LOOKING FOR CLEWS

GERMANTOWN, PENN.—Harvey Fretz still finds a lot of pleasure in life even though he is 89 years old. He likes to read every book he can find about his "Pennsylvania Dutch" ancestors, and reminisce about the days when he used to drive the stage coach between Doylestown and Buckingham. Though his eyes are still "as sharp as ever for distances," he began using ready-to-wear reading glasses for close-up work like checking passenger and freight lists by oil lamps back in 1909. Spectacles of this kind, which he buys in a dime store, overcome his impairment of sharp near vision and enable him to "read and figure" with ease. One of his hobbies is collecting antiques. He's an expert on dishes and cut glass. He always has a pair of ready-to-wear reading glasses handy when he attempts to spot identifying clues to truly fine old pieces, and over the years has collected many rare specimens of early American china and glass Stiegelware.

Wis. Livestock Value Hits Million Mark

A larger livestock population on Wisconsin farms than a year ago with a record farm value is shown in the annual livestock inventory made recently by the Crop Reporting Service of the Wisconsin and United States Departments of Agriculture.

Wisconsin farmers have a larger number of cattle, sheep and lambs, swine, and turkeys than they had at the beginning of 1951, but the number of chickens and horses is smaller this year. The value of all livestock on farms at the beginning of the year was over a billion dollars, which is about 16 per cent above a year ago and the highest value on record. The increase in value over a year ago results from both higher prices and the increases in livestock numbers.

Of the 3,916,000 cattle on Wisconsin farms, 2,407,000 head are milk cows. The number of milk cows is 1 per cent above a year ago and shows the first increase in four years. A decrease of about one per cent in milk cow numbers is shown for the nation.

Wisconsin's swine population is estimated at 2,039,000 head or seven per cent larger than a year ago. As a result of more stock sheep and lambs than a year ago, the sheep and lamb population on the state's farms of 283,000 head is five per cent larger than last winter, and it is the largest since 1949.

The inventory this winter shows that Wisconsin farmers have about 14,848,000 chickens and 57,000 turkeys. The number of chickens on farms has been gradually decreasing since 1944, while the turkey population has been increasing since 1949. A continued decline in horse numbers has brought the number this year down to 172,000 head.

Give Your Chicks Plenty of Room

Don't crowd your chicks. Providing ample space for a new brood is one of the foot notes for successful brooding, and will lead to a healthier, more profitable flock.

Number of Chicks

Although everyone will not agree on the exact amount of space required per chick, a poultry raiser can feel safe in planning the size of a new brood on the basis of about two chicks per square foot of floor space. Under no circumstance should a 10x12 foot house accommodate more than 300 chicks and then only when special precautions in sanitation and ventilation are observed. Never more than 350 chicks should be raised under one hover, regardless of the floor space available.

As the chicks grow they will require increased space. Usually it is found necessary to divide the flock at about 4 weeks and again at 9 or 10 weeks. From this point until maturity it is considered safe to house from 100 to 150 pullets in a range shelter approximately 9 x 10 feet in size.

Don't Make This Mistake

Always remember—overcrowding can lead to flock depletion, and must be avoided. Many poultry raisers, ambitious to raise the largest brood possible under limited housing facilities, have made this mistake, and have learned to their regret that they would have been wiser to pursue a more cautious approach in their brooding activities.

The advantages of having ample room for your chicks can be measured in dollars and cents. Mortality is less because there is a reduced chance for the spread of disease; cannibalism is less likely to occur in an uncrowded brooder house; and better layers are produced when the chicks have grown to maturity under less congested conditions.

Average Auto Runs 120,000 Miles

CHICAGO—It's a long, long road to the scrap heap for America's average automobile today—120,500 miles in fact.

The average auto today "lives" to be 14 years old. In 1927 cars were junked at 6½, after a total of 75,750 miles.

In 1951 there were more cars in the 10 years and older category than in 1950 and three times as many as in 1941. In 1941, 1950 and 1951, respectively, registered cars of 10 years and older numbered: 4,757,000; 14,827,000; and 15,553,000. In spite of this, more old cars were junked in '51 than in any previous year, and the average age of passenger cars was reduced from 7.8 years in 1950 to 7.3 years by the end of 1951, AFC reports.

