Town of Kewaskum Caucus Held Saturday

The town of Kewaskum held its caucus Saturday at the Labor Center in this village to nominate candidates for offices to be voted on at the April 2 election. A total of 61 ballots were cast.

The two highest vote getters for each office are nominated and can have their names on the ballot in the spring election. Candidates can also have their names placed on the ballot by circulating nomination and filing them with the town clerk.

All incumbent officials of the town of Kewaskum who are candidates for re-election were renominated but there were several write-in candidates for the offices.

For chairman there were three candidates. Incumbent Ed. J. Campbell was opposed by Myron Belger and John Krautkramer. Belger received 33 votes, followed by Campbell with 20 and Krautkramer with 7. The two top vote getters will have their names on the April 2 ballot.

Alfred Seefeldt, incumbent clerk, was unopposed. He received 49 votes and there were 6 write-in votes for Leroy Bier. Bier has announced that he will not be a candidate for the office.

Lloyd Schmidt, incumbent treasurer, is not a candidate for re-election. Florence Hansen had her name on the caucus ballot to succeed him and received 26 votes but there were 23 write-in votes for Forest Brown. As a result these two will oppose each other at the election.

Assessor Roger Dobke is in military service and therefore not a candidate for re-election. Three aspirants appeared on the ballot to succeed him. Donald Backhaus received 27 votes, Harold Bath 20 votes, and Earl Etta 11 votes. The former two will oppose each other for the office.

William Becker was unopposed for the office of supervisor No. 2 and received 51 votes but there were 3 write-in ballots cast for Tom Rodenkirch, who has signified that he will oppose Becker for the office. Supervisor No. 1 Arnold Amerling, also was unopposed and received 43 votes but there were also 4 write-in votes for Sylvester Fellenz, and the latter, too, has indicated that he will be a candidate opposing Amerling.

There were no candidates for the two justice of the peace offices. The caucus committee for 1965 will consist of John Heisdorf, Carnel Koepke and William Zacho, who succeed Willard Prost, Ray Klein and Louis Martin. Township officers hold office for two years.

"If your wife wants to learn, to drive, don't stand in her way."

25 Years Ago

March 11, 1938

Charles E. Krahn, 74, founder of the Kewaskum Statesman, died in Los Angeles, Calif., where he spent his winters. Mr. Krahn, former esteemed businessman and village resident most of his life, established the Statesman on Oct. 5, 1895. After conducting the business many years he sold a half interest to George H. Schmidt, who later purchased it. The latter sold the business to Don Harbeck and Art. Schaefer and after Mr. Schaefer's death the business was taken over by Mr. Harbeck, present publisher. In the publishing business he became well known and was a talented musician. After his retirement he traveled extensively in Europe, Mexico, Cuba, Canada, the states and Alaska.

Other recent deaths included George Schleif, 81, town of Kewaskum farmer, who died of injuries suffered when he was run down by a herd of cattle in his barn; Mrs. Fred Belger, 77, of this village; Mrs. Albert Czarnecski, 37, of Milwaukee, the former Elester Backhaus of the town of Kewaskum; Mrs. Kathrine Heberer, 79, town of Scott; William Kurth, Milwaukee, father of Paul Kurth and Mrs. Art. Ramthun of Kewaskum; Harry Struebing, 23, of Elmore; Mrs. Frances Witzig, 82, of this village, mother of Fred and John Witzig and Mrs. Mathilda Zeimet; Mrs. Alfred Thurke, 21, nee Wiesner of Milwaukee, formerly of St. Kilian; James Bannon, 85, of Bismarck, N. D., native of Campbellsport and brother-in-law of Mrs. Katherine Harter of here; Mathias Beisbier, 80, retired cattle buyer of this village.

The village's newly purchased fire truck was received, which was purchased from the Peter Pirsch & Son company of Kenosha. Kewaskum now has three fire trucks ready for use. The truck is a 500 gallon pumper mounted on a 1938 1½-ton International truck chassis. The pump is mounted back of the cab and is known as the two stage centrifugal Hale pump. The truck is equipped to carry 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose and 500 feet of 1½ inch hose, including 150 feet of 1 inch hose in a hose basket. Auxiliary equipment includes 10 ft. roof ladder, 12 ft. attic ladder, 30 ft. ladders, two hand type extinguishers, fire axe, crowbar, pike pole, suction hose, hydrant adapter, spot lights and electric siren with flasher light. The department also has a 300 gallon pumper mounted on a Reo truck purchased about 12 years as auxiliary equipment.

