Jason Piittmann Nominated To WFCOA Hall Of Fame

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

Jason Piittmann, who was the head football coach of the Kewaskum Indians from 2003 to 2018, was recognized during halftime at the Kewaskum High School homecoming game on Friday, Oct. 1, for being named to the Wisconsin Football Coach's Association (WFCOA) Hall of Fame Class of 2022.

"I am grateful for the recognition, but like I have said all along – this is about the program – the kids, the coaches, the school and the community. It took a lot of people and a lot of moving parts for there to be enough success for this to even be in consideration. I was one small part of that," Piittmann said about receiving the honor.

Piittmann led the Kewaskum High School football team to an overall record of 140-39 during his 16 years as head coach. His teams had a combined conference record of 88-24 and a play-off record of 23-13. The football team also posted five Eastern Wisconsin Conference championships and three East Central Conference championships

"Coach Piittmann's focus was always much deeper than wins and losses. He focused on developing strong leaders, teammates and positive young adults," KHS Principal Scott Stier said.

Surrounded by his wife, Jamie, and their three children, Anna, Lia and Dane, Piittmann stood on the 50-yard line Friday night as the community recognized him for the achievement. He also was joined by Kewaskum School District staff, as well as both current and former players and coaches.

Dr. Mark Bazata, Kewaskum School District administrator, and Chad Piwoni, president of the Kewaskum Gridiron Club, presented Piittmann with a trophy and an engraved football

Who doesn't love a cave? Especially this time of year, when little ghosts and goblins will soon wander the streets while larger ones run through our imagination after reading scary stories.

Well, maybe those who don't like small, enclosed spaces. Not my problem since I've shimmed into the crawl space beneath the kitchen to thaw frozen water lines, floor joists just inches above my nose.

A couple of these grottos spring to mind. The first was a man made bunker scoured into the hill just northwest of CHS, on the backside of the slope. What is now the site of a home nestled in the trees.

A handful of us then sixth graders managed to sneak away and quickly beelined for the grassy slant near the railroad. To our combined chagrin, the concrete lined cut into the rising earth was nothing more than storage space for a mower that was dragged along behind a small tractor to maintain the sprawling school grounds. Soon enough, a teacher noticed our disappearance and we caught a tongue lashing something fierce.

The other cave is one my brother Terry, our friend Andy and I stumbled upon when we explored an abandoned quarry. A horizontal slit at ground level, no more than four feet high but a good dozen wide beckoned.

We didn't enter. Put off by the constant drip of water inside and a perhaps deep, dangerous underground pool. If not the breeze which reached out like the chilly fingers of a phantom as soon as we drew near.

Scuttlebutt says when kids from Elmore came to Marblehead looking for a fight, as soon as cops showed up, the locals vanished into the craggy cliff face. Leaving the visitors to face the heat.

Whether true... or not, it's the kind of myth that gives the lure of caverns just a bit more sheen.

What Was Lost: An Indian In The Kitchen

BY KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

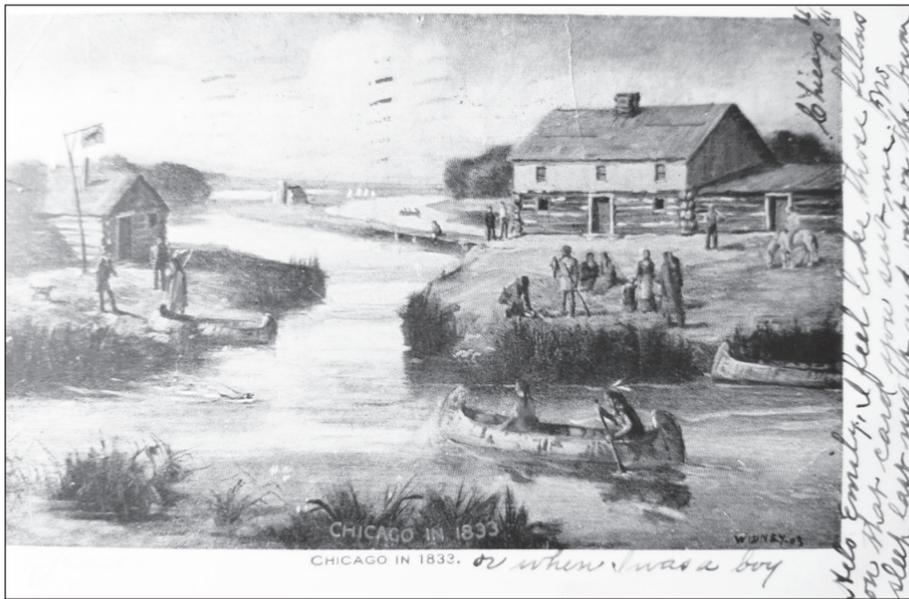

This is a story from one of the most significant people who ever lived in Dundee. She was a link to settlers in the past, farmers in her present, and our own future understanding of how life used to be in the Town of Osceola.

Mary Calvey married Adon Brown on November 8, 1876, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Cascade. They raised their family in what is still known as the Brown Farmstead located on the northern end of Dundee. It is hard to miss the gray barn on the west side while heading past the Hamburger Haus as the stretch aside Long Lake's west shore begins.

Mary's grandson, Bernard Brown, can't forget what happened to grandma in the farmhouse: "I can remember this story she'd tell me just like it was yesterday."

Someone At The Door

"Oh yeah, she had stories. She told a story where one day she was at the big old kitchen stove that she had...