JUDSONIA, ARK.—Their homes among more than 2,000 Arkansas and Missouri homes destroyed or damaged by March tornadoes, these men, like thousands of storm victims, turn to the Red Cross for help. After emergency needs for food, clothing, medical care and shelter are met, Red Cross workers will stay on the job until rehabilitation needs of more than 1,600 families registered for help in these two states are determined. Based on need, Red Cross will assist in repairing and rebuilding homes and providing furniture. Of the nearly 500 persons hospitalized by tornado injuries, many will need Red Cross help with medical bills. All this Red Cross help, expected to run into millions, is a gift given by the people through the Red Cross fund campaign.

"A 4-H Club Member Lives Here" is a sign you often see as you travel country roads on hunting and fishing trips. Behind the 4-H signs live nearly two million rural boys and girls, many of whom will one day own much of the land on which we hunt.

How well they take care of the soil and water, the green forests and the native wildlife, will influence to a great extent the future production of the nation, including the game crop.

Martial Bertin, a club official, reports that last year 179,000 boys and girls took work in soil conservation. They established permanent pastures, sowed fall cover crops, sodded waterways, maintained terraces, practiced contour strip cropping and engaged in other related soil and water-saving activities.

Conservation of forests is another step in 4-H conservation work. Almost 150,000 members are carrying on forestry conservation. They learn and practice planting and proper cutting of trees, they learn how a forest conserves water. They study protection against fire, and other aspects of keeping our forests green and healthy.

More than 180,000 boys and girls received training in wildlife and nature study programs last year. For example, in cooperation with the Georgia State Game and Fish Commission, about 4,000 quail eggs were delivered to 4-H members. They were given instruction in game conservation and management. Similar programs are being conducted in other states in such phases of wildlife conservation as protection of wildlife areas, planting of trees and shrubs that produce edible wild fruits and nuts, construction and management of ponds for fish and migratory fowl.

The over-all 4-H conservation program as conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service of the Department of Agriculture is a joint undertaking of many organizations, federal, state and private. The U. S. Soil Conservation Service, the U. S. Forest Service, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, state departments of forests, parks, game and fish, civic and sport associations, soil conservation district workers, and many other groups, individuals and associations cooperate.

Bible Comment:

False Gods of Today Can Destroy Us as They Did Israelites

ALL through the Old Testament runs the story of the conflict between true worship and the worship of idols—the moral and intelligent worship of a Supreme Being and the superstitious bowing down to wood and stone.

Among the Hebrews, God was a growing and developing conception. Yet in the most distant times and to the dimmest perception, the worship of God was related to man's moral nature and spiritual welfare.

It was a boldly noble concept in which man dared to say that he was made in the image and likeness of God. That was intelligent faith and spiritual daring. It was man reasoning from all that was best in himself, and setting before himself in worship and devotion all that he wished to become.

Wherever man had this concept of God, no matter how dimly they perceived it, and even though their lives were marked by ignorance and sin, they were lifted toward something better. Why were the people drawn to idolatry when their religious heritage ought to have kept them true? For precisely the same reason that people turn to false gods and false ways today. It was the line of least resistance. It was the way to indulgence and immoral amusement. The heathen rites had licentious and sexually degrading aspects. When Israel turned to idolatry it was not only a forsaking of their religion but a moral descent. What does all this mean in terms of today? The idols and images are different, but the ailments and the moral degradations are the same. Every newspaper, as its columns reflect the moral and religious life of our time, reveals how much of paganism is in our midst. And it is true, as it was of old, that sin seeks out individuals and peoples. False gods and false worship can destroy us as surely as they destroyed of old, unless the good that is in us prevails over evil.

He selected a car priced at $95. With license and title transfer, the deal came to $103. Leinen gave Wing $3 and the family drove home—in two cars.

OUTDOORS QUEEN Barbara Milges of Chicago practices for the opening of the Minnesota trout fishing season (May 3) by wetting her line on an INDOORS stream. Miss Milges, who will appear twice each day with the stage entertainment at the Northwest Sports, Travel and Boat Show, is netting a trout she hooked at the unique pool to be located in the Minneapolis Auditorium. Dates for the 19th annual Sports Show will be April 11 through 20. Brown trout from the Brule river in Upper Michigan will be used to stock the Sports Show pool. Doors open on the 350 outdoor exhibits at 6 p.m. on opening day and at 1 p.m. on succeeding days.

Special Days Add Zest To Sports Show

Every day at the 1952 Northwest Sports, Travel & Boat Show in the Minneapolis Auditorium will have a special theme, it was revealed today by Manager F. W. (Nick) Kahler.

