of 14. Failure to register means a fine of $200, and three months imprisonment. Also, there was provided a $10 daily fine for lateness in registration. False information means another $200, and refusal to answer questions costs $100. Other "crimes" cost $50 apiece. If you lose your registration card—and it may be demanded at any time—it's an additional $20. Observers declared that totalitarian England, on the point of invasion, still appeared more liberal than the No. 1 dominion, safe by 3,000 miles.

Meanwhile, Canada was not invited to the Pan-American conference at Havana, which tended to simplify things considerably, for Canada has no exact legal standing under international law.

MANILA: Quezon, M.

The little boss, Manuel Quezon, of the Philippine islands, began to talk about a semi-dictatorship way out there toward Asia. Already Senor Quezon has compulsory military service. Now he wants social restraints, social justice, and the yielding of property rights. He does not want the Japanese, incidentally, at any price. By 1945, the Filipinos were supposed to get their complete independence, but with Nippon on the loose, things did not look so promising, and Senor Quezon was doing a bit of back-watering.

Meanwhile, at Tokyo, the Japanese army forced out of office the comparatively liberal Yonai cabinet. Prince Konoye (father of the captain of the Princeton golf team) was scheduled to come in, and bring with him a new semi-fascist setup. No wonder that Senor Quezon felt jumpy, only a couple of jumps away from that Mikadonian rising sun. The Filipinos began to realize that there was worse than your kindly old Uncle Sam.

FLYING: Atlantic II

The civil aeronautics board, at Washington, gave permission for Export Airlines Inc. to start a transatlantic service, in competition with Pan-American Airways. The new service was to be operated between New York and Lisbon, and was set to start at a near date. The Export outfit announced that its planes and ships would be co-ordinated. Nothing succeeds like competition, said the aviation critics, and they pointed out (as proof) that Roosevelt had liberalized the Republican party.

BALTIC: Bust-Ups

The three little Baltic states of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia went red, and then went Russian. They were to become federal states of the great Soviet Union, which already had approximately a dozen of these entities (they vary somewhat, and some are elaborately subdivided). In Estonia, the red vote totalled 93 per cent. Lithuania, a thoroughly Catholic country, voted 90 per cent red, just the same.

Troops were stationed in all three little countries, and they helped influence the voters and the voting. It meant about 7,000,000 more Soviet citizens, and was a kick in the teeth to the Germans and British alike. Three more independent states disappeared from the map of Europe. At this point, the only independent countries left on the continent, exclusive of Germany, Italy, and Russia, were: Switzerland, Sweden, Spain, Portugal, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece, Bulgaria—going, going, gone!

Compulsory Military Training To Be Live Topic in Campaign

Nothing More Vital as a National Policy Has Come Over The Horizon in Long Time; Might Destroy Morale of Army.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON—Since it is apparent that the question of compulsory military training is certain to become a much discussed subject during the coming presidential campaigns, I think it may be well to delve into the subject again with the idea of reporting and analyzing recent developments. There was a first flush of heat churned up when President Roosevelt proposed the idea to congress, but that was small potatoes compared with what is coming. And I hope that the topic does become one of the really great issues of a political campaign because nothing more vital as a national policy has come over the horizon in a long, long time.

William Bruckart

I sat in the gallery of the senate the other day and listened to half a dozen speeches about the Burke bill which seems to carry out approximately what President Roosevelt has in mind about having all boys and girls trained for military service under government compulsion. Four of those speeches were favorable to the program, but I could not help noting how each one of the senators supporting the idea skated all around the vital points. There was an entire lack of foundation in their argument. They appeared to believe such a course as universal training was necessary only because the President had said so. In other words, two-thirds of the argument thus far advanced for universal training has been predicated upon the saying of somebody else, an argument that permitted the senator or the representative or the member of the President's official family to make a speech and use the words "for our national defense."

Naming Knox and Stimson Might Be Political Trick

Nor can I figure out why Mr. Roosevelt resorted to the appointment of two Republicans—Col. Frank Knox and Henry L. Stimson—to be heads of the navy and war departments, respectively, unless it was a political trick. While these two men may be, and probably are, good men, it strikes me that there surely were two good Democrats available somewhere among the 135,000,000 Americans.