This postcard was mailed out of Chicago and postmarked in 1906. Titled "Chicago in 1833," it envisions what a budding settlement looked like in an era when survival intertwined with Native Americans. Such mixing of cultures was still apparent to Mary Calvey Brown in Dundee, Wisconsin, until the 1880s. She shared her stories of Native Americans within the Town of Osceola with her grandson, Bernard Brown. These last memories of the Native Americans in the area are crucial to save.

and she had a funny feeling that somebody was looking at her... and when she turned around, there was this big Indian standing in the door — [he] had the door open."

Bernard just laughed at the startling surprise that grandma must have experienced. "She said she looked at him; he couldn't say nothing. He couldn't speak English."

"I don't know what the heck it was?" he asked, as he reflected how on earth the man knew he could successfully walk into a Dundee kitchen. The two had never met; and it appears they never met again. Bernard guessed it was just that the Native American smelled the baking, and couldn't resist.

On the menu that day in the Brown

Kitchen was what Grandma called Johnny Bread. "And she didn't get scared or nothing like that. So she took the pan, cut off a nice chunk of it, and gave it to him. He never said a word, turned around and walked away."

Bernard clarified that the Native

It's Hard To Say Goodbye

BY ANDREA HANSEN ABLER
EDITOR

This is probably one of the hardest articles I have had to write in my 17 1/2 years at the Campbellsport News and six years with the Kewaskum Statesman. I wanted to let all of our readers know that I am moving on and will no longer be working at the newspaper.

My last official day is this Friday, Oct. 8. You may still see me around once in a while at meetings and with my camera. I am planning to help out on a part-time basis as I can until they find a replacement for the Campbellsport/Eden area.

I will miss everyone from the area who I have worked with and have had the pleasure to get to know over the years. It has been a pleasure working in this area and helping to promote the area.

When I came to Campbellsport in January 2004, you welcomed me with open arms to the community and to the newspaper. I knew we had big shoes to fill in taking over the Campbellsport News from the Ninnemann family and I hope that I did a good job.

I have loved covering the events and activities in the area, the schools, and the villages and townships. Every school from the public to the private schools have been so great to work with and I will miss seeing all of you on a regular basis. I wish the best for your schools and will be cheering for the Cougars in the future.

Covering the village and town boards has been an interesting and fun experience. There have been a few crazy meetings over the years, but your officials do a great job and put a lot of time and effort into making sure your villages and towns are the best they can be.

Of course, there have been some difficult stories to write over the years and some sad events to cover. But in many of those, there has also been a light at the end of those dark tunnels.

For example, watching the chapel at Camp Vista burn down very early on a Wednesday morning was terrible. But watching the chapel be rebuilt into the beautiful structure that it is today has been so uplifting.

There is also the Wege family. Hearing about Josh's incident in Afghanistan was horrible, but watching him and his family persevere after this set back has been miraculous! The next time the USA Patriots are in the area to play softball, make sure you take the time to watch them play. It is inspiring and watching them work with the kids this summer at their amputee camp was wonderful.

Probably the hardest event to cover was the 2012 accident that killed three Campbellsport High School students and injured six others. It was heart-wrenching, but the scholarships, the Speak Up To Slow Down campaign and the way the area pulled together for these families showed the strength of the area.

The longest two weeks of my years here came in 2006. I put in a lot of hours between time spent in Dundee and in the office to capture the excitement of the Extreme Home Makeover. It spanned two weeks of coverage in our newspaper and was an awesome experience. I never knew that many people could fit in the small town of Dundee at one time, well, I knew it could hold quite a few after many years of covering the St. Patrick's Day parade.

Of course, some of my favorite activities involved children and families. I have always said that I love covering Halloween and Christmas activities. To see the costumes that some families come up with and to see the excited kids running around town trick or treating is always fun.

Then there is the excitement and sometimes horror of meeting Santa Claus at Christmas time. To this day, one of my favorite photos is of twin girls sitting on Santa's lap in Eden, each one crying and reaching out for the parent who is on each side.

One of my favorite weeks of the year is always the week of the Fond du Lac County Fair. Being able to be at the fair taking photos of all the area youth showing animals has been great. These kids put a lot of work and pride into all of the projects showcased at the fair every year.

My son was born while I was working in Campbellsport. As I write this, it is his 14th birthday, wow, time sure does fly. I appreciated the gifts that were sent to us when he was born and have always appreciated when someone would ask me about him. I loved being able to bring him along with me to many of the events I have covered and I know he enjoyed it too.

I could probably go on and on with stories and remembrances of my years here, but this is long enough! I just wanted to say goodbye to everyone and thank you for the warm welcome you gave me and all the help and encouragement you have given me and the newspaper over the years.

I hope you will continue to support the newspaper in the future. It really is a great honor to have a small-town weekly newspaper like this in your area and we do take pride in creating it for you every week.

It may be a rough transition while they are looking for a new reporter for the area, so please be patient. Anne Trautner, who has been our Kewaskum reporter, will be the only one covering the Campbellsport, Eden and Kewaskum areas for a while. If you can help in any way, I know she and the staff would appreciate it. Send in photos or articles on what is going on in the Campbellsport and Eden areas. Or, if you know of someone who would be a great reporter/photographer, have them contact the newspaper.

Again, I have really enjoyed my more than 17 years in Campbellsport and wish you all the best! I hope to see you around once in a while.

was not rude. Did he appreciate the Johnny Bread? "Oh yeah. He did. He couldn't say 'thank you.'"

He paused and laughed again at the recollection of his grandmother. "She put some maple syrup on it or something, and it really..." Bernard didn't finish the quote, as if he went back into his childhood. Maybe it was the syrup when he got Johnny Bread from his grandma in the 1930s; or when the Native got the bread, probably in the 1880s. Perhaps this story is as much about him growing up during the Depression as it is about grandma surviving in rural Wisconsin in the late 1800s.