Miss Agnes Marion of Mayville and Rudolph Hoepner of Wayne were married. They will reside at Wayne where Mr. Hoepner owns a harness and shoe store.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

March 9, 1913

Dr. F. J. Stirn moved his family to West Bend where the doctor has gone into partnership with Dr. Urkart.

The Hook and Ladder company of the local fire department had their annual meeting and elected the following officers: Foreman, F. E. Colvin; first assistant, Otto E. Lay; second assistant, B. H. Rosenheimer; secretary, John H. Martin; treasurer, Val Peters. At the annual meeting of the fire company officers elected were: Foreman, Jacob Schlosser; first assistant, H. W. Meilahn; second assistant, Fred Martin; secretary, John Muehleis; treasurer, H. W. Krahn.

Henry Garbisch has completed his ice harvest, putting up his usual supply. The ice was clear, clean and over a foot thick.

At the regular meeting of the Kewaskum Advancement association it was decided to hold another homecoming this year. The affair will be held the latter part of July.

Homemaker Notes

KETTLE MORAINÉ HOMEMAKERS

Town of Auburn

The Kettle Moraine homemakers met at Mrs. Ray Reysen's home on Feb. 19. The meeting was called to order by the president. Roll call was taken with 11 members present. The meeting opened with the "Homemaker's Creed." The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The Rolling Meadows home in Fond du Lac was given $15.00 for Christmas gifts.

There was no health topic given as our health chairman was absent.

The meeting was brief so the project leaders, Mrs. Karl Schultz and Mrs. Linda Schleif took over. The topic was "Carpeting—Name a Fiber Used in Carpets—Wool, Cotton, Rayon, Nylon." Nylon is strong but not as good as wool. There's saran (not on the market anymore), acrilan and dynel. But wool is your best buy. When buying carpeting be sure you get the best pad or cushion to go under the rug. Carpeting will wear from 40 to 45% longer when a cushion is used. Buying a good cushion may make it to your advantage to buy less expensive carpeting. That's because a good cushion decreases the crushing of carpeting pile. We want to thank Miller's for the use of samples for demonstrating purposes.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harvey Scheurman March 19.

The hostess, Mrs. Reysen, served a delicious luncheon enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Henry Petermann,

Robert G. Hummel of the Wisconsin Conservation Department at Mauthe lake will narrate the film and explain why the foundation favors the establishment of the proposed Ice Age National Park.

The members of the Campbellsport Woman's club will be guests. Hostesses for the afternoon will be Mrs. Robert Kroncke and Mrs. Allen Tessar.

Historymobile to Visit Kewaskum Thursday, Mar. 21

DISPLAY ON NEWSPAPERS OF STATE TO BE SPONSORED BY STATESMAN

When the State Historical society's big, new Historymobile II comes rolling into Kewaskum on Thursday, March 21, it will be piloted by Jake and Irene Tschudy, co-curators of the society's museum on wheels.

The Historymobile, which this year features an exhibition, "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962," will be at the Marx Foodliner parking lot from 12 noon to 8 p. m. under the auspices of the Kewaskum Statesman, which is sponsoring the appearance here.

Throughout the fall, winter and spring Jake will maneuver the 52 x 12-foot unit over the highways of Wisconsin and Irene will combine curator and guide duties with housekeeping in the Historymobile's tiny living quarters. It will be the Tschudy's 9th season on the road.

The Tschudy's life in the Historymobile, which might be entitled "How to Live in a 9 x 12 Room and Love It," began in 1954, just after Jake sold his lumber yard at New Glarus. He read that the Historical society was looking for a couple to operate the Historymobile, drove to Madison and got the job. Mrs. Tschudy was slightly apprehensive about living in a 8 x 9 room, the size of the first Historymobile's living compartment, "but I just went along with it and it turned out fine," she says. She added that she had some trouble adjusting to the small quarters the first year. "I tell you, the first year was something. One time I left the cabinet doors open and everything fell out. We took too many clothes, linens and dishes and everything. But now each year we take a little less, and travel a little more."

