Sixth graders camp to learn

The Kewaskum Middle School has an opportunity each year to build community among the sixth-grade students. This year's mission was to bring the Class of 2028 on an adventure together to make memories that will last a lifetime.

Each year, the staff and students travel to Camp Minikani in Richfield, where the students engage in many activities. Each activity serves a purpose in learning more about their classmates and themselves. Students learn teamwork during canoeing while they learn to work together in pairs to navigate the lake. During the low ropes course, students work as a small group to complete challenges and overcome obstacles. They test their individual abilities and skills at fishing and archery. The nature hike around the camp has students traveling together completing a scavenger hunt.

Campbellsport Halloween Caper is back

After a year off because of a global pandemic, it's back — Campbellsport's Halloween Caper.

It will be held this Friday, Oct. 29, at Campbellsport Elementary School, St. Matthew's School and Campbellsport High School. The fun will run from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Events at the elementary school will include kids games, a bounce house, photo booth, the always popular costume contest, food and drinks. At the high school, you can enjoy the haunted hallway, movies in the gym and concessions. The chamber also was working with the FFA Alumni to try to secure hayrides for festive transportation to each building.

The Caper is something for everyone, no matter the age, from toddlers and kids to tweens and teens to parents and grandparents, all will have a spooktacular time. Events vary widely but all will have a Halloween theme.

Costumes are encouraged for children and adults to add to the Halloween spirit. A children

Scaring up food donations

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
EDITOR

Hunter Sabish, who is a freshman at Campbellsport High School, has been creating haunted houses for his family and friends to go through for the past several years.

Now, for the third year, he is scaring up donations for the Kewaskum Community Pantry with his creepy creations. This year, though, he made things bigger and scarier than ever. He started working on creating a "Terror Shed" in early August.

With lots of eerie props and freaky ideas, he is the mastermind behind the horrifying scenes inside the building. Hunter also recruited some friends who dress in costumes and help scare the visitors as they walk through numerous ghoulish scenes inside the "Terror Shed."

Trick Or Treating in the area

It is that time of the year again for the ghosts, ghouls, goblins and witches to haunt the streets of area communities. That is right, it is Trick or Treat time again.

Children in the villages of Campbellsport, Kewaskum and Eden will be able to go door-to-door and ask that age-old question and hope for goodies in their bag or plastic pumpkin. Trick or Treat hours will be as follows: Village of Campbellsport on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 2 to 4 p.m.; Village of Kewaskum on Saturday, Oct. 30, from 5 to 7 p.m.; and Village of Eden on Sunday, Oct. 31, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Please make sure your children are supervised by an adult and that their costumes and masks are safe for walking, with adequate vision and appropriate for the weather. A flashlight is advised during twilight and night hours.

Have a good time and stay safe during these Halloween holiday events.

It's that time of the year again...

Stand Up For "The Invisible Ones"

Dear Reader,

If you are a regular reader of this column, you may have noticed that the plight of the homeless has my special attention. They are on my mind again this week – Assembly Bill 604 is in the news.

One of the most prominent features of AB 604 is that it specifies where people can and cannot sleep outdoors. On the surface that might seem to make sense – we wouldn't want people sleeping on the steps of City Hall, right? But the problem is that if you are caught breaking this law, you can be fined $500, jailed for 30 days, or both. This is incongruous with previous legislation passed aimed at helping homeless persons transition to stability.

The bill also tasks local governments with creating camps for homeless people. It provides some money to that end, but withholds the full amount needed until it is known whether the number of homeless people has declined.

If a homeless person gets caught sleeping where they shouldn't be, how are they going to pay that fine?

If we lock that person up for 30 days, have we helped solve their homelessness problem?

If a struggling local government only receives part of the money needed to get the job done, aren't we setting them up for failure?

To me, this sounds like it will add an additional burden to the backs of homeless people – fines and jail time – while simultaneously controlling local governments from the State Capitol.

Veterans suffering from PTSD need housing, jobs, and health care. Adults with mental illness or a history of being assaulted or abused need multiple levels of intervention. And sometimes people just need a temporary support while coping with an unexpected shock – a job loss, an eviction, the death of a loved one. What they don't need is a stiff fine and a jail term. That's just not going to help.

We have a moral duty as Wisconsinites and human beings to help our brothers and sisters who don't have a place to sleep or money for their next meal. To most of us, they are invisible, we just aren't aware of their suffering.

We can't let things stay that way. We have to find a way to help them – with kindness, compassion, understanding, and insight. Not with fines and jail time.

Please call the Legislative Hotline at 800-362-9472 to tell your State Senator or Representative to vote "No" on AB 604.

Rural Writes

BY G.A. SCHEINOHA
CONTRIBUTOR

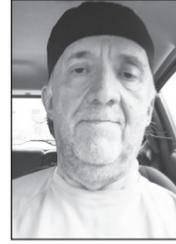

Back in the day, when CHS hadn't yet expanded all the way out to Sheboygan Street, there was a cluster of houses on the south side of the school.

Including a vacant one that was what is sometimes called a see through; abandoned and devoid of drapes.

We second graders would taunt each other. "Betcha won't go up to that house and peek in the windows." Closest any of us ever got was to the bottom step of the stoop.

Running away in terror when a classmate at a safe distance from the spooky building uttered a slow moan or even a simple Boo! One of the braver of our group who'd gotten close to get a good gander claimed they had seen movement from inside.

"Probably haunted," somebody suggested and that was off putting enough to keep the rest of us far away, up against the school's brick wall.

Skip ahead a few years to sixth grade when my friend John Venski trick or treated with me, helping to look out for my younger brother and sisters as we made the half mile walk to Campbellsport. On the way into the village, he dared me to walk through the cemetery alone.

I wasn't taking his dare. He stepped up and strode into the dark graveyard. Didn't make it all the way through because he was back with our group rather quickly.

What is it about these eerie events, carried into adulthood with reading horror novels and watching equally frightening films, which both spooks the bejeebers outta and draws us in regardless? Could it be we actually enjoy being given a good scare? Go figure. That's we boomers for you.

Whatever gives you the goosebumps, indulge. No matter what your age. Then try and sleep. But if you can't, at least have a Happy Halloween!

Work to begin on County Trunk Highway H bridge

A construction project to replace the County Trunk Highway (CTH) H bridge over the Milwaukee River, one mile east of U.S. Highway (USH) 45 in the Town of Kewaskum is scheduled to begin Nov. 1 and to be completed and reopened to traffic in May 2022. The schedule is subject to change due to weather and other factors.

The prime contractor for the project will be Pfeifer Brothers Construction Co. from Neenah. The bridge will be closed to all traffic and pedestrians for the duration of the project (November 2021 through May 2022). The project will involve replacing the narrow and deteriorating bridge structure built in 1950 with a safer and wider bridge. Another significant highlight of this project is the addition of a 12-foot-wide multi-use path along the south side of the bridge. The bridge serves as an important connector for the Ice Age Trail. The path will provide a safe, barrier-separated river crossing for hikers within the Kettle Moraine State Forest. It will also provide an established crossing for snowmobile trail riders in the winter.

Motorists are asked to follow the posted detour route which will utilize USH 45, State Highway 28, and State Highway 144. A detour route also will be posted for Ice Age Trail users. The route will follow along State Highway 28 and the Eisenbahn State Trail. Information about the closure and detour will be posted at various locations along the trail in the area.

