Local Pupils First to Receive Accident Prevention Awards

Home and farm junior accident prevention certificates were awarded by the Red Cross to 11 eighth grade pupils at Holy Trinity school, Kewaskum, on Monday. These students have pursued the regular accident prevention course as outlined by the American Red Cross. They are to be commended for being the first school in the West Bend chapter in its history to complete the course and receive an award for home and farm accident prevention, mention of which was made by Henry O. Schwaiber, chairman of the West Bend chapter, in presenting the certificates to the pupils. These eighth graders, who will be alert to preventing accidents, are as follows:

Harold Bath, Joan Dreher, Marie Ketter, Shirley Kohler, Mary Ellen Miller, Leo Nigh, Rita Rohlfinger, Mary Gay Seales, Dorothy Schoofs, Adeline Vorpahl and Anthony Vorpahl.

The Red Cross chapter wants to let it be known that these pupils as well as the Holy Trinity school are to be congratulated on their pioneering efforts in this accident prevention work. It is hoped that other schools in the area will also plan similar courses for their students.

BEDSPRINGS OF PRE-WAR QUALITY AGAIN AVAILABLE

Miller's Furniture stores wish to announce that bedsprings are back on a pre-war quality basis. Anyone whose bedspring has broken coils, sags or is generally worn out need hesitate no longer in replacing it for fear of getting so-called "victory" merchandise. Wooden frames are a thing of the past and coil counts are back to normal.

Restrictions governing the use of steel in spring manufacture have been modified so that the amount of steel per bedspring coincides with product on standards before the war. A resilient bedspring is one of the major requirements for a good night's sleep. It furnishes the support necessary to correct sleeping posture and comfortable relaxation. Consequently, in the interest of health and better rest, inferior springs as well as mattresses should be discarded and replaced with quality equipment without delay.

BAKE SALE AT CHURCH

SUGGESTIONS FOR ROLLING A CIGARETTE

With the current cigarette shortage, we bring you this clipping in which a reporter for one of the metropolitan dailies offers the following amusing suggestions on a timely subject, cigarette rolling:

"After diligent research the following procedure is offered as the correct method of rolling a cigarette:

"Once you have obtained the tobacco and papers, you break the seal on the bag, and open it. There is a tag dangling from the end of the drawstring on the bag. Don't tear it off. You will need it later.

"Next, open the package of papers. Take one out, and bend it into a trough, the long way. Sort of roll one end of it around your index finger, holding it there with your thumb and second finger. Now pour a liberal quantity of tobacco into the trough. Whoops! too much. Oh, well, brush it off your trousers onto the floor. It won't show much on the rug, anyway.

"Now, holding the trough firmly with one hand, close the tobacco sack before you spill any more of it. To do this you put the tag on the end of the drawstring between your teeth. (See, I told you not to tear it off!) and then tighten the string with your free hand. Not that hand, you rummy. Now you have to start all over again.

"Okay, are you back where we left off? Just let the tobacco dangle from your mouth. You're going to need it in a minute anyway.

"With the tobacco hanging there, (keeps you from cussing seize the other end of the cigarette paper with your other hand. Be sure the gummed edge of the paper is away from you. Then fold the closest edge in with your thumb and roll the thumbs upward until the gummed part of the paper sticks out.

"Now lick the gummed portion. (How you do this with that tobacco sack hanging from your teeth still stuck in the reporter. Better drop the sack). Then continue the rolling motion, sealing the tube. Twist the ends so the tobacco won't dribble out, and you have a finished cigarette, as good as anything you can buy.

"What, there's no tobacco in it? Well, you can't have everything!"

Bucklin Will Head March Red Cross War Fund Drive

Judge F. W. Bucklin of West Bend has accepted the chairmanship of the Red Cross war fund drive which will open March 1, according to Henry O. Schwaiber, West Bend chapter chairman.

In accepting this important assignment, Bucklin said he was mindful of the increased need of American Red Cross overseas and that its services during the coming months would require more funds and personnel than in previous years.

The national goal has been set at $200,000,000 which is considerably greater than last year, but the quota for the West Bend chapter will remain at $16,000, the same as in 1944. This includes the same budget as well as our share of the national requirements. The West Bend chapter is comprised of the townships of Barton, Farmington, Jackson, Kewaskum, Trenton, Wayne and West Bend and the villages of Barton, Jackson and Kewaskum as well as the city of West Bend.

Our quota represents the minimum amount of money needed to carry on the many Red Cross activities here and abroad during the coming twelve months. It is, therefore, important that each of us contribute his or her share toward reaching that goal.

Chairman Bucklin announced his committee chairman this week for the forthcoming drive. Each town, village and city in the West Bend chapter area will be headed by a chairman who will select his workers for the drive. Organization meetings for each of these districts will be held between Feb. 20 and 28, the exact date to be set by each chairman. Committee workers will be notified of the time and place of the precinct meetings.

The chairmen are as follows:

Towns—Barton, Paul Cypher; West Bend, Erwin J. Peters; Trenton, H. J. Laughrin; Farmington, Harvey Dettmann; Kewaskum, Al Seefeldt; Jackson, Paul Bartelt; Wayne, George Peter.

Villages—Barton, Herb Matenaer; Kewaskum, Ted Schmidt; Jackson, Elmo Rosenheimer.

City of West Bend—R. S. Grogan.

L. E. Todack, who is public information chairman of the West Bend chapter, will also direct the war fund publicity, assisted by H. H. Kletzen, Wm. Dooley, C. A. Collins, Wm. Jansen and H. C. Kaempfer. E. B. Eklo will assist the general chairman, F. W. Bucklin.

Bucklin again emphasized the widespread activities of the American Red Cross among the members of our military forces. Just recently it became known that the Red Cross had collected and distributed 11,000,000 pints of blood plasma for our fighting men since February, 1941. That one service alone makes our Red Cross worthwhile. It has saved the lives of thousands of men and will continue to save more lives as the western front becomes more active.

Individual quotas for each town and village will be announced next week.

Old Settler Meeting Again is Cancelled

Because of increased wartime restrictions on food supplies and travel, restrictions which particularly frown on the holding of large gatherings, no general meeting of the Washington County Old Settlers' Club & Historical Society will be held this year. It was announced this week by Secretary Arthur E. Kuehlthau, West Bend.

This is the third successive year the war has forced cancellation of the society's annual meeting, and all indications now are that the event will be postponed for the duration of the war. In peacetime the annual dinner and program are held on George Washington's birthday anniversary, Feb. 22.

SKAT TOURNAMENT AT HEISLER'S

Salvation Army Asks for funds; Quota $150

Mrs. David M. Rosenheimer has again consented to direct the annual service appeal of the Salvation Army in Kewaskum. A local quota of $150.00 has been set up for the drive which opens Monday, Feb. 19. A committee composed of the following has volunteered to make the residential canvass: Mrs. Louis Schaefer, Miss Inez Stelplig, Mrs. H. B. Rosenheimer, Mrs. Jean F. Schaefer, Mrs. Oscar Koerbe, Mrs. Jos. Schwink and Mrs. Wm. F. Schaefer.

Clifford Rose will be in charge of the school contacts, A. G. Hron of the Kewaskum Aluminum company, and Lesle Keller of the Kewaskum Creamery employees. M. W. Rosenheimer is treasurer of the fund.

The funds raised hereby are used in the social welfare work by the Salvation Army in Wisconsin. During the past fiscal year three unmarried mothers have been "sheltered and cared for" from Washington county at its home and hospital located in Milwaukee.

"Last year our village went over the quota and with the entire village wholeheartedly supporting this campaign, the committee expects a very successful drive," said Mrs. Rosenheimer.

Belles Beat Highs for First Time in 5 Years

The Kewaskum high eagers were defeated last Friday by their traditional rivals, Campbellsport, by a score of 28 to 21 at Campbellsport. This is the first time in five years that Campbellsport has defeated Kewaskum in basketball. Glen Backhaus of Kewaskum was high scorer all around with 10 points, followed by Kippenhan of Campbellsport with 9. It was one of Campbellsport's better games and one of Kewaskum's poorest.

Tire Quotas Reduced, Panel Information

In 1944 tire panels of war price and rationing boards in this country were given authority to issue ration certificates for about eight million tires. But—f you can remember back in 1941, the last peacetime year—the tire people produced exactly three times that many.

We thought we needed fifty-three million then—when we could have all we wanted. Yet with just a third that amount last year we managed to get along. We have kept all essential transportation rolling. Through rationing and better tire care we're making one normal year's supply do the work of three.

Tires, of course, are on the list of critical items. And, as you know, tire quotas—for civilian passenger cars—will have to be DOWN rather than up, in the first three months of 1945.

So, the good word still is CONSERVATION. More than ever, in the coming months, it will be necessary to drive carefully, keep proper pressures, and RE-CAP IN TIME. Unless worn treads are recapped before the casing of the tire is ruined, there may not be enough tires on wheels throughout this year to keep essential transportation running. Americans are not re-capping tires as they should. In 1943, twenty-two million tires were re-capped. In 1944, the number was only fifteen million. Get a check on your tires tomorrow. More and more re-capping is absolutely necessary if we are going to keep essential transportation rolling this year.

Kewaskum Drivers are Involved in Accidents

A four-car jam-up occurred on Highway 36 in the town of Saukville Sunday, Feb. 4, at 1 a. m. when cars driven by Oscar Rudolph, 35, Saukville, age 21, 1944, 36, Ford Washington, Pvt. Ralph Krauskramer, 23, Marine of Kewaskum, and Eugene Kamin, 24, Kewaskum, West Bend, went into the ditch. The jam-up occurred when Rudolph ran off the road onto the right hand ditch. Poje came along and stopped to give aid parking on the left side of the road. When Krauskramer approached he ran into the ditch to avoid hitting the Poje car, and Kamin, who came along a short time later, did the same thing, crashing into the rear of the Krauskramer car. Poor visibility and slippery roads were blamed. No one was inured.

A car owned by William Ickstadt, West Bend, and driven by his son Lee, collided with an auto driven by Glenway Backhaus, Route 2, Kewaskum, at 8:30 on Tuesday evening at the intersection of Fifth avenue and Poplar st. in West Bend. Ickstadt was traveling south on Fifth avenue at the time and Backhaus was traveling east on Poplar st. No one was injured but both autos were damaged.

