Chief Harry Schaefer of the Kewaskum fire department was to Milwaukee Tuesday to make arrangements for William Martin, department foreman, to take a six weeks course in fire fighting training starting May 2. The course, sponsored by the Milwaukee Fire Department Bureau of Instruction and Training, will be given by Assistant Chief Louis Hoeft. With the contemplated new fire station to be built in connection with Kewaskum's expected new municipal building, Chief Schaefer stated that he has hopes to have the local department built into one of the best in the state. A start has already been made to improve the department and make it more efficient with the latest and best fire fighting methods, sending the fireman to school is the first step in the improvement and modernization program. Upon completing the course, Martin will instruct the rest of the firemen in what he has learned.

Everyone was impressed by the great number of personnel and intricate machinery necessary to put out the three daily editions. The staff members were especially impressed by the operation of the color presses which print, fold, cut, and bundle the papers. The tour was so arranged that it began with the city news rooms, moved on to the " morgue," the A. P. teletype rooms, engraving, type setting, art department and finally the press room. At the close of the tour the members received booklets telling about the history of the newspaper. They also were given copies of the book "The Milwaukee Story" written by a Journal writer. Local Scouts, Cubs to Participate in Spring Exposition

This Saturday and Sunday, April 23 and 24, the Boy Scouts of the southeast district of the Badger Council and the Girl Scouts of West Bend and Barton will present their annual spring exposition. This joint event, held in the Melane school gym in West Bend, is anticipated by every scout. To them, it means not only hard work in preparing booth activities but it also means fun, working together and sharing ideas and projects with many others. Mrs. H. H. Kietzien and Henry O. Schowalter, co-chairmen of the exposition, pointed out that this scout function is an excellent example of what the young people in the community and country are accomplishing. At least 20 units, both girl and boy, are planning to participate in the booth activities. There are many more from the surrounding communities who are expected to attend. Kewaskum's Scout Troop 44 and Cub Pack 44 are participating in the week end activity, according to Paul Landmann, a member of the exposition committee. The exposition will be officially opened by a parade of all scouts on Saturday noon. All scouts are to assemble in front of the library building by 1:30 p. m. and this parade will lead to the Melane school where opening ceremonies will take place. Stage activities will be presented throughout the exposition. These have been planned to interpret more fully the purpose of the scouting program. On Sunday the Madison Drum and Bugle corps will be featured for the afternoon. This internationally famous band attended and played at the International Scout Jamboree in France two years ago. The corps will present several concerts throughout the afternoon. Booth activities will depict many of the interesting phases of the scouting program. The Boy Scouts, according to Ed. Karcheski, booth participation chairman, have been planning to display and demonstrate such scout activities as rope making, fly tying, leather punching, kite making, knot tying, plastic casting, archery and many others. The Girl Scouts, on the other hand, are working on such projects as puppets, party decorations, book printing, service projects and journalism. The exposition will mark the fourth for the Boy Scouts and the second for the girls. Warren H. Vetter, field executive and Miss Charlotte Leins, scout director, pointed out, a joint function such as this, provides the opportunity for every scout to work their ideas into action. It also proves that teamwork, every member of the troop doing his or her share, is needed to make a successful activity. The exposition also shows, from adult response, that the community is interested and willing to work with young people in building a program of living together. ST. MICHAELS. Mr. and Mrs. John Schaefer spent the week end with the former's parents here. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Uelmen spent Easter with the Gross family and other relatives here. Math. Staehler, who had been convalescing at his home here following an operation, was again taken ill and was once more removed to St. Joseph's hospital at West Bend Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Tony Argus of Milwaukee spent Easter with the Ervin Rose family here. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Otten and son Steve of Barton spent Sunday afternoon at the John Roden home. The approaching marriages of Alois Braun and Mary Reuter and Francis Bremser and Rose Feucht were announced on Sunday. The ladies of the Altar society will sponsor a pillow case card party on Tuesday evening, Apr. 26, at eight o'clock at the St. Michael's hall. Everybody is cordially invited. The usual games will be played. NOTICE TO ELECTORS OF JOINT SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 5, VILLAGE AND TOWN OF KEWASKUM. Krejci, Milwaukee, and Myrtle Strachota, R. 3, Campbellport; Carl Bremser, West Bend, formerly of St. Michael's, and Rose C. Feucht, Milwaukee.

PROPOSED NEW MUNICIPAL BUILDING FOR KEWASKUM

Above is the architect's sketch of the proposed municipal building which is being submitted to the citizens of Kewaskum for a referendum at the runoff election on Tuesday, May 3. The building is to contain the village business offices, council chamber, police station and jail, fire station, library and an all-purpose meeting room. It is to be located at the intersection of Center and First streets and is planned so that the fire station will have a separate approach facing Center street whereas the main entrance to the building, library and offices will be from First street. Of fire-proof construction, the building will have no basement except for a boiler and storage room below the lobby and clerk's office. It is of modern design with a face brick exterior and features large window areas in both the council chamber and library. Next week's issue will portray a detailed floor plan and description of the various features of the building.

Greatest Show on Earth! Looking like the cover of The Billboard, Spring invaded 49th St. and Eighth Ave. this month. Outside Madison Square Garden it is the same old street with derelicts sagging in the doorways and the all-persuasive smell of bus exhaust. . . . But inside there are sawdust and spangles, pretty girls, pink tights and clowns dressed "formal" in their zinc-oxide makeup. . . . There's no red and white wagon inside the Garden, no "midway" and no "backyard."

"Clown Alley" is a big boiler-room in the cellar, next to the driveway. . . . There's no "cocoon" or "big mouth"; all the canvas is neatly wrapped aboard a circus train painted Ringling red, waiting for the next pole-and-stake town. . . . But don't let the neon lights fool you.