For more information, please visit https://www.co.washington.wi.us/departments/highway\_department and click on "Construction & Projects" or call the Highway Department office at 262-335-4435. Project updates will be posted periodically on Washington County's website and Facebook page. The county thanks you in advance for your patience and understanding as it works to improve Washington County's roadways striving for effective mobility and reliable infrastructure.

Washington County Sheriff's Office reports

Richard Barrett sexual assault case

A 43-year-old Town of West Bend man was charged in Washington County Circuit Court this week with two counts of Third-Degree Sexual Assault. Richard Barrett faces 20 years in prison if convicted of all charges. His arrest was the result of a lengthy investigation conducted by Washington County Sheriff's detectives. The assaults that were charged occurred from 2018 till 2020.

Barrett is accused of drugging his victims with an unknown substance before the assaults. Several victims came forward who believe they were assaulted by Barrett after consuming small amounts of alcohol. According to the reports, the victims have limited recollection of what occurred after consuming a drink that was given to them by Barrett. The victims report feeling nauseous and having blurred vision before passing out.

Barrett's brother Robert was sentenced earlier this year to 12 years in prison after being convicted in Washington County of sexual assault. That case also involved the victim being drugged before the assaults occurred.

Based on the investigation, the Washington County Sheriff's Office believes there could be additional victims in the community. Some of these victims may not even be certain that they were assaulted. It takes strength and courage for victims of sexual assault to come forward and tell their story. The Sheriff's Office is here to work with them to seek justice. Anyone in the community who may have been victimized by Barrett, or have information that may assist in the investigation, is encouraged to contact the Washington County Sheriff's Office.

Anyone with information can contact Detective Ashley Glamann by emailing ashley.glamann@washcowisco.gov.

Motorcycle versus SUV injury crash

On Oct. 20 at approximately 7:29 a.m., the Washington County Sheriff's Office was notified of an injury crash on Hubertus Road east of State Highway 175, in the Village of Richfield.

The Sheriff's Office responded to the scene along with Richfield Fire and Rescue. Upon arrival, first responders began to treat the female operator a motorcycle involved in the crash. The female suffered significant injuries, and Flight for Life was requested to the scene.

The initial investigation indicates that a west-bound SUV, operated by a 65-year-old Thiensville man failed, to yield right away to the eastbound motorcycle, operated by a 49-year-old West Bend woman. The SUV turned in front of the motorcycle, causing a near-head-on collision.

The Thiensville man was uninjured. The West Bend woman was transported to Froedtert Milwaukee by Flight for Life.

The female motorcyclist was wearing a helmet at the time of the crash. The accident remains under investigation by the Washington County Sheriff's Office.

Village of Kewaskum recycling schedule to remain the same

Waste Management sent out flyers to all Village of Kewaskum residents about a change in which week recycling will be collected in the village. Residents should disregard this flyer. The week of recycling pick up is not changing.

Hunter's "Terror Shed" haunted house is located at 5143 State Highway 28, near Kewaskum. The Terror Shed is open on Fridays and Saturdays in October, 6:30 p.m.-10:30 p.m. Admission is five non-perishable food items or $5, with all donations going to the Kewaskum Community Pantry. Participants are asked to check dates to make sure the food has not expired.

In 2019, Hunter and his friends collected over 1,200 pounds of food for the pantry. They are hoping to exceed that amount this year.

"This is something I just really enjoy doing, and I like being able to give back by doing the food drive," Hunter said.

He is well on his way to meeting his goal.

At the beginning of October, on opening night, there were 45 brave souls who made their way through the Terror Shed. Since then, hundreds more have come through.

They have come from near and far, with old and young people alike walking through the maze of terrifying scenes in the Terror Shed. Hunter hopes that the upcoming Halloween weekend will bring a record crowd.

The scary event will continue into next weekend as well. There will be a blackout event on Nov. 5 and 6, when there will be no lights on inside the haunted shed. Each group that walks through the spooky scenes will be permitted to carry just one glowstick for the entire fright-seeking group.

Join the fun, bring some donations and help the cause... if you dare.

Hunter Sabish, who is a freshman at Campbellsport High School, has created the "Terror Shed" haunted house to scare visitors and to collect donations for the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

UW seeking participants for study examining allergic reactions to COVID-19 vaccines

Researchers from the UW School of Medicine and Public Health are seeking participants for a clinical study that examines whether the mRNA COVID-19 vaccines (Pfizer/BioNTech and Moderna) pose an increased risk for allergic reactions in individuals who are already considered "highly allergic." Highly allergic individuals are those individuals who've either had an anaphylactic reaction in the last 15 years, are allergic to a medication, or who have a mast cell disorder.

The Phase 2 trial, called Systemic Allergic Reactions to SARS-CoV-2 Vaccination, is sponsored and funded by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, part of the National Institutes of Health.

Severe allergic reactions (also known as anaphylaxis) to these COVID-19 vaccinations are quite rare. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, anaphylaxis has occurred in approximately 2 to 5 people per million vaccinated in the United States.

"While allergic reactions from these vaccines are rare, they do sometimes happen, and most of these reactions have occurred in people with a history of allergies," said Dr. Mark Moss, professor of medicine, UW School of Medicine and Public Health, allergist, UW Health, and principal investigator of the study. "It's critically important for us to better understand who is having negative reactions to the vaccines and why so that we can better advise those individuals who are highly allergic, or who have a mast cell disorder, about the risks and benefits of receiving these two vaccines."

Moss, who serves as director of the clinical research program in the Division of Allergy, Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine, stresses that, for most people, the benefits of COVID-19 vaccination far outweigh the risks.

The study, which will be conducted at University Hospital under the guidance and supervision of medical staff, will require participants to receive two separate vaccine doses approximately three weeks apart. One out of every 3 participants will receive a placebo (salt water) injection before they receive the first vaccine dose. Participants will not get to choose if they receive the placebo dose, or which vaccine they get. Individuals who initially receive placebo should still receive vaccine, per FDA guidelines, but will require three separate visits.

Medical staff will monitor participants for 90 minutes following each dose to see if they have an allergic reaction. The study team has been trained

The sixth-grade camp is part of the Kewaskum School District's overall transition plan to ensure that students start their middle school years successfully. The district also has fifth-grade students visit the middle school at the end of the school year, has the middle school counselor visit fifth grade classes and hosts a summer event called "Jump to the Middle" as part of its fifth-to-sixth-grade transition plan.

"Students tend to get to know the students they have a scheduled class with; the groups are strategically planned so they are with students from different classes. This is part of our overall fifth-to-sixth-grade transition plan," stated Sara Wilson, sixth-grade teacher and camp coordinator.

This gives taxpayers a mill rate of $10.86, which is an eight cent increase from last year. Although the district received more state aid, student count and equalized value went up. The mill rate that was approved at the annual meeting stayed the same, but the adopted budget is $157,779 less than the residents had approved.

In Campbellsport and other communities of Fond du Lac County, debates are continuing as to whether cutting the number of County Board members from 36 to 18 will save tax dollars. It is the first ever conference championship for the Cougar girls.