Kewaskum Noses Out Butler by One Point

A basket by Jim Bartelt in the last seconds of play gave Kewaskum a 21 to 20 victory over the Butler team of the southern division of the Land O' Lakes league in an exciting exhibition game here Sunday night. The contest was even closer than the one against Butler at Sussex last week Wednesday when the Indians won by three points. Kewaskum held the lead all the way until the last few minutes of the game when Butler went ahead by one point. During the last hectic minutes the spectators were on edge as one team and then the other went ahead. But the home team was on top when the final horn sounded and that's what counts. Kewaskum possessed a slim 6-5 advantage at the quarter and by the intermission had increased it to 16-11. The Indians were still ahead 25-19 at the third quarter but then Butler got hot and Kewaskum was fortunate to end up on top.

Because of it being a non-league affair, two substitutes were in Kewaskum's starting lineup. Regulars replaced them at the first quarter and built up a small lead. The subs were inserted in the game again at the third quarter but before it was over the team came out ahead of the rangy Butler cagers. Honeck and Bartelt scored 11 and 9 points respectively for the winners while Gundrum with 10 points and Dienberg with 9 were best for the losers.

The locals will resume northern division league action Sunday night when Mequon comes here for the first game of the third and last round of play for the season. The Indians have taken Mequon twice this season. Next Friday, Feb. 23, the team is scheduled to play at Menomonee Falls.

Annual Holy Trinity Church Meeting Held; Parish Debt Cleared

The annual parish meeting of Holy Trinity congregation was held in the school hall after mass last Sunday and was well attended. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary, Edward E. Miller, and were approved as read. No election of officers was held as all officers retain their office for another year.

It was reported by the pastor, Rev. F. C. Lajuwil, that the entire debt of the parish has now been cleared as a result of the generous efforts made by the members of the congregation in the last three years. The parish was made debt-free by funds raised through increased poor assessment, pledge donations by the parishioners, and parish sponsored activities and entertainments, included in the clearing of the debt are the many improvements made to the church, rectory and school in the past few years.

Plans were made for the sponsoring of a picnic by the parish this summer. The tentative date has been set for early in June. A committee of members who volunteered their services will plan and make arrangements for the event. It is planned to use the proceeds of this picnic and possibly another one next year, for fixing up and transforming the church basement into church parlors for holding parish activities. The matter of purchasing a new organ for the church was discussed but probably will not be undertaken until after the war. The St. Francis Aid society, which is disbanding, left a sum of $500 in the parish fund which may be used later on toward the purchase of an organ. Other business matters were brought up including a discussion on having the church insulated. After receiving favorable comment, the matter was left in the hands of the advisory committee.

The annual financial report of the parish was distributed to the member families previously and the report was a very favorable one.

Overseas Personnel Needed by Red Cross

Approximately three thousand men and women are needed immediately for American Red Cross service overseas. Hospital workers, field directors and assistants and club workers are among those needed for work in battle zones, according to releases from Red Cross headquarters.

Because of the importance of individual personality as well as individual ability, persons with the highest qualifications are needed. Those most apt to qualify are men and women experienced in civic and recreational leadership.

Most of the overseas positions are open to men between the ages of thirty to fifty and women between the ages of twenty-five and forty-five. Rugged physical standards are necessarily an important part in the requirements. Overseas conditions require stamina and good health.

All those interested should contact the local chapter Red Cross office in the library building, West Bend. Miss Jaehning will be glad to supply additional information and complete details about the requirements for each position. Applications will be forwarded from the local chapter office to the midwestern headquarters office for consideration.

Junior Red Cross Notes

For the third consecutive year the West Bend Junior Red Cross chapter has attained one hundred percent enrollment in the 47 grade and high schools of the chapter. The number of pupils totaled 2,758 and the service fund amounted to $232.76. Enrollment fee totaled $48.50. The service fund is used for buying materials which go into the production items.

Congratulations go to the Orchard Grove school for being the first one in the chapter area to have its production quota completed and checked into the Red Cross office in 1945.

The fifth grade of the McLane school, West Bend, under the direction of Miss Strecker, has prepared an excellent booklet on activities of school children in West Bend for exchange with a classroom in Hawaii.

Welfare services advise that men in service are in critical need of playing cards and other recreational games. Inasmuch as they are not available for purchase in quantities the Junior Red Cross members are urged to turn into their chapter chairman new or used decks of cards, chess men, bingo, flinch, rock, lexicon, contact, quiz games and other miscellaneous games suitable for recreation in hospitals and camps.

Russians Strike for Berlin As Nazis Plan Last-Ditch Defense; New Landings Aid Manila Drive

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Members of Fifth division of Third army warm themselves about bonfire in Luxembourg comfortably ensconced in furniture salvaged from the town's debris.

EUROPE:

Berlin Goal

Berlin was their goal as the First White Russian and the First Ukrainian armies plunged to the winding ice-packed Oder river on a wide front, with German resistance growing stronger as columns of reinforcements rushed to the front and took up their positions in the flaming battle line.

With the two Russian armies drawing up to the Oder on an almost solid front from above Berlin clear down to the Czechoslovakian border, Berlin was imperiled by a powerful outflanking maneuver by Marshal Zhukov from the north and Marshal Konev from the south.

The great thrust on Berlin promised to put the Germans' vaunted Oder river defense line, over two years in the making, to the test, and further strain Nazi strength, already outnumbered by about three to four in the east. In early assaults on the Oder in the Silesian area, German regulars, reinforced by fanatical 16 to 65-year-old home front troops, stubbornly held their ground against the powerhouse attacks of the First Ukrainian army, which had been the first to reach the defense line from central Poland.

Finish Fight

Long the hallowed center of Prussianism, Berlin, it appeared, was not to be spared the fate of other great European capitals as the Nazis made strong points of its public buildings and institutions for a desperate stand and prepared to blow up all factories and installations in the district. "Not one stone atop another... will be left... when the Russians enter," proclaimed Propaganda Minister Goebbels.

Meanwhile, as thousands of German refugees streamed into the Reich from the east and Hitler called upon all able-bodied men for a last ditch fight and all others for industry, Nazi leaders threatened "... cowardly creatures who try to desert the fatherland in its hour of need." They said: "We shall not permit them to throw a wrench in the works... Germany will fight on no matter where or under what conditions..."

Fear Yank Drive

Attacking in snow and slush in strength along an expanding front below Aachen, Yanks cut the enemy's vaunted Siegfried defenses to the test again even as Berlin feared an all-out drive to break the deadlock in the west.

At the same time, the Germans began to slowly break ground in Alsace to the south, where mixed U. S. and French forces increased heavy pressure on their huge pocket below Strasbourg and threatened the enemy's escape roads eastward to the Rhine.

No less than 100,000 U. S. troops reportedly burrowed their way into the outer defenses of the Siegfried line along the sector from which Von Rundstedt had burst into Belgium and Luxembourg in his great December drive. As the Yanks plowed through heavy snowdrifts, they met bitter opposition at Nazi strong points.

PACIFIC:

Strategic Moves

Strategist and tactician, Gen. Douglas MacArthur scored two more landings in Luzon, directly aiding his triumphant march on Manila, while far to the north, U. S. forces continued to drive to the eastward in bitter hand-to-hand fighting, which threatened to cut the island in two.

In one of the landings, U. S. troops overran the Subic Bay area, which opened up a big harbor for naval use and supply of American forces above Manila, while the other landing Yank stepped ashore below the Philippine capital itself, threatening any enemy effort to bring up reinforcements from the south. As long as MacArthur still appeared to be holding back some of his strength, Jap commanders were reluctant to commit sizeable forces into the battle in the Manila region.

In one of the most dramatic episodes of the Philippine invasion, picked men of the 6th Ranger Battalion and Filipino guerrillas made a surprise attack on a Japanese prison compound behind enemy lines on Luzon, freeing 496 Americans, 23 British, three Dutchmen and a Norwegian. Although over 100 were so weak from malnutrition, disease and old battlewounds that they had to be carried off on husky Ranger backs or in carabao carts, only two failed to survive the 25-mile journey to safety.

CONGRESS:

Busy Session

With publication of President Roosevelt's agreement to the separation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with its vast loaning powers from the U. S. department of commerce, the senate passed the George bill authorizing the action by a 74 to 12 vote and thereby paved the way for the confirmation of Henry A. Wallace as the department secretary.

Although Wallace's confirmation was postponed to March 1, it was considered likely at that time, since principal objection to his appointment had been based on the fact that he would have controlled the RFC in the event of a postwar project to provide full employment. House approval of the bill to separate the RFC from the commerce department was expected to meet speedy approval.

At the same time, the house passed, and then sent to a none too sympathetic senate, a work or fight bill, under which all men between 18 and 45 would be frozen in essential occupations or asked to take jobs designated by their local draft boards under penalty of induction or fine and imprisonment in case of refusal.

On Nation's Honor Roll

To Pvt. John Hartman of Exeter, Calif., went the Silver Star for gallantry in action. During a fierce enemy counterattack in Italy, seeing that two machine guns 200 yards to the front and right front were causing considerable trouble, he moved forward into the face of these firing machine guns on his own initiative. Edging his way forward with enemy bullets landing within inches of him, and in spite of the fact that he had received a serious wound in his arm, he fired till he had silenced both machine guns.

Also honored was Lieut. Russell C. Pearson of South Minneapolis, Minn. In the Solomon islands, he rescued a wounded soldier from an exposed position during an action against the enemy. When his patrol was ambushed by a numerically superior hostile force, he displayed exemplary leadership and a superlative fighting spirit in tactically deploying his forces in such superior manner as to turn a potentially tragic ambush into a triumph for the American patrol. During the fight, he unhesitatingly went to the aid of a wounded soldier and, through a hail of enemy bullets, dragged him to a covered position where he could get first aid.

MEAT:

U. S. to Take More

With smaller slaughter in federally inspected plants reducing allocations of meat for military and lend-lease purposes, the government moved to channel more stock into these packing houses from non-federally inspected establishments.

To trim slaughter at the 27,000 non-federally inspected plants, whose entire output goes to civilians, the government reported that they will receive cattle subsidies ranging from 50 cents to $2 per hundredweight only for the same amount of stock that they butchered a year ago, while payments of $1.50 per hundredweight on hogs will be made on only 70 per cent of the volume of 1944.

