Truman Asks 45 Millions to Spread U.S. 'Know-How' Throughout World; A-Bomb Urged as Defense Weapon

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

U.S. KNOW-HOW: Share for World

Back in January, President Harry Truman delivered in his message to congress, a multiple-point program. In that program was mentioned "point four" — one of the proposals he made and one which raised some eyebrows and set off no end of speculation on "when and how."

"POINT FOUR" was a proposal to share United States "know-how" in varied fields with other friendly nations of the world. In that proposal, the President asked congress to go along with plans to let such nations in on how the U.S. does things economically, mechanically, industrially.

After speculation died down there was nothing more said about "point four" until recently. Then, President Truman told congress exactly what he wanted. First, he asked for 45 million dollars to help the backward countries of the world through U.S. aid.

CALLING that a first step, he listed some other factors also as "preliminaries." These included: Technical assistance to be provided through the United Nations or directly by the United States.

Private investment to turn undeveloped areas into producing for the world economy. Authority delegated by the congress to the President to give him power to administer the program and authority to delegate it to the secretary of state and to other government officers as he deems appropriate.

"We are here embarking on a venture that extends far into the future," he told congress. He added that "grinding poverty and the lack of opportunity for many millions of people in . . . certain regions . . . constitute the greatest challenge of the world today."

A-BOMB USE: Limits Asked

How would idealism fare against expediency in the matter of atomic bomb use in a war crisis?

That was a question with which congress was being asked to deal. Senator Flanders (R., Vt.) asked congress to declare the atomic bomb as a weapon of defense only for the free nations—not to be used unless an aggressor huris it first.

TO RISK a masterpiece of understatement, that could be a most dangerous policy as even a child could see. Give an aggressor first shot at us with the bomb before we retaliate? Some critics of such a plan might reasonably demand: How silly can you get?

An enemy equipped with enough bombs, and permitted first drop, could put this nation, or any nation, in such a fix that there'd be no use and no opportunity to retaliate with the bomb.

From here it looks as though Senator Flanders may have nothing but his trouble for his work.

FLANDERS explained his plan as one which he believed might speed the United Nations' efforts to write an agreement on world-wide control of atomic energy.

Asked whether his plan might not arouse criticism that this country is denying itself its foremost weapon, the senator replied, "I don't think we should sell our immortal souls to the devil."

But in the American concept, stemming from 1776, to sell one's freedom to an enemy through non-use of the bomb might be tantamount to the situation which the senator finds distasteful.

ECONOMY: Warning Sounded

President Truman's administration was coming in for some criticism as a result of the current bipartisan economy drive in congress. Senator Aiken (R., Vt.) warned that if the drive succeeds, it will put a powerful political weapon in President Truman's hands—and in an election year, at that.

Aiken argued that it would be tantamount to handing the President a two billion dollar campaign fund for the congressional elections next year.

FIFTY-SIX senators — 21 Democrats and 35 Republicans — have signed a petition to take up a resolution which would force Truman to balance the budget by cutting federal operating appropriations from five to 10 per cent in the fiscal year.

TELEPHONES: More for Farms

A bill intended to put more telephones on U.S. farms moved ahead a step in the national house of representatives. The measure cleared the rules committee and there was a chance for early legislative action on the proposal.

The bill would authorize rural electrification administration to move into the telephone field. It would make loans to private companies or cooperatives.

TRADE PACT: Britons Jump Gun

In matters affecting its own welfare, Great Britain never has taken any but the realistic view, hence the signing of a five-year trade pact with Argentina — a pact to which the United States has vigorously objected.

THE PACT, calling for exchanges totaling 500 million dollars the first year, and looking to at least an equal volume the other years, commits the two nations to virtual barter.

The U.S. objected to the pact on the grounds that it violates the spirit of free competitive international trade.

Argentine President Juan Peron rapped outside criticism in a speech at ceremonies marking the end of negotiations which lasted more than five months.

"It is not possible," he said, "to hide the evil intentions and evil designs behind this criticism. This type of economic warfare is a sign of incapacity."

OPEN criticism of British action came from Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) who accused Britain of "selfishly promoting her own economic interests at the expense of the U.S. and European countries."

He contended that the pact "defeats the very purpose of recovery and free exchange of goods in the world."

Paul G. Hoffman, U.S. economic cooperation administrator, also was concerned. He said he was strongly opposed to this type of "bilateral agreement" and that he would use every influence to discourage such two-way pacts.

However, the senate committee did not go along with the idea that the law should be broadened to include many workers not covered by it now.