The annual tax levy by the Campbellsport School District is good news for local taxpayers. The levy of $3,650,200 was unanimously approved. The mill rate that was estimated at the annual meeting of 9.48 will be 9.07. Taxpayers are reminded that this is only the school portion, respective communities must still be added to the mix.

After a brief discussion, the Eden Village Board decided to distribute informational sheets to all village residents regarding the proposed park project on the former Bengel property. Forest and grass fires are a distinct hazard to the development of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, Clyde T. Smith, state forest supervisor asked for full public cooperation in the prevention of fires. The Towns of Auburn and Osceola in Fond du Lac County, and two towns in Waukesha County, have adopted resolutions to restrict burning, except by permit. KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY*5 Years Ago*Nov. 3, 2016

Last Wednesday, water began pouring through a light fixture in the hallway at Kewaskum Middle School. At first, school officials were afraid that the roof was leaking. But they soon realized the leak was caused when a water pipe broke. The pipes were installed when the middle school was built in 1972. Similar pipes and issues exist at Kewaskum High School, which dates back to the 1960s. The school district is going to referendum next Tuesday to seek voters' input on whether the district should begin a building project, which would include replacing piping at both schools.

When Kewaskum High School hosts a Veteran's Day assembly on November 11, the public is welcome to attend. The field house will be decorated with paper airplanes to raise funds to send local veterans on the Honor Flight.

Taxpayers in the Kewaskum School District will be faced with a similar tax levy this year after the school board last week approved a tax levy increase of .15 percent over last year. With an increase in equalized property value, the tax rate is actually going down 30 cents for property owners in the district.

After working as an attorney in the Village of Kewaskum for nearly 45 years, Gerald Kiefer has retired. Things have changed since he set up his office as there was no such thing as a fax machine and the copy machine used a heat press to transfer print onto a page.

The Kewaskum Legion crew that cooked breakfast this past Sunday included Wayne Rimmel, Roger Strack, Tom Fabitz, Roger Heberer, Mel Raddatz, and Dennis Bingen. Those who served the food included Paul Fellenz, Lianne Becht, Shirley Fellenz, Pat Dorn, Ruth Ewert, Grace Ashauer, Jenny Ashauer, Gwendolyn Dreher, and Arlene Boehlke.

Kewaskum and Plymouth met in Level 2 play-offs last Friday, a rematch of the game played during the regular season. Just as they were the first game, the Indians were victorious. It was a hard-fought 14-6 victory as Plymouth's quarterback missed an open receiver waiting in the end zone with about one minute remaining. Kewaskum, 10-1, will now play Catholic Memorial, which is undefeated this season.

The Village of Kewaskum, along with many municipalities in the surrounding area, continue to wade through the new requirements of the Help American Vote Act of 2002 that was mandated at the beginning of 2003. The village has been registering voters since the spring election of 2005. Village Administrator Jay Shambeau estimates that only about half of the village's eligible voters are registered. Registering will speed up time spent at the polls.

Residents in the Kewaskum School District can do a little extra Christmas shopping this year. A savings of about 84 cents per $1,000 of equalized value from last year's tax rate has been approved.

Last weekend, members of the Kewaskum High School Student Government raked leaves free of charge for area senior citizens.

News about 15-year-old Heather May's recovery from an accident October 18 has been given to the Statesman by her mother. Karen May said her daughter is still in the pediatric intensive care unit at Children's Hospital. Heather has undergone several surgeries, all with success, but has a long road to recovery.

Town of Wayne residents have the opportunity to tell their town board if they want their town's clerk and treasurer accountable to them or those they elect as chairman and supervisor. Many townships across the state are following a trend to hire individuals to handle the ever-growing duties of a township's clerk and treasurer. Town of Farmington residents made their town clerk an appointed position about six years ago. Since its inception as a township, Wayne has elected its clerk and treasurer.

In Tuesday's election for Washington County sheriff, Sheriff Brian Rahn will be opposed by Captain Dale Schmidt. The latter was acting sheriff after the sudden death of then-sheriff Jack Theusch a few years ago. He held the position until Rahn was appointed by Governor Doyle in June 2003.

Following a public hearing and the recommendation of the plan commission at the October 21 meeting, the Town of Kewaskum board approved a zoning ordinance amendment that applies to property of 10 acres or less which specifies the species and number of animals allowed on such property. The intended purpose of this passage was to have an ordinance in place in the event a problem arises before the new zoning ordinance is adopted. That ordinance is currently being drafted.

At a special meeting held October 28, the Kewaskum School Board formally approved its 1996-97 budget of $13,258,947 and a resulting tax levy of $4,342,583. The school tax rate will drop to $10.56 per thousand equalized value from the $14.42 per thousand last year. The tax rate decrease is due to a 46 percent increase in State aid, an increase in the average student population, and a 13.8 percent increase in total equalized value of district property.

The Bank of Kewaskum this week officially informed the Statesman of its purchase of two parcels of land in the village for the site of a new bank building. The acquisition consists of the Francis Bohn and the Kewaskum Liquor Mart building. The present facilities of the Bank of Kewaskum have been outgrown and there is no room for expansion. The new area will allow for ample parking, and every effort will be made to save as many of the beautiful trees as possible on that property.

On a questionnaire mailed out by the Kewaskum Community Schools District last month, the elector response early this week was about 75 percent in favor of holding another referendum on a proposed package building plan. Approximately 10 percent of the questionnaires have been returned. October 29 is the deadline to return the questionnaire so the board will meet in a special session Monday to discuss the results and the setting up of the referendum.

What Was Lost (16): Ghosts of Long Lake

BY KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

“Tell us a story,” the children said as they sat by Grandma Browne and the lantern light.

The best time to tell them, of course, was on a Long Lake night.

From those of the living and those of the dead,

Her tales were not from a book but rather her head.

Some stories were embellished, and others were true.

Young men who walked home with Grandma felt like a fool.

Is it accurate that the bones don't lie?

Mary Calvey Browne died in 1947 a decade shy of a century, and with her went much of her knowledge on young Osceola Township. It was a storied life, but one of hard work as a farmwife. She celebrated her golden anniversary with Adon in 1926. The Sheboygan Press noted Mrs. “Browne” died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Twohig. “Her husband, three daughters, and nine brothers and sisters preceded her in death.” This photo is at her grave in Dundee’s Sacred Heart Catholic Cemetery. PHOTO BY KARL MCCARTY

This postcard of old Dundee dates to around 1910. It covers the backside of Sacred Heart Catholic Church looking toward Dundee Mountain.

What was it like when Chinatown was a Native American encampment? Were you scared when an Indian walked in your kitchen? Was a Native American slaughtered by a white man west of Long Lake? Did Indians really come into Dundee to barter? Are there Native American bones in Long Lake? There’s only one person who could answer all these questions, and she’s been dead since 1947. But before she passed, Grandma Browne shared her stories with the children of Dundee.

Gather Round Me, Children

The stories were shared in an ideal atmosphere to scare the dickens out children: the Browne Homestead, once owned by Adon Browne and his wife Mary. Adon died in the 1930s, and his son Clem’s family lived in the house. Bernard Brown was a grandson who observed Grandma Browne. (Somewhere in the mid-1900s the family started to drop the silent E in the last name.)