Effect of the regulation will be to make less meat available for civilians in centers served by non-federally inspected plants, but only slightly more for consumers supplied by federally inspected houses. Present government acquisition of half of the beef and 45 per cent of the pork output of federally inspected plants will be increased, it was said.

FARM MACHINERY:

Pinch to Persist

Stating that "... as long as the war continues, farmers will not be able to buy as much new farm machinery as they need," the Office of War Information said that the production of equipment for the year ending July 1 will fall short of heavy demand despite the fact that it should approximate peak prewar output.

Although expecting quotas to be generally met despite a slow start in production, OWI warned "... no more new tractors, side delivery rakes, combines or other haying and harvesting machinery will be available during ... 1945 ... than were available during ... 1944."

Indicating that farmers will have to fall back on the same methods this year to meet food goals, OWI said that 1944's high production resulted from intensive use of existing machinery, increased use of fertilizer, greater acreage and harder work and longer hours, with output per hand 28 per cent above 1940. Reprocessing of some 365,000 young farmers between 18 and 25 for the draft, however, may further complicate the already pressing manpower problem, OWI said.

ACCIDENTS:

High Toll

Ninety-four thousand people killed, 9,750,000 injured and material losses of $4,850,000,000—that was the nation's accident toll in 1944, the National Safety Council revealed.

As a result of mishaps, lost time equalled one year's production of 1,000,000 workers, it was pointed out, or the manufacture of 29,000 heavy bombers.

Although the death toll showed a drop of 5,000 over the previous year, with the greatest reduction shown in home accidents, authorities were alarmed by the increasing fatalities among children. More than 1,000 toddlers under five were killed, more than in 1941, the Safety Council said, while accidental deaths of youngsters from 5 to 14 in the home were high.

Luckiest Man

In rear base hospital in Pacific recovering from frost bite, Sgt. James Z. Krantz of Hickory Brook, Tenn., might well consider himself the luckiest man in the world. Blown from gunnery in waist of B-29 during raid over Japan, one of Krantz's legs was miraculously held by a safety strap while the rest of his body dangled in the air 29,000 feet before his dies pulled him back into the plane.

GRAIN MARKETS:

Get Boost

With brokers interpreting the senate banking committee's approval of a bill increasing the Commodity Credit Corporation's borrowing power from 3 to 4½ billion dollars as a means of maintaining major farm prices at 90 per cent of parity for two years after the war, grain prices firmed.

Also adding to the market's strength was the expectation of an increase in the government subsidy to wheat millers, and reports of CCC purchases in Minneapolis, Minn., with CCC acknowledgments it had given large quantities of high protein wheat to millers in exchange for inferior grades.

In approving the increase in the CCC's borrowing power, the senate banking committee limited food subsidy expenditures to $845,000,000 for the year beginning next July 1, and also permitted sale of more than 1,500,000 bales of cotton a year from CCC stocks.

FARM FORECLOSURES

With more and more farmers recovering from the drought years, and with present high incomes making it possible to reduce debts, farm foreclosures totalled 5,800 in 1943 compared with 11,000 in 1942 and 65,000 during 1934, the Farm Credit administration reported. These figures are equivalent to 2.7 foreclosures for every 1,000 farms mortgaged in 1943, 5.3 in 1942 and 30.3 in 1934, when farm activity still was at a low ebb, the FCA said.

SAFETY COLOR

The long accepted belief that red is the leading safety color is challenged by modern scientific investigators who now assign the prime safety role to yellow. According to researchers, yellow is the most conspicuous and visible of hues. Brilliant yellow-green ranks second, orange ranks third and red comes fourth on the list. Yellow and yellow-green are the regions of highest visibility in the spectrum, studies of the researchers showed.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

THAT wisecrack about "the higher they fly the farther they fall" must have been made with motion picture stars in mind. For it requires a miracle of sorts to bring back a star who has once slipped at box office.

With this in mind, chalk 1945 down as the year of miracles—the year in which more comebacks will be successfully made and attempted than any other in motion picture history.

There are Joan Blondell and James Dunn in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," to begin with, with Jimmy staging that most difficult of all comebacks, a star role on the very lot, which nine years ago counted him among its brightest box office successes. Both Joan and Jimmy hold long-term contracts at Twentieth Century-Fox since executives chalked off their excellent performances, Joan as Aunt Sissy, and Jimmy as Johnny Nolan, the famous singing waiter of Betty Smith's novel.

Joan Blondell was to a certain extent responsible for her exile from the screen. She was tired of playing an endless succession of animated, gum-chewing typists, alternating with wisecracking blonde showgirls. Then, too, her husband, Dick Powell, was trying to get away from singing parts and into real acting ones. But the producers didn't seem to want him in either during this period. So Joan, not wanting to embarrass him, stopped taking parts when he couldn't get any.

Leave of Absence

Joan toured our army camps for 13 months—went into remote posts as far north as Labrador and gave homesick boys of her rick, vibrant personality. She followed this with an unintermittent go of over two years on Broadway. The new Blondell proves that she can be something more than a big-hearted baggy with a head of gold. Director Elia Kazan tells me she gives some gradations in her performance of Aunt Sissy that bode well for future efforts.

Jimmy Dunn never actually left the screen or the stage. But for nine years—since 1931, when he played "Bad Girl"—he appeared in minor movies of a type that didn't reach audiences that knew him as a star.

And when casting time for "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" filled his agent with enthusiastic ambitions, Jimmy said: "Skip it. I used to be a big star on that lot—they'd never let me do it." Darryl Zanuck was determined the screen Johnny would live up to the singing waiter of the book. So he ordered every possible applicant tested until the perfect person turned out to be Ex-Twentieth Star James Dunn.

Frank Confession

Few actors are as frank as Jimmy in talking of the things which helped him to lose out in his profession. "I began watching the movie clauses in my contracts, Hedda, instead of reading the scripts carefully," he said with commendable frankness. "So I got the dough, but I began to slip at the box office."

Jimmy Durante's comeback in all the mediums—night clubs, radio, motion pictures—notably "Music for Millions," with Margaret O'Brien, is one of the bright spots of the year just past.

This year Joan Crawford, after many hesitations, renunciations and consultations, will essay her screen comeback in "Mildred Pierce," a red-blooded story by James M. Cain. These are some of the comebacks that enter the mind at the moment. Not all attempts to resume a star status, sometimes lightly laid aside, are successful. I'm thinking now of the many times Gloria Swanson was scheduled for a big comeback which never came off. Buster Keaton never got back where he once had been. Ramon Novarro's frequent attempts to star were failures, once his lucky period had passed.

Yes, a comeback is a sort of minor miracle in the entertainment world, but it can happen.

Smart Thinking

Frank Sinatra tells me, rain or shine, he's going overseas to entertain our fellows in June. He has turned down several pictures that were unsuitable. He's looking for something with human interest. When I reminded him Bing Crosby was 13 years getting "Going My Way," he replied: "Well, why not you? Bing and say I'm going his way too? I'd like to." "Roaring Waters" highlights the Shasta dam and will co-star Bill Gargan and Robert Lowery.

And Everybody's Happy

My suggestion to Leo McCarey that Ingrid Bergman play the nun in "Bells of St. Mary's" with Bing Crosby is now a reality. There was an awful lot of shilly-shallying around, but at last David Selznick saw the light when I suggested that if Ingrid didn't do it Rosa Stradner must. Ingrid's doing it. Now everybody's happy. ... Warners hoping to finish "Hotel Berlin" before the Russians get to that capital and finish it themselves. ... Fred Brady is being oh-ed and ah-ed over.

Washington Digest Political Trend Points Return to Conservatism

Wallace-Jones Fight Indicates Movement in Congress; 'Regular' Democrats Vie With 'Leftists' in Party.

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

As we contemplate the second month of the political calendar one thing is clear and that is the strong conservative trend in the congress as a whole and within the structure of the two major parties as well.

Many straws show clearly the way the prevailing winds have been blowing. One was the Jones-Wallace controversy which soon became a senate versus Wallace - Roosevelt controversy. Another was the turn taken in the battle over the national service bill which developed into a fight against the fair employment practices policy and the closed shop. Behind both these moves there was a play of forces which marks the beginning of a struggle which will make the biggest post-war story on the domestic front.

The opposition to Wallace had many and complicated ramifications but it revealed the conservative trend both in congress as a whole and within the Democratic party.

Within the party it was a struggle between the "regulars" and the CIO political action committee adherents, something which is being reflected in the conduct of the party organization, too. When Democratic National Chairman Hanegan was questioned as to whether he was going to work with the CIO-PAC he answered that he would welcome the assistance, but in the same breath added: "and other independent organizations." The inference drawn by the reporters was that the two groups would pursue their separate ways. It is reported that Wallace was offered a deal by which his confirmation as secretary of commerce would be assured and perhaps RFC powers left under the department of commerce, if he would agree to put a "safe" man in to administer the government lending. This would have meant breaking with his CIO-PAC following and Wallace naturally refused.

That illustrates what rivalry there exists between liberal and conservative elements within the Democratic party. It is also whispered that a campaign has begun by which the Democrats hope to pare down the influence of the CIO-PAC. The scheme is to build a strong coalition between the southern Democrats and the northern big city bosses.

Compare Wallace To Bryan

The Democratic "regulars" claim they have no fear of Wallace as a successful contender for the presidential nomination in 1948, although they admit that he is the one man in public life, now that Wilkie is gone, whose leadership would be most likely to unite both liberal and radical support. But they claim he is another William Jennings Bryan, more intellectually but with the same fate in store for him: often a bridesmaid, never a bride.

The Wallace supporters talk quite differently. They say any man who could rally 42 1/2 votes last summer at Chicago could get enough of the necessary additional 105 1/2 by 1948 and that every time had, his business assailed him as it did through the friends of Jesse Jones, his stock with the "common man" and "little business" whom and which he constantly champions, will go higher.

In other words, the louder the Wall street "wolf-pack" howls the more the CIO "pack" grins. This reasoning is based on those two somewhat paradoxical observations "we love him for the enemies he makes" and "everybody knock a boost." That is the "leftist" reasoning, and whether or not the "regulars" think it is sound, they have to take it into consideration. In any case the opposition to Wallace on both sides of both houses of congress shows the conservative color of the legislative body.