PEPPER said that the bill had been broadened so that it included only an additional 100,000 non-farm workers. These, he said, are engaged in processing agriculture products in so-called "areas of production."

"Farmers," he pointed out, "still would have the exemptions they now have."

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a committee member, said the labor department figured that if the bill became law it would mean pay raises for about 1.25 million workers who in interstate commerce now make less than 75 cents an hour.

BONUS BILL: Idea Won't Die

Tennessee's Representative Rankin was nothing if not persistent. The Democratic legislator again was planning a measure to obtain a bonus for U.S. war veterans.

THE chairman of the house veterans committee disclosed that he was grooming a multi-billion dollar bonus bill as a follow-up to veterans' pension legislation. He indicated he might seek action at this session.

Whether he knew it or not, he was in for some rough sledding, for even as he discussed the proposed measure, some members of his committee voiced the belief there would be no more major veterans' benefit bills reported out of committee at this session.

COMMENTING on his measure, Rankin said he regarded adjusted compensation — or bonus — as a possible solution to the whole question of veterans' benefits. He has managed to bottle up measures to extend the "52-20" GI jobless pay beyond the July 25 expiration date, terming unemployment payments "rocking chair money."

The bonus bill, Rankin argued, "would deduct from the compensation all this sit-down money, on-the-job-training and college benefits."

AIRLIFT: An Anniversary

The winged boxcar flew into Berlin's Tempelhof airfield. It landed five tons of steel wool and textiles on the concrete airstrip at exactly 12 o'clock.

THE LANDING was accomplished in magnificent solitude. However, it was an event of a sort that seldom goes unnoticed.

For that landing rounded out one solid year of "Operation Airlift" the hottest weapon in the cold war. Despite that, it was probably one of the most unattended birthdays in history.

THE FLIGHT, made by Lt. Michael B. Seeley, Bakersfield, Cal., was the 235,314th of the 365-day airlift. His load brought the total to a million, 943,655 tons of food, coal, machinery and other supplies that kept Berlin going during the Russian blockade.

The combined British-American task-force was dumping an average of 8,200 tons daily into the city with such ease nobody paid much attention to it any more.

WAGES: Hike on Way?

A bill to increase the present minimum wage in the United States from 40 to 75 cents an hour had cleared its first hurdle and was on its way to further consideration.

THE measure was approved unanimously by the senate labor committee. Senator Pepper (D., Fla.), a committee member, said the labor department figured that if the bill became law it would mean pay raises for about 1.25 million workers who in interstate commerce now make less than 75 cents an hour.

Big Name Horses Are on Trial

By GRANTLAND RICE

THE NEXT FEW days and weeks of racing will find a flock of celebrities in the headlines. Their names will include Citation, Coaltown, Capot, Ponder and a few more.

There have been three big feature races with the same weights so far—the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont. Capot not only won two out of three but also ran 1-2 in each start. Capot's on top—but he still has a battle left.

There is no long-range question now that Olympia won the Derby for Ponder. Capot could pick his own pace in the Belmont, but some horse with speed had to go after Olympia in the Derby. Capot was the only horse with the speed to challenge which in turn cost him the race.

If the Greentree horse could win the Preakness and Belmont because there was no pacer-maker to kill off first, he could surely have taken over the Derby under similar circumstances.

But for all that, Ponder was the surprise horse of both the Derby and the Belmont. He will still be dangerous over any stretch of ground beyond a mile, especially at a mile and a quarter or a mile and a half.

His form from two-year-old class has bounded far up and if Capot falls away later on, it is quite likely that Calumet's stretch runner will move up.

In the meanwhile it will be interesting to see when and where Citation will run again. Jimmy Jones says the champion is ready. "We have been in no hurry," Jimmy says, "to get him working too soon with Coaltown on hand. There is nothing to be gained by running Citation against Coaltown."

Whether or not Citation is ready, Calumet has no great worry with Coaltown, Ponder and Wistful on hand.

It is only natural that Chicago should get the call with these standouts, due to the matter of weight assignments. If Calumet can get her stars in at 130, it would be rather foolish to take higher weights.

In the meanwhile Hollywood

Park is quite anxious to know what Calumet will do about the $100,000 Gold Cup race on July 16, where Coaltown and Citation can get in at 132 pounds. The hitch here may come from Ben Jones' statement that 130 pounds is all that any horse should carry. The extra two pounds would make little or no difference, but it might leave an opening for increased weights later on.

In any event the next few weeks should be replete with interesting turns, now partially covered by the fogs. Citation, especially, is due to break into the headlines soon.

Make The Target A Barn

So far this has been a formless baseball season in the main and the main reason is quite evident—the pitching.