When the announcer walks into the center ring and says, "Children of all ages," he means you. . . . Don't let the cynics kid you—it's always a better show than last year's. Don't be a "gillie." (Circus people call greenhorns "gillies.")

How-not-to-be-a-gillie: Call the man selling balloons "the bag guy" . . . Never call the sideshow lecturer a "barker" — call him a "spiegle" . . . Never call the sideshow by that name—it's the "kid show" or the "grind show" . . . Anybody can call a pass a pass; circus people call it a "gamefake" . . . "snow," "ducat" or "Annie Oakley" . . . In the circus there are only three towns—"Today's Town," "Yesterday's Town," "Tomorrow's Town" . . . Only "gillies" say, "He was born in Oshkosh." Circus folk are "out" of the town they come from; i.e., John Ringling North is "out" of Baraboo, Wis. . . . A performer is a "kinker" or "spangles."

The men on the flying trapeze are either "fliers" or "catchers," and when a "flier" straightens out and flies right, he is "coming out of his kip" . . . The nervous man with the cigar, always prowling the lobby, is the circus "fixer" or "squarer" — he handles complaints . . . Lemonade is "juice"; a lemonade stand is a "juice joint" . . . A frankfurter stand is a "grease joint."

Do you forget to pick up your change? You're a "walkaway" . . . A circus trunk is a "keyster" or a "turkey" . . . Musicians are "wind-jammers" . . . Circus laborers are "roustabouts" or "razor-backs" . . . Never say, "Are you with it?" It's phony. Circus people are never with the show; they're on it . . . A clown act is always a "crazy act."

No, nothing sounds like a circus band, even though Merle Evans, Ringling bandmaster for decades, never uses special arrangements, conducts from standard band parts. The size of the circus arena in the Garden and under canvas gives the music that special flavor, sharpening the brass and deepening the drums . . . The band is the clock of the circus world. Every act has its own music, and every performer can tell exactly what time it is and how long is left before his act just by listening. . . . The band generally follows the performer, not vice versa. Any difference in rhythm between the act and the music would mean disaster . . . Riding acts always perform to quadrilles; trapeze acts to waltzes . . . Two-thirds of the band's repertoire is classical music . . . "Auld Lang Syne" is played only once in New York, as the closing number of the last performance at the Garden . . . "Home Sweet Home" is played only once during the season—at the end of the final show, when it replaces the usual "Star-Spangled Banner." It's bad luck to play it any other time.

Circus folk are superstitious. They believe implicitly in the law of "threes." One accident must be followed by two more . . . Like many Americans they shun the number 13 . . . Circus trunks must be in the same position every day. A trunk out of place is a sure sign of bad luck to come.

The Ringling band plays every kind of music at least once, but it will never play Suppe's "Light Cavalry March." It means sudden death . . . Years ago, when Merle Evans first took over his job, he played the number in Oklahoma, and a train wreck with 16 fatalities followed. Later when he tried to outwit the jinx by playing the tune again a "blow-down" (hurricane) killed 38 circus folk. The third time a cornet-player dropped dead immediately following the performance. (Evans is a cornetist.)

And what kind of a Circus would it be without elephants? The average Ringling elephant eats 200 lbs. of roughage or grain, 10 to 20 lbs. of pure dirt, a tub or two of water every day . . . Elephants are driven from the rear, or left, side, like oxen . . . When a "bull man" says "shy" to an elephant, he means, "Go to the right," "Mile" means "Go fast," "Mule up" means "Trot," "Tut" means "Stop" . . . Elephants hate mice and dogs just about more than anything . . .

Household Hints When boiling rice, have water boiling furiously and drop rice into it so slowly that water never ceases to boil. Do not stir; lift kernels with fork and shake kettle occasionally to prevent rice from sticking to bottom of kettle.

For flavorful vegetables, drop those which grow above ground into boiling water when cooking; put those which grow below ground on to boil in cold water. Green beans, carrots, etc., will retain more of their appetizing color, too.

When pans have "humped" in the middle, heat them and invert, then roll the rolling pin over their inverted bottoms. The rolling pin treatment requires pressure, so if the humps won't roll out for you, have friend husband give it a try.

A GLANCE AT CIVILIZATION REVEALS...

Jackpot Question: What's the World Coming To?

... CONFUSION, FEAR, HYSTERIA, DESPAIR

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A GLANCE AT THE GLOBE

The world is in queer shape. Everywhere civilization is wishing it could find a cure for its savagery.

Confusion and fear are running neck and neck with hysteria and despair. Half the world is looking for trouble and the other half acts as if afraid there won't be enough to go around.

People have always been called different from animals in that they were rational beings. But the animals appear to be outsmarting us. For centuries man seemed to be getting more intelligent, but he never looked dumber than at the close of today's business.

We belittled the caveman, but he had his own cave and all he needed for attack and defense were rocks. He didn't require millions of dollars, thousands of scientists and countless bureaus to help him when the slugging began. From the rock, man went to the bow-and-arrow and on up through javelin, gun-powder and machine-gun to the jet plane and atom bomb. Mars can now get him all his miseries wholesale.

This planet has had two world wars in 30 years and it has not only lost the goal posts but isn't sure in which direction the field lines run.

Millions fought to end tyranny, but seem to have swapped two small tyrants for a big one. We have ended secret diplomacy and substituted open covenants openly arrived at. And broken by microphone!

We have the biggest peace organization in history, but it is too busy fighting to get anywhere with a peace effort. All the world wants peace, but it first insists on the necessary ambulances and identification disks.

Look at modern man! He is cockeyed, bow-legged, swivel-headed, punch-drunk, weak-minded, hysterical, confused, befuddled and on a treadmill carefully set between a buzzsaw and an abyss.