National Policy Requires Vast Amount of Thought

It strikes me as quite silly to speak and vote for a national policy as far-reaching, as vital, as revolutionary, as this one only because of a wave of hysterical emotion. That, however, is just my opinion. I shall continue to feel, nevertheless, that enactment of legislation that permits a government to take a year or two years out of the lives of any people in peace time requires a vast amount of thought—an amount of thought far greater than the current program has received. And to emphasize my conviction further, I have to urge that what is most needed of all is a clear cut statement from the head of the nation!

In an effort to find out what the army officers would do with the program I have talked with a great many of them, individually and unofficially. Since I am not trained in the field of military training or strategy, it was necessary that I have fundamentals explained to me. Perhaps it is a slight exaggeration to say that enactment of a universal compulsory military training program would overwhelm the army. It is not an exaggeration to say, however, that wholesale induction of young men into the military service would present this country with its finest mess in governmental management yet to be observed. In short, the army is not prepared to handle those extra tens of thousands of recruits and, therefore, any move in that direction without preparation from the standpoint of officers and housing and guns for training is simply laying the groundwork for greater waste even than we witnessed in the ill fated PWA, the Panama canal dam and the Florida ship canal rolled into one. It would be comparable to having 10 cowboys handling a 100,000 range cattle.

The army knows this fact. The army is trying to expand as rapidly as it can, but the army will be asked to do the impossible if it has thousands upon thousands of men tossed into its lap, with no arrangements for training them.

Would Destroy Morale Of Our Fighting Force

This may be said to be an unimportant argument. I say that it is vital. The reason is that once the army is discredited, as it surely would be, by failure to do its assigned job—because the politicians

MILITARY TRAINING

Formation of a national policy requires a vast amount of thought. Compulsory training might affect the morale of the army. History shows that dictatorship usually follows forced training of civilians. Naming of Knox and Stimson might be a political trick. One must go back a few months to understand these appointments, when the war gave Roosevelt an excuse to get excited.

Two Mints Forced on 24-Hour Schedule by Coin Demand

WASHINGTON.—The United States mints at Philadelphia and Denver have gone on a 24-hour day operating schedule and the San Francisco mint will adopt a 16-hour day to meet an unprecedented boom in the coin market, Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, announced. She said that mints had a record production of coins during the 1940 fiscal year because of soaring business in slot machines and other devices operated by coins. A total of 768,093,000 coins valued at $39,944,000 was produced in the last fiscal year, but the mints delivered a total of 811,467,000 coins to the States treasurer for distribution to the banks, an increase of 106 per cent.

She said that never in the mint's history had there been such a rush never would accept the responsibility—then the morale of your fighting force is gone. Any one knows that maintenance of high spirit among a fighting force is the first essential. Moreover, if the army was discredited, smeared, blackened by political attack, who among those willing to enlist will want to be associated with it thereafter. The number would be surprisingly few.

I have omitted reference thus far to the fears that I have concerning use of such a national policy upon the nation's general attitude. Once before, in these columns, I wrote that the fall of every nation, dictatorship or its subservience to dictatorship, was preceded by forced training of all civilians. They became the tools of a few leaders and those few leaders eventually were knocked off, even as Hitler and Stalin and Mussolini have done. Yes, I am convinced that universal military training constitutes another and an important step towards dictatorship. It may be called un-American in principle.

Since the war in Europe gave Mr. Roosevelt an excuse to get excited and to spread hysteria throughout the nation, to seek and gain appropriations of $10,000,000,000 more from congress, this compulsory military training idea has been spawning. It was due to follow the proposals for the sensational expansion of the army and the navy. It was the next and the logical step. With plenty of money to spend and no plans for spending it, comes now the program for universal training. Things like that happen when the wedding takes place after a courtship of two days.

One Has to Go Back Several Months to Understand These Appointments

I have recorded in these columns before the hapless type of Harry Woodring, who was forced out of the job of secretary of war. I have told likewise how the late Claude Swanson was unable to do his job as secretary of the navy because of illness. I have told of the strife within the war department and it was common knowledge that Charles Edison was named secretary to succeed Mr. Swanson only to boost his political stock, now shaped up in a campaign for governor of New Jersey. All of these things obtained through months past, when—as we are told these days—the Chief Executive knew the war in Europe was coming head on. The fact also remained that there was no great movement on the part of Mr. Roosevelt or any of his advisors to place "big men" in the jobs which direct military preparedness.