It isn't so much a matter of the base hits and runs that have been accumulated. It isn't so much a matter of the home runs driven in winning flight over the fences or into the stands. It has been largely a matter of bases on passes.

I can't recall a season where so many passes have been issued day after day. Eight—10-15-18 or 20 have been on the menu. Teams get 13 hits and 20 runs. They get 8 hits and 11 runs.

There isn't any reason why a big league pitcher shouldn't be able to get a pitch across the plate at least a reasonable number of times. But it is nothing to see some pitcher open up any given inning by filling the bases on passes.

Pitchers will tell you that if they give the batter a good ball to hit, he'll probably hammer it out of the lot. But isn't it better to have him do that with nobody on than to fill the bases first and then hand the batter a grand slammer? I do not remember another season that has ever yielded so many grand slammers, a home run with three on, as 1949 has offered with the campaign only a quarter over.

Lack of control has also been responsible for so many home runs. The pitcher rapidly works himself into a hole and then has to split the plate. At least he has to try. The order of march today is to first fill the bases or walk at least two men. After this the home-run ball, squarely over the middle with little on it, is served up.

There are few sights more terrible to an airman than smoke billowing from an aircraft from which human beings have not escaped. The Continental air command, waging an unceasing fight against the dread enemy fire, seeks to instruct military personnel on proper methods of fighting aircraft fires and saving personnel trapped within. In the left foreground above personnel are shown fighting a blaze in the fuselage of an old aircraft which has been saturated with gasoline and set afire. At right, Pfc. Antonio Rutago, Delano, Calif., keeps the foam hose on a burning section of the plane as the instructor, John A. Kearney (background) keeps close watch.

Not all CAC personnel training is done outside. Here, they are shown getting instructions on how it should be done before they actually do it. These men were members of a class to graduate last from a fire-fighting school at Shaw air force base, Sumpter, South Carolina, after taking a two-week course in how to kill flames in the event a plane came in for an emergency landing and caught fire. Below, personnel are shown under close observation of instructors as they battle the flames and rescue a dummy from the cockpit of a salvaged Boeing B-17 that was brought in for the school.

Reflecting the responsibilities of teaching which falls on instructors in the fire fighting school, an instructor is shown here at right as he leads and instructs a young student as they fight flames of an old salvaged airplane of the U.S. air force.

Shown here is the fuselage of an old B-17. The plane was soaked with gasoline and set afire. It was allowed to get a good start before the personnel moved in to "rescue" the dummy sitting in the pilot's seat in the old fuselage.

'Money Quarrels' Are Symptomatic

By Lawrence Gould

Can "money troubles wreck a marriage?"

Answer: Only when combined with other, though perhaps unconscious factors. People to whom lack of money has brought actual hardship may take out their bitterness on one another, since it's natural (if childish) to want to blame someone for your troubles. But most quarrels over money are no more than an excuse for venting irritation over deeper and more intimate dissatisfactions which the people are unwilling to discuss—or perhaps even admit. An otherwise happy, well-adjusted couple will not "split up" over money.

Is ignorance ever a "safeguard"?

Answer: In itself, no. The most that can be said for it is that it is better than misinformation or than certain kinds of partial knowledge. If "a little learning is a dangerous thing," it is because it's apt to be exaggerated or distorted. A smattering of psychology may be worse than ignorance if it makes you think that because neurosis may be caused by repressed feelings, you should give free rein to every later knowledge is the best and surest safeguard in the long run.

Self-Demand Infant Feeding

By Dr. James W. Barton

ONE OF THE jokes commonly current is that Mrs. Smith "must" have perfect children because she brings them up by the book. As a matter of fact this bringing up by the book has saved the lives of thousands of children for, whereas, before mothers were taught proper infant feeding, about three in every 10 children died at birth or during the first year. Today only about one in 20 dies during this period.

The first great gain in extending the life span began with the saving of the lives of children by proper feeding during their first and second years.

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. C. K. Rowan-Legg, Ottawa, states what we all seem to forget is that the child has an emotional life as well as just the physical, and needs more than food to keep him healthy and happy. "The feeding of infants with a definite amount of food at fixed intervals neglects the emotional side of the child's life. Modern psychiatry feels that peace and physical pleasure make a more sound foundation for a stable personality than does too early exposure to strict discipline and denial."

The infant is born with three needs—satisfaction of hunger, comfort, affection. Food should be given when it needs it and not thrust upon it when it doesn't need it. "When the hunger rhythm or time arrives and the infant is given food, the amount of crying by the child is greatly reduced, which makes life easier for the mother."