The United States looks closer to normal than most countries, but she still resembles a cross between a vaudeville show, a trip over Niagara Falls, an outing of drunken magicians and a clambake of monkey-wrench tossers. Everybody is trying to save somebody from something if it kills the beneficiary.

In our yen for greater security we are winning ourselves a compulsory ride on a greased pole, and in our quest for the more abundant life we are winning unhappiness in carload lots.

With the atom bomb hanging over us, we are concentrating on better hair tonics, government distribution of baby-sitters and a turkey in every chicken pie.

This is the question of the hour: Can a nation exist half intelligent and half jackpot crazy? No coaching, please!

"Handkerchief Man Briefed On Code"—N. Y. Times headline... The usual spring code in the head, eh?

"Come See a Man"

COME see a man, the Nazareth lads would say.

And peering through an old shop's open door,

Would watch One swing an adz, see muscles play Like rippling steel, and mark along the floor

Huge timbers that a driven saw and plane Had smoothed and polished to its bright clear grain.

"Come see a man," the word ran like a fire Down every street and every crooked lane, And throngs besought Him, wild with their desire To rid themselves of agonizing pain.

"Come see a man whose power is strange, and such, His hands alone can heal men with its touch."

Sunrise, and noon above the land— A fish-checked woman, hurrying to sell, With strange excited voice and lifted hand, Of One who waited by an ancient well.

"Come see a man who sold me everything, ... Surely this is our long awaited King!

"Come see a man," the cry still rings today, "Who knows no fear at all, so brave is He." So strong and clean, He went His quiet way To climb at last the hill called Calvary, There to be lifted that a whole world might Be drawn to Him: its Saviour and its Light.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

RED BENSON (of Mutual's "Red Benson's Movie Matinee" and "Take a Number") at 31 has been everything from a professional prizefighter to a canary salesman; had to make sure of eating while he pursued his real love, the entertainment business. He broke in at 15 on a children's hour, put himself through high school by working in a store as window trimmer, shipping clerk and elevator operator. Selling canaries was one way of financing three years of college. At the moment he's a bright prospect for the gigantic give-away show which NBC is planning for Sunday nights at seven, opposite Jack Benny.

Arthur Fielder, conductor of the Boston Pops orchestra, heard on the RCA Victor show, starring Robert Merrill, has a siren and a police radio on his car now; the Boston police force made him an auxiliary policeman!

It seems too bad that Jane Wymann's new picture, following her winning the Oscar for her magnificent performance in "Johnny Belinda," should be "A Kiss in the Dark." In this one she has no real opportunity to act; attention seems to be focused on her costumes instead of her talents. Brief playlets, a generous-sized bath towel—that's what you'll see her wearing.

Olga San Juan O'Brien was reading "What Shall We Name the Baby?" Edmund O'Brien was driving through heavy traffic. Finding a name she liked for their expected infant, she grabbed her arm—and he nearly wrecked the car.

Lisa Gorm is doing double duty. During the day she has been playing Paulette Goddard's Polish mother in Columbia's "Anna Lucasta"; evenings she coaches Janet Leigh in an Austrian accent for "Storm Over Vienna."

John Lund, who discovered how effective dark hair is when his was dyed for "A Foreign Affair," has a clause in his contract stating that his hair must appear darker than its natural blond shade in every film he makes.

They went to a lot of trouble to age some of the costumes worn by Ingrid Bergman in Sierra Pictures' "Joan of Arc." A peasant costume was dyed, darned, patched, watered, and even rubbed in cement during the process.

The Fiction Corner SOMETHING OF VALUE

By ANNA E. WILSON

THE PORCH was broad and sunny, and Elsie placed the big chair where Dad could see the people passing and look across into Mr. Barnes grocery store.

"You see, Dad," she said cheerfully, "you'll be happy here in the sunlight, and you can watch what goes on over there in the store—it'll be no time at all until you forget about the shop—Goodness knows, a man who's worked until he's sixty-five years old has earned a rest."

Dad sank back in the chair and sighed wistfully. "I know, Elsie, and the company was real nice. Mr. Twilinger presented me with a watch, and said they were real sorry about my eyes, and hated to let me go. Watch making is such fine work and," Dad finished carefully, "there was no other place open in the shop where they could work me in. Mr. Twilinger explained about it all before I came away."

"Yes," Dad tried to settle himself unasily, "but sitting here isn't going to help pay for this house, and I did hope to see you settled in a home of your own before I died."

He was glad when Mrs. Frisby stopped to talk. She was gossipy and friendly and liked a chat.

"Glad to see you taking a rest at last, Dad. Goodness knows, it was time. I see you've been looking at the sketch for the new Memorial. Isn't it wonderful that a great artist like Mr. Bonelli's been engaged for the job. They say he's been asking for medals to copy on the figures of the war veterans and I'm hurrying right down with this one of Willie's."

Dad stared at the sketch of the Memorial, thinking of what Mrs. Frisby had said. Something of value. Dad went over all his meager possessions and they weren't much. Just his clothes, neat and clean, the watch Mr. Twilinger had given him and that old coin.

Dad was confused by the noise and bustle when he entered Mr. Bonelli's studio, but Mr. Bonelli smiled at Dad and took him into a little office in the rear.

"It's about a coin," said he humbly, and took out his lucky piece.

"Where did you get it, and why do you want to sell it, Dad?"

It was easy to talk to Mr. Bonelli, and Dad explained about his home and Elsie.

THE ARTIST sighed—"It might have been valuable once, but it's too defaced now for restoration—I'm sorry," he looked as if he really was. "I wish I could tell you that it's worth something but I'm afraid it's not."

Dad thanked him, but as he got up to go, Mr. Bonelli spoke. "I have a friend coming tomorrow and if you drop in you can talk it over with him."