I wonder, in view of all of these things, whether any one can be blamed for smelling politics? I wonder, also, whether any one can feel that the appointment of Colonel Knox and Mr. Stimson represented anything more than the cheapest type of politics, stirred into the bowl just a few days before the Republicans met in their national convention to nominate Mr. Willkie. It is to be hoped that the two new secretaries will be able to do a good job. The secretary of war, of course, will be the man to have charge of the universal training, if congress ever enacts it into law. But Secretary Stimson, a Republican all of his life, becomes the mouthpiece of the President of the United States who appointed him. He cannot, he dare not, be anything else, and it is not a situation that convinces me of a real desire for national unity.

So, instead of all of this hullabaloo, why not have some honesty and common sense? Why not let the army go ahead with its program of expanding slowly and as it is capable of taking care of the job? That would bring us nine great divisions, ready to move on 24 hours started landing in Kansas City, as possible.

Moreover, we might go ahead and build a real national defense that will stand the test, because there surely is money enough available under the recent appropriations. It that, and every one else says it can be done. It will fail miserably, as it ought to, however, if the government plan is to build the house first and construct a foundation for the federal housing projects in West Virginia flopped because the houses were built of one dimension and the foundations of another.

State Fair to Be Best Ever—Entering its nineteenth year, the Wisconsin State Fair is preparing a celebration of nine days, August 17 to 25, that will be worthy of such a rare celebration, with the pick of European, American entertainers, more premiums and daily races. The round sum of $55,000 is being spent for entertainment, $5,000 more than has ever been spent before. State Orders Speed Survey—A survey of unauthorized speed limit signs alleged to be displayed at highways in Wisconsin and federal by George W. Night Sports, in Tenth Year, Going Stronger Than Ever

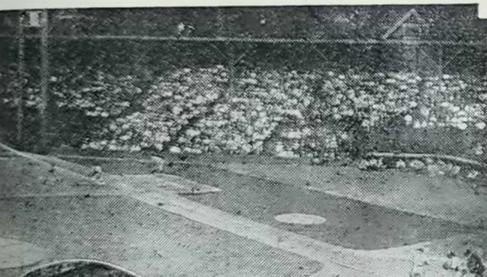

The national pastime is still baseball, due, say some sports authorities, to the success of NIGHT baseball. Ten years ago this summer the first night game in organized baseball was played at Des Moines, Iowa. The game was a success, ball, backbone of the whole baseball industry, flood-lighted through the depression. Fans like the nocturnal sport. It enables them to see games without neglecting their work, or without calling on their grandmothers to be guests of honor at too many funerals.

Ten manufacturers are now busy turning out the aluminum reflectors which, with the special "alzac" finish developed in Aluminum Research Laboratories at New Kensington, Pa., resist all weather conditions. It is claimed. They are now used in virtually all ball parks.

Laundry Space
Space must be provided for laundry and household tasks in the small home. If there is a basement, laundry and most of the work can be done there. Wherever it is better for laundering clothes on the first floor. Laundry is difficult at best, but when done in an unpleasant dark surmounting, it becomes needlessly messy. Sometimes chores and work can be done in the kitchen, and to some extent in the garage.

Learns to Fly in Day
Twenty-six-year-old Saxon Cole of Ottawa learned to fly between dawn and dusk. After a trip with a friend he joined the Ottawa Flying club and reported to the instructor, William Nixon, at seven o'clock in the morning. In 15 minutes they were in the air in a dual-controlled monoplane and, after 5 1/2 hours' instruction, with time off for lunch and tea, Cole flew solo. It was then 9 p. m. He flew around for 15 minutes and made a creditable landing.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK—Future historians, dredging up the story of the wreck of European civilization, will find that some of these tragic events were precisely described before they happened. Some of these prophecies may be more illuminating than later "spot news" accounts.

There's Henri de Kerillis, French Nationalist deputy, recently arrived in Ottawa in behalf of General De Gaulle's die-hard committee. On December 22, 1939, M. De Kerillis published in his newspaper "Epoque" a minutely detailed account of a conspiracy to oust Premier Daladier and install Marshal Petain in that office. He wrote:

"The object of this conspiracy is to convince the greatest and most famous of military chiefs—Marshal Petain—that he must resign himself to accepting the premiership in a government of national union in which the most notorious defeatists are to be included. According to the conspirators, the old marshal unconsciously will have to play a role analogous to that of Hindenburg, opening the road to Hitler in a moment of discouragement. And by his presence alone, he will neutralize our military chiefs."