Your family doctor knows, as do most mothers, that infants must do a certain amount of crying to stretch and strengthen the lungs, so that if well fed and comfortable, a little crying will do no harm.

Dr. Rowan-Legg points out that some infants because of their makeup or personality, need to be fed at other than the regular four hours, and if they are hungry at three hour intervals and not at four hours, the mother should tell this to her doctor or children's specialist, who will make the necessary adjustments as to amount of food and intervals between feedings.

While infant feeding is the most important part in building a healthy infant, comfort and affection closely follow.

HEALTH NOTES

Neurosis—believing you have a physical ailment when none exists—is becoming increasingly common.

Individuals who can rest and sleep during tense periods have fewest neurotic (nervous) symptoms.

Fear of the future, so common today, is making many individuals old before their time. Fear takes away interest in everyday affairs which arouse our interest and enthusiasm. Once we lose these, we allow ourselves to grow old rapidly.

A few years ago, if a physician told a patient that the symptoms of which he complained were caused by heart disease, the patient believed himself doomed. Today, most of us know that even if we have heart disease, we can live for years if we follow our doctor's advice and "take it easy."

Even when the tonsils and adenoids are not infected, most physicians advise that they should be removed if they are so large that they obstruct breathing.

One of the established facts about low back pain and sciatica is that when the symptoms are worse when the patient is on his feet, injury should be suspected. Of course, injury and infection could both be present.

While most of us dislike the idea of entering a hospital and taking drugs to quiet nerves, nerve specialists are finding that in severe tension states this treatment brings best results.

It is now known that epilepsy has no relation to intelligence, as some outstanding men and women were epileptics.

It is possible that there is deficiency in the body with no symptoms present.

of things for granted

A safety pin isn't worth much... until you need one. Many of the things we use every day become so commonplace that we're likely to forget how much we depend on them. Your telephone is a good example. We know how much you depend on your telephone for fast, dependable service. That's why we're working hard to expand and improve your telephone service.

"Having trouble cooling milk these hot days?"

When I dropped in at Ed's place one hot morning, Mrs. Jones was out at the milk cooling tank, stirring.

"Having trouble cooling the milk these hot days?"

"Had our first rejection yesterday," she said.

"Ever stop to think that stirring just opens up the can to dust and more bacteria?"

"But it won't cool right otherwise," she said.

"An International cooler brings milk temperature down to 50° in less than an hour," I explained.

"Not much chance for bacteria to multiply there! So, why not get a cooler and let it pay for itself this summer? Saves the bother of stirring, too. With stored-up cold in the icebank and exclusive pneumatic agitation, the International milk cooler chills its rated capacity in less than an hour twice each day!"

"Guess that's what we need," Mrs. Jones agreed. "I'll bring Ed in some evening and you tell him about it. Sounds like just as good an investment as our McCormick milker and cream separator."

AS JUNIOR PULLS ON POPPER'S SHOES . . .

F.D.R. Treads Across the Political Stage

. . . NEW DEALERS RUSH TO SHINE 'EM

By H. I. PHILLIPS

NEW ROOSEVELT THREAT . . .

It looks as if there is to be another Franklin D. Roosevelt in the American political picture, like it or not. The big build-up for Junior is on and he starts off with this advantage or handicap, all depending on your viewpoint: He looks like popper, talks like popper and screens like popper. He is what might be called "a spittin' image."

Even if it makes you wince, there is no escaping the fact that all these things shape up into an appeal to millions of American voters. Franklin Junior is a mere kid, a long hop from a statesman and a green hand on the squad, but the name, the model and the manner represent advertising assets.

Any company selling soap, shaving cream or cigarettes that had lost its trademark and suddenly discovered an exact duplicate would cheer no more loudly than the New Deal addicts are cheering at the moment. They think Junior has the same box-office appeal. "Run this right," declared a smart Democrat politician the other day, "and in five or six years there will be plenty of voters who will think daddy has returned from the grave. 'Wanna bet?' is the answer of others. "The imitation never sells like the original. No matter how they stage-manage it, Junior will always be just a copy." But neither side is positive. And that's what is causing so many arguments.

Elmer Twitchell went out as an Inquiring Reporter the other day and asked the question, "Do you think F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., is ever likely to be President?" The results follow:

McSheddy, Jabez, Z., house-painter and lifelong Republican: "When you ask me that smile!"

Bofts, Peter D. L., skywriter and Democrat: "The kid is as good as in. I knew the old man would spring a surprise like this."

Hemstitch, Rudolph, advertising agent and G.O.P. leader: "Would you mind repeating that question. And if I heard you right the first time, please pass the aspirin."