Additional Questions

Mary's stories and life serve as a remembrance to what Osceola Township used to be, but they also beg more questions. What did Dundee look like in 1890? If the Native American visited Mary Calvey Brown, who else did he visit that day in the area? What was it about the Brown Homestead that made him take a risk to step inside? More broadly for Wisconsin history, what tribe was he a member of? Again, we have another story from the 1880-1910 time period in which Native American's roamed the landscape. What other stories of Native-to-settler encounters remain within the minds of our oldest in the community?

Although Mary's story is one which punctuates immigrant establishment, the Indians were withering away from the area. Reservations were becoming a norm, and that included the landowners ridding the annoyances of those who were actually here first. As one survived, the other perished.

Another question revolves around communication. What language was spoke that day: English, Irish Gaelic, or Native American? Perhaps the native used a form of sign language, or other non-verbal cues that were non-threatening. Bernard was certain the Native appreciated the cornbread in the story. How did grandma know this?

Bernard's story from Grandma Brown is also a reminder of the hunt for old history. When assigning family history projects at Oakfield High School, I remind students that the best questions for grandparents should be about their childhood mentors. As you record your family's history go the farthest back in your questions immediately. Who were the eldest people your grandpa or grandma looked up to as a child? Why do they remember them so well?

Then there are questions in the context of human behavior. From a psychological perspective, how do we "know" when someone is watching us? What explains that feeling that

A Good Indian's Prayer:
 Powers that be make me sufficient to my own Occasions
 Teach me to know and to Observe the Rules of the Game.
 Give to me to mind my own Business at all times and to lose no Good Opportunity of holding my Tongue
 When it is appointed for me to Suffer, let me, so far as may humanly be possible, take example from the dear well-bred Beasts, and go away quietly to bear my Suffering by myself
 Help me to win, if I may, but -and this, O Powers! especially - if I may not win, make me a good Loser. Amen

A Native American walked into Mary Calvey Brown's kitchen in Dundee well over a century ago, and perhaps as far back as the 1880s. We have no clue what he looked like, but this 1908 postmarked card honors his people. The poem included is remarkably kind, despite the fact that Natives were largely removed from southern Wisconsin from the mid-1800s into the turn of the century.

Stories from Mary Calvey Brown (1857-1947) remind us that some of our best memories in life come from our grandparents. Here she is pictured with two of her children. The young boy is Clem Brown (1898-1965), the father of Bernard who was interviewed for this story. The young girl is Edith Veronica Brown Hayes (1896-1984), whom Bernard said was known as "Doad" and later moved to Baraboo.

someone is observing you without knowing what's behind you? Clearly Grandma Brown was perceptive.

In addition, what made a chance encounter resonate a half century later? As Mary hit 90 in 1947, what did she think of the Indian she had once met in her kitchen?

The Irish & The Indian

Mary Calvey Brown's legacy serves as a strong example of Dundee's Irish heritage. Mary was the real deal, for she could dance an Irish Jig and could speak elements of Irish Gaelic. Grandma Brown's encounter in the kitchen revolves around Johnny Bread or Johnny Cake, which is essentially cornbread. This food is easy to make and relatively cheap. It's also fittingly associated with the Irish.

Along those lines, De Scott Evans understood the predicament of the Irish. He was an American still-life painter, and put to canvas the most beautiful two potatoes hung by string on a door. He titled it "The Irish Question," an oil painting which can be seen at the Art Institute of Chicago. Perhaps the title was meant to be funny, or maybe the art commemorates the difficulty of Irish struggling in the 1800s for food.

In regard to Mary Calvey Brown, Bernard recalls that she worked her whole life. There was no extravagance at the farmstead — and certainly not in the late 1800s. Survival wasn't easy in the 1800s, yet Mary could share her cornbread with a random Indian in her house.

Generosity, if it can be measured, may be done best through relativity. Mary Calvey Brown didn't have much. And maybe that is the significance of the story, in that it opens up the possibility that more settlers could have gotten along with Native Americans. It is fascinating: she was well aware that others in the area supported killing them. Indeed, she said at least one was murdered to the north of her property for fur gloves, but when it came to her house and the meeting with a Native American, she chose to share.

Why was grandma kind to the Indian? Perhaps it was that they had more in common than met the eye. Ironically, their families both lost their homeland. Mary's parents had left Ireland; he was likely walking past places that were safer for him to traverse in his childhood. Maybe that's why Mary passed over a good chunk of Johnny Bread.

What did Bernard think his grandma would have said about the Indians? He struggled with a summation: "I think that she would have said they were misused terribly." And with a deliberative pause, he added, "Leave it at that."

Nuts In Wisconsin

The Kettle Moraine State Forest - Northern Unit's Evening with Nature Series continues with the program Nuts in Wisconsin. The program will be held on Thursday, Oct. 12, from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. at the Visitor Center. The center is located off Highway 67 half mile west of Dundee. This program is free, but donations are always gratefully accepted.

White oak, bur oak, red oak, shagbark hickory, butternut, black walnut, and American hazelnut all drop edibles nuts. Join Julie Peltier, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources forester, and Jackie Scharfenberg, forest naturalist, as they delve into the natural history and ecology of our state's nut producing trees and shrubs to learn where they grow and thrive.

Discover and share some of the best techniques for cracking those tasty morsels. End the evening by sampling a few tasty treats made with our native nuts.

For further information or directions, contact the staff at the Ice Age Visitor Center. The center's phone number is (920) 533-8322 and is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and on Saturday and Sunday from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Helen Lauters Retires From Gateway Café

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
JOURNALIST

Gateway Café in Kewaskum is under new ownership. After running the restaurant for nearly 16 years, former owner Helen Lauters has retired.