As to the party organizations, they have indicated that they intend to put their faith in works. On the same day (January 23) both Republican and Democratic national chairmen announced that their respective political machines would start running on a full-time basis. As I said, Mr. Hanegan revealed his attitude toward the left-wingers of his party by implying that Messrs. Hillman, Murray, et al would paddle their own canoes.

GOP Stays To Right

There was a significant development at the Republican committee meeting, too. The single challenge to Mr. Brownell dealt with the question of thunder from the left and it apparently fell on entirely deaf ears. The one unfriendly voice at the meeting came from a supporter of Harold Stassen of Minnesota, the prospective liberal candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. The revolver arose to charge that Mr. Brownell had alienated the labor vote because of his connection with a law firm which handled the business of large corporations. Nobody in the committee denied the soft impeachment publicly.

It is whispered that the Republicans are not worrying about an appeal to labor for they have a theory that they can attract the vote of the returned soldier because they say he will lean to the right. This is the way one of the "regulars" expressed it to me.

"There is something about a uniform," he said, "that makes a man patriotic and conservative. He is anxious to settle down and raise a family. He wants to have property of his own. He's tired of being housed and fed and clothed on government issue. Also he is through taking chances; over there he thought of America as home and home means something solid, safe and sane. The Republican party is the natural place for him," the bigwig concluded.

I am not saying that the reasoning of either party is correct but I am reporting what appears to be the general atmosphere both on Capitol Hill and elsewhere where the politicians gather to mull over affairs.

As to the temper of congress as a whole as illustrated in both the Wallace and the national service controversies we can see that the former southern Democrat-Republican coalition is working as smoothly as ever and keen observers predict that its hand will be shown whenever similar questions are at issue in the future.

Just where the President stands is not yet discernible. But there again, there is a strong feeling on Capitol Hill that when he replaced "Dr. New Deal" with "Dr. Win-the-War," as he himself put it, he had no intention of placing the country under the care of the former medico when peace returned. This is the way one old timer who has supported the administration on most issues for the last 12 years put it to me:

"The President says he is still steering a little left of center. He may think so. But I can tell you that whether he knows it or not the old ship of state is going to nose to starboard this session." And that would seem to be what is happening if we judge from the first leg of the voyage. In any case there is going to be a fight to keep a conservative hand on the old ship's tiller.

SHANGRI-LA IN PACIFIC

The army air force has discovered a new nation, a tiny little community, high up in the mountains of New Guinea. No white man is known to have visited it before, and not even neighboring natives had been there. Surrounded on two sides by mountains rising to the height of 15 or 16 thousand feet, the third valley is cut off on the fourth side by a jungle-like forest several miles wide. The river runs through the valley, which is about 5 by 20 miles, and then disappears, apparently into the earth. The lost tribe living in the valley has developed an extensive irrigation system, army observers report. At first they were frightened by planes - now they wave at our airmen, who come quite low and are able to report that the native clothing consists entirely of strings of beads worn around the neck.

Because the land is so extensively cultivated, there is no large stretch suitable for a landing, and the air force has enough to do these days to prevent it from landing troops by parachutes. But ethnologists and other scientists will make a bee-line for New Guinea as soon as the war is over.

There is a shortage of telephone operators at the capitol. The time has come for all good men to come to the aid of the party line.

One of the demands of the Chinese communists is the immediate abolition of Chiang's "one party dictatorship." When communists talk about abolishing a one-party system it sounds like Himmler joining the Salvation Army. Perhaps things are upside down in China.

The Soviet Information Bulletin says of Russia: "Our pride is not Neptune's trident, nor the elegance of the Graces, nor the gold of Croesus." Now, what other three nations could they be talking about?

The political tots wha' hae w' Wallace bled at the Democratic national convention in Chicago, seem to be growing up rapidly and they are still loyal to him. "Better to be the head o' the commons than the tail o' the gentry."

The Japs are trying to sell what they claim are American cigarettes in Shanghai. "These cigarettes," the ads say, "produce a dense and flavorful smoke." Where there is American smoke there will soon be American fire.

Butter makers say that there will be less than a pat a wavy per person unless greater production is encouraged by a price-rise. If you want to get more than a pat of butter on your bread you'll have to give Old Man Inflation a pat on the back.

Country Cured HOMER by CROY

THE STORY THUS FAR: Amos Croy and his wife settled on a farm in Missouri, where Homer was born. Sunday meant church, company for dinner, and steers weighing. The Croys attended the Omaha Exposition, where Homer had his first taste of the outside. Homer finished high school and college and went to New York City. He was rejected by every newspaper in the city. Theodore Dreiser hired him as a cub on a woman's magazine. His first job was to read the letters and pick out the best in a contest on unusual pets. The judges agreed on the first winner, the others were drawn by districts. He continued free-lance with some success. The pay was only enough to encourage him to continue.

CHAPTER XIX

Mornings were longest; mornings when he had always been so active. He would go out on the porch and sit in his rocker, waiting for neighbors to pass and to wave at him. Sometimes they pulled up for a chat. That was nice.

He would go back to the kitchen with the news. "Earl Trullinger passed drivin' their new sorrel. I think they paid too much for him. Lem Gault and Mrs. Gault went by. I waved but he didn't see me. I expect his eyes are failing."

They had a farmers' telephone put in and when it would ring, Phebe would dry her hands and softly take off the receiver. Pa could never quite bring himself to eavesdrop. But it was all right for Phebe to do that. Womenfolk were different.

She'd tell him the news: "Jim Vert's broken the trip on his wheat drill and is comin' to town to see if he can get another. He may have to telegraph to Kansas City."

"He never keeps his machinery under cover!" Pa was dead against anybody who neglected their machinery.

"Mattie Knabb's folks are comin' in from Nebraska." "Did you learn when they'd get here?" "She don't know. She just got the card yesterday."

"They'll probably have trouble crossing the Platte. I see it's on a rampage."

He would go down to the bank to see what stock reports had been chucked up on the blackboard. This was a meeting place for the other retired farmers; they would stand there studying the board and discussing the perplexing ups and downs of the market. Heavy hogs were off; light ones up. That was just like the commission houses. Want one thing one week, next week you couldn't give it to 'em.

"How many steers you feedin', Amos?" "Eighty-two now."

"When do you calculate to turn 'em?" "The market is so tricky I think I'll feed 'em a while yet."

"Hog Baker brought in a load of shoats this morning."

They would not respectfully, for Hog Baker was the best hog farmer in the country. People paid attention to him. Sometimes other farmers would ship just because he did. Nobody could ask for a finer compliment than that. Hog Baker knew he was the best hog farmer, and Saturdays would swagger down the street in his old slouch hat. When he stepped over to the edge of the sidewalk to talk for a moment, he'd soon have a crowd around him. Maybe he'd drop something.

Pa would go to Tom Wadley's; lots of farm news there. Maybe somebody he knew would be in. Well (he'd say to Tom) times are changin'.

"What do you think of this havin' a county agent to tell people how to farm?" "I've always been wantin' to find an easy way," Pa would say and they'd laugh.

"You've made quite a success of farmin', Amos."

Pa would straighten up a little. "I've managed to keep out of the poorhouse."

I became engaged... did I dare undertake marriage when I never knew from one month to another how much I would make?

As a boy I had listened to an entrancing train whistle at night, coming in over the shrouths, and wished with all my heart I could get on a train and go somewhere. And now an exceedingly bold idea laid hold of me. I would try to go around the world!

It is truly amazing what a person can do when he has a goal. It seems to work out this way; if you establish a goal and a start, you've really done the hardest part. I made a start by soliciting several magazines to send me around the world writing for them. One editor looked at me sternly. "That's a fine idea. It must be a fine one, or so many people wouldn't present it."

I kept on until I got Leslie's Weekly to agree to send me. When the letter of agreement was drawn up, I found that it bound Leslie's Weekly as loosely as a twine string around a shorthorn. I was put down by this, not yet having fathomed the ways of magazines, and I was so eager to go that I entered only a mild protest. Then I did something I'm still astonished at. I went to a number of advertising companies and announced that I was going on a trip here?"

"But it did affect me, as I soon found. Singapore—England's stronghold in the Orient—was filled with German spies. And soon, at my Dutch hotel, I heard nothing but war. But it would be over soon."

On the way to Rangoon, later, four or five English "clarks," who had been assigned to duty at home, walked up and down the deck giving an imitation of the goose step and roaring with laughter. I laughed, too. It all seemed vastly amusing.

One of the clerks said, "It'll all be over before we get home and I'll have to turn around and come back, which'll be just my luck."

At Rangoon a shadow fell across us. We were transferred to another ship, one much smaller. Gradually matters grew worse and I felt myself struggling against something powerful and relentless, as one does in a troubled dream.

I had no passport of any kind, for at that time passports were not required. But I did have a personal letter from William J. Bryan, Secretary of State, which the publisher of Leslie's Weekly had got for me.

I got on the train one night in Calcutta with a Pennsylvania Dutch young man of my age. We were in the compartment alone together; the engine was smoking and breathing heavily, and people were going up and down the platform in a last-minute excitement of departure when suddenly the door was opened by two British officers. One said, "Are there any Germans in here?"

The young man with me answered, "Nein."

He was hauled out and was, I learned later, kept in Ceylon as a prisoner for three months.

I made newsreels and travel pictures across India, but even here, miles from any British stronghold, I felt the war roaring toward me like some gigantic but invisible force. In Bombay my camera was taken from me and I had to see half a dozen officials to get it back. I ran out of money, and the Majestic Hotel ejected us, but kept our cameras, chemicals and equipment. I moved into the YMCA, where, for three weeks, I was without a shilling to my name. All I could do was to smoke and scour my teeth and chew gum. At last money came through. I claimed my cameras and equipment and got on to Egypt. The shadow had grown darker. I could fill pages with details of what happened, but I must forego that, for I don't want to make my book too long. Only just one point: I was questioned at the Second Cataract as a spy. William J. Bryan saved me.

At last I got to London and cut the film. It was released as half-reel subjects under my name. I thought it was, for the most part, pretty poor. But when the Universal home organ came out, it had this line: "UNIVERSAL SCORES AGAIN. LAEMMLE LUCK STILL HOLDS." I felt better.