Crummett, Alonzo, engineer and New Dealer by habit and instinct: "Listen, bub, if the kid sounds right over radio hookups, develops that old toss of the head and shows a scorn for other people's dough, he is good for five terms."

Peelze, Hemingway D., unemployed member of the National Republican club: "I was afraid something like this would happen. There's no justice. Just when a Republican gets to feeling confident somebody slips him a Mickey Finn."

Raviola, Antonio F., lifelong Republican: "The Democrats have all the luck. Why do not Republican Presidents have sons who look like their fathers?" (Would that be good?—Ed note.)

Steukle, Arabella H., housewife and leader in the Women's New Dealer Club: "If Truman doesn't improve, the next candidate on our ticket won't have to look like a Roosevelt. He can look like anybody but Truman."

Ye Broadway Bugle

"Miss Liberty" is the most talked-of coming musical and we think some of the sets should be done by James M. Flagg . . . and that the cast should include Red Skelton, George White and Gloria Blue . . . How about an alternate title "Twin Beddoes?" . . . Several ticket brokers have been ordered to close . . . They might have been prepared for it by the reviews of their hearings . . . Liz Taylor, we see, will marry Bill Pawley, Jr., instead of Glenn Davis, the former West Point grid star . . . Liz says there was never anything serious between her and Glenn . . . He just misunderstood the signals, eh?

Branch Rickey has returned a ball player and $25,000 to Pittsburgh following a claim that the player he turned over in exchange had a sore shoulder . . . We don't know about the player's shoulder, but there's no stiffness in the Rickey arm when he can hand back that much moolah . . . Some of those video vaudeville shows are going to collapse if there is ever a bladder, seltzer bottle or wig shortage.

This is June, the month of weddings, and it seems all right to warn one and all that two can live these days as cheap as four.

"THEY THAT WAIT UPON THE LORD"

(ISAIAH XL, 31)

WEARY one, lay hold on God and claim This glorious promise, prove its depth and length,

And let it warm your being like a flame; Who waits on God, he shall renew his strength. Your weariness shall pass forevermore; You shall forget your sorrow and your tears, You shall be young again—God will restore The years to you, the seeming wasted years.

You shall mount up as eagles, you shall fly On strong swift pinions through the dazzling noon, Or cleave the night on wings to reach the sky, One with the racing wind, the stars, the moon. And you shall run and not be weary, Heart, The golden hills shall fall beneath your feet, The journey's ending will be as the start, So fresh you will be, and the way so sweet. But more than lifting wings, or strength to run, Will be the joy, after the old restraint: To walk unburdened, free beneath the sun, The long bright miles before you, and not faint.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

BY INEZ GERHARD

NEXT OCTOBER the Lux Theater of the Air will celebrate its 15th anniversary on the air; the whole studio could be filled with stars who have appeared on the program, with a special section of young actors and actresses who made their dramatic debuts in radio on it. Gregory Peck, Bette Davis, Ginger Rogers, Robert Taylor, Barbara Stanwyck, Wanda Hendrix, Ray Milland, Walter Huston and many others have been starred on the theatre. Margaret O'Brien was about the youngest when she made her debut. As she had not yet learned to read, she had to memorize her lines. Next year's line-up of stars will be impressive, as usual.

Thousands of feet of on-the-spot action for "The Big Wheel" were obtained at the Indianapolis races last Memorial day. Mickey Rooney, after finishing "Quicksand" right into this auto racing film, with Lina Romay.

When James Mason bought the old Beadon home in Beverly Hills, he found there was no way to change the light globes beneath the swimming pool except from underneath. So all through making "The Blank Wall" at Columbia he looked forward to excavating around the pool, with the idea of finding out whether there really was a hidden room somewhere under it.

James Melton will take a combined pleasure and business trip to the Hawaiian Islands while the NBC "Harvest of Stars" show is on an eight-week vacation. He plans to take his family along, and to give four concerts.

One of the prettiest items owned by the wardrobe department at Warner Bros. is a rose-point lace bridal veil—has a sweep of 10 yards, is valued at $3,000. You'll see Patricia Neal wearing it in "The Fountainhead."

The Fiction HE-MAN'S CODE

Corner

By Richard H. Wilkinson

ANDY had sensitive eyes and delicate hands but Leonie, born and bred a westerner of pioneer stock, was human. She loved him. It wasn't until after they were married that she discovered he was a physical coward.

She found out the night of Serena Boone's engagement party. Tony Swift was there. As usual he was drunk. He was a handsome devil, this Tony, tall and bronzed and reckless. He had been Leonie's childhood sweetheart.