Matt Seefeldt purchased the restaurant from Lauters on September 30. Seefeldt is not new to the business; he has worked with Lauters since she opened Gateway Café. Prior to that, he worked for about four years at the restaurant, when it was called Silver Platter.

"I am leaving the restaurant in good hands," Lauters said. "I wish Matt the best, and I know he will do a good job."

Gateway Café Connections

When Lauters began running the Gateway Café in January 2006, she didn't know what to expect.

"I have had a lot of support from people from the Kewaskum, Campbellsport and West Bend areas. It's really been great. I want to give special thanks to everyone who has supported us," Lauters said.

Lauters said the thing she will miss the most in retirement is seeing all the people at the restaurant.

"I have met a lot of really nice people. People I have made friends with over the years. People who come in every day and sit around the table and drink their coffee and have their breakfast," Lauters said.

She will miss seeing those regular customers.

"Kissy (Richard Kissinger) is one who has come in every morning for a cup of coffee. Every morning, religiously. Even through the pandemic, he came in every morning. If there was a day you didn't see him come, you wondered whether Kissy was sick or what happened to him," Lauters said. "He has supported us well."

Lauters also has enjoyed seeing the group of regulars that has come to Gateway every Tuesday morning.

"When they started coming right after I opened, there must have been about 14 of them. Every Tuesday, they would come in and have coffee and they would eat a little breakfast and they would sit here for a few hours and chat. Every year, it would become a little less, and now we are down to two people. And those two ladies come in every Tuesday, and they sit at the table and chat," Lauters said.

"For a lot of those people, I ended up catering their funerals," Lauters added. "So, you get to see a lot of how life goes."

Supporting Local Businesses

Over the years, Gateway Café has received support from other local businesses.

"Kevin Scheunemann is a great supporter of us, and I of his. Every Friday night, when Diane [Schneider, who also is retiring from Gateway] and I get done frying fish, we have to go to Dairy Queen and have a Blizzard. I guess we will miss our Friday night Blizzards, but we can always go Friday during the day instead," Lauters said.

Dealing with the pandemic was the most difficult challenge Lauters faced during years running the restaurant.

"That was a rough time. We didn't know from one day to the next if we were going to bring in enough to keep the lights on. That was hard," Lauters said.

But Gateway Café received help from the community.

"Last year during the pandemic, Kettle Moraine Town & Country collected tips and brought them into us. A couple times they dropped off a couple hundred dollars. I was really quite impressed with the way that some of the people supported what we had going on," Lauters said.

The support helped Gateway to persevere.

"We stayed open every day through the pandemic. We cut our hours, but we stayed open," Lauters said.

Although she will continue to help with catering, Lauters will miss working with the Gateway staff on a regular basis.

"I have seen so many people go in and out that I have had as employees, people that I really hated to see leave. For some, on their last day, it was difficult for both of us to hold on," Lauters said.

There have been four employees who have worked with Lauters since she started Gateway Café: Seefeldt, Diane Schneider, Lisa Adlemeyer and Kate Limberg.

"They have been very supportive; they have been here for me throughout the whole thing," Lauters said.

Family Help

Over the years, Lauters received help from her family. Her husband, Dan, who passed away last year, helped with maintenance at the restaurant.

Her daughter, Kate Limberg, has been a regular employee at the restaurant. Her two sons, Louie Lauters and Dan Lauters Jr., were always there whenever she needed help.

And all three of Lauters' grandsons have helped Lauters at the restaurant on a regular basis whenever she needed help: Eric (25), Justin (22) and Nic (20).

Although Lauters will miss seeing the people, she is looking forward to retirement.

"Before Dan had passed away, he told me to sell the restaurant and enjoy my life, and so that is what I'm going to do," Lauters said.

She was cooperative with the police.

Check It Out!

LORI KREIS
KEWASKUM LIBRARIAN

I recently came back from a week's vacation on the Gulf Coast. It was relaxing even with all the activity. We did a lot of swimming and walking. I walked at least 15,000 steps a day. One day I attained over 40,000. That was the day we hiked in a State Park.

I like to walk, which my husband does not understand. Taking a walk after dinner to him is a chore. Let it be noted though that he has a physical job and walks the length of his shop multiple times a day. If you have been in the Kewaskum Public Library, and I hope you have, it does not take long to walk from one end to the other. Walking that takes about 10 seconds, therefore I don't get as many steps in as I should in a regular workday.

When I returned to work, I decided that I would make myself walk at least 30 minutes outside every day. Let's call that lunch. I don't usually take a lunch because of other priorities but decided that a healthy walk will make me more productive. There are studies proving that theory. Some of the ways walking during your lunch break are beneficial include a great way to problem solve, getting Vitamin D, taking a screen break, and incorporating socialization into your routine.

I try not to think too much about work while walking, I find it a way to clear my mind, especially if there are issues to resolve. But I do agree that getting away from the day-to-day activity has helped me come up with an appropriate response to a problem I may be facing.

I was told by my doctor some time ago that I needed to up my Vitamin D intake. I did start taking supplements, but as someone who prefers natural solutions, walking in the sun is a great way to get that nutrient.

For anyone who works on computers, screen breaks are essential. I try not to have my phone out on walks, unless I see something wonderful to capture in a picture. I even was able to socialize on my lunch walks. I saw a few neighbors who are library patrons and stopped to chat for a bit.

For me though, the largest incentive was to increase my steps and view my Fitbit cheering me on and congratulating me when I hit milestones. At times, I do like walking alone, but believe that walking partners would not only increase socialization but motivate myself and my partners to keep fit.

I know of libraries that have walking book clubs and would love to try that. If anyone has an interest in joining me for my daily constitutional and talking books, come on in and we can set a time. It would be great to have a walking book discussion and my husband would be happy because that would negate me nagging him for an after-dinner walk.