Bernard recalls fondly how grandma gave attention to the grandkids in their house. She told the children good stories, and the other kids “in the town” [Dundee] knew it. These kids included those from the Eggert and Nessel families. The Eggert family “had a blacksmith shop down there where the Hamburger Haus is now.” Two Eggert boys came to hear grandma’s stories, as well as a Nessel boy (correct spelling in question) whose “dad had a little garage” in Dundee. “Well, it wasn’t little in them days. But he had one gas pump there.”

Bernard himself is a natural storyteller, and has a way of narrating in phases, with reflective pauses that accentuate the details of the story.

There is no picture of Native Americans traversing on Long Lake from what became Chinatown to Dundee. That story around 1880, and perhaps earlier, was shared by Mary Calvey Browne to her grandson Bernard Brown. However, this photocard postmarked 1910 shows an enjoyable afternoon fishing near the turn of the century.

Periods in his direct quotes punctuate his pauses. [Those kids] “Would come up there—after supper, and grandma would tell stories. And some of them where a little scary, so by the time some of those kids had to go back down to Dundee-e-e.” By this point Bernard was laughing, his narration interrupted by the fact that grandma eloquently terrified the children: “They were scared. She’d have to walk ‘em back.”

Perhaps you were one of those kids. You know, you stayed overnight but wanted to watch a scary movie. You knew you shouldn’t, but the enticement of the unknown reeled in thoughts you never dreamed of. Then you couldn’t sleep because of what could be in the closet.

In similar fashion, Grandma Brown’s stories didn’t help the children sleep. But the kids wanted it, so she delivered. “Tell us a ghost story! Tell us a ghost story!” Bernard begged as if his neighborhood playmates were pleading at the house with Grandma. “And we’d all sit on the couches ...and she had that one room in there, and a kerosene lamp so it was set up really nice.” So, it looked like a séance? “Yeah,” Bernard seconded the ambiance was ripe for a creepy tale.

Historically speaking, this portion of Dundee did not have the amenities other areas of the county may have had by the early 1940s. “The whole house didn’t have electricity,” he said, despite a half-dozen years passed since the Rural Electrification Act (1936). Bernard said he might have been as old as 12 and in sixth grade when they got electricity. So, when Grandma recollected to the children, there was an eerie tint in the house. Bernard would be the first to admit some of the stories were probably embellished, but the ones she shared on Native Americans he concludes were true.

Fur Gloves Lost with Life

One of Mary Browne’s stories occurred north of the farmstead on the southwest side of Long Lake. “She told me about an Indian. The roads were all different.” Bernard paused: “It was up on Mueller’s and our line up there. Where it [native trail or early path] went through. And this guy saw this Indian coming that had these big fur gloves on, and he wanted to take them away from him, and the Indian didn’t let him. So the guy shot the Indian. Took the gloves.” That was one of her stories, but Bernard cautioned “there was way more to it,” and this was well before his time (he was born 1931).

To his recollection, Bernard reiterated that even the white man was “passing through probably.” Taking a 1960’s plat map of Fond du Lac County is helpful. By then one can clearly tell that Anton Mueller owned over 40 acres to the north of Clem Brown (Bernard’s dad) in Osceola Township. It’s near that property line of Mueller’s and Brown’s that the showdown occurred. Bernard, a strong advocate for the Kettle Moraine and a good hike, checked it out for himself: “And I remember going up there .... And I saw this where it really, really was. A big path or a road, cut out in the side of the hill there.” He concludes the path existed, and therefore Grandma Browne’s story corroborates.

Chinatown’s Encampment

“Did you ever hear about the bones that they found in the lake up here?” And so Bernard Brown told the story from his kitchen on the southwest shores of Long Lake. That quote comes from one of a half dozen interviews Bernard has given in the past three years. Again and again, it is his grandmother who becomes the focus of our conversations. She knew the history of the old trading days in Dundee.

“Well, the story is, the Indians would come in here. Like twice a year. But in the spring of the year, they’d come down. And where Chinatown is over there, that was a big hill, and that’s where their campgrounds were and their meeting grounds were.”

How long the natives stayed at what became Chinatown was unclear, he said, but “they’d come down. And then they’d get in their canoes.” It was common for the natives to go from the northeast shores of Long Lake, cross the water, and trade and barter in Dundee. “You know, that was no obstruction at all in those days.” So the Indians would “buy stuff down here in town, and go back up there. And later on have their eats and drinks and I suppose whatever it was.” Bernard added that it’s important one recognizes Chinatown's hilly area is not as pronounced as it used to be. "There's still some hill in there, but the Bertram boys really, really did a lot of work up there, pushing the hill down, making it solid by the marsh." Then cottages were added. By his summation, Bernard concludes Chinatown is flatter, but in the 1800s it was ideal for native encampment. Perhaps its prior elevation distanced natives from mosquitoes and invited a breeze by their campfires.

Bernard continued about grandma: "Well, she was the one who could tell you the whole deal up there with the Indians. And, while they were down there and drinking and buying food and whatever the hell they were doing, they musta got a little tipsy, some of them. And a storm come up, and somewhere up in the lake, a couple of those canoes tipped over, and they drowned." So Grandma Browne heard this? "My grandma Brown knew it."

When did it happened? Bernard didn't date it. But given she married in 1876, the story could date near 1880.

Bones in Long Lake?

So, are there Native American bones in Long Lake? Perhaps those around Dundee recall the story Bernard mentioned of bones. Who would know the details? I emailed Fond du Lac County Sheriff Ryan Waldschmidt for verification on such an incident. He took the time to confer with the seniority in the department and dug up a police report from the last century on the public record. Quotes below come from the report.

On July 7, 1999, suspicious items "were found by a snorkeler in Long Lake." The snorkeler noticed a dark line and suspected a fishing pole fallen overboard; instead, it was some type of a bone. Other bones in the vicinity "resembled that of a human skull." Soon a ranger on Long Lake was advised, and the Fond du Lac County Sheriff's Department was contacted.

The next day, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin and other archeologists were involved to examine the remains. That same day (July 8) the Sheriff's Department was on the Long Lake shoreline, and the Dive Team was brought in to search where the snorkeler found the first bones. "The area was searched first for large very visible bones on the surface, then by moving through the lake bottom with their hands to attempt to recover further bones." The police investigators "completed the process by taking five-gallon buckets of sand from the bottom, all through the area where the bones were recovered, bringing them up to the surface and pouring them through a sifting screen to attempt to locate small, tiny bones." This search began that morning and was completed around 5 p.m., and resulted in additional bones or fragments that were put into plastic bags and taken to the County Medical Examiner. There, "All the bones were laid out...per the instructions of the State Historical Society Anthropologist Leslie Eisenberg."

As the summer continued, there was a lead suggesting that the bones may possibly belong to an individual who "had written an alleged suicide note in the late 1800's and the bottle was eventually discovered in Long Lake." But Eisenberg, according to the report portion dated August 13, 1999: "stated that through their examinations and investigations and tests performed on the remains, that she could give... an 80 percent-plus chance that these bones belong to a Native American of 50 plus years old and that they were female..." Eisenberg's analysis concluded the shape and size of the bones "also lent to the theory that they were Native American bones." The Native American Repatriation Society was to be contacted to establish a burial site for the remains, and the complaint was closed.

We can't say for certain if Grandma Browne's story of the tipped canoes in Long Lake happened. But the 1999 police report leaves one to ponder. Maybe the ghosts of Dundee have the answer over yonder.