Guest speakers, contests and displays will brighten the program calendar for the 19th annual exposition.

Minneapolis Mayor Eric G. Hoyer will open the show on Friday, April 11. Other well-known personalities who will appear later during the 10-day show include Minnesota Governor C. Elmer Anderson, St. Paul Mayor Edward K. Delaney, the Minneapolis Aquanautical royal party and its St. Paul Winter Carnival counterpart.

A parade of new Easter Hats will take place on the Show's first Sunday. Later, Wisconsin, Canada, the Arrowhead district, St. Paul and Conservation will come in for preferred treatment.

Minnesota's outstanding contributors to athletics, conservation and education will be singled out Thursday, April 17. Cliff Thompson, Eveleth high school hockey coach, will be named America's greatest ice mentor the following night.

Closing day, Sunday, April 20, will be devoted to Farmer-Sportsmen. A committee of leading conservationists is selecting four farmer-sportsmen and county agents to receive awards and an all-expense week end in Minneapolis.

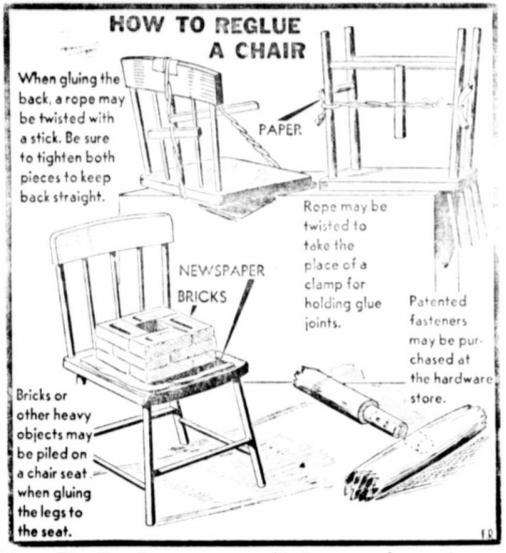

Stage shows will be presented twice each day, at 3:30 p. m. and 9:00 p. m. Eighteen acts have been signed.

How To Reglue A Chair

Every year about this time, the summer dampness has evaporated due to dry furnace heat, this causes wood to shrink and break glued joints in furniture. It is well to have a humidifier in the house, and when it shows the moisture content of the air is below normal, turn on the humidifier in the furnace.

If your furnace has no humidifier, keep the water pan filled. Keeping the tea kettle boiling on the kitchen stove also helps.

Tanks to hang on hot air registers and on radiators also may be purchased. Keep them filled with water.

If these precautions are observed, furniture will not dry out and come apart.

In regluing furniture, the following steps will aid you:

1. It is important to clean off all of the old cracked glue by scraping with a knife and with sandpaper.
2. Apply glue generously to all parts as they are put together.
3. Glue as much of the chair as possible at one time. For instance, if you glue the legs together and leave them to dry before gluing the legs to the seat, you are apt to break the glue joints apart getting the legs into the seat.
4. Furniture repairmen use bar clamps to hold the parts together while the glue is drying. The home repairman is not apt to have these, so I have illustrated methods of doing the same thing

Need Milk Cooler The Year Round To Kill Bacteria

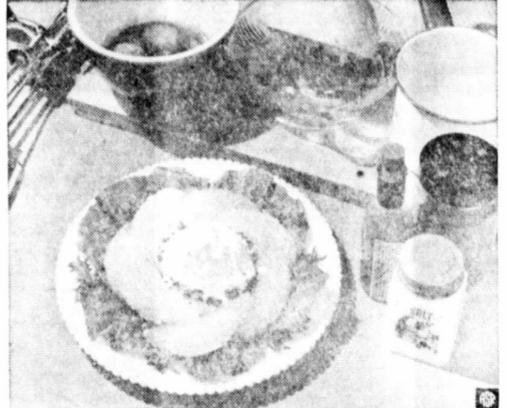

You need a milk cooler these cold early spring days, just as much as in summer, according to H. E. Calbert, dairy specialist. Calbert says that even in winter weather it's necessary to cool the milk to 60 degrees within an hour after milking. Fast cooling will help keep the bacteria count low.