Hope to see you soon.

Wisconsin's economy and worker shortage.

Lots of important issues are getting attention from the candidates for governor as they launch their 2022 election campaigns.

Today we add another big challenge to the list — one that neither Gov. Tony Evers, the Democratic incumbent, nor his leading GOP challenger, Rebecca Kleefisch, addressed in their campaign announcements:

Homelessness.

The problem hasn't improved much in recent years since the state launched an unprecedented yet largely unfinished effort to ensure stable housing for thousands of desperate people across Wisconsin, including many children.

The human misery from not having a safe place to sleep, eat or study for school is intense and traumatic. At the same time, the tragedy of homelessness costs taxpayers more in social and emergency services than adequately addressing the problem would.

That's why the candidates for governor — along with municipal leaders, state lawmakers and members of Congress — must do more. And now is the time for our political leaders to outline their plans and commitments as the 2022 election cycle approaches, and as World Homeless Day arrives October 10.

The good news is that Evers and Kleefisch understand this difficult issue and have tried to address it in the past.

Evers sought $70 million in his latest two-year state budget for affordable housing, shelter grants and other programs aimed at assisting homeless individuals in the state — most of which Republicans rejected. Instead, the GOP increased housing assistance programs by just $1.2 million and suggested the governor steer more federal stimulus money to the cause.

Kleefisch chaired the Interagency Council on Homelessness when she was lieutenant governor in 2018. The council's strong work led to eight homeless bills clearing the GOP-led state Assembly. Unfortunately, the Republican-controlled Senate approved only one of those measures, adding $1 million in support for emergency homeless shelters.

The problem isn't going away.

In Madison, more than 65 people have crowded Reindahl Park on the Far East Side, turning it into a makeshift campground of tents that has led to violence and frequent calls for emergency responders. The city hopes to move the homeless campers from the park to a safer location using $2 million in federal coronavirus relief money. The city also is pursuing a permanent and modern shelter with robust services to steer people to better lives. A developer and social service agency want to convert a hotel into affordable housing.

In Oshkosh, advocates are pushing for a larger, full-time shelter and more affordable apartments. The city's vacancy rate is less than two percent — a much tighter market than in past years, the Oshkosh Northwestern recently reported.

Near Green Bay, the Oneida Nation used federal COVID relief money to renovate a tribal building into a shelter, the Green Bay Press-Gazette reported.

In Milwaukee, more than 90 people living in a "tent city" under the Marquette Interchange have received help finding apartments, transitional housing or moved in with family members, according to WISN-TV (Ch. 12).

Wisconsin needs to step up its search for lasting solutions as winter approaches, and as the coronavirus pandemic continues to limit how many people can be housed indoors together.

What will the candidates for governor do for the homeless, and how will they get it done? We want to know. We'll be asking them for their ideas and commitments in the coming year. Voters should demand answers, too.

Homelessness

Dear Reader,

Have you ever been hungry – I mean really hungry, when you hadn't had a meal all day or even longer?

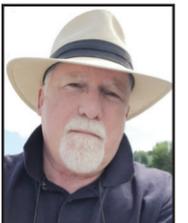

Have you ever had food insecurity – wondering whether you will have enough food to last between now and the next time you have money to buy more?

How about shelter – have you ever wondered where you would sleep at night? Not in the adventurous "let's wander the countryside" way; more of the "I don't have anyplace to go and it's getting dark" way.

Homelessness and food scarcity are real concerns in Wisconsin. There are over 4,500 Wisconsinites without a home right now. We are a strong and prosperous State, we have adequate resources, and we are smart people. We need to come together to solve the homelessness problem in Wisconsin.

Please help by buying a homeless person a $25 Badger Pack. This survival kit contains necessities that will help a person down on their luck. While it may not solve the problem entirely, it will help ameliorate the suffering in the short term.

You can make a contribution by going to The Go Fund me titled Wisconsin Newspapers Supporting Homelessness. 100% of your gift will go to supply resources to homeless people. I hope you can join us in this important and worthy effort.

The Link Between Physical Activity And Cancer

Physical activity has long been known to increase a person's chances of living healthy well past retirement. The benefits of physical activity are numerous and include everything from a lower risk for overweight and obesity to improved mental health. Physical activity also has been linked to a lower risk for various diseases, including an assortment of cancers.

The National Cancer Institute notes that the evidence linking physical activity to lower cancer risk comes from observational studies. Observational studies are a type of study in which individuals are observed or certain outcomes are measured. In observational studies examining physical activity, participants will report on their levels of physical activity and are then followed for years.

During these studies, no attempt, such as treatment, is made to affect the outcome. The NCI notes that observational studies cannot prove a causal relationship, though they still are invaluable to cancer researchers. Such studies also illustrate the important role that physical activity can play in preventing various types of cancer.

•Bladder cancer: A 2014 meta-analysis of studies published in the British Journal of Cancer found that the risk of bladder cancer was 15 percent lower for individuals with the highest level of recreational or occupational physical activity than in those with the lowest level. That information may be especially valuable to individuals over 55, as the American Cancer Society notes about nine out of 10 people with bladder cancer are 55 or older.

•Breast cancer: A meta-analysis published in the European Journal of Cancer in 2016 found that the most physically active women had a 12 to 21 percent lower risk of breast cancer than those who were the least physically active.

Similarly, additional studies have linked physical activity after menopause to a lower risk of breast cancer. That's important to know, as the NCI indicates that doctors most often diagnose breast cancer in women between the ages of 55 and 64.

•Esophageal cancer: Cohort studies are used by researchers to investigate the causes of disease

See CANCER page 15

Did You Know? Sleeping Problems After Cancer

According to the American Cancer Society, recent research has found that sleeping problems associated with cancer treatment persist in almost 40 percent of cancer survivors for up to five years after diagnosis.