Folks said she would have married him if it weren't for his drinking.

The first thing Tony saw when he came through the door was Leonie and Andy dancing together. A scowl crossed his face. Then he laughed. When they whirled past him he stepped up and whacked Andy on the back.

"Tony's cut," he grinned. "Make way for a man."

Leonie flushed. Andy hesitated, looked at Tony, then gave way smiling. "Sure thing," he said. "Your dance, Tony."

As soon as she could, without appearing too obvious, she asked Andy to take her home. There she accused: "Why did you let him insult you? Oh, the shame of it!"

Andy was startled and bewildered. "Let who insult me, honey?"

"Who?" She stared at him. "Tony Swift, of course! I was never so humiliated in my life."

"Tony? Oh, you mean because of what he said? Shucks, honey, Tony didn't mean anything. He was drunk."

The appalling truth flashed across Leonie's brain in that moment. Andy was a coward! He'd been afraid of Tony, which was why he evaded the issue! With a little whimpering cry she turned and ran sobbing from the room.

A week later, on Saturday night, Andy stopped by at Seth Lancy's store to see Seth on a matter of business. A couple of boys from his mine were there, drinking at the bar. Minutes later, talking with Seth, he heard a rumour out front. Investigating he discovered that two boys were engaged in a brawl with three men from the Bar V cattle ranch. Andy stood by and watched a while. Others joined in. It began to look as though the place would be wrecked. Andy got out of there.

Leonie heard about it the next day. That settled things for her.

ANDY was bewildered and unhappy. The next day he found himself brooding over the situation. By mid-afternoon he could stand it no longer. Leaving Noah Tait in charge of operations, he drove home. As he strode up the walk he heard a cry. He burst open the door and found Tony Swift trying to kiss his wife. Tony wasn't drunk. He was babbling something about Leonie really loving him.

Tony whirled at the sound Andy made. His lip curled. "Oho! The sissy from Bos—"

Andy strode across the floor. His face was black. "I guess," he said bitterly; "your dumb, after all. You need teaching." He struck out. Tony tried to dodge, but Andy's fist clipped him on the chin so hard that he went down.

"Damn you!" He lunged, but Andy wasn't where he expected. Andy's fist flashed out again, and again Tony went down. Andy jerked him to his feet and hit him again. He hit him a third time and a fourth. Blood covered Tony's face. Tony whimpered for mercy. Andy dragged him to the door and threw him out.

"Andy!" Leonie fled into his arms. "Oh, my darling, you were wonderful! Oh, precious, forgive me for what I said. Andy, why didn't you do that before—that night at the dance?"

Andy frowned. "Why, shucks, honey, I don't like to fight. Don't you see? He was drunk then. There was no need."

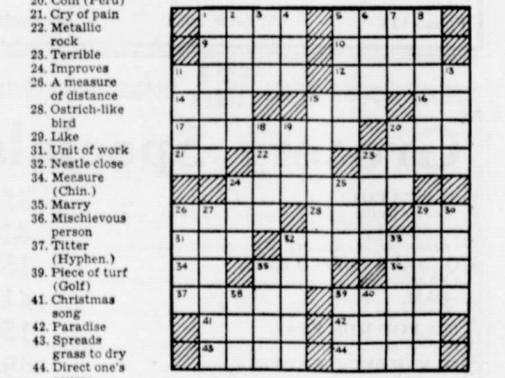

Leonie laid her head on his shoulder. "I see, darling. Of course I see."

But she didn't.

PUZZLE NO. 1

Johnson Withdraws Military News 'Gag'

WASHINGTON—Secretary of defense Johnson's controversial "Directive No. 1" has been withdrawn with an official denial that it was ever intended as a "gag" on members of the armed services. However, military personnel were pointedly reminded that existing regulations still place restrictions on what they may write or say in public. William Frye, public-relations

Freeze Foods for Future Use (See Recipes Below)

Freeze your Foods

ROAST TURKEY in mid-summer, broiled chicken in January and strawberry shortcake in December, these are some of the items which are a real possibility on menus if you have facilities for freezing your food. This may be a freezer right in your own home, or it might be space rented at one of the large lockers that are now available in many localities. Foods know no season when it's possible to freeze them, and, of course, is one of the best ways to avoid meal monotony. You simply freeze the food when it's at the peak of the season, then eat it when you want it.

Freezing food is one of the simplest of preserving methods since foods require only a minimum of preparation, and they retain their freshness until thawed and prepared.