In Ottawa, M. De Kerillis says, "Marshal Petain is not a traitor. He did not know when he capitulated that he would go to war with England, tomorrow with the United States, and the next day with Russia. He did not know that when one is in the hands of the Germans one cannot stop."

As a journalist and nationalist deputy, M. De Kerillis has been a spokesman for French Nationalist opinion for many years. He was a lone voice supporting General De Gaulle in 1934, when the latter was pleading for a mechanized army to meet the German onslaught. He has vehemently denounced both Communist and Nazi subversive influences. In a review of his activities, one utterance of Adolf Hitler, as reported by Dr. Rauschnig, has been pertinently quoted:

"Our strategy will destroy the enemy from within and oblige him to conquer himself. Everywhere in the country of the enemy we will have friends who will aid us."

MRS. CLARA ADAMS rides airplanes because she "loves to watch clouds." Her flight on the first stratoliner from New York to Los Angeles rounds out her first 26 years as a "first-flight-er." She has flown in planes, gliders, Zeppelins and free balloons, on notable first flights whenever possible, but has never touched the control stick. She says she has no interest in mechanics or mechanical problems.

She is the widow of George L. Adams, a millionaire tanner of Pennsylvania who died in 1929, leaving her an ample fortune with which to indulge her favorite pastime.

Mrs. Adams was born in Cincinnati, the daughter of Walter Grabau, a music teacher. In 1914, at the age of 15, she had her first plane ride at Lake Eustis, Fla., with Walter E. Johnson at the controls. Since then, her mother has complained that there's no keeping her down to earth. She was a passenger on the first transatlantic trip of the Graf Zeppelin in 1928, and in 1932 on the giant plane Dornier Do-X on its flight from Rio de Janeiro to New York.

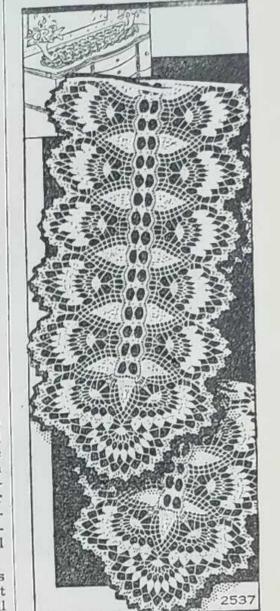

In 1936 she crossed the Pacific on the first China Clipper; and, also in that year, she was on the ill-fated Zeppelin Hindenburg when it crossed to this country. She saw it burn a year later. In 1937 she made a round-trip non-stop flight from New York to Bermuda, and July 15 of last year landed back in Newark after a flight around the world in 16 days, 19 hours and 4 minutes—a record for globe girdling.

She is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and has what she describes as a "string-bean figure suitable for flying." She has gray eyes and reddish-brown hair, dresses simply and attractively.

IT IS perhaps just as well that Carl Brisson, Danish film star, has landed safely in America. He once popped the Crown Prince Wilhelm on the nose, and there's no telling but that Herr Hitler has that somewhere in his bring-up file. Born Carl Pedersen, the big, handsome Carl Brisson was welterweight champion of Denmark at 15 and later middleweight champion of Europe. After fighting 72 professional ring battles, he became a star of vaudeville and musical comedy. He discovered Greta Garbo.

The kaiser hired him to teach Willy to box. The young Dane's arm slipped and the prince got a bump on the nose that jarred the whole Hohenzollern family. In England he was a stage favorite in "The Three Musketeers," "Katja" and "Cleopatra." His American film debut was in 1934 in "Murder at the Vanities." He shows much less wear and tear than American lads with a cauliflower past, and arrives with a grand baritone voice and an impressive continental reputation—even if his country was shot out from under him.

Nearly 173 million pounds of creamery butter were made in the state last year, according to the annual reports of Wisconsin plants. The total amount of creamery butter made in the state in 1938 was about 189 million pounds. Reed canary grass is best adapted to soils too wet for cultivated crops. A good stand will come as close to providing all season grazing as any pasture possibility for Wisconsin. Tests made with a crew of parachute jumpers indicate the practicability of dropping fire fighters from airplanes to put out small fires in inaccessible back-country areas.