Free genealogy workshop offered

Do you know your American roots and your family's role in America's history? Do you have an ancestor who fought in or supported the American Revolution? Do you want to make a difference in your community and help preserve America's heritage?

The Fond du Lac Chapter of the "National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution" (DAR), a local nonprofit service organization, announced that Judy Mason, honorary DAR state regent, NSDAR volunteer genealogist and lineage researcher, will conduct a Genealogy Workshop on Saturday, Nov. 13, at the Fond du Lac Public Library, 32 Sheboygan St., beginning at 10 a.m. in the McLane Meeting Room, Lower Level. A presentation will be followed by individual assistance provided by DAR members. Attendees are asked to bring documentation of their lineage, family histories or family trees. Masks appreciated.

The upcoming event is free and open to the public, and will also include an overview of the genealogy resources available at the FDL Public Library, presented by Debbie Rosenberg, staff genealogist. To register for the event, or get more information about the workshop or DAR, please contact the Chapter Regent Esther Pietrowski at 920-588-7225 or estherpietrowski@gmail.com.

DAR is a nonprofit, nonpolitical volunteer women's service organization dedicated to promoting historic preservation, education and patriotism, founded in 1890, and incorporated by an Act of Congress. The Fond du Lac Chapter began in 1900, and annually grants its "DAR Good Citizen" award. Any woman 18 years or older, regardless of race, religion, or ethnic background, who can prove lineal descent from a patriot of the American Revolution, is eligible for membership in DAR.

On the importance of tracing lineage, Esther Pietrowski, chapter regent, said, "Tracing your lineage is valuable because it helps preserve your family's heritage. And joining DAR means a chance to give back in so many ways: honoring veterans, supporting literacy and education, celebrating our nation's history."

Mercury Marine receives international award

At the recent Association of Energy Engineers (AEE) International Awards Banquet, the association named Mercury Marine, a division of Brunswick Corporation, as the recipient of its Corporate Energy Management Award. In conferring the honor, AEE asserted that "Mercury Marine is an environmental steward, driven by environmentally conscious production and sustainable energy management."

Chris Drees, Mercury president, attended the event virtually and provided a recorded acceptance speech that aired during the live proceedings. The awards banquet was part of the 2021 AEE World Energy Conference and Expo, which began today and continues through Friday as both an in-person and virtual event. The annual conference brings together the world's best minds in the field of energy engineering to discuss energy management, efficiency, automation, data analytics, policy, supply, procurement, sustainability and more.

"As a global manufacturer of marine engines and related technologies with more than $3 billion in annual revenue, Mercury takes its energy management very seriously," Drees said in his acceptance remarks. "Our energy-conserving initiatives are critical in helping us meet both our financial and sustainability goals. We're investing in solar arrays and other renewable energies, helping us derive no less than 50% of our company's electricity from renewable sources by the end of 2030. To conserve energy, we are modernizing HVAC and compressed-air systems, installing more energy-efficient equipment, redirecting manufacturing-generated heat for multiple purposes and upgrading our facilities with more natural lighting and passive heating."

In January, Mercury announced the second facility at which it completed installation of a rooftop solar array. The new array sits atop the company's warehouse facility on its world-headquarters manufacturing campus in Fond du Lac. The array comprises 320 panels and will generate enough electricity to light the company's warehouse operation in Fond du Lac for the next 30 years.

Mercury launched its first solar project in 2017 with the installation of a 2,000-panel array at the company's European headquarters in Petit Rechain, Belgium. That solar array, combined with improved insulation at the location, reduces the amount of electricity the facility draws from the grid by 33 percent, thus lowering the facility's utilities costs and enabling substantial use of clean and sustainable energy.

In announcing the second array earlier this year, Drees reinforced his company's commitment to sustainable energy management.

"These steps will combine with many others over the next 10 years to increase the proportion of energy we will draw from renewable sources," Drees said. "We are committed to our focus on sustainable business practices, including investment in renewable energy and reduction of our carbon footprint. We will continue to elevate our commitment to sustainability across all of our global locations," he said.

Headquartered in Fond du Lac, Mercury Marine is the world's leading manufacturer of recreational marine propulsion engines.

New Milwaukee River Watershed Incentives program available

USDA-Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS), Fond du Lac County, Milwaukee Metropolitan Sewerage District, municipalities, and producer-led watershed partners announce that $1.2 million are available to the Milwaukee River Watershed to implement soil health, water quality and habitat conservation practices as part of NRCS's Regional Conservation Partnership Program (RCPP). These funds are available to farmers and landowners within the Milwaukee River watershed area to implement conservation projects.

The Milwaukee River Watershed RCPP highlights the use of grass-based practices like field borders, filter strips, grassed waterways, pasture plantings, and wildlife plantings. This program is nationally unique by offering financial incentives to cover installation costs as well as an annual rental rate for implementing a grass-based conservation project (about $130/acre for up to five years). Several of the grass-based practices may also be harvested as livestock forage.

Interested individuals are encouraged to reach out to the NRCS office or the Fond du Lac County Land and Water Conservation Department to learn about eligibility and application steps.

Moraine Park Receives $4,000 from The Ledge Games

The Moraine Park Foundation will be able to award eight students with one-time scholarships thanks to the success of The Ledge Games.

This family-friendly competition is held in Eden each fall and challenges participants in a series of lumberjack activities such as caber toss, hammer toss, archery, keg toss, speed chop and axe throw.

The event proceeds support The Ledge Games scholarship, established through the Moraine Park Foundation, which focuses on engineering, manufacturing and technology programs at Moraine Park. The event is co-founded by Josh Michels, of Fond du Lac, and Tyler Oestreich, of Eden.

“It is an honor to have the support from this popular community event,” Dana Bourland, director of college advancement at Moraine Park said. “Their contributions directly benefit our local economy through workforce development, and our students have a greater opportunity for success thanks to their generosity.”

Students enrolling in engineering, manufacturing, or technology for the 2022-23 school year will be eligible to apply for this scholarship in February 2022. To be considered for a Foundation scholarship, students must have a Moraine Park Technical College cumulative or high school GPA of 2.75 or higher and enroll in a minimum of six credits per semester.

I have always loved the sounds of the ever-changing Wisconsin seasons, the lawn mower buzz of summer, suddenly gives way to the cool breezes and fall crunch of leaves underfoot. Before we know it winter in all its glory will be rearing its head, but for this small moment in time, fall is here for us to enjoy! It was in the fall when I was about 7, that my mother took me to the library for the first time. I wandered around in amazement looking at the books and feeling like the library was the most amazing place I had ever been. I picked out some picture books and sat at a small table with my mom and younger sister devouring story after story. Slowly the world around me faded until I forgot where I was, and my mom had to drag me back to reality. On the way out the door, she took me to the front desk and signed me up for my own library card. I was so proud of that card, I carried it around in my pink teddy bear wallet, showing it off to whomever would give me the time of day, (yes, I was that girl).

Since that first library card I have had several others and with each book that I have checked out, and each adventure that I have been taken on, I am so grateful to my mother for helping me discover the places that reading can take you. My husband will tell you that on some occasions it's still hard to pull me back to reality, especially in the fall when I have a mug of warm apple cider to keep me company, but I can't help it I love to read. I love that feeling of being lost in a new world only discovering what will come next with the turn of a page.