Cold weather doesn't help cool milk as much as you might think, according to Calbert. He points out that leaving milk outside over night cools milk very slowly, and the longer milk is warm, the more bacteria will grow in it. It is possible to have milk that is frozen by morning and still have a high bacteria count, just because it didn't cool fast enough.

Grapefruit Juice Makes Slimming Salad Dressing

These spring days are just the time to indulge in sensible tonics as part of your meals—tonics such as salads made with juicy Florida citrus fruits right now at their best. They help cut calories and fit into diets perfectly. For the final finishing touch, still in the diet direction, is grapefruit sections and cottage cheese on a bed of crisp greens. The dressing is so good you'll keep the jar handy for use on mixed greens, vegetables, and all types of fruit salads. And because so little oil is used, 1 tablespoon of this dressing will cost you only 25 calories as compared to the 80 or 100 found in a serving of the average French dressing!

- Florida Low-Calorie French Dressing
- 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice
 - 2 teaspoons cornstarch
 - 2 tablespoons salad oil
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
 - 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 - 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
 - 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
 - 1/4 cup catchup
 - 1 peeled clove garlic (optional)

Blend 1/2 cup of the grapefruit juice and cornstarch. Cook over low heat stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Remove from heat; add remaining 1/2 cup grapefruit juice. Measure into small mixing bowl remaining ingredients; add cornstarch mixture and beat with rotary beater until smooth. Store covered in refrigerator. Shake before using. YIELD: 1 1/4 cups.

Lamb Riblets and Green Beans

- 3 pounds lamb riblets
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- Salt
- Pepper
- Water to cover
- 6 small onions
- 6 medium carrots
- 2 pounds fresh or 1 No. 2 can green beans
- 1/4 cup vinegar

Brown lamb riblets slowly in lard or drippings. Season. Cover with water. Cover tightly and simmer 30 minutes. Add onions, carrots and green beans. Continue cooking for 45 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add vinegar 10 minutes before end of cooking time. (If canned beans are used, add them when vinegar is added, allowing only enough time for the beans to become heated through.) 6 servings.

Pot Luck Special

- 3/4 pound pork
- 3/4 pound veal
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups uncooked spaghetti
- 1 cup whole kernel corn
- 1 can mushroom soup
- 2 cups milk

Have meat cut in 1 inch cubes. Dredge with flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Season. Add remaining ingredients. Cover closely and cook slowly for 1 hour. 6 to 8 servings.

Deviled Meat Mold

- 2 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups boiling water
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup horseradish
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 4 teaspoons prepared mustard
- 1/4 cup chopped sour pickles
- 2 cups chopped ready-to-serve canned meat
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- Lettuce

Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Cool. Beat in mayonnaise, horseradish, salt, pepper and mustard. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in pickles, meat and eggs. Pour into a chilled 1 quart mold or loaf pan that has been rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. 8 servings.

Meat Slices Piquant

- 1 pound leftover veal or lamb roast
 - 1 cup sour cream
 - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1/2 teaspoon celery salt
 - 1/8 teaspoon garlic salt
- Cut veal or lamb in 1/4 inch slices and place in baking dish. Combine sour cream with seasonings and spread over meat. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees F.) for 30 minutes. 6 servings.

DETERMINED GOB

Philadelphia—Gerald R. Isaacs, 20, of Coatesville, Pa., is finally in the U. S. Navy, but he got in the hard way. Last December, Isaacs decided he wanted to get into the Navy, but failed the physical exam. Undaunted, he came back, only to be rejected again. He underwent needed surgery but the Navy doctors found another ailment and recommended another operation. Isaacs obliged. On March 14th he passed the rigid examination and is now proudly wearing the Navy blue.

Behind The Scenes In American Business

By Reynolds Knight

NEW YORK — Department store sales have been running under last year for some time and various reasons are being advanced as to why this is a normal situation.

"The weather was bad," say some. Others say "the periods aren't comparable," or "something out of the ordinary happened last year to boost sales above normal," or "taxes took a bigger bite of spending power."

THINGS TO COME—A new holding tool that allows an assembly operator to quickly reposition work without holding it will probably find many uses in light industry. The maker claims it is especially well suited for soldering and electronic assembly. . . . A 24-hour alarm clock that can be set for, say 7 a. m., skips 7 p. m. and rings again the following a. m.—never needing to be turned on—is in the offing for the busy, systematic man. . . . Spring, which just ushered in a rash of seed catalogs and garden tool buying, also saw the arrival of a new lawn sprinkler which looks like a flower in a flower pot. The manufacturer claims its sprinkling radius is 20 feet. . . . Time-consuming hand sewing can be eliminated by a new label stitcher, according to the producer. The machine works automatically and is said to be equally effective on fine silks or heavy materials.