FIELD BINDWEED CONTROL
This is the time of the year when it is easiest to detect infestations of field bindweed (creeping jenny). The weed is now in full bloom. This weed, because of its deep growing roots, its persistent habit of growth, and its tendency to smother and destroy farm crops can readily be called Wisconsin's worst weed. It is a vine which in appearance greatly resembles wild morning glory. The weed tends to grow flat to the ground unless other plants are there to serve as props for it to climb upon.

Control measures in small patches consist of applying sodium chlorate at the rate of 4 pounds per square rod. This chemical, salt-like in appearance, may be applied dry. For large areas the use of chemicals is too expensive. In such cases alternate fallowing and rye cropping is the best and cheapest method of control.

SERVE A SUCCULENT STEW (Recipes Below)

There's something so homey and tasty about a good stew, that most folks feel cheated unless a stew of one sort or another appears on the family table fairly regularly.

There are stews and stews, of course—lamb stews with feathery light dumplings and an assortment of vegetables to add flavor (and vitamins!); hearty Mulligan stews; and stews of chicken that masquerade under all sorts of fancy names.

There are even "Cinderella Stews," which start out as leftovers and end up as a well-seasoned one-dish meal.

Remember that "serving a stew" is an economical measure, and a time-saving one, as well. Stews and meat pies usually make use of the less expensive cuts of meat. Their preparation is simple, and they make a satisfying "one-dish meal," indeed.

Lamb Stew With Mint Dumplings.

- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 1/2 pounds lamb (cut in pieces)
- 4 cups boiling water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 3/4 cup carrots (sliced)
- 3 cups potatoes (cut in cubes)
- 3 onions (sliced)
- 1 1/2 cups tomatoes (canned)
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 cup cold water

Heat butter in large saucepan. Add meat and brown. Add boiling water, and seasonings; cover. When boiling, reduce heat and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Add vegetables and continue cooking slowly for 1 hour. Mix flour and water to a paste and add slowly. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Increase heat and when boiling vigorously add dumplings. Mint dumplings:

- 2 cups bread flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup lard
- 2 tablespoons fresh mint or parsley (chopped)
- 3/4 cup milk (approximately)

Sift together dry ingredients, cut in fat and add chopped mint. Add milk and mix gently with a fork. Drop by spoonfuls into boiling stew. Cover and continue to steam for 15 minutes without lifting the cover.

Mulligan Stew.

- 1 medium size can corned beef—minced
- 1 onion—minced fine
- 1 No. 2 can peas with liquid
- 1 medium size bottle tomato catsup
- 1 cup water
- Salt and pepper to taste

Put all ingredients in saucepan and simmer gently over low flame for about one hour. The flavor improves with the length of cooking time.

One-Dish Sunday Dinner.

For a practical, one-dish meal that can be left simmering while one is in church on Sunday, chicken rice pilaff is unsurpassed. Cut a 3-pound chicken in pieces and fry in butter to a golden brown. Add salt and pepper to taste. When nearly brown drain off all but 1/4 cup fat, add an onion, finely sliced, a little chopped parsley and 1/2 of a bay leaf and fry 10 minutes longer. Wash 2 cups rice and spread over the chicken; add 3/4 cups boiling water, one small sliced tomato (or 2 tablespoons canned tomatoes) and 1 teaspoon salt. Stir gently; cover, bring to a boil and then simmer for one hour. A small family might have the best parts of the chicken fried one day, and the rest cooked this way the next day, using only 1 cup of rice and 2 cups of water.

Brunswick Stew. Put one gallon of water in a large iron pot, bring to a boil, and add one tablespoon of salt. Add one onion minced fine, one pint of shelled butter beans, six potatoes peeled and sliced, six ears of corn cut from the cob, one-half pound of fat salt pork or bacon cut into shreds, one-half teaspoon each of black and cayenne pepper. Two squirrels or one large fat hen, disjointed and soaked in cold water to draw the blood out, are next thrown into the pot. Cover closely and stew very slowly for two hours, stirring occasionally from the bottom. Stew one hour longer, add two teaspoons of white sugar and one quart of tomatoes peeled and sliced. Ten minutes before serving add one-fourth pound of butter cut into bits and rolled in flour. Bring to a boil again and serve on soup plates with dry rice. This is a dish men like and one they can excel in preparing.