How to Prepare Meat For Freezer

IT'S a simple job to freeze meat for future meals and you need follow only a few simple rules to do it successfully. When choosing animals for freezing, select those healthy ones of size and weight which will produce the quality of cuts preferred by the family. Excessive fat is unnecessary, but an ample covering of fat protects the lean from drying out during the frozen storage. This latter does not apply to veal since that meat has little fat. These rules apply whether you purchase meats from a market or produce house. Ask for quality cuts from prime cattle, and mention that you intend freezing them and the butcher may be more careful in his selection. Once the carcass is prepared, chill the meat immediately as bacteria grow rapidly at the high temperatures. Molds, bacteria and yeast may ruin the flavor of the meat unless it is chilled at once. Meat cutting is no job for a novice and should be done by the butcher or an expert meat cutter at a locker plant. You, however, should purchase a carcass or part of one. It's a good idea to have the meat cut in family size portions to eliminate waste, since the meat cannot or should not be frozen once it has been thawed. It's popular, too, to have meat boned since it requires less freezing space, and since the bones cannot puncture wrapping paper once they're eliminated.

Proper Wrapping Saves Quality

IT'S UNWISE to economize on wrapping paper for frozen foods since the meat may dry out and "freezer burns" often result. Regular butcher paper, ordinary waxed paper or grocery store type paper are not used. Moisture and vapor-proof paper bags or cartons made especially for this purpose are best. They should be easy to fold, wrap or handle, tough enough to resist tearing, and capable of receiving an ink or china pencil mark for labeling.

LYNN SAYS: Use These Freezing Tips to Help You

Varieties are of great importance in the successful freezing of fruits. Apples for sauce, for example, should be Baldwins, Greenings, Northern Spy or Yellow Transparent types. Study the freezing space which will be available to you, and plan how much of each fruit, vegetable, meat or poultry you will have. Don't overstock one item so that you can't freeze something you want.

In yellow peaches, the varieties which give best results include Hale Haven or J. H. Hale. For white peaches choose Golden Jubilee or Georgia Belle.

Any of the small, seeded varieties of blueberries will give good results. In strawberries, it's the Marshall varieties.

For sour cherries, choose Montmorency; if you want to freeze sweet cherries, select Bing or Lambert.

Allow a small amount of head space for expansion when freezing fruits, berries or juices.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Chicken Shortcake with Gravy, Buttered Lima Beans, Carrot Sticks Beverage Cookies, Peach Salad in Cherry Gelatin, Peppermint Ice Cream

Each bundle of meat in the freezer should contain enough meat for use. Or, in this case, you may readily remove two or three chops without thawing the whole package.

Pull the proper wrapping tightly around the meat to smooth out all possible air and eliminate air pockets. The package should be smooth and firmly packed to conserve storage space. Seal the paper with a "drugstore fold" which means bringing one edge over the other and folding it over the shorter sheet. Now twist or fold the ends and seal with acetate (scotch) tape. This tape is not affected by moisture or cold. Label all packages so you can easily identify them when you want them. The label should contain the type of meat enclosed, the number of servings or the weight in pounds, and the date on which it was wrapped for freezing.

As soon as the meat is wrapped and labeled, place in the freezer. If you do not have a freezer at home, store the packages in the refrigerator until you can take them to the locker, but this should not be more than a few hours.

Frozen Poultry Keeps Well

Frozen poultry is one food which keeps well in the frozen state, and requires even less attention than freezing meat since you yourself can prepare it for freezing with no special tools. Clean the bird and disjoint it in place of cooking it, wrap it for freezing to be cooked several months later. Birds are killed, bled, plucked, chilled and dressed before they can be packaged. If you desire, it's a great convenience to stuff the poultry and freeze it in that state, so the poultry is ready to pop in the oven for Christmas or Thanksgiving dinner. Do not use sage in the dressing if you expect to keep the bird more than three months since the flavor permeates the meat.

Here's a guide for chicken to be frozen: broilers should not weigh over two and a half pounds dressed, or be over 12 weeks old; frying chickens should weigh from three to three and a half pounds and be 20 weeks old.

Fowl for fricassee may weigh from four to six pounds and can be from one to two years old. A roasting chicken should weigh four to five pounds, but is best if not more than a year old. Capons should weigh from 7 to 10 pounds but should not be over 8 to 10 months old.

Fruit juices for breakfast or beverages are easily frozen. Select good juices from well-matured fruits and chill thoroughly. Extract the juice and pour into paraffin coated tubs or cylinders. Freeze immediately.

Water used for washing fruit, berries and vegetables should have ice in it unless the temperature is lower than 65°.

Speed the harvest to the freezer just as you speed food to the can for canning to prevent food value loss and deterioration.