Latest paint brush has three different bristle widths on one handle for varying types of jobs.

REMODELING HINTS—Hayden Grant, chairman of the Tile Council of America's residential committee, has come up with some good tips for home owners planning to remodel.

First, Grant says, plan to remodel the spaces you need most. Then make your plans and stick to them. Get estimates and choose a reputable contractor.

When planning, he advises, keep ease-of-maintenance and quality of materials in mind. Colors that don't show dirt should be chosen. Clay tile for bathrooms and kitchens are easily cleaned and give a lifetime of service. Built-in furniture means less housekeeping.

Another important point to watch for is whether any addition to the house is architecturally right. If it isn't, it can cost a great deal for repair and lowers the value of the house.

Lastly, Grant suggests, pay special attention to the bathroom because it is the one room family and guests alike must use. Modern fixtures, waterproof clay tile walls and floor and a shower will give it that modern, clean look.

HIGHER AGAIN — Corporate dividends totaled approximately $750 million in January, according to the Department of Commerce—two per cent higher than in the same 1951 month. It is too early in the year to tell whether or not this means they will top last year's $12 billion.

Rail stocks accounted for the biggest rise in the record January dividends with a 40 per cent rise. Communications were second with a 16 per cent increase. Chemical dividends plunged 46 per cent and trade industries were down 12 per cent. Only six of the 21 types of business reporting showed dividend declines.

A clause in the excess-profits tax law makes it advantageous for corporations to postpone dividends the first two months of the year. Otherwise the January total might have been considerably higher.

BITS O' BUSINESS—The calendar is getting a little small for all the special days and weeks being proclaimed. The latest survey shows this year loaded with special events, ranging from the traditional "Mother's Day" to "National Peanut Week" and "Expectant Father's Day." The food industry is still in the driver's seat of the promotional campaign bandwagon with 19 events. . . . Proud parents, toy retailers are gloating, will plunk down an estimated $75 million for 45 million dolls in 1952—five million more dolls than last year. . . . Everybody's Saving Department: The Society for Savings says 485 banks report school depositors number three million, with more than $80 million on deposit. . . . Rayon and acetate stocks totaled a whopping 115,200,000 pounds at the end of February, up 2,700,000 pounds over the previous month.

HOT GARLIC BREAD

Garlic bread, served hot, is a good companion for spaghetti, chili, and casserole dishes. Slice a loaf of French bread once lengthwise and six times crosswise, cutting to, but not through, the crust. Spread the cut edges with soft butter mixed with garlic salt or finely-chopped garlic, and brown the loaf in a hot oven.

Fabrics are more important than ever in shoe fashion this spring, says Betty Ann.

The summer crop of shoes, which will begin appearing in Milwaukee stores next month, will include many linen shoes—in new weaves, new treatments such as embroidery and beading, and fascinating combinations. Styles will range from plain linen pumps to nude stripping and banded vamps.

Mesh and laces, too, offer a new story. Meshes are lacier, sometimes more dainty, while laces have become coarser, more like mesh. Thus each is taking on some of the characteristics of the other. Used as underlays, decorated with rhinestones, nailheads and embroidery, they will appear largely in late day and evening shoes.

Shantung remains in the picture, sometimes in new weaves, nubrier surfaced. Here, too, embroidery, beading and flocking have added new character.

Exotic prints will be seen, often East Indian in feeling, flecked with gold. Stripes, too, will make a good showing—in striped cottons, roman striped silks, ombre striped shantungs.

In leathers, the story resolves itself into this statement: If it glows, shines or gleams, it's fashion. The brilliance of patent leather, the silky smoothness of kidskin, the polished glow of calf make these the prized leathers of the season. Suedes will be overshadowed by the smooth leathers.

Spring-Summer openings in Paris, Italy and New York decree prints a world-wide fashion. There are companion prints by Balmain, florals at Dior, gay conversationalists at Carvin. From Italy, reports of hundreds of designs in subtle, indistinct prints. And, in New York, silk and rayon prints in everything from the new middy dresses to bathing suits, prints making a garden out of 5th ave. in colorful window displays, and prints worn by the smartest women under their furs throughout the day into evening.