I hope that you will stop into our library soon and find a book that makes you feel that way. If you need any suggestions, we would be happy to help. Happy Fall and Happy Reading!

-Alison Capoyianes, Children's Librarian

Nov. 14- Do you know the Old Lady Who Swallowed a Pie? My oh my! Join us for Story time and find out why!

Nov. 21- Thanksgiving is just a day away! Join us for a special thanksgiving story hour! We will read Bear Says Thanks By Karma Wilson and enjoy a festive turkey craft.

On Nov. 21, the library will be closing at 3 p.m. and will be closed Thursday, Nov. 22, and Friday, Nov. 23, so that staff may enjoy the long weekend with their loved ones.

Beginning on Tuesday, Nov. 2, we will be hosting Tinker Tuesdays at the Library from 3:45-5:30 p.m. Children and their families are invited to come tinker with Legos, Lincoln Logs, Brain Flakes and Zoob and Straw Builders. This is a free drop-in program for school age children, or younger children who have a parent along to help them.

Families are welcome to stay after the organized activities on Wednesday for open play in the big meeting room. This gives children a chance to interact with the other children, run off some energy, and as a bonus the adults get a chance to talk to other adults who are home raising small children.

Masking for story hour is optional; however, we do ask that you continue to use hand washing practices and your best judgment when joining in the fun. If you have a cough or cold-like symptoms, please stay at home until you feel better.

Check It Out!

LORI KREIS
KEWASKUM LIBARIAN

Last month we received emails from our book vendors that orders we have placed for new books may be delayed. The reason given was that there is a shortage with the supply chain. What does that really mean? Well, think of everything that goes into producing a book. There is paper and ink, not to mention delivery of the product. All of this is adversely affected by the paper and labor shortage. Add to that an increase in printed book sales over the last two year of 21 percent, and you can see why it may take longer to get your requested best seller in.

At the library, we are doing everything we can to minimize your wait times, but much of it is out of our control. We have placed our orders for new books being released throughout the rest of this year. When they are received, we process them as quickly as possible. We are readily accepting donations of items and if it is new and in demand, it gets added to our collection right away. But there will still be a shortage and wait for many of the new items coming out in November so if you have an interest, place your holds quickly.

Here are some of the new books coming in November that I hope will be ready for check-out on their release dates.

Adult Fiction

Mercy by David Baldacci

A Man of Honor by Barbara Taylor Bradford

The Dark Hours by Michael Connelly

Autopsy by Patricia Cornwell

The Midnight Lock by Jeffery Deaver

The Sentence by Louise Erdrich.

Janet Evanovich releases Game On: Tempting Twenty-eight, which is the latest in the very popular Stephanie Plum mystery series. Stephanie teams up with fellow apprehension agent Diesel to locate a fugitive and sparks will fly. Outlander enthusiasts have been waiting for Go Tell the Bees I am Gone. Diana Gabaldon brings us Jamie and Claire reunited in another historic period. Also look for new books by James Patterson Alex Cross series, Danielle Steel and Jodi Picoult.

Adult Non-Fiction

Rebel Homemaker by Drew Barrymore

Lightning Down: A World War II Story of Survival by Tom Clavin

Under Jerusalem: The Buried History of the World's Most Contested City by Andrew Lawler

The New York Times Magazine, along with author Nikole Hannah-Jones, releases The 1619 Project: A New Origin Story. It is a narrative showing how our nation originated, not in 1776 but in 1619 with a ship arriving in Jamestown.

And of course, many new books will be out for children and young adults. I hope this book shortage is fleeting so you can enjoy your preferred read.

KHS students participate in Main Street Philanthropy

Students in Casey Scheel's leadership class at Kewaskum High School are participating in Main Street Philanthropy, a 10-week program in which students learn to invest and connect with charitable organizations of their choosing.

The students take part in a panel discussion in which they invite local charities to talk about their organizations and why they are personally involved. The students gain a different perspective on charities in our community. They will also be donating funds they raised in recent weeks. To decide which charity to donate to, the students will do quantitative and qualitative analyses of each charity to help them make the best choice for themselves.

Charities that visited the Main Street Philanthropy class are American Legion, Stars and Stripes Honor Flight, Cedar Lakes Conservation, Variety Children's Charity, Habitat for Humanity and Washington County Humane Society. This was a great opportunity for the students to analyze each charity qualitatively face to face.

Main Street Philanthropy graduation will be held Wednesday, Nov. 10 at 1:45 p.m. at Kewaskum High School. The public is invited to attend this very special program. Come share in their experience as the students report on the 10-week program and how they made new connections with our community.

CHS cross country team competes at sectionals

The Campbellsport High School cross country team competed in the Portage Sectional last Saturday. The meet was held at Wyona Park in Wyocena. Fifteen schools raced for a chance to advance to the State Meet in Wisconsin Rapids this Saturday, Oct. 30. The top two teams and top five individuals who were not part of the qualifying teams advance to the state meet.

The Cougar boys came oh so close to advancing to state. It came down to one point. Winneconne was crowned Sectional champs with the low score of 57 points. It was Appleton Xavier and Campbellsport that battled for the number two spot and a ticket to Wisconsin Rapids. Despite placing three runners in the top 20, Campbellsport came up one point short. Xavier took second with 105 points while Campbellsport settled for third place with 106. Host Portage was a close fourth with 113 and Grafton finished in fifth with 116 to round out the top five.

The good news for the Cougars, however, was Skyler Fryman and Logan Nolan qualified for state as individuals. Fryman, a senior, powered his way to a third place to earn his first trip to the state meet. Skyler started the race in the top five. Just past the mile mark, he moved into second place and held that until the last 800. Fryman slipped back to fifth before a strong kick down the finish stretch put him back into third place with a career best 17:03. Freshman Logan Nolan was ranked around 20th among sectional competitors coming into the race. A determined Logan ran most of the race in the top 15. He moved up throughout the second half of the race and a strong finish over the last 300 meters put him in seventh place with a career best 17:26.

The rest of the Cougar varsity had great races also. Brody Nolan broke 18 minutes for the first time ever. The freshman runner ran the 5,000-meter course in 17:48 placing 17th. Sophomore Aydan Meilahn set a PR of 18:22 nearly 30 seconds faster than his previous best. Meilahn finished in 32nd place. Another freshman runner, Sawyer Dirmeier, missed his personal best by only 10 seconds, finishing 47th in 18:42. Jerid Waddle's time of 18:49 was his fastest of the season. The senior runner took 51st place. Senior Garrett Roehl competed on Saturday with a sore hip that slowed him down a bit, but Roehl who has competed in cross country since sixth grade wanted to close out his career at the sectional meet. Garrett completed the race in 78th place with a time of 20:38.

Xavier and Winneconne qualified for the state meet in the girls' race. Xavier was crowned Sectional Champs with a score of 64 points. Winneconne came in second with 89 points. Kewaskum and North Fond du Lac were close in third and fourth place, with 95 and 98 points.