I went to the advertising companies with my pictures and the pieces I'd written. The chewing gum company said No; and wanted none of what I had to offer. The others bought some of my "still" pictures and some of the material I wrote, at a price which I thought was pretty good, but which I now realize was ridiculously cheap.

And now I had enough money to get married. Oh boy! When we were married, the Universal Newsreel made motion pictures of us coming out of the church and getting into a cab; the pictures were shown on the screen in and around New York. Thus we became the first couple in the world to be put into a newsreel. The church was the Swedeborgian, near Madison Avenue, New York, and the time was February 7, 1915. Until then the newsreels had dealt with burning buildings, street accidents and other calamities. Then they discovered love. It just shows how they were progressing. Later, in the British Museum, London, I was pleased to find a write-up of the wedding and the statement (very British) that an American couple had chosen to throw modesty to the winds and be photographed for the cinema actualities. The write-up didn't think much of the brash American couple. Well, they're still married. (And they still have the negative of the film.)

olulu, making what they called "authentic" South Seas pictures, and learned a little about handling film and chemicals and drying racks in the subtropics.

The first place I photographed, after Honolulu, was Japan; and the first "shot" (I was learning fast) was a silkworm factory. The Japanese Government sent three men and they never got farther away from me, I'm sure, than ten feet. And demanded to see every inch of film.

I won't stop to set down all my adventures, except this one point. It was on the China Sea, on a North German-Lloyd ship named the Francis Ferdinand, sitting at the captain's table, one noon, when a man from the wireless office came, said something in German, and handed the captain a message. The captain read it, then reread it, and to my astonishment, arose slowly and, without a word to anyone, faced the end of the dining room where there was a painting on the wall of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand. He saluted the picture gravely, and sat down. Then he said, "He has just been assassinated at Serajevo."

The whole thing meant little—how could the assassination of someone thousands of miles away affect me? His getting up and saluting the painting was just a funny German quirk, I thought.

But it did affect me, as I soon found. Singapore—England's stronghold in the Orient—was filled with German spies. And soon, at my Dutch hotel, I heard nothing but war. But it would be over soon."

POSTWAR TALKS SHOW COOPERATION TRENDS

WASHINGTON. — Mr. Roosevelt has been edged up to his promised meeting with Stalin and Churchill by a series of foreign affairs speeches which seemed to set a new American background for the discussions.

Pressure from underneath the situation, generated by unsatisfactory political developments in Europe, lifted the lid on the subject officially—only to a limited extent and apparently only for a time. Yet rising courageously with new ideas have come Senators Vandenberg, Wheeler and Connally, and George Foster Dulles, the Dewey advisor.

These may have appeared somewhat confusing to the public, but together they constituted a format affording Mr. Roosevelt a knowledge of what he wanted in various quarters and therefore how far he can go.

For instance, the Vandenberg opus was confusedly interpreted as a conversion of an isolationist to the internationalist viewpoint. The gleeful internationalists hailed the speech from that standpoint, and so did the somewhat disappointed nationalists who seemed to fear its import.

Actually it was only a Vandenberg plan which did not join either side. His program, which is even at this late date being confusingly reported in magazines, seemed to me to be simply this:

SPHERES OF INFLUENCE Russia and Britain are dividing Europe into spheres of influence, while our ideal and our policy languishes. We want freedom for all peoples, apparently real democratic freedom, not just deliverance of Europe from the bonds of fascism into the chains of communism.

Vandenberg therefore proposed to pledge free future use by the President of our armed forces in the post-war world to prevent remilitarization by Germany and Japan only. He did not pledge their free use or any other kind of use, to perpetuate forever the conquests Russia is making in Poland, or the Balkans or a British sphere of influence in Greece.

Indeed, he mentioned the possibility that there might be an unjust peace, and he obviously did not want our armies backing that kind of a proposition. That was the essence behind the Vandenberg idea.

Now Wheeler, also, I think, was not clearly understood. He said he favored the Connally plan for an interim council of nations, and this was hailed as his conversion. But Wheeler did not want free use of our troops in any future war for any purpose.

His main point was that the next war threat is not likely to arise from France or Japan but from Russia, Germany, China, Britain, or us—the big five with the arms, whereas Germany and Japan are to be completely crushed.

WANT TO COOPERATE It is clear therefore that both Vandenberg and Wheeler have said only that they wish to cooperate in a just peace—a pledge which is somewhat modified by the obvious policy of both Russia and Britain in Europe, and Wheeler's additional reservations.

Vandenberg did say he would not expect full freedom for Europe at once and seemed willing to accept temporarily a certain limited unsatisfactory European condition.

Similarly the speech of the Dewey internationalist adviser, Mr. Dulles, was reported as an attack upon American aloofness in foreign policy and was misunderstood as an assault upon isolationists. What Mr. Dulles said was that current conditions in Europe are due to Russian and British policies.

Russia, as he put it, has been assigned responsibility in Europe "in large part," and Britain "in small part." For this he held the administration responsible.

Wheeler is the only one who came right out and plainly implied he did not expect Russia and the others to agree to anything that would be acceptable to him, but the same thought was not absent from the carefully framed Vandenberg plan or from the Dulles speech.

Mr. Roosevelt is thus being sent forth with what appears to be a popular mandate to break power politics in Europe—nothing more. To whatever extent he fails in that, the plan he brings home will be in public jeopardy (judging from the popular reaction to these talks).

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking. This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It is so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes. Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of cough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving quick relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if it doesn't please in every way.

MANY 100 YEAR FARM NAMES RECEIVED

A total of 41 Washington county farm families who have owned and operated the same farm for 100 years or more have reported this fact to the county agricultural extension office which is collecting this data for the College of Agriculture. Additional names will be published in the near future of those sending in their names. Will any families who have not reported kindly do so by Feb. 17.

FARM LABOR NEEDED

The requests for farm labor filed with the labor assistant at the county extension office far exceed the supply. We have twenty-seven requests for single men. These need not be young men, those who are older and unlikely to be called for military service are preferred. Seven farmers want married men who are deferred for farm work or above the draft age. We have been unable to fill these thirty-four requests. Any who want farm jobs should report to the county extension office, post office building, West Bend.

FEED PIGS ALFALFA HAY

Alfalfa hay as a source of protein and mineral feeds for brood sows and growing pigs is highly recommended by James Lacey, livestock specialist of the College of Agriculture.

In a recent experiment at the college tired sows farrowed about twice as many pigs where the concentrate ration contained 15% of ground alfalfa meal as compared to those that received only small amounts of alfalfa in their grain feed. And that isn't all of the story. The litters from the sows receiving the alfalfa meal made much faster gains and appeared to be superior in health and robustness.

DON'T USE POOR ALFALFA SEED

Unless you are able to secure good alfalfa seed of known origin and adaptation, it would be advisable to plant red clover this year. Because of the scarcity of alfalfa seed, and the great desirability of this crop in the state's crop rotation system, many farmers may be tempted to use seed which is not adapted to this area. Reports have been received that seed of this type, and even alfalfa screenings, are being offered for sale as seed. Alfalfa screenings are sometimes designated as thin kernel alfalfa and frequently the price asked, quality considered, is higher than the cost of top grade seed. Use of seed of any of these types would be a serious mistake at a time when no one can afford to take long chances.

There have been reports of imports of alfalfa seed from South America, but this type of seed has not been generally accepted by Wisconsin farmers. It can easily be identified because the law requires that 10 per cent of all seed of this origin be stained orange red in color.

ORDER FERTILIZER NOW

"Farmers who have not already done so should order their fertilizer NOW from their usual suppliers," says County Agent E. E. Skallskey.

"The labor shortage in fertilizer plants is severe and it will be impossible to mix and handle as much fertilizer as farmers need unless it can be kept moving from plant to farm or local warehouse.

"The war food administration estimates that there may be a 10 percent shortage of nitrogen, largely for use in mixed fertilizers, and a 15 percent shortage of superphosphates, principally for direct use, but that there is 20 percent more potash than last year.

"Sulphuric acid is necessary both for making superphosphate and explosives and all explosives contain nitrogen. For many months superphosphate producers were getting a large quantity of sulphuric acid from government ordnance plants, but this supply was cut off when the munitions program was speeded up several months ago. That means that less superphosphate can be made and there is no alternative, for munitions come first in war.

"For the same reason the supply of nitrogen available for use as fertilizer has been curtailed. Fixed nitrogen produced in government war plants was until recently being converted into nitrogen solutions for use in mixed fertilizers and into ammonium nitrate, but this nitrogen is now being used in munitions; hence, supplies of these materials will be considerably less than last year. The shortage will be made up in part by larger imports of Chilean nitrate.

"The supply of potash will be adequate for making the grades recommended by state experiment stations," E. E. Skallskey, Co. Ag. Agent

100 4-H CLUB MEMBERS WILL TAKE VEGETABLE PROJECT

Over 100 Washington county 4-H club members and probably more than 5,000 Wisconsin club girls will be taking "vegetable in our meals" as their 4-H project this year.

Gwen Broege, county home demonstration agent, says that vegetable dishes which are different will be stressed in this project which has been chosen by these future homemakers to help guide families to better health. With the thought in mind that vegetables properly cooked and attractively served don't go begging on the table, the girls will learn how to boil, bake and steam vegetables in addition to serving them raw in salads and as relishes. They will also prepare canned and stored vegetables.

A good recipe using home-made sausage and home stored squash is one which the girls are trying in their project.

BAKED SQUASH AND SAUSAGE
2 Acorn Squash 1 pound bulk sausage
Cut squash in halves, remove seeds. Place in a greased pan with cut side down and bake 20 to 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Shape sausage into 6 flat patties and brown lightly in a skillet. Now turn the squash halves over, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place a sausage patty in each half and return to the oven for 15 to 20 minutes, or until squash is tender and sausage is thoroughly cooked. Winter squash may be used. Cut it into 3-inch squares for baking. This will need longer baking than the acorn squash.

Plant hormones can be used to help potatoes from sprouting, report scientists at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

About $20,000,000 has been appropriated to increase the production of flaxseed in 1945. Linseed oil is a certain need.