"Prints, splashed profusely throughout every Paris collection," report fashion experts covering Paris openings. Fluid prints suggesting water colors in marbled colorings of clear blues, rust-orange, brilliant yellows and violets are prophetic in florals and all-over patterns. Some of these florals embody the hearts of flowers rather than the overall perspective.

Companion "perspective" prints by Balmain are exemplified by a long skirt of black silk organza printed with white waves, underneath is another organza print of green fishes "swimming" thru the waves.

A modernized butterfly print, stylized with interspersed dots, is the most popular print in Paris. Schiaparelli does it in a pleated pyramid dress with butterfly buttons bound in silver.

Capeskin gloves wash beautifully, providing you do it right from the start and not after they have had a trip to the cleaner's. Put them on your hands and rub thick soapsuds well over the surface. Use a soft brush or sponge if they're very dirty in spots. Rinse well, then arrange them carefully on a turkish towel.

Before the gloves are thoroughly dry, blow into them to puff up the fingers. To keep the leather supple, work them onto your hands before you respread them to complete drying.

Keep the cord away from a hot electric iron and arrange some device to hold the cord and keep it from rubbing against the edge of the board.

Fudge cake a la mode—One layer of the basic recipe can be cut in pie shaped wedges and served a la mode, using coffee, ice cream and marshmallow sauce.

Blend these ingredients for the sauce: One-half cup sugar, one-fourth cup water, eight marshmallows (cut in small pieces) and one egg white (stiffly beaten). Bring sugar and water to a boil and boil to a thin syrup or to a temperature of 230 degrees. Syrup will not be thick enough to spin a thread. Remove from heat; add marshmallows and let stand two minutes, or until marshmallows are melted, pressing them under syrup. Pour syrup slowly over egg white, beating constantly until mixture is cool. Makes one cup sauce.

No building or structure or any part thereof, except as provided in the Washington County Zoning Ordinance, shall hereafter be built, enlarged, altered, repaired or moved within the areas subject to the provisions of this ordinance until a building permit has been obtained from the County Clerk of Washington County. For the convenience of the people of Washington County Building Inspectors have been appointed, who reside in different areas of Washington County. They can be consulted for details and will be glad to assist in filling out a building application. The following have been appointed as building inspectors: John Kreilkamp, Alenton; Ed. Hausmann, West Bend;

R. R. No. 3; Philip Berg, Hartford, R. No. 1; John Happel, Hartford, R. No. 2; Andrew Noller, Colgate, R. No. 1; Joseph Kowanda, West Bend R. No. 1; Paul Schmitt, Kewaskum, R. No. 3; Walter Kiettl, West Bend R. No. 5. It is very important that a building permit be obtained before construction starts in order that setback and side yard regulations will be complied with. Such permit shall be posted in a prominent place on the premises prior to and during the period of construction. Forms for the application for building permits shall be obtained and filed in the office of the County Clerk. No building permit is needed for any maintenance repairs, or for building an access-

sory building costing less than $200.00. All other types of construction does require a building permit. This includes silos and other storage bins, commonly erected for the storage of corn, hay, grain etc.

It may not be true that every fly you kill now will take care of 10 thousand flies this summer, but cleaning up and spraying fly breeding spots now will go a long way in cutting down the insects later in the season.

COLUMBUS LISTENING POST—The curlicue tubules jutting from the wall are parts of a radio-telescope designed by Dr. John Kraus of Ohio State University at Columbus. Dr. Kraus hopes to pick up radio signals from stars 1,000,000 light years away from the earth. He says the signals produce a "frying sound" on the "space ear."

TIN PAN ALLEY—One of the few luxuries available to front-line G.I.'s in Korea is not having to do the dishes. Civilian laborers assigned to each company keep the mess gear gleaming, as Cpl. Paul Richey, above, of Blanchard, Okla., can testify. Richey is in charge of 68 laborers attached to a 45th Division company.

FIRST SACKER TURNS FARMER—What happens to big league ball players when they retire? One of them, Dolph Camilli, former first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, settled down to a life of farming in Sonoma County, Calif. Here he is shown helping his sons, Douglas, right, 15, and 5-year-old Donald prepare their entry in a livestock show.

SWITCHED ROLES—It's common to see a train carting a truck, but the roles were switched recently in Nante, France, when a truck was elected to pull this locomotive from the yard in which it was built to a port for shipment to Brazil. The truck is pulling a load of 82 tons.