Creole Chicken Gumbo File. 1 1/2-pound chicken. Flour, salt, pepper. 1/2 pound lean ham. 2 tablespoons lard or butter. 1 onion (chopped). 1 sprig thyme. 1 bay leaf. 1 tablespoon parsley (minced). Garlic, amount you like, rub bowl 1/4 red pepper pod, without seeds. Boiling water. 1 dozen shrimp or more. Creole Gumbo File. Clean and cut up chicken as for a fricassee. Dredge with flour, salt and pepper. Cut ham into small dices. Place lard or butter in soup kettle or deep stewing pot and when hot put in the chicken and ham. Cover closely and brown for 5 to 10 minutes. Then add onion, parsley, garlic and thyme, stirring occasionally to prevent burning. When nicely browned, add boiling water just to cover chicken. Add bay leaf broken very fine—and red pepper pod. Lower flame and allow Gumbo to simmer gently until chicken is tender—2 to 4 hours. Remove carcass and bones. Just before serving, add 2 dozen shrimp, diced. Heat through thoroughly. Remove from flame and add 1/2 tablespoon to 2 tablespoons of Gumbo File.

ODDS AND ENDS

Have you been listening to that new Drew Pearson-Robert Allen program, "Washington Merry-Go-Round," giving intimate glimpses of the nation's capital and what goes on there? ... Melvyn Douglas, playing a Paris policeman in "He Stayed for Breakfast," had to learn to salute, but the man who taught him was left-handed, and Douglas got it in reverse.

Rita Hayworth may be Hollywood's best dressed girl, but in "It Happened in Paris," her last Columbia picture, she wears only $30 worth of clothes, and in "Before I Die," her present one, she wears only a tawdry $10 evening dress.

An experienced musician declared the other day that the orchestra you hear under Raymond Page's direction on the "Musical Americana" is, man for man, the best now available in this country, and really, something to hear.

Bob Nolan, who wrote "Tumbling Tumbleweeds," has written seven new tunes for "The Thundering Frontier," which stars Iris Meredith and Charles Starrett.

Jean Arthur adopted a baby burro on the "Arizona" location, and then found that building restrictions where she lives don't permit a horse or stable on the premises; she's hoping to get away with having a large dog kennel, since the burro isn't really a horse.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN you see Paramount's "Arise My Love," with Claudette Colbert and Ray Milland, you'll miss the most thrilling thing that has happened so far in the filming of the picture. It occurred in the scene where Milland, Miss Colbert and Garland Lincoln, a veteran Hollywood stunt pilot, are scuffling beside a plane; Miss Colbert, who plays an American newspaper woman in Paris, has a portable typewriter, and Milland is battling with Lincoln.

Just as Milland struck Lincoln, a mechanic inside the cockpit of the plane knocked one of the throttles forward. The right motor was running, and the plane swung around, striking Milland and knocking him to the ground. Wires braced to the tail surface gashed his leg. He insisted that he could continue working, after a doctor had dressed his leg, but Director Mitchell Leisen sent him home and shot around him for the next few days.

They're de-beautifying Louise Platt for "Captain Caution," because Bill Madsen, head makeup artist at the Hal Roach Studios, thinks that the average young screen actress, after being made up, looks just like all the other young actresses in the cast.

So he did things to her that hadn't been done for her previous screen appearances. She's always tried to hide her high forehead; he emphasized it.

sized it. She has a distinctive mouth, strong and wide—she did very little to it, instead of cutting it down. He gave her a complete new jaw line, took some of the sparkle out of her eyes by using small, heavy eyelashes at the ends of her own. And that's the way you'll see her, playing "Corunna," a strong-willed, determined girl who helps to fight the war of 1812.

The artificial fog that hung like blown flour over the "Captain Caution" set at Hal Roach Studios during the shooting of several sequences bothered members of the cast and crew; they complained that the oil mixture left a bad taste in their mouths. So the special effects men, always obliging, introduced vanilla into the fog.

The result was worse than ever—even roast beef and ham sandwiches tasted like vanilla. The next day plain fog was used again, and cast and crew did no more complaining.

By this time motion picture stars ought to know what to expect if they go to South America. (Remember Robert Taylor's visit?) The enthusiastic fans practically mob them, but the stars seem to love it. Errol Flynn is the latest of the visitors to find out how popular he is. In Port au Spain, Trinidad, at least 3,000 people stormed the airport to see the star of "The Sea Hawk"; later, while Flynn was dining, part of the crowd broke through police lines in the hotel lobby and streamed into the restaurant, overturning tables and chairs. A splintering chair gashed Flynn's leg so badly that it had to be stitched up. His clothes were almost torn from his back.