The Tschudys traveled a total of over 32,000 miles with the first Historymobile, which visited almost every village, county seat and city in the state during its eight years of existence.

The first year the Tschudys were on the job the display was on the circus, last year it was Indians, this year it is the history of the development of Wisconsin's newspapers.

Every so often a visitor will wonder about the cost of the unit, Jake is quick to point out that everything from the truck which pulls the trailer to the draperies in the Tschudy's combination living, dining, bedroom and kitchen has been donated to the State Historical society. The museum staff of the society builds the exhibits.

Since the Historymobile II is twelve feet wide, it can only be operated on the highways during the daylight hours. That means that Jake and Irene must rise early, drive to the town on their schedule for that day, set up the exhibit, and be ready to greet the endless streams of visitors who come to view the exhibit.

Not all the visitors come because of their interest in Wisconsin history. On one occasion the Tschudys threw open the doors to the Historymobile only to find a long line of people waiting to give blood. They had mistaken the trailer for the bloodmobile. Another time, when Historymobile I was still new and something of a novelty, vandals broke into the trailer. But now people, lots of them, come primarily to look at the museum that is brought to them.

Close to a million and a quarter persons visited the first Historymobile. Naturally the Tschudys have met and become friends with a great many people; they number their acquaintances in the tens of thousands all over Wisconsin.

While the last Historymobile traveled only during the warm months and had a water storage tank, such an arrangement is not possible with Historymobile II. It will be traveling during the winter and any outside water supply would freeze. As a result the Tschudys must rely on their many friends to supply a bathtub in what ever city the unit is stopped. "Until you don't have water, you never realize how often you need it," Mrs. Tschudy says.

When the Historymobile closes for the day, the Tschudys job is only half done. Mrs. Tschudy goes to the nearest coin laundry to do the family's washing. Jake sweeps up and sits at the small kitchen table to write his daily report. They prepare their dinner on a two-burner stove and wash the dishes in a tiny sink. After dinner they read—anything and everything that has to do with the subject of the exhibit—in order that they'll be able to answer the countless questions asked them about the display. Then perhaps a few friends come in. They have entertained as many as eight people in their small living quarters. At the end of the day's activity they bed down on the convertible davenport, ready to start all over again the next morning.

But the youthful Jake, 59, and his wife, who is three years younger, love the life they're leading and feel that their vagabond existence is keeping them young. "There's plenty of time to sit in a rocking chair—later," Jake says.

What do the Tschudys do when the Historymobile is not on the road? They go back to New Glarus and live in a spacious house, which Jake built, or take to the road in their own private house trailer for a postman's holiday over the roads of another state. The house in New Glarus is only a year old and looks like new because the Tschudys rarely are there. Certainly it must appear like a rambling mansion to them.

Historymobile to Visit Kewaskum on Thursday, March 21

Historymobile, II, giant new traveling museum of The State Historical Society of Wisconsin, measures 67 feet long by 12 feet wide. It is visiting 250 communities in Wisconsin with an exhibition entitled "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962," and will show here under sponsorship of this newspaper.

Every visitor to the Historymobile will have a chance to do his own printing.

Historymobile II Tells Story of Wisconsin Press

The first newspaper ever printed in Wisconsin was published at Green Bay on December 11, 1833. Since then, over 2,250 newspapers have been published in the state and over 300 daily and weekly papers still are in regular publication today. As the frontier advanced, the press went with it, and the local newspaper not only helped to attract new settlers to the new towns but faithfully recorded important events that took place in the community.

More than 30,000 bound volumes of newspapers are preserved by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, and there are at the Society's headquarters in Madison an additional 35,000 re-els of microfilmed papers, forming one of the most important collections in United States. This collection forms the basis for the Historymobile II exhibition, "Newspapers Make History, 1833-1962."

An 1885 job press is part of the newspaper exhibition in Historymobile II.

This Ramage press, used in a Wisconsin newspaper office in territorial days, is the central figure of a setting showing an early state newspaper shop.

A display showing the step-by-step process of printing a full color newspaper in a modern newspaper plant is the closing exhibition in the Historymobile.