Driving Caution Needed To Avert Spring Accidents

"Don't let the recent spring-like weather make you forget your winter driving habits," warns J. E. P. Darrell, traffic engineer of the Minnesota Highway Department.

Recalling last winter's severe and repeated storms late in the season, he warned that motorists can expect the weather and driving conditions to get "much worse before they will get better" and should continue to drive with the greatest of care.

With many icy spots developing on roadways as the result of alternate thawing and freezing, great care should be taken to avoid dangerous skidding. Reducing speed when approaching curves and intersections, making gradual starts and stops and avoiding of sudden changes in direction or rate of travel will help prevent skids. Rear end collisions may be avoided by keeping a safe distance behind the car ahead.

Brakes, lights, battery and all operating mechanism should be checked periodically, to assure safe operation and to guard against stalling on the road in bad weather. In addition, chains, a shovel and a bag of dry sand should be carried in the car's trunk for emergencies.

Freezer Planned Garden For Use All Year

Your home freezer and a vegetable garden planned for freezing—what combination could do more for your family's health and enjoyment when it comes to next winter's meals? When you plan your garden with freezing in mind, you can save yourself work and at the same time insure top-notch freezer vegetables.

Because it's so simple and convenient to freeze your garden's surplus products, the problems of succession planting can almost be eliminated. You can plant all you want of one vegetable at the time of the season best suited to its growth rather than plant smaller amounts of it at different times.

This planting plan gives you the vegetables at their best, but there's less work in the garden required in proportion to the amount of vegetables you harvest. For the most satisfactory results in freezing, the vegetables should be picked at the peak of their ripening process and frozen immediately.

Careful planning will assure you that the earlier vegetables will be out of the garden in time to plant the later varieties. Many times the variety of vegetable you prefer fresh is the one you will prefer frozen, but University of Wisconsin specialists do recommend certain ones that freeze well and grow well in Wisconsin. You may prefer to store such items as carrots or squash fresh, but it's very handy to have a few packages of them in the freezer ready for quick meals.

Some of the varieties recommended for freezing are listed below. You may obtain a booklet on this by writing to the Bulletin Mailing Room, College of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, Madison 6, Wis., and asking for circular 357, "Freezing Vegetables and Fruits."

Vegetables and suggested varieties:

Asparagus—Mary Washington, Martha Washington, Paradise.

Beans, lima—Henderson Bush, Clark's Bush, Early Thorngreen, Early Market, Peerless, Triumph, Fordhook 242.

Beans, snap (bush)—Tendergreen, Logan, Rival, Round Pod Kidney Wax.

Beans, snap (pole)—Kentucky Wonder.

Beets—Crosby's Egyptian, Early Wonder, Perfected Detroit, Detroit Dark Red.

Broccoli—Green Sprouting (Calabrese), DeCicco, Freezer's.

Carrots—Nantes (Coreless), Red Cored Chantenay, Morse's Bunching, Imperator.

Cauliflower—Any white or Purple Variety.

Chard—Large White-Ribbed, Fordhook, Rhubarb, Lucullus.

Kohlrabi—Purple Vienna, White Vienna.

Muskmelons—Delicious, Pride of Wisconsin, School's Hard Shell.

Peas, dwarf—Freezer, Little Marvel, Laxton's Progress, Glacier, Frosties, Teton, Wando, Wyola.

Peas, pole—Alderman (Dark Potted Telephone).

Spinach—Giant Nobel, King of Denmark, Long Standing Bloomsdale.

Tomatoes (For use in cooked dishes only)—Any moderately firm variety with well-colored fruit.

Winter Squash—Buttercup, Golden Delicious, Greengold, Golden Hubbard or other Hubbard types.

THE MARRYING KIND—A gal who believes that marriage rates top billing over movies is 21-year-old Elayne Snyder, a senior at Florida's Miami University. The curvaceous coed turned down a screen offer to protect her chances of graduating with honors in June and landing a husband.

Simple "Don'ts" Protect Children From Sex Criminals

Sex crimes involving children can be prevented in your community if the youngsters are made acquainted with a few simple "don'ts." The police of Greenwich, Connecticut, found this out last autumn, according to McCall's Magazine, when they distributed a leaflet to 7,000 school-children telling them how to avoid situations that provide opportunities for sex criminals. Some of these rules are given in McCall's for April:

"The 'don'ts' compiled by the Greenwich police are an old story to many parents and children, but taken together they tell the backgrounds of most sex crimes. Children who don't take candy or rides from strangers, and don't wander through lonesome places by themselves, don't provide opportunities for sex criminals. These rules have worked in Greenwich; they can work for your children too.