Peaches and apricots may be frozen without removing skins, but it's better to peel them. Place the fruit in a wire basket and plunge in boiling water to cover for one minute. Then plunge into icy cold water and slip off the skins.

Apples which have turned brown on the inside or which have started to mold should not be frozen.

Cut-up vegetables should be steamed rather than water-blanching to save flavor and nutrients. Use a little boiling water in the bottom of a large kettle and have vegetables in a wire basket.

CHANGE of LIFE?

Are you going through the functional "middle age" period popular to women (38 to 52 yrs.)? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel so nervous, hightstrung, tired? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect!

When Your Back Hurts -

And Your Strength and Energy is Below Par It may be caused by disorder of kidney function, that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling, sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smearing and burning in another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.

Soap Holes Found Value in Disguise

Produce Magic Mud With Multiple Uses

Ever since Belle Fourche, S. D., was a rip-snorting cattle town at the end of the old Chisholm trail its residents have been damning the "soap holes" that plagued the area.

Fast-riding cowboys often took a nasty tumble in this super-slippery mud and cattle were forever getting bogged down in them.

But now, like a man discovering his hives are really a blessing, Belle Fourche has found its soap holes are one of its biggest assets.

Every one of them is filled with a magic mud called bentonite. It's an odorless, tasteless, soapy mud with a thousand uses and scientists are thinking up new ones every day.

Most of us already are using it a half dozen times a day, but almost nobody has heard of it. Men use it in shoe polish and hand cleaners. Women use it in face powder, lotions, beauty cream. Bentonite also is found in many types of paint, plaster and cleaning agents. It's handy for filling holes in giant dams and for casting moulds for molten metal. Forged down thousands of feet into the earth this magic mud lubricates the drills in oil wells and sends the debris up to the drillers.

Bentonite is the most absorbent material found in nature. When moistened it swells to several times its normal size. This quality makes it useful in waterproofing housing foundations and many other industrial uses.

Its new uses and increasing popularity for its older uses all add up to a boom such as Belle Fourche hasn't seen since the gold rush.

In the past 10 years the population has practically doubled and bentonite now pours $600,000 a year into the town in the form of additional purchasing power.

Fifteen years ago Belle Fourche shipped out three carloads of bentonite. Last year its production was 6,187 carloads and this year they expect carloading to go considerably higher.

Scientists say that bentonite, a strange mixture made up mostly of dust from prehistoric volcanoes, is found almost nowhere in the world except in the Black Hills of Wyoming and South Dakota.

It is the most absorbent material nature ever has devised, they say, and a half dozen teaspoonful will soak up a glass of water.

The above chart shows the almost unbelievable increase in the value of farm crops in the past 17 years, as depicted in a comparison of how much farm produce it takes now to buy a $1,000 government savings bond with how much it would have required in 1932.

Insect Killers Made By Synthetic Means

New pyrethrum-like chemicals that kill insects have been made synthetically for the first time in the laboratories of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, it has been announced by the U. S. department of agriculture.

The chemical makeup of the synthetic materials is almost identical with that of the insect-killing principle in pyrethrum, according to the chemists.

Snap Bean Developed To Be Super-Resistant

"Rival," a new snap bean developed by Dr. W. J. Zaunmeyer of the U. S. department of agriculture is listed by several seed firms this year for the first time.

The new variety holds special interest because it is resistant to two seed-borne virus diseases—common mosaic, which is present practically everywhere beans are grown, and in New York 51 mosaic, a problem in certain areas.

Smile Awhile

He had been sidetracked into a dead-end job and didn't seem to care whether he advanced or not. His wife constantly berated him for his lack of ambition but the words rolled off like water off a duck's back.

"Here you are, twenty-six years old, and still plugging at the same old job," she scolded him. "I wonder what you'll be in three years."

"Twenty-nine," he replied.

She was an unusual mother-in-law in that she loved her son-in-law almost as much as her daughter. So it was with deep regret that she had to stand by and see them argue so much. During one particularly violent session she interceded.

"Now, children," she said, "can't you agree once in a while?"

"Oh, but we do agree, mother," her daughter assured her. "We both want Tom's pay envelope."

Mr. Murphy, as he was known to the small fry, had been imbibing heavily. He lurched gracelessly down the avenue and ran into his priest.

"Father," he moaned unhappily. "I'm so sorry."

"So am I, Patrick," he replied. "How much have you had to put you in this condition?"

"Only eight glasses of beer and three of whiskey," hiccupped Mr. Murphy.

"Good heavens!" gasped the priest. "I can't drink even four glasses of water."

"And nayther can I," readily agreed Pat.