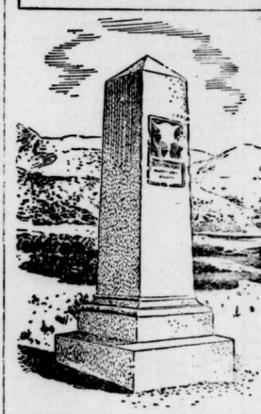

When farmers plant hybrid corn seed, they increase their yields about 20 per cent. In other words, they can grow on 5 acres as much as they once grew on 6.

Bonds Over America

CITY CREEK MONUMENT

Orson Platt and Erastus Shaw emerged from the East Canyon the morning of July 21, 1847, and marvelled at the beauty of the Great Salt Lake Valley, Utah. Later Brigham Young, suffering from "mountain fever," arrived with the rear guard of settlers. They "gazed with admiration upon the vast valley with the waters of the Great Salt Lake glistening in the sun." War Bonds furnish funds to keep supplies going to U. S. fighting forces that keep enemies far from this region where a monument memorializes the sacrifices of settlers who made possible today's enterprising state.

RED CROSS TO START HOME NURSING CLASS MARCH 12

A new twelve-hour course in home nursing is being planned by the West Bend Red Cross chapter. It will start March 12 and will meet twice a week for two-hour sessions. Mrs. G. A. Emerson of West Bend was in Waukesha this week receiving special instructions on the giving of this course. She is a registered nurse.
Mrs. R. S. Grogan, who is home nursing chairman of the West Bend Red Cross chapter, is urging all those interested to call her or the Red Cross office for further information on this valuable course. It is open to everyone and young mothers are especially invited to take it. With the scarcity of trained nurses, it is almost imperative that every home be prepared to take care of its own sick when the occasion arises. This need will continue for some months after the war is over.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my beloved husband, Sgt. Lester Uelmen, who was killed in action in France Jan. 12: Tho' I cannot feel thy hand I know 'tis there.
Thine ear bent down to catch my every prayer;
My Father's tender glance to strengthen me.
When I, in darkness grope unseeing, Thy pressure fills this humble place,
Thine arms are 'round me in unseen embrace;
And oh, dear Father, though I cannot see,
I know that Thou art here to comfort me.
Sadly missed by his wife Betty.

CARD OF THANKS
Our sincere thanks are deeply expressed to our many relatives and friends for the messages of sympathy and also the spiritual offerings in memory of our beloved husband, son and brother, Sgt. Lester J. Uelmen; also for the consoling words of Father Koehring, to the choir, and to all of those who attended the memorial services.

They may only be cashed within the United States and are good for only two calendar months from the date of issue.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

The first use of motor trucks — and that means rubber tires — by the U. S. Army in active campaigns occurred during the Pancho Villa Expedition into Mexico in 1916. About 800 motor vehicles were in use on the Mexican border.

B. F. Goodrich's latest analysis of the rubber situation shows that after the war annual potential rubber production of the world should be 2,800,000 long tons. This is more than twice the amount of rubber used by the entire world in 1941, the record year, when consumption totaled 1,300,000 long tons.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Lenten Ideas Given to Families To Provide Protein

Rice Loaf is a pretty loaf to serve for Lent. It uses a combination of good seasonings and spicy cheese to make for plenty of appetite appeal.

If you're observing Lent, you'll have to concentrate on eggs, cheese and fish. These are all good, substantial protein foods with fine flavors that can be brought out through proper cooking.

If menu-making gets to be a bit rough, dig out all the recipes you have on these three classes of food, and make up a week's menus at a time, giving them your best thought and care so foods don't grow monotonous.

As long as you are somewhat limited in the choice of a main entrée, then use variety in your vegetables, salads and desserts. Then, your menus will be as interesting as ever.

First, we start off with a roundup of egg dishes that will be super-felicitous treats for the family. Remember, eggs are cooked with gentle heat or they will become tough and leathery. That goes for eggs no matter how they're prepared.

There is nothing monotonous about eggs when they're seasoned with oregano, parsley and lemon. Try this:

- *Deluxe Creamed Eggs. (Serves 4 to 6)
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
 - 2 tablespoons flour
 - 1 1/2 cups milk
 - Salt and pepper
 - 1 teaspoon minced parsley
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1/2 cup grated American cheese
 - 6 hard-cooked eggs
 - 4 toast slices

Cook onion in small amount of fat until soft and yellow. Add flour and blend. Add milk and cook slowly, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Add salt, pepper, parsley, pimiento and lemon juice. Heat. Add cheese and stir until melted. Arrange egg slices on hot buttered toast. Pour over cheese sauce. Sprinkle with paprika and serve.

Rice, eggs and cheese, when combined together in proper proportion make a mouth-watering dish that's hearty enough to satisfy even the men folk.

Rice 'n' Eggs. (Serves 4)

- 1/2 cup uncooked rice
- 4 hard-cooked eggs
- 1/4 cup grated American cheese
- 2 tablespoons minced pepper

Cook rice in one inch of water for 8 to 10 minutes if you want it at its best. It will be tender-crisp and delicate in flavor.

Carrots need little water for cooking, just one inch. To save vitamins and minerals near the skin, pare thin, or better still, scrape no more than skin deep.

Before cooking parsnips, remove the tough, woody core. Quarter or slice and cook in one inch of boiling, salted water.

Lynn Says:

Cook Vegetables Correctly: Potatoes are richest in vitamins and minerals right underneath their skins. If you must peel them, pare paper thin. Don't soak in water. Or, when baking, bake slowly to make them mealy.

Turnips should not be showered with water. Cook in salted water until tender and serve as is or mashed and seasoned.

Cook cabbage in one inch of water for 8 to 10 minutes if you want it at its best. It will be tender-crisp and delicate in flavor.

Carrots need little water for cooking, just one inch. To save vitamins and minerals near the skin, pare thin, or better still, scrape no more than skin deep.

Decorator Gives Ideas for Planning Rooms When Youngsters Are Growing Up

By ELIZABETH MACRAE BOYKIN

"Here am I, loving nothing so much as French chairs and trailing lace bedspreads. . . ." writes Mrs. M. S. K. "Wouldn't I be the mother of a household of boys and the wife of a man who would demolish a French room at a single glance!"

"Through these growing-up years, my problem is to fix a house that can welcome anything from ping pong to a correspondence course in taxidermy (yes, honestly!).

"Right now I have in mind making a drastic change in our dining room so as to get all the junk out of the living room. Now don't laugh at this idea—our dining table is on its last legs and should be turned over to the junk man. On the other hand, there is a very good ping pong table right in the living room at present—a strong solid table.

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menu

- *Deluxe Creamed Eggs
- Broccoli Hashed Brown Potatoes
- Jellied Grapefruit Salad
- White Bread Jam
- Baked Fresh Pears
- *Recipe given.

- 1 teaspoon minced onion
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- Salt and pepper
- 3/4 cup milk
- 3/4 cup grated American cheese

Wash rice thoroughly. Cook in boiling, salted water until tender about 20 minutes. Drain and rinse. Place in shallow baking dish. Halve eggs lengthwise. Remove yolks; mash; add 1/4 cup cheese, green pepper, onion, catsup, salt and pepper; mix thoroughly. Refill whites and arrange on rice. Heat milk and add the 3/4 cup cheese. Remove from heat, stir in the cheese until melts. Pour over rice and bake in a slow (325-degree) oven for 20 minutes.

Olive Rice Loaf. (Serves 6 to 8)

- 1 teaspoon chopped onion
- 3 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup hot milk
- 1/2 pound processed cheddar cheese, shredded
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 3 eggs
- 4 cups cooked rice
- 1/2 cup sliced stuffed olives
- Parsley

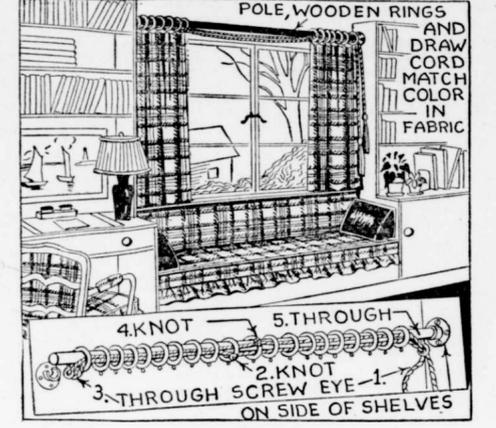

1 can condensed tomato soup

Cook the onion in the butter or substitute until tender. Place over hot water. Blend in the flour, mustard and salt. Add the hot milk and cook, stirring occasionally, until thick. Add the Worcestershire sauce, and stir until the cheese is melted. Slowly pour this cheese sauce over the beaten eggs, stirring constantly. Add the rice and sliced olives. Place in a buttered loaf pan which has been lined with waxed paper. Bake in a moderate (325-degree) oven 1 hour and 10 minutes, or until firm. Unmold, garnish with parsley and serve with tomato sauce made by reheating the contents of the cream of tomato soup can.

Making That Problem Window Fit Perfectly Into the Room Setting

By Ruth Wyeth Spears

THE smart plaid curtains shown herewith match the window seat and several slip covers, and the wooden curtain pole, rings and draw cord match the dominant color in the plaid repeating the color of small cushions and lamp base. The window lets in the maximum of light and you would never guess that originally it looked like a postage stamp in the middle of a blank wall. At first it seemed impossible to curtain it because fixtures could not be screwed to metal casements or the plaster.

The built-in book shelves helped that. A space a foot wide was allowed at each side of the window so that the curtains could hang over the wall, and the painted wooden pole was then screwed to the sides of the shelves. The diagram shows this and how the draw cord was knotted so that the curtains could be pulled back and forth.

NOTE: These curtains are from the 32-page booklet "Make Your Own Curtains" which Mrs. Spears has prepared for readers. To get a copy send 15 cents with name and address direct to:

Palace of Soviets Will Be World's Largest Building

The Palace of the Soviets, Moscow, was planned by Marshal Stalin as a great national temple and cultural center, but, because of the war, no work has been done on it for more than three years. When completed, it will be the highest building in the world.

The palace will contain two great assembly halls, one to hold 15,000, the other 6,000 people, a library and a restaurant. Dominating the mighty building will be an enormous statue, in chromium plated steel, of Lenin, founder of the Soviet republic. The figure will be 328 feet high. Including this statue, the palace will be 1,365 feet high.