The 2019 study, published in the journal Sleep Medicine, also found that one-fifth of cancer survivors reported poor sleep quality at nine years after diagnosis. In fact, high sleep disturbance was reported by 51 percent of long-term cancer survivors.

The researchers studied more than 1,900 long-term cancer survivors nine years after diagnosis, and participants had one of 10 common cancers, including cancers of the breast, prostate, bladder, kidney, and lung.

It's especially important for cancer survivors to recognize the potential for sleep problems after successful treatment, as the Mayo Clinic notes that sufficient rest is a vital component of patients' recovery. Survivors experiencing difficulty sleeping after successful cancer treatments can discuss their issues with their physicians, who may recommend certain sleep aides or strategies to increase patients' chances of getting more restful sleep.

Did You Know? Cancer And Vaccinations

Though there may not be a cancer vaccine, that does not mean that vaccinations cannot play a role in cancer prevention. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, some cancers, including cervical cancer and cancers of the vulva and oropharynx, are caused by the human papillomavirus, or HPV.

The CDC notes that the HPV vaccine protects people against the types of HPV that most often cause cancers. Adults can discuss the benefits of HPV vaccinations with their physicians, as the CDC notes that adults between the ages of 27 and 45 may have already been exposed to HPV, meaning the HPV vaccination will provide less benefit.

Parents should know that the CDC recommends the HPV vaccination for preteens aged 11 to 12 years.

and to establish links between risk factors and health outcomes. A 2014 meta-analysis of nine cohort studies and 15 case-control studies, which compare patients who have a disease or outcome of interest to patients who do not have the disease or outcome, found that the individuals who were the most physically active had a 21 percent lower of risk of esophageal adenocarcinoma than those who were the least physically active.

Such findings are significant, as the Mayo Clinic reports that adenocarcinoma is the most common form of esophageal cancer in the United States, while the NCI notes the condition is not curable.

•Kidney (renal cell) cancer: A pooled analysis of more than one million individuals published in JAMA Internal Medicine in 2016 found that leisure-time physical activity was linked to a 23 percent reduced risk of kidney cancer. Leisure-time physical activities can include anything from jogging to dancing to gardening.

Physical activity benefits the body in myriad ways and has been linked to significantly lower risks for various cancers.

The Piitt Stop

BY JASON PIITTMANN | KHS ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Are You Kidding Me?

The State of Wisconsin is having an incredible run in the world of professional sports. It is really amazing, if you stop and look at all that has happened recently.

Let's go back to last football season with the Packers. NFC North Division Champions and played in the NFC Championship Game. Even with the drama with Aaron Rodgers in the off-season, the Packers are expected to do well — despite their season opening loss to Tampa Bay. As of this writing they defeated the Lions 35-17 on Monday Night Football. (Since then, they beat the San Francisco 49ers with a last second field goal and easily defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers)

The Milwaukee Bucks gave us a taste of what was possible during their 2019-2020 Covid season. They made an early exit from "the bubble" during the playoffs, but the 2020-2021 season was one for us to remember.

The NBA tweaked their season, but the Bucks found a way to win an exciting championship series in six games, over Phoenix. The Deer District created a new kind of excitement in downtown Milwaukee.

The Brewers (as of this writing) are in the playoffs for the fourth consecutive year. They will hopefully close out their winning of the National League Central Division in the near future and give us a great playoff run, as well. (They clinched the Central Division on September 26th)

Last but not least, the Ryder Cup was at Whistling Straits. Wisconsin has become a golfing destination. As a kid growing up, I never thought of the upper Midwest as a place that would get the world's best golfers as regular competitors. The past 10 years or so has shown us that it can be done.

What does this mean? I don't know that people need to be sports fans to enjoy the benefits that go along with these successes. The local economies of Green Bay, Milwaukee, and Sheboygan County definitely benefit from these successes. I think it helps the general mood or disposition of people. People like being associated with success — even if it is from a distance.

We all know that this is an incredible run of good fortune for all involved. While it would be nice to think that high levels of success will happen every year for all of them, we have all been through the realistic struggles that the teams go through. My advice is for us to enjoy the ride while we can.

Gardner Leads The Ground Attack For Cougars

The Campbellsport Cougars have had dozens of great running backs since I arrived in town in the late 1980s. This year the Cougars' backfield features one of the state's top leading rushers in senior Joe Gardner.

Gardner has rushed for 1,063 yards in six games while racking up nine touchdowns. The 5'11", 170 pound fullback is a combination of speed and power, if he gets through the interior line, he's off to the races. Twice this season he has gone for over 200 yards in a game including a season high 312 yards against Kewaskum. Gardner and the Cougars are 5-2 overall and 4-1 in the Flyway with two games to play.

Gardner also uses his speed in the spring where he has competed for the CHS boys track & field team the past three years. The speedy senior competes in the sprints (100 and 200 meters) and his specialty — the Long Jump.

Last year Joe won the sectional long jump championship and placed eighth in the State Track & Field meet. Joe's longest jump is 20' 7", he's close to breaking the school record which he has sights on this spring.

In the winter, Joe has competed on the CHS Ice Fishing team and he holds a job at Loehr's Meat Market in Campbellsport. Joe was inducted into the National Honor Society last year at CHS.

In his spare time, he loves to weight lift and go to other CHS sporting events to support his friends. He's also been very active in helping at church functions at St. Matt's and also helped out the Campbellsport Youth Football team last year at their camp.