The CHS girls finished in 15th place, but ended the season with several career or season PRs. The freshmen duo of Lydia Toshner and Sienna Hewitt led the Cougars once again. Lydia ran a career best 22:41, finishing in 52nd place. In 54th place, Sienna also had a career best time of 22:47. Senior Morgan Yahr closed out her cross-country career, finishing 84th in 24:52. Freshman Megan Dickman broke 25 minutes for the first time finishing 86th in 24:59. Senior Alayna Meilahn ran a season best 26:08 and finished 92nd. Junior Hannah Thelen also had a season best time of 27:18 taking 97th place. Sophomore Emily Reigle finished 99th in a time of 28:32.

Skyler Fryman and Logan Nolan will be competing at the Ridges Golf Course in Wisconsin Rapids on Saturday, Oct. 30, at 12 noon in Division 2. Information about the state meet can be found on the WIAA website.

Campbellsport JV cross country finishes strong season

The Campbellsport High School JV cross country team closed out its season at the Kettle Moraine Lutheran JV Pre-Sectional Meet last Thursday. Five schools competed on the challenging KML school course.

The Cougar boys continued their winning ways, taking first place with the low score of 31 points. Host Kettle Moraine Lutheran was a close second with 37, and North Fond du Lac/Oakfield was third with 64. Winnebago Lutheran and Lomira did not field complete teams.

CHS placed three runners in the top five and 10 runners in the top 15. Nick Timm was the top runner for the Cougars in third place with a time of 20:21. Teammates Jon Thelen and Max Engle were right behind in fourth and fifth in 20:27 and 20:35. Wyatt Blevins, Isaac Timm, and Owen Blevins broke twenty minutes. Wyatt was ninth in 20:54, Isaac 10th in 20:57, and Owen 11th in 20:58. Josh Dontchenko 12th, Trent Dieckman 13th, and Aydryan Meilahn 14th were only five seconds apart in 21:14, 21:14, and 21:19. Brody Manix took 16th in 21:23, and Jake Mader was 17th in 21:44. Kilian Poquette missed a PR by only four seconds finishing 19th in 22:04. Andrew Jenkins ran a 22:26 and finished 22nd. Aidan Polzin, Kyle Sanders, and Sam Ellenbecker all had PRs. Aidan finished 29th in 25:38. Kyle was 32nd in 28:11. Sam was 33rd in 29:05.

Winnebago Lutheran took first place in the girls' race with 18 points. Campbellsport was second with 37 points. Lomira, North Fond du Lac, and Kettle Moraine Lutheran did not have complete teams.

Senior Macy Pawlowski was the top Cougar runner in sixth place with a time of 28:16. In her last race, senior Ashley Sanders had a career best time of 30:31, taking 11th place. Harper Poquette was next in 12th with a 32:54. Katrina Ohme took 13th with a time of 33:23. Seniors Makayla Stommel and Samantha Zimdahl had season best times in their last cross country race. Makayla took 14th in 34:46, and Samantha finished 15th in 35:21.

KHS football wins playoff opener

The Indians traveled 90 minutes to Lodi for a WIAA Division 4 Level 1 playoff game and came away with a 29-20 victory.

Senior tailback Max Melzer got the Indians off to a fast start, taking the first play from scrimmage 70 yards down the visitors' sideline for a 6-0 Indians' lead. The ensuing extra-point attempt was blocked.

Lodi responded with a quick score of their own and after a made extra-point, the Blue Devils took the lead 7-6 about half-way through the first quarter.

The teams traded empty possessions through much of the first half, until the Indians finally broke through with 43 seconds left in the half. Senior quarterback Matt Buechel scored from three yards out on a bootleg to put the visitors back in front. A two-point conversion try failed and the score remained 12-7 at the half.

The second half began with the Kewaskum defense forcing a three-and-out possession from Lodi. Melzer would find the endzone again six plays later, this time from 53 yards out. Senior Kicker Andrew Bolek added the extra point and Indians had increased the lead to 19-7 midway through the 3rd quarter.

After a phenomenal interception from senior defensive back Gavin Schwantz, Bolek put the Indians on the board again with a 39-yard field goal with just over three minutes to go in the third quarter, extending the lead to 22-7.

The host Blue Devils mounted a rally, scoring on the last play of the third quarter on a one-yard TD run. The Indians defense denied the two-point attempt and the fourth quarter began with the score 22-13.

After an on-side kick recovery, Lodi again found the end zone with 9:17 remaining to cut the lead to 22-20.

The Indians then mounted their best drive of the season. The offense used seven minutes off the clock, converted two fourth down attempts, and finally found the endzone as Buechel delivered a strike across the middle of the field to senior wide receiver Ben Butler from nine yards out. Bolek added the point after attempt and the win was sealed 29-20.

Although the hosts racked up almost 350 yards of offense, the Indians were able to force three turnovers (one fumble and two interceptions by Schwantz and senior defensive back Damareyon Taylor). Senior linebackers Matt Blank and Brady Bastian paced the defensive effort with 10 and seven tackles respectively. Meanwhile, the Indians gained 381 total yards (227 rushing and 154 passing). Melzer led the way with 16 carries for 186 yards and two TDs.

The Indians advance to Level 2 this week as they travel to Madison on Friday night to face number-one seed Madison Edgewood at 7 p.m.

Kewaskum Volleyball ends season in Regional Finals

The Kewaskum High School volleyball team ended its season on Saturday, Oct. 23, with a 3-0 loss to Sauk Prairie in the Regional Finals.

"This was a tough end to the season. We were placed with the number-one team in D2 rankings, and we played a tough, tough match against them. They had two 6-foot seniors and a very solid Libero, but we made them work hard for every point. Our serve kept them out of system a lot of the match, but we had some mental letdowns that you cannot get away with when you are playing the number-one in their house," said Kewaskum head coach Lain Leitzke.

Regional game against Columbus

Kewaskum claimed a 3-2 win over Columbus on Thursday, Oct. 21, to continue on the road to the match against Sauk Prairie.

"We jumped on Columbus early in the first set and really pushed them out of that set. After the first, every point became a fight. Columbus and us both hit poorly so we had to play a lot of defense. Mikaela Marquardt, Rochon, Duren and Grisolono kept a lot of composure and calmness in the back court, and we were able to work through our hitting errors and get the win in a very exciting fifth set," Leitzke said.

Regional game against Portage

Kewaskum started regionals on Oct. 19 with a win against Portage: 25-13, 25-14, 25-16.

"We started slow in each set and let Portage stick around until about 8 or 9, and then we were able to pull away in each set. We had a little trouble just building energy and momentum and we played and looked very flat. We did great things and the student section had a great turnout, but we just could not build on that," Leitzke said about the Portage game.

"We started to force some things in the second and third sets, and that is when we started to make low volleyball IQ errors. Tonight we were able to grind through that," he added.

Coach P's

Sharp Dressed Man

As I watched the MLB playoffs last week, something curious dawned on me: Why are baseball managers the only coaches that dress like the players? Baseball coaches wear the same outfit as the players; no other professional sport does that. The primary reason that coaches wear uniforms in professional baseball today is that they used to wear them back in the day when some coaches actually did both, played and managed. Baseball is such a superstitious, history-driven and centered sport that coaches wearing uniforms has stuck as a trademark, even though coaches don't play anymore.

As I tried to wrap my head around this concept, I thought about what coaches wear in other professional sports. Hockey and basketball, you usually find the coaches on the bench wearing suits and ties for the most part although basketball has declined some what over the years. Watching the Milwaukee Bucks opener last week, both Mike Budenholzer and Steve Nash of the Brooklyn Nets were wearing pullover tops which seems to be a big trend. One of my favorite Bucks coaches Don Nelson used to always wear a suit and tie, but by the fourth quarter the jacket was off and the tie was loosened. In fact, sometimes the suit jacket would be flying if "Nelly" was not happy with a call.