The present highest building in the world is the Empire State building, New York—1,248 feet.

Meet the Men

WHO USE YOUR BATTERIES!

The Navy and Merchant Marine send rapid ship-to-ship messages by battery-powered flasher signal lights when radio communication might give a ship's position to the enemy.

It's difficult to locate men drifting in the sea! Water-tight battery lights on buoyant lifesaver suits have meant the difference between life and death for many Merchant seamen.

For emergency communication by voice, the Merchant Marine uses a portable megaphone to broadcast orders and instructions. Dry batteries give necessary power to the megaphone.

Two men and a bazooka make a winning team! But it takes large quantities of ammunition and dry battery power to keep these portable, hard-hitting weapons firing at the enemy.

Deadly flamethrowers are blazing the road to Victory! Dry batteries help to create the spark that sends these efficient weapons into instant, flaming action against the enemy.

The Signal Corps man with a Walkie-Talkie has freedom of speech as long as he has plenty of dry batteries! Handie-Talkies also use thousands of war batteries to power vital communications.

When they come Home — Burgess Batteries will be back again, too... powering flashlights, radios, telephones, instruments and controls for millions of homes, farms and industries throughout America.

Simplified Rules Given to Aid in Making Out the 1944 Tax Returns on New Forms

Answers to Puzzlers Found in Filling Out Income Blanks

EDITOR'S NOTE: The article below was prepared as a service to the readers of this newspaper in an effort to assist in the filing of income tax returns as required by law. While the forms have been simplified, it is urged that returns be filed as far in advance of March 15 as possible.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

REMEMBER all that talk last year about abolishing income tax returns? We hope you didn't believe it, because the treasury reminds us that the law requires an income tax return not later than March 15th from every person (even children) who had $500 or more income in 1944.

The truth is that congress and the treasury simplified the income tax forms quite a bit, but still insist on the annual March 15 accounting between you and Uncle Sam.

Altogether, the treasury figures that about 50,000,000 Americans must file 1944 returns. A few million, including many farmers, have already got the chore out of the way by filing their returns January 15. Those early-birds filed early so as to combine the filing of their "returns" with the filing of their "Declarations of Estimated Tax," thus winding up all their 1944 income tax chores. But most of us still have our returns to fill out and file between now and March 15.

Here are the answers to some of your inevitable questions about the job:

Q. What kinds of forms or blanks do we use?

A. There are two forms. One is the withholding receipt, officially called Form W-2 (Rev.), which your employer gives you if you have been working for wages from which income tax was withheld. The other blank, the standard Form 1040, is not being mailed out generally this turn can be made on a withholding receipt only if their combined income is within the limits mentioned at the beginning of this paragraph. If husband and wife file a combined return on a withholding receipt, their tax will be figured either on a separate or joint basis, whichever is to their advantage.

Q. Who can use the short-form Form 1040?

A. Anyone whose income was less than $5,000.

Q. Who uses the long-form Form 1040?

A. The long-form must be used by anyone whose income in 1944 was $5,000 or more, and by anyone who claims more deductions (for charities, etc.) than the standard allowance of about 10 per cent which is given automatically to taxpayers filing withholding receipts or the short-form.

Q. Can I save money by using the long-form instead of the other forms?

A. That depends on your deductions. If you use the withholding receipt or the short-form, you can the others. Then mail the receipt or receipts to the collector of internal revenue in your district. That's all. Don't send any money if you file this way, because the collector will figure your tax, give you credit for amounts already paid, and then either send you a bill if you owe more or a refund check if you have overpaid.

Q. How do I fill out a short-form?

A. Get a copy of Form 1040. If all your income was from wages, dividends and interests you write only on page 1, and find your tax from the table on page 2. If you had other income (for instance, from a farm, a business, rental property, annuities, etc.) you also fill in part of page 3. Page 3 is printed on the back of page 1, so you can tear off and throw away the other half of the form. That's why it is called a short-form. When you file Form 1040, and find (in item 8, page 1) that you still owe some tax, you must pay that amount in full at the same time you file your return.

Q. What do you mean by the word "income"?

A. As used in the income tax blanks, income means all kinds of income, including wages, (or salaries), dividends, interest, business profits, rental profits, and profits on selling or trading securities, or other property. For tax purposes, however, "income" does NOT include certain items specifically exempted by law, such as the first $1,500 of active service pay for members of the armed forces and their mustering-out payment when discharged. Also exempted is the government's contribution to monthly family allowances to relatives of servicemen, social security benefits, gifts, bequests and inheritances, and amounts received as the beneficiary of a life insurance policy by reason of the death of the insured person.

Q. What kind of taxes do we pay?

A. The 1944 income tax is made up of two kinds of tax. There is a "normal tax" (formerly called "victory tax") at the rate of 3 per cent, and a "surtax" (formerly called "income tax") at rates ranging from 20 to 91 per cent.

Q. What kind of exemptions do we get from these taxes?

A. For normal tax, a taxpayer filing a separate return is allowed only a flat exemption of $500. If husband and wife file a joint return and each had at least $500 income, they receive a joint normal-tax exemption of $1,000. If they file a joint return, and one of them had less than $500 income, the joint normal-tax exemption would be $500 plus the actual amount of the smaller income. For normal tax, there is no exemption for dependents.

For surtax, you may get exemptions of $500 for yourself, plus $500 for your wife (or husband), plus $500 for each of your dependents. However, you can claim an exemption only if you file a joint return with her (or him), or if she (or he) had no taxable income and was not a dependent of another taxpayer.

YE GOODE OLDE FILMS

Once in a while an old film is re-shown, and it is surprising how often they seem far ahead of the later ones in humor, drama and general interest! Such a picture is "If I Had a Million," first shown over a decade ago, relating, with gorgeous fun, what a half dozen ordinary people do when they are left a million by a gooney millionaire. We have seen few funnier pictures since and lost no time making for the theater that was showing it again.

What a bunch of stars in one comedy! Charles Laughton, W. C. Fields, Charles Ruggles, the late Richard Bennett, Jack Oakie, George Raft, Gary Cooper, May Robson and a half dozen others! There has never been a more side-splitting episode in pictures than the one where Fields, his brand new car just wrecked by a careless driver, buys a flock of cars with his suddenly acquired dough and detests the day to smashing into roadhogs.

Incidentally, Gary Cooper and George Raft, not then famous, were just attracting attention at the time, and it was Charlie Laughton's first American picture bit.

Fifteen thousand dollars was paid at auction the other night for a Frans Hals painting "Portrait of a Laughing Boy." It goes to show what it means to have anybody around the house who seems to feel pleasant these days.

Muddled meat? That's a new name for modern hamburgers, we assume.

Mussolini has dusted off his chest, reopened his strut and reappeared on the Italian balcony. In Milan the other day he made a typical speech, reviewed the troops and greeted the Fascists. This is depressing. Even if we didn't believe all the news from Italy we believed that Bellowing Benito's strutting days were over for keeps.

Terrified Soldier Was Well On Way to Being AWOL

A number of soldiers home on furlough in the states met and were relating their experiences. Each one tried to outdo the other in expressing his early fears.

"The way I dug my foxhole," said one of them, who had been at Guadalcanal, "was something for you to see. Each time a shell burst I dug deeper and deeper into that hole.

"Finally I heard a voice above me. It was my lieutenant yelling down at me:

"Thompson! Hey you, Thompson! If you dig two inches deeper, I'm going to charge you with desertion!"

The most subtle of all demonstrations of derision staged by the people of Paris during the Nazi occupation was the frequent publication of a photograph of Pierre Laval on the front page of a certain newspaper—at the head of the fifth column.

year, but copies should be easily obtainable from local collectors' offices, banks, post offices, and employers.

Q. I hear there are three ways of making a return this year. Is that true?

A. Yes. You can use Form 1040 as either a short-form or a long-form return. That makes two methods of filing. The third method, which is one of the major simplifications in the new law, is to use the withholding receipt.

Q. Do we have to fill out both the withholding receipt and Form 1040?

A. No. If you are eligible to use the withholding receipt as your return and desire to do so, forget about Form 1040. If you fill out Form 1040, attach your withholding receipts to the form, but do not fill out the receipts.

Q. Is this standard allowance exactly 10 per cent?

A. The tax on a withholding receipt or a short-form is taken from a table in which the tax and deductions are averaged for income brackets, such as from $2,000 to $2,025, from $2,025 to $2,050, etc. The 10 per cent allowance and the tax are figured in the middle of each bracket.

Q. Who is allowed to use a withholding receipt as a return?

A. Any wage earner whose total income was less than $5,000, provided not more than $100 of his income came from dividends, interest and wages from which no tax was withheld, and all the remainder of his income was from wages from which tax was withheld. However, in the so-called community property states of Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Washington, a withholding receipt cannot be used by a husband or wife alone. In those states, married couples can use the withholding receipt only as a "combined return." In those and all other states, moreover, a combined re-not take any deductions for non-business items such as charitable contributions, interest, taxes, medical expenses, and casualty losses, but receive instead a standard allowance equal to about 10 per cent of your income. For instance, if your income last year was $4,425, and you use your withholding receipt or a short-form, your tax is automatically figured as if you had $442.50 of deductions. Now, in this example, if your actual deductions were less than $442.50, it would save you money to use your withholding receipt or a short-form. If your actual deductions were more than $442.50, it would save you money to make a long-form return on Form 1040.

Q. How do I fill out a withholding receipt?

A. Simply answer the few questions about your income and exemptions which are printed on the front and back of the receipt. Be sure to correct any mistake in your name and address which your employer has already written on your receipt. Sign the receipt. If you have more than one receipt, fill out only the last one but be sure to attach

U.S. PER CAPITA TAXES REACHES NEW HIGH

More Helpful Information to Taxpayer Given

Q. Can the wife of a military man claim an exemption for dependents?

A. Usually, she can. Since the first $1,500 of military pay is exempt from tax and since most men earn less than that amount in the armed forces, they are considered to have no income, as far as the tax laws are concerned. Therefore, their wives can claim exemptions for them unless their army pay exceeds $1500.