Joe is the son of Stacey Durand and the late Jim Gardner. He has an older sister Anna who just recently graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Joe is ranked 14th in his senior class and carries a 3.81 grade point average. He is undecided as of right now about college for next year. He'd like to attend UW-Madison or Iowa State and study engineering but also has UW-Platteville and UW-Stout on his radar if he plans on playing football or competing in track.

- Here are some of Joe's favorites:
- Food — Bacon Potatoes and Spaghetti
  - TV Show — SportsCenter
  - Music — Country
  - Athlete — Running back Dalvin Cook of the Minnesota Vikings
  - Teacher/Class — Mr. Hein/Solid Works
  - High School Memory — Making it to State last year and placing in the long jump

Kewaskum Football Rolls Ripon On Homecoming

The host Indians dominated from start to finish in a 43-15 win over Ripon on Friday, Oct. 1. It was a joyous homecoming for Kewaskum as they not only celebrated another Eastern Central Conference victory, but they also got to show their love for former head coach and current athletic director, Jason Piittmann, at halftime.

The Indians started fast as senior quarterback Matt Buechel found senior wide receiver Ben Butler over the middle of the field on the second play of the game for a big gain, and it eventually led to a 6-0 lead as Buechel found junior back Dillon Steger on a 10-yard pass. Steger would score the second touchdown of the night on the next drive, this time on a six-yard rush. A failed two-point conversion left the home team ahead 12-0.

Ripon found the endzone next to cut the lead to 12-7 with 11:51 left in the second quarter, but the Indians stretched out the lead as senior running back Max Melzer found the endzone from five yards out. Senior kicker Andrew Bolek put the extra point attempt through the uprights for a 19-7 lead.

Buechel threw his second touchdown pass with 2:34 left in the second quarter as he again found Butler in the corner of the south end zone, and Bolek again put through the extra point as the Indians blew the game open at 26-7.

The first half ended as Bolek made his only field goal attempt, this one from 34 yards, and the home team left for the locker room up 29-7.

At halftime, coach Piittmann was honored for being a 2022 Wisconsin Football Coaches Hall of Fame nominee. Joined by his family and many former and current players and coaches, the current athletic director was celebrated for his accomplishments including his: 140-39 record with eight conference championships and four-time state semi-finalist finishes. Toward the end of halftime, the raucous student section chanted "We Love Piittmann."

As the game resumed, Ripon held the ball for most of the third quarter, but when they couldn't find the end zone, Melzer and Buechel combined to trade carries down the field until Melzer found the endzone from five yards out. When Bolek banged home the extra point the rout was on 36-7.

Near the end of the third quarter, junior back Nathan Heller made his way into the endzone from five yards out to cap the Indians' scoring at 43 points. Ripon would tack on a late touchdown to make the final score 43-15.

Defensively, the Indians were again led by fine senior linebacker Matthew Blank, who led the team with 13 tackles. Fellow senior defensive lineman Kyle Reichert continued his strong play with 10 tackles, and senior defensive back Miles Surprenant added an interception.

The Indians will host their final home game of the regular season Friday night at Doc Mitchell versus Waupun. A win will clinch a post-season berth for Kewaskum. Come on out to celebrate the 2022 senior class on senior night.

Kewaskum Gridiron Youth Football

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club returned to action on Saturday, Oct. 2, with all four teams playing at home against the Cedarburg Dawgs.

The eighth-grade team opened the action for the day and took an early lead before Cedarburg found its groove en route to a 34-16 victory over the Indians. The Indians got on the board first with quarterback Chase Cook connecting with wide receiver Johnny Hooker on a jet sweep pass for a 39-yard touchdown. Liam Stoffel made the two-point conversion kick to give the Indians an early 8-0. Unfortunately, Cedarburg took control for the remainder of the first half, putting up three touchdowns and taking a 20-8 lead into halftime. In the second half, both teams were able to add to their scoring totals with Cedarburg adding two more touchdowns, and then the Indians added another score of their own with Cook hooking up with wide receiver Liam Stoffel for a 19-yard touchdown pass. Stoffel added the two-point conversion kick to bring the final score to 34-16 in favor of Cedarburg. On the defensive side of the ball, the Indians were led by linebacker Gabe Halopka, who was the team's leading tackler, defensive lineman Rocky Rodriguez added a fumble recovery and defensive back Jimmy Racer had an interception. The eighth-grade team now has a 3-2 record on the season.

The seventh grade got off to a slow start overall, falling behind 19-0 before being able to get back in the game, but ultimately fell to Cedarburg by a score of 25-16. Down 19-0, the Indians were able to get back into the game with two long touchdown runs by running back Kingston Grisolono of 56 yards and 79 yards, and he was able to make both two-point conversion kicks to make the score 19-16. Late in the fourth quarter, Cedarburg was able to convert on a fourth down pass for a touchdown that sealed the 25-16 win for the visitors. Defensively, Grisolono led the team in tackles and also added an interception, while William Koch was able to recover a fumble. The seventh-grade team now has a 3-3 record on the season.

The sixth-grade team played a great game and came away with a 22-6 victory over Cedarburg. The ground game led the offense, with Jace Wichtoski scoring two rushing touchdowns and Landon Scheel was able to get into the endzone for another rushing touchdown. Blake Staral was able to convert two out of the three two-point conversion kicks. On defense, both Ryan Perales and Carter Unger were recognized for great games, and Marcus Fleischman was able to add an interception. Overall, it was a great team effort and win. The sixth-grade team now has a record of 4-1 on the season.

The fifth-grade team ran into a very tough opponent and ultimately was defeated by Cedarburg by a score of 34-0. The offense put together some nice plays with running by Henry Ogi, Porter Reis and Cole Kertscher. A long pass was also completed, with Ogi connecting with Reis. On defense, Ryland Ciriacks, Kaiden Wagner, Ogi and Reis all had solid plays and tackles throughout the game. The fifth-grade team now has a record of 0-5 on the season.