All afternoon Dad polished the coin and when he went down to the studio in the morning the metal in the coin shone.

Mr. Bonelli was talking to another man, when he saw Dad he beckoned him in. Dad took out the coin and the stranger glanced at it, but he was really looking at Dad.

Dad in his neat worn clothes, was worth looking at. He had lived a good life and all this good living showed in his wrinkled face and clean blue eyes. Mr. Bonelli's own eyes twinkled.

"We find you have something of value, Dad, after all," he said softly.

"The coin was worthless," he continued. "We want to use you as a model for one of the figures on our Memorial. We want to employ you in the studio to keep track of valuables loaned to us. Mr. Twilinger says we couldn't get a better man. The pay is good, well over five hundred dollars for the year's work," he said gently. "You see, Dad, the thing you have of value is yourself. You've been a good citizen and it shines right in your face."

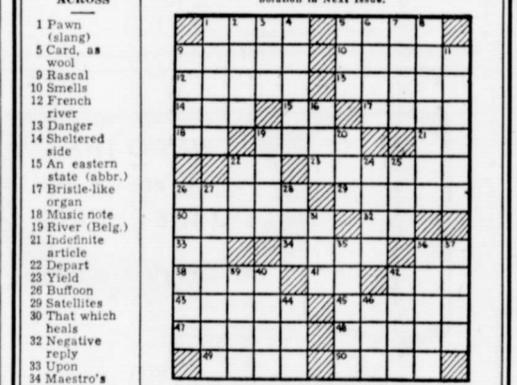

Man Commits Suicide Because of World Ills

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A 69-year old man shot himself to death outside the U. S. senate chamber because he was "shamed" by the world's lack of progress "morally, ethically and politically."

He was Thomas C. Williams, of Buffalo, N. Y. He left two lengthy notes in which he stated he hoped his death might set an example to inspire better things. He attacked "pork barrel politicians."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Effect Disputed as Pact Signed; Bradley Urges European Fortress; Senate Okays More Aid for Chinese

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

PACT SIGNED:

Hopes & Fears

For better or worse . . . for a hope of peace or a step toward war . . . the North Atlantic pact was now a reality. Whether it would insure peace or aggravate tensions into war, no one could say with finality. There could be no doubt anywhere, however, that its signing was completed in a world atmosphere redolent of both hopes and fears.

STRIPPED of its mumbo-jumbo phraseology, the intent of the pact is simple: It declares that an act of aggression against any of the signatory nations shall be construed as an attack against all. It does not make mandatory military help by any signatory to any pact member who may be attacked. The degree of assistance is optional.

Therein, as many observers have pointed out, lies the pact's strength and its weakness. The strength inherent in the proviso lies in its leaving to signatory nations exercise of their own judgment regarding the degree of emergency in the event of attack, and does not precipitately hurl all pact signatories into war willy-nilly. Its weakness stems from the fact that aggressor nations may be willing to gamble that great powers will not be willing to wage all-out war to come to the assistance of a smaller signatory.

THERE WAS STAUNCH denial that the pact was aimed at any particular nation, but only a moron would concede the truth in that. The pact definitely was aimed at blocking Russian aggression against the smaller signatories, and there was little effort to hide the hope that the pact would do just that.

On the other hand, there were those who felt the step was one which would ultimately lead to war as Russia would brook no actions short of war to stop the tide of Soviet imperialism.

Pact signatories were the United States, Belgium, Canada, Denmark, France, Iceland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal and the United Kingdom.

DEFENSE:

Arms for Europe

The United States was urged to follow up swiftly its peace-insurance action in signing the North Atlantic pact. General Omar N. Bradley, U. S. chief of staff, called for a military aid program which would strengthen western Europe as a fortress and stop an aggressor before he could overrun the continent.

Bradley rejected the idea widely held among some military men that it would be impossible to stop Russia from conquering all Europe if it chose. The best thing the United States could do, according to that theory, would be to strike back with air power and lead a counterattack which would eventually liberate the continent.

BRADLEY flatly contended that such strategy would breed despair among potential allies in Europe and render them impotent.

His remarks carried added significance because he stated he had been requested by the state department to comment publicly on the military security significance of the North Atlantic pact and its implementation.

He took a hefty swing at the Soviets, although omitting them by name, when he declared: "If that resolute is to be hostile, then we shall have to endure the slanders of those who call us hostile. For their slanders are the expressions of angry resentment from jackals denied their plunder."

HE DECLARED the Atlantic pact had removed the world crisis from a "cold war" stage, and warned that America could all too readily become the victim of our own slogans . . . if we do not soon renounce our catchword addiction in all too many minds that "cold war" is the overtone to real war, we may find ourselves with a mentality that accepts real war as inevitable.

But did his urging to strengthen the "ran-parters" of Europe in favor of air power and liberation later, mean strengthen the pact countries' defenses with men as well as guns and munitions.

RUSSIANS ON RAMPAGE

Soviet Troops Attack Army Post in Iran

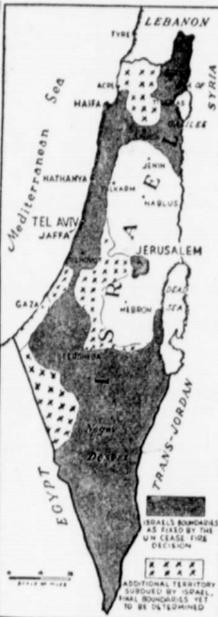

Even as the North Atlantic pact was being signed in an actual, though disavowed, effort to stem the spread of Russian imperialism, a military informant in Tehran reported Russian forces had attacked an Iranian army post. The report stated a Russian regiment, supported by tanks and armored cars had made a new foray into Azerbaijan province.