Q. How do I fill out a long-form?

A. Fill out pages 1 and 3 the same as for a short-form. But instead of finding your tax from the table on page 2, turn to page 4 where you can itemize your deductions and compute your tax according to the special instructions printed on that page. Taxpayers whose income was less than $5,000 must itemize their deductions if they use the long-form. Taxpayers whose income was $5,000 or more can either itemize their deductions or take a standard deduction of $500, whichever is to their advantage.

Q. What are the rules for claiming exemptions for dependents?

A. You are entitled to an exemption for any close relative, provided you furnished more than one-half of his or her support during 1944, and provided he or she did not have $500 or more income of his or her own. A dependent must also be a citizen of the United States or a resident of the U. S., Canada or Mexico.

Q. Will it pay me to figure my tax both the short way and the long way to see which is cheapest?

A. The 10 per cent allowance is far more than the vast majority of taxpayers actually spend for deductible items. Therefore, most taxpayers will realize readily that the withholding receipt or the short-form will be cheapest for them. Only those whose actual expenses for deductible items were close to 10 per cent have any reason to figure both ways. Those whose deductions are considerably above 10 per cent should use the long-form.

Q. What should be done by a person whose income totaled less than $800?

A. If single and the income included wages from which tax was withheld, he should file a separate return to get a refund of the tax withheld. If married, it will usually be to the family's advantage to file a joint return with his wife (or husband). At any rate it will pay to file returns.

Q. Since we are on the pay-as-you-go system, why do we still have to file income tax returns?

A. The pay-as-you-go system (under which tax is withheld from your pay check) can only come close to collecting the correct amount of income tax. It may collect too much from you and it may not collect enough. That is why, at the end of the year, it is necessary for you to fill out an income tax return and show yourself and the government whether you still owe some more tax or whether you are entitled to a refund.

SCHMIDT BACK IN HOSPITAL WITH TRENCH FOOT RECEIVED IN FIRST COMBAT IN GERMANY

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Schmidt received word this week from their son, Pvt. Bob Schmidt, that he is back in the hospital in England again with trench foot which he suffered in his first infantry combat at the front in Germany. He came through the battle without a scratch otherwise. He had been confined to a hospital in England before with an infection. In a letter received last week by his parents, Bob wrote that he was moved back to a hospital in France and now writes that he was transferred from there to England. A letter from Bob to the Statesman was also received this week in which he sends his new address which is Pvt. Bob Schmidt 3633857, Det. of Pat., 4153 U. S. Hospital Plant, A.P.O. 63, c/o Postmaster, New York, N. Y. His brief letter follows:

England
Feb. 5, 1945

"Dear Don & Bill:

"Just a few lines to let you know of my change of address. I'm back in England again after seeing a little bit of France and Germany.

"There is plenty of snow up there; almost reminds me of home except for the presence of a certain little sting involved with it.

KEWASKUM FRIENDS HAVE REUNION WITH RETURNED VET HOWARD SCHMIDT AT TOPEKA

The Statesman helped bring a trio of Kewaskum friends together for a happy reunion at Topeka, Kansas, over the week end. S/Sgt. Howard Schmidt, son of the George Schmidts, is stationed at the Winter General hospital in Topeka, after returning to the states following more than three years of overseas duty in the China-Burma-India theater. After reading that Sgt. Schmidt was there, Bob Brauchle, H. A. 2/c, son of Dr. and Mrs. Leo Brauchle, who is stationed at Hutchinson, Kans., got a week end pass to visit Howard at Topeka. There he also met Miss Violet Eberle of this village, who has been visiting Sgt. Schmidt since last week and the three spent an enjoyable two days together. On Sunday they got together and penned a letter to the Statesman. Bob started out the letter, Miss Eberle then added her bit, and Howard finished it. The result follows:

Feb. 11, 1945

"Dear Bill:

"After reading in the Statesman that Howard was coming to Topeka, Kansas, I made arrangements to see him while he was close to Hutchinson.

"Shortly after I arrived here on Saturday, Violet came to the hospital so we had quite a chin fest. We have been talking a blue streak ever since and I'm afraid our visit won't be long enough to complete all we have started.

"Violet and Howie are wondering when they're going to get this pen so I'll turn this letter over to them.

As ever, Bob"

"Hi, Bill:

"Have been doing quite a bit of pavement pounding with Howie and Bob and mostly in the road for here in Topeka they believe in having sidewalks only in the business section. The three of us have been doing enough talking to fill volumes.

Ant' Wiederseh'n, Violet"

"How're you doing Bill?

"Gee, had to go around the world to find the happiness I've found here these past few days with Violet and Bob. Gosh, no matter where in these United States I go it feels swell after the three years plus over there. In other words it's great to be back.

"I didn't know Bob when I first saw him but I knew Violet the second I saw her. Save a 'lo you think you could' glass for me, Yep, Kansas is a dry state.

Donald Koerble, S 2/c, who is taking a course at the naval training station at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, was home on a pass Sunday to visit his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Koerble, and daughters, Seaman Koerble, and just about completed his course and expects to be transferred soon.

RETURNS TO GREAT LAKES

Donald Mertes, S 2/c, returned to the naval training station at Great Lakes, Ill. Monday following a 9-day leave which he spent with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mertes, and family after finishing his boot training. He expects to be transferred now.

Home economists at the University of Wisconsin predict that dried egg powder will be highly useful in post-war home cookery. It's now being used by the armed forces and for lend-lease.

Research workers report that if too much fish oil is fed to turkeys too near the time the fowls are marketed, the meat takes on a fishy flavor. They say the quantity of oil should not be more than one-eighth of one per cent.

Bonds Over America

TENNESSEE'S CAPITOL

America's devotion to freedom, which the purchase of War Bonds directly helps to maintain, nowhere has a more exemplary shrine than the State Capitol at Nashville. The $1,500,000 building memorializes years of struggles of sturdy folk. Tennessee's first Legislature met at Kingston and adjourned to Knoxville. Later it met at Nashville and Murfreesboro. Nashville became the permanent capital and the cornerstone of the present building was laid in 1845. It took 14 years to complete. The same love of freedom that inspired those early legislators in selecting a seat of government motivates the state's 186,000 men now in the U. S. armed forces.

FACULTY MEMBERS ATTEND FORENSIC MEETING

Principal Clifford Rose and his forensic and athletic coaches, Miss Hulda Kohlbeck and Ernest Mitchell, attended the annual forensic meeting of the Tri-County Forensic and Athletic Association last Wednesday evening at Fond du Lac. Miss Betty Badalik and Leo Rose were also in attendance.

Friday, March 23, was selected by the representatives of the various schools as the date for the sectional forensic contest. North Fond du Lac will be host to the contestants, Slinger having dropped out of the league and Brandon declining to participate in the speech work. There again remain the six schools who competed last year at Lomira: Kewaskum, Campbellsport, Rosendale, North Fond du Lac, Lomira and Oakfield.

As it has in the past, Kewaskum will again send two contestants in each of the fields of endeavor: extemporaneous reading, extemporaneous speaking, declaiming and orating. The local forensic contest for elimination is tentatively set for the end of the third week in March.

Last year Kewaskum received three first places in the sectional meet and three C ratings at the district meet at De Pere. Final arrangements for this year's district and state contests have not been made but all preliminary contests must be completed before April 7 and the state contest by April 20.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC CLUB

The second meeting of the Girls' Athletic club was held last week Monday evening at Kewaskum high school under the direction of Miss E. Badalik. Twenty-four girls were present.

The portion of the program which pertains to formal calisthenics started with a marching formation. The girls have learned to right face, left face, mark time and march in single, double and quadruple manner. After a complete march of the gym was made, the same distance was covered in a hopping, skipping and "roose step" formation.

Last Monday evening, exercises emphasized the development of arm and trunk muscles. Each week a special group of muscles receive particular attention. The "Hesitation Waltz" step was worked into an exercise and the Russian folk dance was combined with a difficult squatting exercise.

An exciting game of volleyball concluded the evening.

The third meeting of the Girls' Athletic club was held Feb. 12. A short business meeting preceded the evening's athletic activities. The election of officers resulted as follows: Marilyn Perkins, president; Evelyn Techtman, vice-president; Doris Mae Stahl, secretary, and Joyce Bartlett, treasurer. Miss Badalik was asked to continue directing the club and act as their faculty advisor.

It was decided to pay fifty cents a semester as a membership fee.

A challenge was accepted by the girls to play a game of volleyball with the boys of the basketball team soon after the finish of the basketball season.

A full evening of calisthenics followed the business meeting. Special attention was given to the leg muscles. The turning of cartwheels and summersaults concluded the program.

28 SEE MOVIE "JANE EYRE"

A total audience of 238 saw the movie "Jane Eyre" which was shown on Tuesday at the high school under the sponsorship of the Library club. A second feature on the program was the cartoon "Sing, Bing, Sing" featuring Bing Crosby. The pictures were shown during the day for the pupils from the grades and rural districts, and again shown in the evening for the rest of the high school pupils and general public.

Since the Library club is sponsoring the showing of these movies in order to obtain funds to visit libraries in Milwaukee sometime in April, another film may be shown at some future date.

GIRLS' CHORUS PEP MEETING

The girls' chorus presented a pep meeting on Feb. 9 at one o'clock, which preceded the basketball game in the evening with Campbellsport. A skit was given by the girls in the chorus followed by a song, each verse of which was written about a player on our basketball team. These verses were sung to the tune of "Yankee Doodle." Ralph really goes to town when he is playing center. He throws that ball with lots of speed and through the basket sends her.

Hefty is our tall forward
At prom will relay as king
He's always ready for the ball
He makes the girls all sing.

Merrill's just another guard
Runs down the floor so fast
He's always with a senior girl
Who makes the gymnasium blast.

Red is just another forward
Tries to do his duty

When he makes a basket
Then we say "was that ever a beauty!"

He has long arms which help him out

He's very tall and on the beam
When on the floor does enter.

Augie isn't really tall
But you should see him run
You see him go just like a flash
He is the mailman's son.

Roger is our leading guard
He's on the floor with speed
He doesn't fumble with the ball
He gets us in the lead.

Allen is our fourth forward
For'er the girls he's teasing

He likes it when we're leading.

"Doc" Mitchell is our high school coach
The boys all think he's grand
Get on your feet and make it good

K. H. S. has lots of pep
So come on boys let's win this.

The pep meeting was concluded with cheers led by our cheerleaders and all joining in the school song. The scene of the skit was a church where