At Bahia 4,000 fans greeted his arrival. That's the way it's gone everywhere that he went—it's hard on the wardrobe, but fine for the box office!

Recently Frances Langford was just about to go on in the Star Theater program when she was notified that her husband, Jon Hall, had been injured in a powder explosion. Without being able to learn just how seriously he had been hurt Miss Langford sang her song and read her comedy lines, and then rushed to the hospital.

Flow of Bile Is Influenced By Exercise

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the things that formerly was difficult to understand was how some men ate enormous meals and had no trouble with liver or gall bladder while others who ate meals of ordinary size were troubled with indigestion, belching, desire to vomit, constipation, and other signs of a slow or sluggish liver and gall bladder. The explanation is that the heavy eater is one who is also active, takes plenty of exercise—riding, golfing, brisk walks and the other sits at his desk all day.

Nature meant that man should move about, bend his body, reach up and down, all of which not only squeezes the liver and gall bladder but also makes him breathe deeply. Deep breathing, by pressing the diaphragm (floor of chest and roof of abdomen) against the liver, squeezes it and increases the flow of bile.

Will bile not flow unless exercise is taken? Bile is manufactured and will flow down into small intestine, into gall bladder, and from gall bladder also to small intestine, even if no exercise is taken. But the amount made and rapidly with which it flows can greatly be influenced by exercise.

Over a Quart of Bile. Just how much bile is manufactured in 24 hours and how fast it flows is recorded by Dr. I. C. Zuckerman and associates, in American Journal of Digestive Diseases. A patient with a fistula—opening in duct carrying the bile—was observed when starved and no bile taken by mouth. Over a quart of bile was manufactured in 24 hours.

In regard to the rate of flow, it was found that the hourly rate of flow during day and night was fairly regular. There was, however, a six-hour interval during night and early morning (when patient was sleeping) when there was a noticeable decrease in the bile flow.

What does this teach us? It teaches us that when the body is completely at rest, bile flow is slower than when body is active. If several times a day we would bend the body with knees straight or take a few long breaths we could increase the bile flow and prevent constipation.

The Prevention of Stones in Kidneys

TODAY physicians are not content simply to treat kidney stone colic and remove large stones, but are studying the causes of these stones and how best to prevent these stones from forming. The Stone clinic was organized at the Massachusetts General hospital, Boston. Dr. Fuller Albright, in the New England Medical Journal, says: "The Stone clinic represents an effort to learn more about the prevention of kidney stones by a combined study of the problem by the general physician, the chemist and the urologist (specialist in kidney and bladder diseases). There are undoubtedly many factors that influence the formation of stones—stasis (sluggish circulation), infection (from various parts of the body), lack of or insufficient amount of vitamins, lack of colloids (matter or substance in a glue-like condition), excess of crystalloids (matter or substance in a crystal form) in the urine, and so forth."

Method of Treatment. The thought then in investigating stones is that a urine of a certain composition precipitates or manufactures a stone composed largely of the substances thrown down by or precipitated by this certain type of urine—cystine stone, uric acid stone, calcium phosphate stone. This being the case then, medical treatment consists in trying to reduce the manufacture of the substances forming the stone by the urine, or to try to change the composition of the urine so as to keep the substances solvent.

The first step in the treatment is to find out the type of stone that is present. Dr. Albright states that taking large amounts of fluids is ideal treatment for all kinds of stone.

Napoleon—Go away. I'm tired of tourists.

Hitler—I am the conqueror of most of Europe. In two years I have taken nine nations.
Napoleon (bored)—I wish I knew what you smoked.
Hitler—In two months I took Denmark, Norway, Belgium, Holland and France.
Napoleon—Nobody ever takes France. It's purely an illusion.
Hitler—Believe it or not, I have captured France.
Napoleon (derisively)—You and who else?

Hitler—Paris is mine. This tomb is mine. I even own you. Think of it, Napoleon the Great now under the ownership of Adolf Hitler!
Napoleon (wincing)—As if I hadn't suffered enough during those years at St. Helena! Bah, the world must be softening up. You don't look like a conqueror.
Hitler—You don't look any too hot yourself.