Chevs Victors at Cedarburg, 85-78

Short on players again, the Kewaskum Chevs just squeezed past Cedarburg there Sunday night, winning by seven points, 85-78. The win gave the team a .500 rating in the standings with a 3-3 record this half and allowed them to pass up Cedarburg and move into fifth place.

With Otto Ramthun injured and Tom Larsen and Gene Pieper absent, Kewaskum had but six players for the game, only four of these regulars. Al Tennes fouled out and then there were five. Although the Chevs trailed through most of the game, they possessed a slim 39-38 halftime lead and managed to work up a head of steam in the closing minutes to pull out the victory.

Tennes, with 28 points, Frank Krueger with 26, and Don Meisenheimer with 21 did almost all of the scoring for the Chevs, accounting for 75 of the team's 85 points. Top point makers for the losers were E. Witte with 23 points and T. Walters with 20.

In other Land o' Lakes week end contests West Bend upset Beaver Dam, handing them their first loss, 84-77, on Saturday night and knocking them out of a first place tie; West Bend also shaded Hustisford Sunday, 87-85; Horicon trimmed Mayville, 79-54, and Watertown beat Menomonee Falls Tuesday night to take over the lead with a 7-0 record.

Kewaskum will close the regular season at Mayville Sunday night, although the team has a postponed tilt with West Bend to make up. This affair may not be played. Other contests will find Beaver Dam at Watertown in the feature game Saturday and Cedarburg at Menomonee Falls Sunday.

HOLY TRINITY CAGERS WHIP SAUKVILLE, 37-15

In a game originally scheduled for Sunday, but rescheduled for Tuesday night, the Holy Trinity school basketball team defeated Immaculate Conception school of Saukville by a whopping 37-15 score. The game was played in Saukville's new grade school gym. Trinity jumped off to a 12-3 lead in the first quarter. With reserves in the game, Trinity outscored Saukville, 2-0, in the second period and Saukville outscored Trinity, 7-2, in the third period to make it 16-11. With the regulars back in once again, Trinity poured it on, outscoring the losers, 21-4, to win going away.

Bill Backhaus netted 15 points for the winners while Dick Marx and Mike Miller chipped in 10 and 8 points respectively. Klein led Saukville's scoring with 10 points.

Trinity has a 6-4 conference record and is in second place in the northern division of the Washington-Ozaukee league.

The contest was Trinity's second last of the season and it was sort of a tuneup game for next week's game with the southern division's leading team, Hartford, which has a perfect 11-0 mark. The game was scheduled for Sunday, Mar. 17, but has been postponed. It will be played at the Kewaskum grade school gym, probably on a week night next week. Trinity will have to be at its very best for this game.

LICENSE REQUIRED TO RAISE GAME BIRDS

Individuals who wish to propagate and sell wild birds such as pheasants, ruffed grouse, quail and other non-migratory birds must first purchase a game bird farm license from the Wisconsin Conservation Department. The initial fee for the license is $5.00 and renewable each Jan. at a fee of $2.00.

After the license is issued, live birds or eggs may be purchased from any licensed breeder in the United States. These then may be sold as breeders, or for table purposes. All such birds must be properly tagged by the seller with bands furnished by the department.

In the event the individual wishes to propagate migratory birds, he must first purchase the game farm license, then obtain a free federal propagating permit from the Fish and Wildlife Service before he has any birds in his possession.

Plan now to attend your Conservation Congress, Monday, April 22, at 8 p. m.

In Wisconsin we are indeed fortunate in having a very democratic process known as the Conservation Congress, at which you make your wishes known and recommend changes in the hunting, fishing, and trapping regulations.

To our knowledge, Wisconsin is the only state offering to the public such an opportunity to express yourself and make recommendations. By all means—take advantage of it.

Over the years, a large majority of the recommendations of the congress have become official Conservation Commission regulations. There have, of course, been suggestions and recommendations which did not make the goal desired. Results of this kind are a part of any democratic process as a prime requisite of democracy is that majority rules.

When you go to your congress hearing, it is best to be prepared to give accurate figures and observations to get your point across to the group. You may have spent a considerable amount of time in the field during the winter hunting fox or just hiking. During these trips, you may have noticed more or less signs of the various species of animals than you did in previous years or previous trips. These observations and any statistics you may have recorded, could help you a great deal in informing the group what the conditions are at the present time and possibly the kind of hunting season we should have in 1963.