DINNERS:

Nickel for Ducks

As an example of low prices prevailing in north China, famed Peiping duck dinners were selling for five cents each in Tientsin. That included all the trimmings. The Rev. J. L. Bates of Watkins, Minn., a Catholic priest who recently left Peiping, said similar low prices prevailed there. He said eggs were selling at 12¢ for a dollar. Durand Wilder, American aid in China, corroborated the story

Israel's Miracle

This map compares for the first time the boundaries of the U. N. decision with the area actually won by Israel arms. The miracle of reclamation is Israel's present achievement and future hope.

ARMISTICE:

Jews in Dissent

Amid verbal strife and dissension, the government of Israel contemplated an armistice with Trans-Jordan. Despite vociferous opposition, the government won a test vote of confidence in parliament.

WHATEVER ELSE the armistice may have effected, a foreign office spokesman said it had added 150 square miles to Israel. This area was to be pared off the northwestern area of the bulge by an Arab withdrawal from the Hadera-Afula road and off the western edge by a withdrawal from the Tel Aviv-Haifa railroad.

But the armistice was not effected without bitterness. Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion's opponents charged the armistice was tantamount to recognizing the incorporation of the Jenin-Tulkarm-Nablus bulge north of Jerusalem into the Hashemite Jordan kingdom of monarch Abdullah.

The vote followed a stormy five-hour debate. Opponents charged the armistice opened Israel to Anglo-American influence. Ben-Gurion retorted that possibly Trans-Jordan was a puppet government (of Britain) but there were also puppet parties in Israel serving outside interests.

CHINA:

More Aid

There would be more aid from the United States—but, locking the door too late—there was a condition. The senate wrote into the aid bill a ban on shipments to Communist-controlled areas.

IT LONG HAD BEEN public information that much of the supplies and munitions sent by this country to aid the Chinese Nationalists in their fight against communism had fallen into Communist hands. The procedure was beginning to make America and its Far East policy appear a bit silly.

Now, congress had moved to stop a procedure which must have afforded no little amusement to Russia and her Communist hordes in China.

THE U. S. SENATE accepted an amendment to the aid measure to make available 54 million dollars in "frozen" China aid funds—"provided it is spent only in areas controlled by the Nationalist government."

ARMED UNITY:

A Contradiction?

Unity of the nation's armed services was promised, but where was the unity in defense-preparation thinking?

For, despite the displayed potency of the air arm—combined with the atom bomb—to immobilize naval might, defense experts were going blithely ahead designing and building new "super-warcraft."

LATEST EXAMPLE was the cruiser Roanoke—"the world's most powerful light cruiser"—and described by enthusiastic builders as being "practically unsinkable." The 690-foot Roanoke cost 30 million dollars, and was under construction five years. Carrying a crew of 51 officers and 992 men, the cruiser displaces 17,000 tons and has a designed speed of 33 knots, which is approximately 37 miles per hour.

The hull, it was said, renders the ship practically unsinkable. She has a main battery of 12 semi-automatic six-inch guns, a secondary battery of 20 rapid-fire three-inch guns, and six twin 20-mm. mounts.

Speaking at the commissioning of the Roanoke, Louis Johnson, U. S. defense secretary, said the vessel was joining the "greatest fleet we have ever maintained in time of supposed peace."

HE DECLARED the ship would be "kept in training for its primary mission," and carefully omitting the word "war," Johnson described the mission as "one we all hope and believe it will not have to discharge."

Referring to armed service unity, the defense secretary said: "Our safety lies in the combined contribution of them all, each service in the sphere it is best equipped to control. This relationship has been carefully worked out and it will be closely adjusted to combat trim in the very near future."

With that aim, the people of the United States would be found in full accord.

NEW FEEDS:

Mighty Potent

Could an animal burst its seams by eating?

That is an academic question, of course; but some of the new livestock feeds are reported to be so powerful that animals literally "burst their seams" if fed too much.

DR. H. J. PREBLUDA, nutritionist, stated that scientists simply would have to breed new animals with greater capacities.

The new high-energy feeds are rich in vitamins, especially a new vitamin B-12, found in what is called the animal "protein factor." Such feeds are low in materials like fiber that do not generate energy.

Dr. Prebluda said that when these feeds are given to poultry it is like pouring rich coal into a furnace. Rich coal needs a draft, but the birds are not capable of burning rich feeds under draft. They burst their limits of capacity to handle food—they have a physical breakdown.

HE ADDED that only a short time ago it took three and one-half pounds of feed to produce one pound of broiler meat. Now this same meat can be produced from two and one-half pounds of feed. Birds that reach top weight in 14 weeks on old type feeds reach top weight in only nine weeks on the new super-feed.

However, Dr. Prebluda concludes, they could grow even faster if they could handle the rich foods faster.

Maid of Cotton

Historic Tower bridge forms a striking background for this photo of Miss Sue Howell, America's "Maid of Cotton" as she poses on the banks of the Thames during a sightseeing tour of London.

Surprise!

At Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., three strangers drove up to a hangar at Brown airport. Two of them stopped to talk with a mechanic, Earl Snyder.

The third man went inside, hopped into a plane, taxied out and disappeared into the sky, headed north.

His companions calmly got into their car and left.

TREE PLANTER:

Rest After Three

A lifetime of freedom from mental tasks had left Japanese Emperor Hirohito not quite up to it. From Tokyo came a report that the emperor shoveled dirt around three trees he planted in Hakone national forest at the foot of Fuji-yama.

Then he climbed into his maroon limousine and motored to the imperial villa at Numazu. And there he rested from his labors.

Select Seasoning to Suit Meat (See Recipes Below)

Meat Tricks

THE FIELD of seasonings, especially as applied to meat cookery, is a wide and interesting one. If you want to have fun with cooking, and serve the family foods with fine flavor, follow some of the tips given here; then, go further and do some experimenting on your own.