"Don't play alone in deserted lots, alleys or buildings, where strangers can sneak up on you. When you go to a playground or a store, take your friends along. "Don't accept rides from people you do not know, and don't go with strangers when they ask you for directions.

"Do mark down the license number of the car of a stranger who offers you a ride, candy or a good time. If you don't have a pencil, scratch the number in the road with a stick or stone. "Don't take money, candy or treats from a stranger, or let him touch you.

"Don't go with strangers who offer you a job with pay. "Don't wait or play around public toilets. Always leave immediately."

April Showers Bring Call For Tasty Casserole

April showers not only bring May flowers, but frequently dull appetites as well. For this season you'll want to plan meals designed to tempt appetites, and in this class are found hearty casseroles.

For instance, a hot beef pot pie is one suggestion. Here's what you do, according to Reba Staggs, home economist. Combine cubed leftover beef with minced onion, celery, mushrooms, cooked potato cubes and carrots in a leftover gravy or in a cream sauce. Place the mixture in individual table casseroles and top with a pastry crust. They'll be ready to serve after only about 20 minutes in a 450 degree F. oven.

Two good spring foods, ham and spinach, join for the second casserole treat. For this dish, combine either 2 packages of cooked frozen spinach or two No. 2 cans of spinach with a medium white sauce. Arrange a layer of this mixture in the bottom of a greased baking dish, then over it arrange a layer of cubed ham. Alternate the ham and spinach until the casserole is filled, the top layer being spinach. Sprinkle buttered bread crumbs over it and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 20 minutes.

CAR IN LIVING ROOM

Booneville, Ind.—Ever since October 21, Mr. and Mrs. John Sturgeon have had an automobile parked halfway in their living room and halfway in their front yard. The car came screaming in off the highway, tore off a hunk of the northeast corner of the Sturgeons' house and settled down where a divan stood. Wanting to be sure the owner paid for damages to his house, Sturgeon has let the sedan sit there since.

New Blouses in Stunning Colors Herald Spring

Striped tissue chambray has billowing push-up sleeves. White ribbed batiste has long-pointed collar with black tie. Paris-inspired silk taffeta shantung has keyhole neckline. Silk taffeta shantung features a neckline in pointed petals.

BY EDNA MILES

NEWS in nylon, billowing sleeves, garden colors—these are the characteristics of spring blouses. The Gibson Girl look, so important for spring, is easily achieved through the addition of a blouse or two to your wardrobe. These might be in tissue chambray with billowing, push-up sleeves, high neckline and fluffy ruffles. Or, you've a choice of similar silhouettes in plaid, candy stripes or printed glazed cotton.

Nylon, essential to any blouse wardrobe, turns up in new guises this year. Nylon linen, nylon shantung, nylon batiste, ribbed nylon pique, yarn-dyed checked nylon tricot—all of these have miraculous nylon's wonderful properties. Among the blouses designed for Judy Bond's spring collection is a group of silk taffeta shantungs, inspired by Parisian imports. Modestly priced, these are in the soft, iced pastels and in the vivid colors, such as purple, too. Pleats and tucks are prominent in both tailored and dressy styles. Tucks are sometimes accented with lace, ric-rac or cording and braiding.

The delicate colors—pinks, lilacs, pale blues and maizes are best loved for these blouses. But the perennial and now-classic white makes a strong showing, too.

OPS Seeks To Keep Low Priced Goods

The problem of keeping available to consumers an adequate supply of lower priced goods has the continuing attention of the Office of Price Stabilization, Mr. Charles M. Gilbert of the OPS Consumer Goods Division has informed the OPS National Consumer Advisory Committee.

He said that at the present time there was no shortage of low priced merchandise, but should materials become short manufacturers will want to use scarce materials in those items which yield the greatest profit. While OPS has no jurisdiction over allocation of materials, the agency is making surveys and watching the situation, and keeping in touch with manufacturers and buyers, Mr. Gilbert said.

The Committee passed a resolution stating that the problem of maintaining an adequate supply of low-end merchandise should be the concern of both OPS and the National Production Authority which allocates materials.