Football has had some interesting characters coaching over the years. Back in the day it was common to see George Halas and Vince Lombardi patrolling the sidelines with a suit and tie and wearing a dark fedora hat. One of the classiest dressers of all-time was Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry. Landry was always decked out in a suit and tie and he wore his trademark Saxon Fur Felt Fedora hat. One of my favorite NFL coaches Hank Stram was also a snazzy dresser. Hank was always dressed in a suit and tie and a vest under the jacket. The jacket was sweet; it had a Kansas City Chiefs logo just below the pocket.

A couple of colorful football coaches that made a fashion statement were John McKay, Mike Ditka and Bum Phillips. McKay always had the sleeveless vested sweater and his signature fishermen's hat. Ditka wore a tie and his famous sleeveless sweater with BEARS in bold print across the front. Phillips was the coach of the Houston Oilers and, like most Texans, he wore a cowboy hat and cowboy boots on the sideline.

Golf doesn't really have coaches but are some of the best dressed athletes on the planet. It is without a doubt that Payne Stewart was the Fashion God of all professional golfers. Stewart was always decked out in a fancy pastel colored sweater, knickers, flat cap and color-coordinated socks. John Daly tried giving Stewart a run for his money in the fashion world. Daly wore some of the craziest outfits you will ever see on a golf course, bright colors, loud pants and a swing that could send the ball into orbit. Greg Norman and Chi Chi Rodriguez were certainly fancy dressers but more known for their hats they wore on the course; they both wore the vintage straw hats that are still popular today.

St. Lucas students race in Nationals

BY LUCAS SCHULTZ AND MALACHI YTTTRI
EIGHTH-GRADE STUDENTS AT ST. LUCAS
LUTHERAN SCHOOL

Gavin and Garrett Pickering (eighth and seventh grade) are brothers and students at St. Lucas Lutheran School in Kewaskum, WI. They have both been running on the school cross country team since fifth grade. This year, both brothers participated in the National Lutheran Cross Country Championship held at Concordia University on Oct. 23.

With approximately 200 runners competing in the national race, Gavin medaled as he finished in 17th place with a time of 12:01, which placed him in the Third Team All American. Garret was not far behind, finishing in 32nd place, with a time of 12:25.

Gavin and Garrett qualified to run at the national level meet when they each ran two miles in 11 minutes 47 seconds at the Wisconsin State Cross Country Championship, placing in third and fourth place.

Their sister, Alaina Pickering, said, "It is cool to watch. I am proud of my brothers. It is always exciting to see what they place. It is fun to watch them."

Students at St. Lucas are excited that their friends have made it to a national championship.

The coach, Laurie Pickering, (also the mother of Gavin and Garrett) said, "It makes me very honored and proud to have two runners to have all their hard work pay off and get a chance to run at nationals."

"They are always helpful, kind, fast and always push you on when you practice," Matthias Yttri, another cross-country runner, said this about the two brothers.

cords. The team ran in three races, and Gavin and Garrett had made top six finishes in all of them.

At the Pilgrim Lutheran Wildcat Invite, they placed second and fourth; at the Crusading Warrior CC Invite, they took fourth and sixth; and at the Kettle Moraine Lutheran Invite they took fourth and fifth places.

They both had a great year of running, with this season being Gavin's last as an eighth grader, and Garrett having one more year to run for the '76ers. If you ever watch either one of them run, you would see that they run with all they've got, all the time.

Kewaskum Gridiron youth football results

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club finished its season this past Saturday, Oct. 23, with eighth, sixth and fifth grades playing at Waukesha North and the seventh grade playing against Greenfield.

The eighth grade team opened up the action for the day with a tight game throughout the first half. Waukesha North took a 6-0 lead in the second quarter, but the Indians answered back right before halftime with a little trickery. Quarterback Chase Cook threw a backwards pass to wide receiver Liam Stoffel, Stoffel then threw a perfect pass to tight end Kaden Schmit, who took it all the way for a 74-yard touchdown. Stoffel added the two-point conversion kick for an 8-6 Indians lead at halftime. Unfortunately, the Indians couldn't maintain the momentum in the second half as they had a couple of guys get banged up and couldn't get anything rolling on offense, while Waukesha North's offense played well with some nice passing and also added a defensive touchdown to eventually come away with a 34-8 victory. On the defensive side of the ball, the Indians were led in tackles by linebacker Gabe Halopka. The defense also forced three turnovers, with Stoffel forcing a fumble that was recovered by defensive lineman Alex Bayer. Then, defensive backs Ethan Immel and Jimmy Racer each added interceptions for the Indians. The eighth-grade team had a very successful year as they made the playoffs after winning the AAYFL Division 2 Heller Conference Championship and concluded the year with an overall record of 4-4.

The seventh grade played an exciting game against Greenfield and held on for a hard-fought 14-13 victory. Greenfield took the early lead scoring on its first possession, but the Indians blocked the two-point conversion kick, which eventually proved to be a very important play. On the Indians' first possession, running back Kingston Grisolono was able to bust off a 45-yard touchdown run and then added the two-point conversion kick for an 8-6 lead. Cole Loser was able to intercept a pass for the Indians that set up their next score, which came when Grisolono hit a wide-open William Koch on a halfback pass play for a 14-6 lead. Greenfield added another score and an extra point before halftime to make the score 14-13. The second half was a defensive battle throughout. With about five minutes left in the fourth quarter, Greenfield was able to drive down to the Indians five-yard line, but the Indians defense was able to hold strong there stopping them on four straight plays to get the ball back. The Indians offense was able to move the ball to run out the clock and come away victorious. On defense, besides Loser's interception, the team was led by Marcus Perondi, Chase Heinonen, Hoyt Martin and Grisolono, who all made key defensive plays. The seventh-grade team finished with a 4-5 record on the season.

The sixth-grade team finished off a very successful season with another solid team win of 18-8 over Waukesha North. Jace Wichtoski and Levi Whitfield ran for touchdowns for the offense, and Michael Missall threw a touchdown to Whitfield as well to cap off the scoring for the Indians. The defense, which played terrific football all season, finished with another strong performance and was led by Wichtoski and Easton Sabish, who were both credited with having outstanding games and leading the team in tackles. The sixth-grade team finished with a 7-1 record on the season.

The fifth-grade team continued its improved play throughout the season and came away with a 6-6 tie against Waukesha North to cap off their season. For the Indians, Henry Ogi was able to return a punt for a touchdown. On the defensive side of the ball, the team played very well, and Kaiden Wagner was able to come away with an interception. The fifth-grade team finished with a 2-5-1 record on the season.

The Kewaskum Gridiron Club would like to thank all of the players, volunteers, parents and the Kewaskum community as a whole for their outstanding support of the Gridiron Youth Football and Cheerleading Club as the club just completed its 25th Season. Without the support, time and dedication of so many people over the years, 25 years and beyond would have never been possible. Also, a thank you to the Kewaskum School District and the facilities staff for the access to some of the absolute best game and practice facilities around. Thanks again to all and Go Indians!