Each year we get various complaints and suggestions (usually just after the hunting season) relative to the season, the bag limit, the amount of game we have, etc. Your Conservation Congress hearing is the proper place for these discussions, and we urge you to present them to the group assembled at this meeting.

Over the years it has been recognized that the number of people attending the Conservation Congress hearings has been a small segment of the people who actually fish, hunt, and trap. We would like a much greater number at these meetings.

So let's all make plans now to attend the Conservation Congress hearing at 8 p. m., April 22, at the new Washington county court house, West Bend.

Last Rites Held for Mrs. William Wunder

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Sunday, Mar. 10., at St. John's Lutheran church, New Fane, for Mrs. William Wunder, 71, nee Adela Kreawald, New Fane, who died unexpectedly at her home on Thursday evening, Mar. 7, of a coronary occlusion. The Rev. Arthur Haupt officiated and burial was in the parish cemetery. Friends called at Miller's Funeral home, Kewaskum, from 2 p. m. Saturday until 11 a. m. Sunday and at the church from 12 noon until the time of services.

Her death was attributed to the excitement and shock caused by a chimney fire at the Wunder residence. Mrs. Wunder had noticed sparks falling to the ground from a window of the home and called her husband. He discovered the chimney on fire and summoned the Kewaskum fire department. During this time Mrs. Wunder entered the kitchen where she suffered the fatal attack and collapsed on the floor. Members of the fire department rescue squad attended to the woman and tried to revive her and a local doctor was summoned, who pronounced her dead.

Mrs. Wunder was born Mar. 11, 1892, in the town of Auburn, a daughter of the late Charles and Louise Molkenthine Kreawald, and was a lifelong resident of that township. Her marriage to Mr. Wunder took place on June 9, 1915, at St. John's Lutheran church, New Fane, with the Rev. C. J. Gutekunst officiating. After their marriage the couple lived on a farm near Lake Fifteen until moving to New Fane in 1944.

Surviving are her husband, one sister, Eleanora (Mrs. William Trapp) of R. 1, Kewaskum; three brothers-in-law, two sisters-in-law, and other relatives and friends. One brother, Edwin Kreawald, preceded her in 1956 and another brother, Alfred, died in infancy.

Mrs. Wunder was a very active member of the Ladies' Aid of St. John's Lutheran church, members of which attended the funeral in a body.

MRS. ANNA M. ARIMOND

Mrs. Anna M. Arimond, 82, mother of Carroll Arimond of Winnetka, Ill., Associated Press Chicago city editor, died Saturday night, Mar. 9, in a convalescent home where she had been a patient for several months.

She was the widow of Leo C. Arimond of Milwaukee, who constructed the first electric line from Long lake to Campbellsport. He was an investigator for the First Wisconsin National bank of Milwaukee until his death in 1953. Mrs. Arimond had lived since 1961 with her son in Winnetka. She was a native of Campbellsport, the daughter of Patrick and Ann McCullough Flynn. The Flynns, McCulloughs and Arimonds were pioneers in this area.

Survivors, in addition to her son, include four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. She was preceded in death by a brother and a sister.

Funeral services were held Wednesday in the Church of Gesu, Milwaukee, and burial was in the Campbellsport cemetery.

A bad skid often results from a bum steer. Proper steering is the most important essential both for preventing a skid and in getting out of one. If you do find yourself skating in the road surface turn the wheel steadily in the direction of the skid until the car begins to travel in a straight line. Avoid over-steering while attempting to correct a skid.

JUST LIKE OLD MAN RIVER

If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

Conventional pickups have double-wall construction in cabs, doors, lower side panels. Roofs are insulated. Body floors are select wood, not metal. Tailgate chains are wrapped in rubber. If you'd like to examine or drive a new '63 Chevrolet truck, just call us. We'll be right over.

Beauty and skill are combined in one of the thrilling acts at The Sentinel Sports Show, March 16-24, in the Milwaukee Arena and Auditorium. Vivacious Carmel Gowan presents a dazzling exhibition of plain and fancy rope twirling on the star-studded stage and tank program, presented twice daily at 3:30 and 8:30 p.m.