Certain seasonings are ideal for different cuts of meat. For mild cuts of meat such as veal and lamb, the seasoning may be a little sharper than those used for beef. Spicy seasonings are favored for pork.

SOUR CREAM has long been a favorite with veal. When combined with a dill pickle relish and served with steaming hot egg noodles, veal can indeed be a treat.

Veal in Dill Sour Cream (Serves 4)

- 1 tablespoon salt
- 3 quarts boiling water
- 6 ounces egg noodles
- 1 pound veal, cut thin, from leg
- 4 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 4 tablespoons dill pickle relish
- 1 1/2 cups sour cream

To cook egg noodles, add salt to boiling water and gradually add egg noodles. Do not let water stop boiling. Stir occasionally with a pancake turner. Boil rapidly about nine minutes, until tender. Drain thoroughly.

Have butcher cut veal 1/4-inch thick. Dredge in flour and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt butter in skillet; add veal and saute until golden brown. Cover and cook until tender. Remove from pan; keep warm in oven. Add two teaspoons flour to the drippings, blend well. Gradually stir in sour cream, pickle relish, salt and pepper. To serve, arrange veal in center of platter and surround with buttered egg noodles.

LAMB BREAST is among the more economical cuts of meat, but it's a real favorite when prepared with barbecue sauce:

Barbecued Lamb Breast (Serves 4)

- 2 pounds lamb breast
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1/2 cup chili sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon red pepper
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 cup water

Cut lamb into five pieces. Season with salt and pepper. Place in hot skillet and let fatty sides brown. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over lamb. Cover and simmer for one and one-half hours. Remove cover and cook for 20 minutes longer, until sauce is absorbed.

Vegetables, cloves, bay leaves

LYNN SAYS:

Know These Facts About Cooking

When brown sugar hardens, place in the refrigerator until the sugar softens. If the sugar is very hard, wrap a damp towel around it before refrigerating.

If you add barley to soup or stew, the mixture will thicken naturally without the addition of flour and water.

Beat cocoa with an egg beater to remove scum from forming on its top.

Soak salt pork in milk overnight before cooking the meat and bring back its fresh flavor. The milk may be used for delicious gravy.

Don't peek into the waffle iron while the iron is steaming or the waffles will lose their crispness. The steaming means they are still cooking.

When making apple sauce, do not peel the apples. The apple is a thin-skinned fruit and contains vitamins and minerals. The peel will slip off when you strain the and tomatoes add wonderful flavor to round steak. A low temperature is used in baking so the meat will be properly tender.

Tomato Steak (Serves 6-8)

- 3 pounds round steak, cut 2 inches thick
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 3 pint tomatoes
- 2 carrots
- 1 large onion
- 1 turnip
- 2 cloves
- 3 bay leaves
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons water

Score the steak by slashing with a sharp knife. Sear in heated fat in skillet. Prepare vegetable and put through coarse knife of the food chopper. Add them as well as the other seasonings to the meat. Cover carefully and bake in a slow (275°) oven for three hours or until tender. Remove meat from liquid. Combine flour and water. Add a little of the hot liquid to this, then add to remaining liquid. Boil together until thickened, then pour over meat and serve.

Apples and raisins are tucked in to a sage-seasoned dressing for roast pork.

*Stuffed Shoulder of Pork

- 1 4-5 pound pork shoulder
- 1 cup bread crumbs
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 grated onion

Have the butcher cut a pocket in a shoulder of pork, from which the blade has been removed. Make the dressing as follows: Mix ingredients in order given and fill the pocket. Skewer or tie with coarse string. Rub the roasting pan lightly with a clove of garlic, if desired, and dust the pork shoulder with salt and pepper and paprika. Place in a 350° oven and cook two and one-half to three hours.

LIVER HAS little fat of its own, so bacon and pork are used with it to provide juices for cooking it. Here's an unusual way to prepare liver that's certain to be a favorite:

Liver Rolls

Have desired number of slices of calves' or beef liver cut in one-fourth inch slices. Sprinkle with fine bread crumbs and spread with a mixture of sauteed onions, celery and chopped parsley. In the center of each slice, place a finger-length piece of salt pork. Roll each slice tightly and tie or skewer together. Dust with salt and pepper and roll in flour. Place in a baking pan to which a small amount of water mixed with bacon drippings has been added.

To keep yolks from which the whites have been used, place in a cup of water to prevent a hard crust from forming. Store in the refrigerator.

Never beat muffin or pancake mixtures too thoroughly. Slight lumps should be left in the batter so the finished product will be really tender.

When heating iced rolls place in the oven in a paper sack or in a heavy skillet on top of the range. Do not sprinkle with water since this may melt the icing.

To make sour milk for cooking, add lemon juice or vinegar to fresh milk and allow to stand for a few minutes. This works with fresh or canned milk.

If you cook cereal which must remain in the double boiler overnight, add water after the cereal is cooked to prevent a hard crust from forming on it.

All fish foods should be marinated in French dressing or lemon juice before mixing them in a salad. This adds extra flavor to the salad.

Cheaper Cigars Returning to Counters of America

WASHINGTON—Cheaper cigars are making a comeback, a report of the department of agriculture disclosed.

Reviewing the tobacco situation the report said that Americans would smoke about the same number of cigars this year, but would cut down on the higher-priced brands in favor of the more economical variety.

Shoe-Designers Present

"Strip-Tease" Footwear

NEW YORK—Shoe designers plan a footwear "strip-tease" for the next three seasons.

From spring through fall, women of high style can wear soles, heels, a strap or two across the instep and toenail polish.