Napoleon—Go on with your story. You say you have conquered nine nations?
Hitler—I have the world at my feet.
Napoleon—That's what I was crazy enough to think once! Remember it's only a short trip from your feet to your throat.

Hitler—And do you know what I am going to do next? I am going to capture England!
Napoleon—Take a tip from me and forget it. I once had that idea.
Hitler—I shall capture the British isles and destroy the British empire.
Napoleon—Would you mind repeating that?
Hitler—I shall capture the British isles and destroy the British empire. I shall be boss of Europe and of the world, the greatest conqueror of all time!

Napoleon (beckoning)—Come on in! I'll move over!

The local team played none too good at Campbellsport Sunday and as a result lost its second game out of three in the second half in the Kettle Moraine loop. The score was 5 to 1 and the bump dropped the team down into the middle of the standings.

Again errors were responsible for two of the Belles' runs and the all-around play of the locals could not be termed as wide-awake. In several departments of the game Kewaskum had the upper hand on their opponents but these advantages did not materialize in the scoring column. Kewaskum got just as many hits as the winners (9) but lacked scoring punch and ability to bunch the hits off Rinzell. Honeck fanned 10 of the neighbors while Rinzell whiffed only 5. The locals also had more men left on bases than the Belles. The difference between defeat and victory for Kewaskum resulted from the hits off Honeck being bunched. Harold Marx played his first game of the season with the home side and got one single.

The outcome evened up the series with Campbellsport for the year, Kewaskum having won the first game between the two 4 to 1. The boys got their "Tone Rancer" in the initial inning and then had 8 goose eggs chalked up against them by "Rudy" Rinzell. Kewaskum got a double and two singles in a row and then a walk in the fifth inning and failed to put a run across. Sounds impossible but very true. Kudek's double and single in three times at bat was the best hitting job on the locals' side. Prost connected for a two bagger and single in 4 trips. Two for three by Wachs and Jaeger's homer were best on the offensive side for the winners.

All of Kewaskum's scoring in the first frame happened when Kudek started the game off with a double. Bartel walked and Kudek romped home on Hodge's bobble. The Belles tied it in their half on Jaeger's single. Prost's error and two walks. Two more in the second were scored when Jaeger homered behind Rinzell's single. The rivals tallied 1 more in the 5th on Hodge's single, stolen base, and Wachs' single and the last marker in the 7th came on two more walks and Prost's second error.

The bye results from there being an odd number of teams in the league and each team draws a bye one Sunday of each half. A week from Sunday Kewaskum will play on the home diamond against Elkhart Lake. The feature game this week will be Campbellsport at Adell. Both are undefeated this half.

World's Fair Honors Farmers

FREE "open house" entertainment by major exhibitors, and daily fireworks, dances, band concerts, hilarious outdoor shows and other special events will be part of the program for Farm Week at the 1940 World's Fair in New York. In this picture, Clifford Smith, director of the Firestone Exhibit and chairman of the Farm Week Committee, is discussing plans with Grange Lecturer J. C. Farmer (seated), of the Farm Week Committee, and Fred L. Black, director of the Ford Exposition.

Hundreds of thousands of farmers and their families will be honor guests during Farm Week, which begins August 12. For those who wish to leave their automobiles behind, railroads and bus companies plan special low round trip fares. The Fair itself will issue a Farm Week cut-rate coupon book, entitling its holder to greatly reduced admission prices both to the Fair itself and to various attractions in the Amusement Area.

Mayor LaGuardia's housing committee is arranging to make available any number of clean and comfortable rooms, in private homes close to the 1,200-acre Fair, at a price of $1 a night. For full information about these low-priced, homelike accommodations, farmers are invited to write the Mayor's Official World's Fair Rooming Bureau, Chanin Building, New York City.

Food prices on the Fairgrounds have been carefully regulated. One serves an entire meal for thirty cents. Sandwich stands, where a dime buys either a generous hamburger or a cup of coffee, are scattered throughout the grounds, as are milk booths where children are served at five cents. There is a big supervised Fair playground where children may be parked for ten cents while their parents see the sights.

Monday, August 12, will be designated as Farm Press Day. One of its principal events will be a dinner given by the Ford Motor Company, in the Ford Exposition, for editors and publishers of all farm publications, together with their families.