All the teams will be playing on the road this Saturday, Oct. 9, with the eighth, seventh and sixth grades traveling to West Bend West and the fifth grade going to Brookfield East.

CHS Boys Runners Take Second At Slinger

Campbellsport High School competed in the Slinger Owl Cross Country Invitational on Thursday, Sept. 30. The meet, which was held for many years at Homestead Hollow Park, was moved permanently to Heritage Trails County Park just outside Slinger.

The new location provides more room for runners and a challenging hilly course. The varsity races were divided into large schools and small schools, and the Cougars competed in the small school division.

In the boys' varsity race, the battle for first came down to Kiel and Campbellsport. Both teams had three runners in the top 10, but Kiel was a little stronger on this day, winning 47 to 61. Dodgeland (98) was third followed by Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah (126), Horicon (147), WLA (155), Washington County Homeschool (160), Lomira (168), Mayville (206), and Living Word Lutheran (217). New Holstein did not have a complete team.

Skyler Fryman is one Campbellsport Cougar who loves hilly courses. The senior was thrilled to find out he had about 14 hills to climb on the Heritage Trails course. Fryman took the lead early in the race and held on for the first mile before being passed by Kiel's top two runners. Skyler kept third place all the way to the end with a time of 18:27.

Teammates Logan and Brody Nolan had strong races to finish in the top 10. Logan took home the seventh place medal with a time of 18:57. Brody ran a time of 19:14 and earned a medal for ninth. Aydan Meilahn cracked the top 20, finishing in 15th place with a time of 19:49.

Jerid Waddle 27th and Sawyer Dirmeier 28th were a second apart with times of 20:42 and 20:43. Garrett Roehl took 31st in 20:51, and Jon Thelen finished 42nd in 21:48.

The large school and small school JV teams were combined into one race. CHS took fifth place out of the 10 complete JV teams. West Bend West won with a perfect score of 15.

Slinger (64) was second, Kimberly (72) third, Grafton (99) fourth, and CHS (150) fifth to round out the top five.

Max Engle was the top JV runner for Campbellsport. Max finished in 29th place. Jake Mader was next in 37th. Owen Blevins took 41st, Josh Dontchenko 47th, and Wyatt Blevins 50th. Aidryan Meilahn had a PR and finished in 60th. Trent Dieckman was 63rd, Nick Timm 66th, Andrew Jenkins 71st, Aidan Polzin 138th, and Sam Ellenbecker 155th.

In the girls' varsity race, Kiel dominated the field with the low score of 16 points. WLA was a distant second with 74 followed by Lomira (80), Elkhart Lake-Glenbeulah (86), Living Word Lutheran (127), Campbellsport (170), Mayville (191), and New Holstein (220). Dodgeland, Horicon, and Washington County Homeschool did not have complete teams.

Sienna Hewitt was the top runner for CHS. Hewitt ran the 5,000 meter course in 24:49 and finished in 29th place. Lydia Toshner was next in 37th with a time of 25:34. Morgan Yahr took 39th in 25:54. Megan Dickman was 47th in 28:39, and Elli Scannell ran a 29:12 to finish 49th.

Kimberly won the combined large school/small school JV race with 19 points. Shorewood was runner-up with 62 points, and Kettle Moraine third with 88. The Cougars finished 11th with a team total of 322 points.

Campbellsport was led by Macy Pawlowski in 94th place out of nearly 140 runners. Emily Reigle had a PR and finished in 100th place. Ashley Sanders finished 116th, Harper Poquette 120th, Katrina Ohme 126th, Makayla Stommel 128th and Samantha Zimdahl 131st.

Campbellsport will host the 50th annual Cougar Invitational on Thursday, Oct. 7, at the Campbellsport Elementary School. The night will include the induction of Rick Martiny into the Campbellsport Hall of Fame, Senior Night, and Parent Night. The first race will begin at 4 p.m.

KHS Volleyball Team Claims More Wins

Oct. 2- Kewaskum Wins Varsity Invite At Cedar Grove-Belgium

The Kewaskum High School volleyball team 21-5 (4-1) went undefeated at Cedar Grove-Belgium on October 2. That same day, the KHS JV1 team won the Hartford JV Invite.

“This tournament usually falls on Homecoming Saturday, and with that the team can become unfocused. We struggled through some times that we just were not playing to a certain level that we had been at previously, and I think you could really see and feel that fight that we had to put on to get back to that level. We played a very solid tournament, but we left points at the gym that we really want back. But in the end, we stuck it out and the team went undefeated. And to hear that we made it a double, with the JV winning their tournament as well, that was an added bonus!” KHS head coach Laine Leitzke said.

KHS Varsity Scores

- vs. Cedar Grove- Belgium | W | 25-10, 25-21
- vs. Sheboygan South | W | 25-23, 25-23

September 30 At Winneconne

Kewaskum 16-5 (4-1) defeated Winneconne 25-21, 25-17, 25-15 on September 30 at Winneconne. The Kewaskum JV1 team won 3-0; JV2 lost 1-2. “Always tough to go on the road to Winneconne and take them on. We did a good job of pushing their middles out of play and making their out-sides do all the work. We fell behind in the second set and cleaned up play, causing them to make errors. That pushed us through that set and set the tone for the final set,” Leitzke said.

September 28- Kewaskum vs. Lomira

Kewaskum 15-5 (3-1) defeated Lomira on September 28: 25-10, 25-10, 25-8. The KHS JV1 team won 3-0; JV2 won 2-1.

“It was a good win for us. We did not want to get caught looking ahead at Winneconne. We had some illnesses and injuries to work through and we were able to get the job done in three. Solid team win,” Leitzke said.