So says David Evins, a young man who dictates fashion to America's high-style, high-price shoe manufacturers. He began the new nudify last year.

Singer Takes Host's Word,

Does Make "More Money"

LOS ANGELES—Trilled by a confederate, a well dressed young man walked into a quiet bar, ordered a drink and sat down at the piano. Soon he began to play and sing. The other patrons and the manager, Robert H. Rosen, called for more.

The youth agreed. He and his companion produced guns, took $240 from the cash register and left humming softly.

Welfare Aid Recipient

Found Carrying $4,211

NEWARK, N. J.—An 82-year-old man, on relief here for 11 years, dropped $4,211 in cash from his clothes as he was carried into city hospital—and welfare authorities put in a claim for a rebate.

The man, Harry Streck, suffered a stroke and had to be hospitalized yesterday. Hospital officials said the horde of bills—in denomination of $100, $50 and $10—fell from his coat.

The Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND by DREW PEARSON

Secret "Leaked"

NOW that James Forrestal is out as secretary of national defense, the story can be told of one of his last sessions with Truman and the man who was to take his place - Louis Johnson.

Though Forrestal had put up a tough fight against the appearance of being ousted from his job, he saw the handwriting on the wall and asked only that there be a gradual change-over from him to his successor. He wanted this to take place May 1, but at a luncheon with the President and Louis Johnson, he bowed to Truman's wish that it be April 1.

Furthermore, Forrestal volunteered to help Johnson in taking over the defense job and immediately placed important secret intelligence at his disposal.

At this luncheon meeting, it was agreed on the day when Johnson's appointment would be announced, and Johnson declared that until that time he was going to leave town.

"I don't want to be accused of leaking the news," he said. "And it's already begun to leak." He looked meaningfully at the other two.

"There's been no leak from me," declared Truman.

"May one cross-examine the President of the United States?" asked Johnson.

The President smiled, and Johnson proceeded to do so.

"Didn't you tell General Eisenhower about this?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," admitted Truman, "But he won't tell a soul."

"And did you tell Senator Tydings?" asked Forrestal.

"Yes, I forgot about that," acknowledged the President, "but Tydings won't leak."

"Yeah?" said the new secretary of defense. "Well, it's leaking already. And that's why I'm leaving town."

Michigan Scandals

If the justice department ever quits sitting on its hands and takes a real look at the Michigan political contributions, it will uncover some of the juiciest scandals in the U. S. A. Furthermore, it will get to the bottom of the manner in which a lot of political money has been raised in this country.

The justice department has fudged-dudded round with a semi-investigation, but the U. S. district attorneys in Michigan have been half scared of the big Michigan auto interests, while higher-ups in the justice department have been busy chasing spies and running off in other directions.

Meanwhile, Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, chairman of the senate campaign investigating committee, has had some efficient probers busy in Michigan, and they have dug up evidence of widespread violation of the corrupt practices act. Among other things they have found:

A cashier check, Feb. 24, 1948 by the Barclay Deyo corporation, a Detroit Ford dealer, for $750 to the Wayne county Republican finance committee.

Also a contribution by the Park Motor Sales company, a Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Detroit, for $750, on Feb. 11, 1948 to the Wayne county Republican committee.

Also $953 to the same committee on March 12, 1948, by the Floyd Rice Sales and Service Co., another Ford dealer in Detroit.

Not only are these contributions by corporations a violation of the corrupt practices act, but senate investigators are interested in ascertaining what connection there was between certain large gifts to the Republican machine and the nonpayment of sales taxes by certain auto dealers. Michigan raised a terrific wad of dough for the G. O. P. What did the Michigan auto people get in return for their money?

Capital News Capsules

Tito wants help - this may be denied, but Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia has appealed to the United States for American artillery, communications equipment and spare parts for his air force. Tito has told the American embassy in Belgrade he fears a Soviet pincer attack on Yugoslavia from Albania and Bulgaria where the Russians are concentrating military forces.

... The U. S. embassy has passed along Tito's urgent request - with the postscript that it has ironclad evidence that an average of two Russian ships each day have unloaded military equipment at the Albanian port of Durazzo for the past three weeks.

Diminishing Communists - The American ambassador to Italy, James Dunn, has just sent a confidential cable to the state department reporting that, thanks to the friendship train, the Marshall plan, etc., Italian Communist membership has dropped from more than two million to less than a million, 500,000.

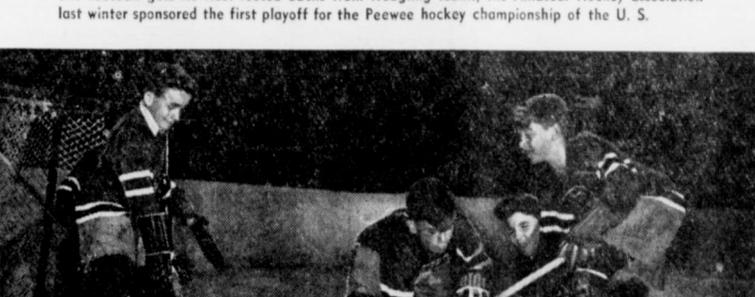

Far Eastern Tinderbox

Secretary of State Acheson has sent secret instructions to all American diplomats in the far East telling them to be extra careful to avoid any action which might be interpreted as an insult to the yellow race. ... Conditions throughout the far East are so tense that Acheson fears some isolated incident might touch off a disastrous race riot. The tense situation is partly because of Communist propaganda

Weekly Picture Story

On the theory that great hockey players of the future will rise to stardom from the game's "incubator leagues" just as baseball now develops its future home-run kings on its farm schools and football gets its fleet-footed backs from fledgling teams, the Amateur Hockey association last winter sponsored the first playoff for the Peewee hockey championship of the U. S.

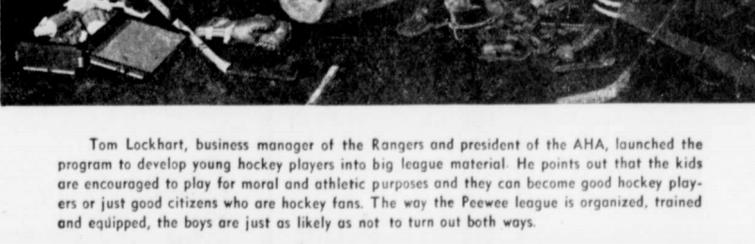

The pucksters in these photos belong to the "Peewee Rangers" and "Peewee Rovers," offshoots of the New York Rangers organization. From 11 to 14 years old, the youngsters take the game seriously, play it hard. Thomas Abrams (left), 11-year-old-goalie, is considered one of the most promising of the young rinkmen.

Typical attitude is maintained by this beaten but unbowed stalwart who reacts stoically to minor injuries suffered in action on the ice. He's getting a big league patching job on his face, and he will be back in the fray with his eye and chin decorations before long.

Tom Lockhart, business manager of the Rangers and president of the AHA, launched the program to develop young hockey players into big league material. He points out that the kids are encouraged to play for moral and athletic purposes and they can become good hockey players or just good citizens who are hockey fans. The way the Peewee league is organized, trained and equipped, the boys are just as likely as not to turn out both ways.

Parties Losing Unity

ACTION of the 81st congress to this time indicates to your Home Town Reporter that there is little vestige of party responsibility left in the congress. As a matter of fact the vote on the Rankin veterans pension bill indicates there is little courage or personal responsibility, at least in the face of retaliation by powerful groups.

On the Rankin bill here's what happened. On one motion which would have killed the bill on a standing vote, the house voted 154 to 139 to kill the measure. On a teller vote on another motion which would also have killed it, they voted 163 to 134 to kill it. But not an hour later when they were put on a spot for an official vote which would go in the Congressional Record, they flip-flopped and refused to kill the bill 223 to 187. Then the next day, after a few heads had been cracked and two members changed their vote, the house by a 208 to 207 tally, voted to send the bill back to committee, which although it does not actually kill the bill, definitely defers action.

Now these congressmen apparently have convictions, but when it came to getting them into the record they refused to accept the responsibility, of voting to kill this measure which would have saddled billions of dollars onto the taxpayers.

The Republicans in congress are split three ways. Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio leads a small but powerful conservative group. Senators Lodge, of Massachusetts, and Tobey, of New Hampshire, head up a liberal group. A strong reactionary group is headed by Senator Wherry of Nebraska and Bricker of Ohio. In the Democratic camp, the administration forces are led by Sen. Scott Lucas, of Illinois, as majority leader. The Dixiecrat group is headed by Senator Russell of Georgia. A liberal or so-called New Deal group is headed by such men as Senators Pepper, of Florida, Murray of Montana, and Humphries of Minnesota.

Medicos at Odds

Whether or not this congress will seriously consider the passage of the administration national health program, including the compulsory health insurance feature, is a matter of conjecture. It may pass at least a portion of the measure. But the entire question has been made an important national issue which may go over into the 1950 campaign. Your Home Town Reporter took part in a panel discussion in Baltimore recently on the question. Also on the panel was a member of the CIO union, a Baltimore physician representing the pro-insurance group within the medical profession, and another doctor to represent the position of the medical association against government insurance. The latter doctor, however, refused to take part in the discussion. The explanation was that the Baltimore county medical society had ordered its members not to take part in such discussions.

The whole question is - How sick is America and an individual's afford to pay for it? One survey shows that on any given day at least seven million Americans are absent from their work because of some illness or disability. Lack of medical care and proper facilities for care are most flagrant in rural areas. The taxpayers are now paying something like two billion dollars a year on health with little improvement. The proposed national health bill is offered as a media for improving health, providing for media of payment and a substitute for much of the money now being expended. The medical association has belatedly offered a plan of its own which would include a department of health with cabinet status. It is not likely to pass.

Scheduled and unscheduled airlines are in a bitter fight before the civil aeronautics board. Scheduled lines say their competition is excessive and cut-throat in the larger cities, so can't service smaller ones. Unscheduled flyers say the big lines want a monopoly and are trying to regulate the smaller fellows out of business. We think the CAB should decide one way or another and not keep both sides dangling for months.

New Wheat Pact

The new wheat agreement has been signed by some 40 nations. It is not as favorable as the pact offered in 1948 but provides the USA shall export not less than 168 million bushels of wheat for four years at a maximum price of $1.80 and a minimum of $1.50 the first year; $1.40 the second; $1.30 the third, and $1.20 the fourth year. Russia and Argentina did not participate.

Liberals Have Voice

Appointment of Frank L. Graham of North Carolina to the senate to succeed the late J. Melville Broughton, will give the south a liberal voice in congress which will not only be refreshing in Washington, but in our judgment prove a boon to the south. In mentioning the rarity of southern liberalism, we also like to mention freshman Congressman Hugo S. Sims of South Carolina's second district, a lawyer newspaper editor and veteran

FLY KITES Safely!

THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN!

Each year at about this time, tragedy strikes deep into the heart of some American household when the shouts and laughter of some youngster are stifled by an unnecessary kite flying accident. Kite flying is fun and perfectly safe if a few simple rules are observed. Encourage youngsters to fly kites SAFELY!

- DON'T fly kites near electric wires.
- DON'T use metal, tinsel or wire on kites.
- DON'T fly kites in crowded areas.
- DON'T climb poles to recover kites.
- DO use DRY cotton string, beware of wet weather.
- DON'T fly kites in the street.
